2 Notable Oppose Vote Results With Analysis

Note: Here a notable vote is one where the Oppose result is at least 10%.

SEGRO PLC AGM - 19-04-2018

21. Meeting Notification-related Proposal

All companies should aim to provide at least 20 working days notice for general meetings in order to give shareholders sufficient time to consider what are often complex issues. However, as the proposed change is permissible by the Companies Act, support is recommended.

Vote Cast: For

Results: For: 85.8, Abstain: 0.4, Oppose/Withhold: 13.8,

SWISS RE AGM - 20-04-2018

5.1.1. Re-elect Walter B. Kielholz

Non-Executive Chairman. Not considered to be independent as he was CEO of Swiss Re until 2002. In addition, he has been on the Board for more than nine years. However, there is sufficient independent representation on the Board.

Vote Cast: For

Results: For: 86.8, Abstain: 0.5, Oppose/Withhold: 12.7,

1.1. Approve Remuneration Report (Non-Binding)

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, opposition is recommended based on potential excessive remuneration.

Vote Cast: Oppose

3. Approve Variable Short-Term Remuneration of Executive Committee

It is proposed to approve the retrospective short-term variable remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to allocate to members of the Executive Committee a bonus of CHF 12,999,781 for 2017 (CHF 18,263,261 were paid for 2016), that is approximately 100% of the salary and allowances, which is broadly in line with best practice. The Company submitted two separate proposals for Executives fixed and variable remuneration, which is welcomed. The proposed amount covers both cash bonus and deferred bonus. The Ordinance Against Excessive Payments provides that if compensation is not approved, it may not be paid. The Company has disclosed achievements and financial indicators. However, quantified performance criteria, pre-determined quantified targets and how they work interdependently to the composition of the bonus remain undisclosed. On this basis, it is impossible to verify whether the bonus overpays against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

Vote Cast: Abstain

Results: For: 88.6, Abstain: 0.7, Oppose/Withhold: 10.7,

5.4. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 1.31% of audit fees during the year under review and 2.78% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 87.8, Abstain: 0.2, Oppose/Withhold: 12.0,

6.1. Approve Fees Payable to the Board of Directors

The Company has proposed a prospective remuneration proposal, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the Board's remuneration until next AGM at CHF 9.9 million (last year: 9.9 million). Part of the fees (40%) are paid in Company shares, which is welcomed. No increase has been proposed. Support is recommended.

Vote Cast: For

Results: For: 88.1, Abstain: 0.6, Oppose/Withhold: 11.2,

6.2. Approve Maximum Amount of Fixed Compensation and Variable Long-term Compensation

It is proposed to approve the prospective remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee for the FY 2018 at CHF 34 million (CHF 34 million was proposed last year). This proposal includes fixed and long-term variable remuneration components.

The Company has submitted its compensation structure to an advisory vote, which is recommended by the local Corporate Governance Code. There are concerns over the remuneration structure at the Company: such as potential excessiveness and overpayment for long-term variable component. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 87.2, Abstain: 0.7, Oppose/Withhold: 12.2,

ESSILOR INTERNATIONAL SA AGM - 24-04-2018

8. Re-elect Olivier Pecoux as Director

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent owing to a tenure of over nine years. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 80.7, Abstain: 0.0, Oppose/Withhold: 19.2,

11. Approve Termination Package of Laurent Vacherot, Vice-CEO

It is proposed to approve the agreement with Laurent Vacherot, Vice-CEO, related to the severance payment. The value of the proposed agreement may exceed one year fixed salary on aggregate, as it incorporates elements of the variable remuneration, opposition is recommended

Vote Cast: Oppose

12. Approve Compensation of Hubert Sagnieres, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or owed to Hubert Sagnieres, Chairman and CEO with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to over payment against under performance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 58.8, Abstain: 0.0, Oppose/Withhold: 41.2,

13. Approve Compensation of Laurent Vacherot, Vice-CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or owed to Laurent Vacherot, Vice-CEO with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

6. Approve Incentive Plan Reserved to the Chief Executive Officer of TIM SpA

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan, reserved to the CEO. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure. In addition, the vesting period of two years is considered to be short term.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

A.8.C. Approve Non-Executive Director Stock Option Grants

The Board proposes the approval of Non-Executive Director Stock Option Grants. Under the plan, non-executive directors will be awarded options to receive shares, which will start vesting after five years from the date of award. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries confined service. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability. In addition, granting stock options to non-executive directors may lead to their alignment with short-term results, when the vesting date is near, instead of continuous supervision of management.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). ### TORCHMARK CORPORATION AGM - 26-04-2018

3. Approve Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the Torchmark Corporation 2018 Incentive Plan. Assuming stockholder approval of the 2018 Plan, 8,984,000 shares (8,800,000 new shares and approximately 184,000 shares which will be made available under the 2018 Plan from the Prior Plan) will be available for future grants. The Company expects this amount to last for approximately four years of awards. The 2018 Plan will be administered by the Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee will have the authority to: designate participants; grant awards; determine the type or types of awards to be granted to each participant and the number, terms and conditions thereof; establish, adopt or revise any rules and regulations as it may deem advisable to administer the 2018 Plan; and establish, make all other decisions and determinations that may be required under the 2018 Plan. The 2018 Plan permits the grant of incentive awards to employees, officers, directors, and consultants of the Company and its affiliates as selected by the Compensation Committee. As of March 2, 2018, the number of eligible participants was approximately 180. The 2018 Plan authorizes the granting of awards in any of the following forms: options to purchase shares of common stock, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, performance awards and other stock- and cash-based awards.

There are concerns with the Plan as it has various elements bundled together and can be used as a vehicle for potentially excessive executive payments. Furthermore, as performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that awards may not be subject to robust enough performance targets and the Committee will have considerable flexibility in the payout of discretionary awards. In addition, maximum award limits are excessive. As a result, shareholders are advised to oppose.

CRH PLC AGM - 26-04-2018*3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is satisfactory, though past targets for the annual bonus are not disclosed in full. The increase in the CEO's salary is just in line with the rest of the Company, as the Company reports that the CEO's salary rose by 3% while average employee costs rose by 1%. The balance of CEO realized pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. However, PSP awards granted during the year were excessive, amounting to 365% of salary, and total variable pay for the year under review was excessive, amounting to approximately 451% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable, standing at 103:1. The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

PFIZER INC. AGM - 26-04-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that important matters requiring a shareholder vote should be the subject of shareholder meetings, which provide the opportunity for discussion and interaction among the Company's shareholders. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal would deprive many shareholders of the opportunity to assess, discuss, deliberate and vote on pending shareholder actions. In addition, that it may prevent shareholders from receiving accurate information on important pending actions, deny the Board the opportunity to consider the merits of the proposed action and to suggest alternatives for shareholder evaluation.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result, many shareholders could be prevented from voting, or even receiving accurate and complete information, on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: the Sisters of St. Francis of Philadelphia.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt as policy to require the Chair of the Board, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that a combined CEO / Chair creates a potential conflict of interest, resulting in excessive management influence on the Board and weaker oversight of management. Also, the Proponent argues that numerous institutional investors recommend separation of these two roles.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and believes that the decision to separate or combine the roles of Chairman and CEO should be based on the unique circumstances and challenges confronting the Company at any given time, as well as the individual skills and experiences that may be required in an effective Chairman at that time. Also, the Board argues that given the Company's robust governance practices, including its strong Lead Independent Director, believes that adoption of the proposed policy is unnecessarily rigid and not in the best interest of the Company or its shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: The International Brotherhood of Teamsters General Fund.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: the Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; payments by the Company used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications; the Company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation; and description of the decision making process and oversight by management and the Board for making the above payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that the Company does not disclose payments to trade associations, or the amounts used for lobbying and also does not disclose its membership in tax-exempt organizations that write and endorse model legislation, such as sitting on the Private Enterprise Council of the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC). Since 2010, Pfizer has spent over $79 million on federal lobbying. This figure does not include state lobbying expenditures, where Pfizer also lobbies in all 50 states. The Proponent argues that transparent reporting would reveal whether Company assets are being used for objectives contrary to the Company's long-term interests.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's disclosures are fully compliant with the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007 and include the amount spent on federal lobbying activity, including a percentage of the Company's dues to trade associations of which it is a member. The Board argues that the Company's support of trade and industry groups is evaluated annually by the Company's Government Affairs Leaders and members of the Executive Leadership Team and the Company's CEO, when necessary. The Board believes that the requested report would not be a productive use of the Company's funds.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

It is proposed to approve shared service agreements between the Company and its subsidiaries, one service agreement between the Company and the family holding of the Bouygues family, SCDM. While shared service agreements are standard in groups of companies (Agreement A), under the service agreement with SCDM (Agreement B) the Company would pay Martin Bouygues and Olivier Bouygues via SCDM up to additional EUR 7 million for management, human resources, information technology, legal and financial services. The directors subject to this agreement are executive directors: it is considered that should not receive additional fees for services that should be able to render to the Company in their capacity of executives. In addition, as the related parties also represent the major shareholder, there is a potential scenario for conflict of interests. Opposition is recommended.

O.8. *Approve Compensation of Olivier Bouygues, Vice CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Olivier Bouygues, Vice CEO with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. 4. *Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: The Comptroller of the City of New York, Scott M. Stringer, on behalf of the New York City Employees' Retirement System and the New York City Teachers' Retirement System.

The Proponent requests that the Company prepare and periodically update a report that discloses monetary and non-monetary expenditures that the Company makes on political activities, including: i.) expenditures that the Company cannot deduct as an "ordinary and necessary" business expense under section 162(e) of the Internal Revenue Code; iii.) dues, contributions or other payments made to tax-exempt "social welfare" organizations and "political committees" operating under sections 501(c)(4) and 527 of the Code, respectively, or to tax-exempt entities that write model legislation and operate under section 501(c)(3) of the Code; and iv.) the portion of dues or other payments made to a tax-exempt entity such as a trade association that is used for an expenditure or contribution and that would not be deductible under section 162(e) of the Code if made directly by the Company.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company does not disclose potentially significant contributions that may be channeled anonymously into the political process through trade associations and non-profit groups that need not disclose contributions. The Proponent believes that in the absence of a system of transparency and accountability, company assets could be used for policy objectives that may be inimical to the long-term interests of, and may pose risks to, shareholders.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that its Political Contribution Policy discloses the mechanisms and means which govern participation in public policy processes. The Board argues that the NRG Energy, Inc. Political Action Committee (NRG PAC) files monthly reports of receipts and disbursements with the Federal Election Commission (FEC) and these publicly available reports identify the names of candidates supported and amounts contributed by the PAC. Also, the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would result in the use of valuable Company resources. The Board further believes that the report requested by the proposal would be an unproductive use of time.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations could be improved. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

LOCKHEED MARTIN CORPORATION AGM - 26-04-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board undertake the necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. Also our company requires 20% of shareholders to aggregate their shares to call a special meeting, a much higher hill to climb than the 10% of shareholders permitted by Delaware law. This proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. This included 67%-support at both Allstate and Sprint.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that stockholder action by written consent is not necessary in light of stockholders' existing ability to call a special meeting. The Board believes that a special meeting is a more appropriate method than action by written consent for stockholders to take action between regular annual meetings; as a special meeting ensures that all stockholders receive notice; adequate time to review proposals and a forum for expressing their views. By contrast; stockholder action by written consent may not result in all stockholders receiving notice of a proposed action and does not permit a variety of views on a proposal to be exchanged. Action by written consent can also create confusion and disruption; as stockholder groups may solicit multiple written consents simultaneously; some of which may be duplicative or contradictory. The Board believes that matters of sufficient importance to warrant action between annual stockholder meetings should not be decided without notification to all stockholders and an opportunity for all stockholders to be heard and to vote at a meeting.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result; up to 49% of the Company's shareholders could be prevented from voting; or even receiving accurate and complete information; on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis a vote in opposition is recommended.

EDISON INTERNATIONAL AGM - 26-04-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: John Chevedden

The Proponents request the Board of Directors amend the Company's bylaws to give holders in the aggregate of 3% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special share-owner meeting. No limitation are to be placed on the number of stockholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under the Company's proxy access provisions.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the current 3% criteria for a continuous 3-years at most companies according to the Council of Institutional Investors. This proposal addresses the situation that the Company now has with proxy access potentially for only the largest shareholders who are the most unlikely shareholders to make use of it. It is especially important to improve a shareholder right, such as proxy access, when there seems to be a board refreshment problem at Edison International that needs to be addressed after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that the Company has already adopted Bylaws that give shareholders a meaningful and appropriate proxy access right. EIX Bylaws provide the Company will include in its Proxy Statement up to two nominees (or nominees for up to 20% of the Board, whichever is greater) submitted by a shareholder or group of up to 20 shareholders owning at least 3% of EIX common stock continuously for at least three years, if the shareholder group and nominee satisfy the requirements in the EIX Bylaws.

PIRC Analysis: The proposed changes are in the best interest of shareholders and further improves shareholders ability to nominate a director. Any director put forward through the use of proxy access will still have to be voted on at the annual meeting by all shareholders. Therefore, shareholders can choose to support who they believe is the best candidate for the job whether it be a company candidate or a shareholder candidate. Support is therefore recommended.

JOHNSON & JOHNSON AGM - 26-04-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Prohibit Adjusting Compensation Metrics for Legal or Compliance Costs

Proposed by: The City of Philadelphia Public Employees Retirement System

The Proponents request the Board to adopt a policy that financial performance metric, for purposes of determining the amount or vesting of any senior executive Compensation award, should not include "adjusted" criteria, as these may exclude Legal or Compliance Costs when evaluating performance.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that removing adjusted measures on legal or compliance costs allows senior executives to be insulated from legal risks. The proponent suggests that calculations of EPS and operation EPS should include Legal and Compliance costs, particularly those associated with opioid litigation. Currently the company has been named in several lawsuits relating to the marketing of opioid pharmaceuticals and has been subpoenaed by other states for similar claims. Attorneys general of 41 states have opened an investigation of opioid makers and distributors that includes Johnson & Johnson's subsidiary Janssen Pharmaceuticals.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the performance of each executive is measured against a set of financial and strategic goals for the Company. These goals ensure that our leaders consider not only their individual results, but also the ways they can contribute to the long-term value of Johnson & Johnson. The board argues that by providing important information about their risks and benefits on every product label, and by establishing educational programs they are dedicated to improving the health of their patients and rates of abuse and addiction.

PIRC Analysis: Incorporating adjusted metrics does not allow shareowners to see the exact change or growth within the company. It is best practice for a company to not use adjusted metrics, therefore a vote for is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Mr. William Steiner

Shareowners are asking the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting. This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The proponent argues that a shareholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent are 2 complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle such as the election of directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also; the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: The proponents request for 10% is considered acceptable and more favourable than the limit proposed by the Board. We consider that shareholders should have the right to convene special meetings and we consider the thresholds recommended as acceptable. A vote in favour is recommended.

INTESA SANPAOLO SPA AGM - 27-04-2018

O.3.F. Approve LECOIP 2.0 Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan, for those beneficiaries who are not covered by the previous plan, partly in cash and partly in deferred shares. Under the plan, participants will be allotted stock options, each of which will give right to one share. Performance targets are quantified at this time. However, there are concerns regarding the presence of CET1 among the performance entry conditions: it is considered that employees or executives should not receive award based on the CET1, as this is a legal requirement and one of the basis of the financial strength of financial institutions. It should be the very bottom line of the functioning of banks, and not a motivating factor. In addition, the performance period is considered to be short term (three years).

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

AT&T INC. AGM - 27-04-2018

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Stockholders of AT&T request the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing: (i) y policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) Payments by AT&T used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; (iii) AT&T's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation; and (iv) AT&T's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that as stockholders, they encourage transparency and accountability in AT&T's use of corporate funds to influence legislation and regulation, both directly and indirectly. According to Senate reports, AT&T spent $80.3 million between 2012 and 2016 on federal lobbying activities. This figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states where AT&T also lobbies, but disclosure is uneven or absent. For example, AT&T spent $4.2 million lobbying in California in 2015 and 2016. AT&T does not disclose its memberships in, or payments to trade associations, or the portions of such amounts used for lobbying. Company assets could be used for objectives contrary to AT& T's long-term interests. AT&T sits on the board of the Chamber of Commerce, which has spent approximately $1.3 billion on lobbying since 1998.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that the reports it publishes on its website, along with the reports it files with the Federal government, provides shareholders and the public with ample transparency and accountability with respect to lobbying activities. It believes that the preparation and publication of another report as called for by this proposal is neither necessary nor an efficient use of Company resources. The Company actively participates in the legislative processes in order to protect and further stockholders' interests by contributing prudently to lobbying organisations that constructively advocate positions which advance the Company's business objectives and stockholders' interests. Pursuant to the federal Lobby Disclosure Act, the Company files federal lobbying reports quarterly with the Office of the Clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives and the Secretary of the U.S. Senate. These reports are publicly available and disclose corporate expenditures related to lobbying and issues lobbied.

PIRC Analysis: t is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests the Board to amend its "proxy access" bylaw provisions for the purpose of (1) decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for three years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group, (2) decreasing the barriers for renomination, and (3) increasing the potential number of nominees.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that under current provisions, even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the 3% holding criteria at most of companies examined by the Council of Institutional Investors. Allowing an unlimited number of shareholders to aggregate shares would facilitate greater participation by individuals and institutional investors in meeting the stock ownership requirements, 3% of the outstanding common stock entitled to vote. Although the Company's Board adopted a proxy access bylaw, it contains troublesome provisions that significantly impair the ability of shareholders to participate because of the large average amount of common shares each is required to hold for three years given the current aggregation limit of 20, the ability of shareholder nominees to run again, and the ability of shareholder nominees to effectively serve if elected. Adoption of all the requested amendments would come closer to meeting best practices as described by CII.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company's current proxy access bylaw strikes an appropriate balance between the benefits and risks of proxy access. The proposal seeks the adoption of provisions that would unnecessarily disrupt that balance. The proposal requests an increase in the number of permitted stockholder nominees from 20% of the Board to 25% of the Board. In selecting Director nominees, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee of the Board seeks to achieve a mix of experience, qualifications and personal backgrounds relevant to the Company's business, as well as attain independent representation and a reflection of the diversity of stockholders, employees, customers and communities in which the Company does business. The proposal requests removal of the limitation on the number of stockholders that can be aggregated to reach the 3% shareholding requirement. The limitation ensures that the proxy access mechanism is not driven by a large number of stockholders, no one of which has a substantial economic stake in the Company. Moreover, a general solicitation of stockholders to meet the 3% test could trigger the filing requirements that the proxy access bylaw was designed to avoid.

PIRC Analysis: The proposed changes are in the best interest of shareholders and further improve shareholders' ability to nominate a director. Any director put forward through the use of proxy access will still have to be voted on at the annual meeting by all shareholders. Therefore, shareholders can choose to support who they believe is the best candidate for the job; whether it be a company candidate or a shareholder candidate. Support is therefore recommended.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend the governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition, implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that an independent board chairman would have more time to devote to improving the qualifications of directors. Joyce Roché and Laura Tyson each had more than 18-years long-tenure. Long tenure can challenge the independence of any director no matter how qualified. Caterpillar is an example of a company recently changing course and naming an independent board chairman. Caterpillar had strongly opposed a shareholder proposal for an independent board chairman as recently as its 2016 annual meeting. Wells Fargo also reversed itself and named an independent board chairman in 2016.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that AT&T and its stockholders are best served by having Mr. Stephenson serve as both Chairman and CEO. The Board has taken several steps to ensure that the Board effectively carries out its responsibility for the oversight of management. The Board has appointed a Lead Director (currently, Matthew K. Rose, an independent member of the Board) who presides over regular executive sessions of the non-management members of the Board. The Lead Director is also responsible for approving the agenda for each Board meeting, presiding at Board meetings at which the Chairman is not present, and acting as the principal liaison between the Chairman and CEO and the non management Directors, among other things.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director; and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

9. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. Adoption of this proposal can give shareholders greater standing to engage AT&T management in regard to board refreshment after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that when a group of stockholders take action by written consent, they may do so in secret and without the opportunity for a meeting that would ensure that all stockholders had access to the same information and the opportunity to debate the proposal. Bylaws already permit a group of stockholders holding 15% of the outstanding shares to call for a special meeting of stockholders. At a special meeting, stockholders have the opportunity to review and debate the merits of the proposals submitted to the meeting. In contrast, a written consent permits stockholders to act in secret. The heightened vote requirement for actions by written consent, in fact, encourages stockholders to act through open meetings, which ensures the opportunity for debate.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The proponent request that the Board of Directors adopt a policy that the Chairman of the Board of Directors shall be an independent Director who is not a current or former employee of the company, and whose only non-trivial professional, familial or financial connection to the company or its CEO is the directorship.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that the over-extension of duties weakens leadership and argues that many successful corporations and financial holding companies have independent board chairmen. Furthermore, when the CEO is the board chairman, this arrangement can hinder the board's ability to monitor the CEO's performance. The support for this proposal from previous years has climbed from 30% to 37% between 2015 to 2017.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's shareholders are best served by its current leadership structure. In particular, the Board believes no single leadership structure is appropriate for every company. Also, the Board believes that combining the CEO and Chairman positions helps the Board respond quickly and effectively to the many business, market and regulatory challenges; serves as a highly effective bridge between the Board and management; and provides the leadership to execute business strategy and create shareholder value. The Board argues that the Company has a lead independent director who can preside over meetings of the independent directors and meet with the Chairman to discuss any matter arising from these meetings.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. Balance: Changes in CEO pay in the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. The CEO's salary is considered in the lower quartile of a peer comparator group. The CEO's variable pay for the Year Under Review is approximately 71.64% of salary, which is considered acceptable. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered appropriate at 15:1.

BANK OF GEORGIA GROUP PLC AGM - 30-04-2018*8. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. The CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company as the CEO's salary did not change while the average percentage change for the Group's employees was a 41% increase. In addition, the CEO's deferred share salary rose by 5.1% while the average percentage change for the deferred share salaries of the Group's employees was 12%. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. The current CEO's variable pay, when compared with his salary, is considered acceptable as it represents less than 200% of his total salary and stands at 75% of salary. However, there are concerns over the excessiveness of the CEO's remuneration, as total deferred shares (salary and discretionary) are considered very excessive at 990.48% of his cash salary. Furthermore, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is highly excessive at 593:1. However, it is noted that employees are paid in Georgian Lari, which the Company states partially accounts for the high ratio.. Given the excessive salary, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

THE BOEING COMPANY AGM - 30-04-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Additional Report on Lobbying Activities

Proposed by: Not disclosed.

The Proponent asks for the preparation of a report; updated annually; that discloses the Company's 1) lobbying policy and procedures; 2) payments by the Company used for lobbying; 3) the Company's membership in and payments to organisations that endorse model legislation and 4) a description of the decision process and oversight by management and the Board for making lobbying payments.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that transparency and accountability on political activities is in the best interests of shareholders. The Proponent states that according to a source; the Company spent $120.935 million from 2010 to 2016 on direct federal lobbying. The Proponent argues that there are serious disclosure gaps about the Company's memberships in trade associations and level of funding for such associations. For example, Boeing spent over $2.5 million lobbying in Washington state from 2010-2016, Boeing's lobbying over state tax breaks has drawn world wide attention.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the proposal is unnecessary; due to the transparency of the Company's lobbying expenditures and strong risk mitigation procedures. The Board argues that the 2017 CPA-Zicklin Index of Corporate Political Accountability and Disclosure listed Boeing as a first-tier company for political transparency and accountability. Also; the Board argues that the reporting sought by the proposal could reveal to the Company's competitors-for reasons wholly unrelated to political advocacy-sensitive aspects of our corporate strategy.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover; it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Not disclosed.

The Board is asked to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholders meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Shareholders input on the timing of shareholders meetings is especially important when events unfold quickly and issues may become moot by the next annual meeting; with meetings being up to 15 months apart. The Proponent states that more than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. The Proponent further argues that directors tenure is big problem within the company. Kenneth Duberstein, long-tenure of 20-years can detract from the independence of the director no matter how well qualified. On the other side of the spectrum, Randall Stephenson, with one-year tenure, managed to get the highest negative vote-5-times higher than some other Boeing directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that providing holders of only 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special meeting of stockholders is unnecessary and not in the best interests of the Company or its stockholders. The Company's Bylaws already permit stockholders who own 25% or more of the Company's outstanding common stock; on an aggregate net long basis; to call a special meeting. The 25% minimum threshold is a reasonable one that strikes the right balance between ensuring that stockholders have a means of calling a stockholders meeting and protecting against the risk that a small minority of stockholders could trigger a special meeting and its associated financial expense and disruption to the Company's business.

PIRC Analysis: The proponents request for 10% is considered acceptable and more favourable than the limit proposed by the Board. We consider that shareholders should have the right to convene special meetings and we consider the thresholds recommended as acceptable.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders are asking the Board to adopt a policy that; whenever possible; the Board chairman should be a director who has not previously served as an executive officer of the Company and who is "independent" of management.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Board of Directors; led by its chairman; is responsible for protecting shareholders' long-term interests by providing independent oversight of management; including the Chief Executive Officer; in directing the corporation's affairs. This oversight can be diminished when the chairman is not independent. An independent chairman who sets agendas; priorities; and procedures for the board can enhance its oversight and accountability of management and ensure the objective functioning of an effective board. The Proponent further argues that directors tenure is big problem within the company. Kenneth Duberstein, long-tenure of 20-years can detract from the independence of the director no matter how well qualified. On the other side of the spectrum, Randall Stephenson, with one-year tenure, managed to get the highest negative vote-5-times higher than some other Boeing directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board cites a lack of support for similar proposals at previous annual meetings. The Board states that it requires flexibility in selecting the leadership of the Company in order to govern the Company effectively and in the best interests of shareholders, and that a one-size-fits-all approach is not appropriate for the Company. The Board states that the presence of a Lead Director provides sufficient independent leadership and lists the Lead Director's responsibilities, which includes approving meeting agendas. Finally, the Board states that the proposal would ultimately serve to limit the Board's ability to act in shareholders' long-term best interests.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director; which means that there should be an independent Chairman. A support vote is therefore recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Board Size

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders are asking the Board to adopt a bylaw that if the Boeing board of directors is expanded beyond 14 directors, that shareholders would need to approve any such Board expansion.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the increase in board size at the last AGM from 12 to 14 could be unwieldy and could lead to CEO domination. This may not be good especially with a relatively new CEO.

Board's Opposing Argument: The board argues that the Governance, Organisation and Nominating Committee (GON) has identified no basis to conclude that the Board's operations are impaired once it reaches a certain size. The board also believes that artificial restrictions on the size of the Board would limit the ability of the GON Committee and the Board to make decisions that maximize its performance on behalf of shareholders. The board has consistently maintained its Board size within a range of 10-14 directors, and its Board currently consists of 13 directors, so on that basis alone the proposal imposes artificial and unnecessary restrictions on the Board. Boeing has attracted several superior candidates to join our Board-Lynn Good, Chairman and CEO of Duke Energy, Randall Stephenson, Chairman and CEO of AT&T. If this proposal is adopted, the board will be required to wait up to 12 months to seek shareholder approval for a new director, future candidates of this caliber might instead pursue other opportunities.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the Board will function most efficiently at an optimum number of members and the resolution allows for an adequate level of Board members. It is believed that this will result in a more effective governance structure. Therefore, an for vote on the proposal is recommended. PIRC does not support proposals that would allow management to amend the size of their Board without shareholders approval.

UNITED TECHNOLOGIES CORPORATION AGM - 30-04-2018

6. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Ms. Myra K. Young.

The proponent requests the amendment of the company bylaws to allow holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding share capital the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The Proponent believes that the timing of the proposal may be suitable as the board is in need of refreshment as there will be 3 directors with more than 14-years long-tenure by the conclusion of the AGM.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that the 25% threshold strikes an appropriate balance between assuring that shareholders have the ability to call a special meeting and protecting against a small minority of shareholders, including those with special interest. The Board believes that the proposed threshold is unnecessary in light of the Company's history of strong governance policies and practices, including a strong independent Lead Director, robust board refreshment practices (including 5 new independent directors since 2016), and direct shareholder engagement.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

The variable pay of the CEO for the year under review is considered excessive at 366% of his salary (Annual Bonus: 149% : LTIP 217%). The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 115:1. BRISTOL-MYERS SQUIBB COMPANY AGM - 01-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Integrating Risks Related to Drug Pricing into Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: Trinity Health

The proponent is requesting the board to report annually to shareholders on the extent to which risks related to public concern over drug pricing strategies are integrated into the executive compensation plans.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that senior executive incentive compensation arrangements should reward the creation of sustainable long-term value. The proponent argues that the current incentive compensation arrangements for executives may not encourage them to take actions that result in lower short-term financial performance even when those actions may be in the company's best long-term financial interests. Excessive dependence on drug price increases is a risky and is an unsustainable strategy, especially when price hikes drive large executive compensation payouts.

Board's Opposing Argument: The board argues that it already structured its compensation program to closely align the interests of executives with the those of shareholders and has also designed the compensation program with certain principles in mind, including "to implement best practices in compensation governance, including risk management and promotion of effective corporate policies. The Board firmly believes that prescription drugs are so important that everyone who needs them should have access to them and are aware to the rising costs of health care, including pharmaceuticals, and access to medicines. Medicine is priced according to a number of targets, including, the value of scientific innovation for patients and society in the context of overall healthcare spend; economic factors impacting the healthcare systems' capacity to provide appropriate, rapid and sustainable access to patients; and the necessity to sustain research and development.

PIRC Analysis: The inclusion of non-financial metrics into the Company's compensation structure is considered best practice. The Proponent has highlighted the issues with the current executive compensation; and the production of such report may motivate the CEO to implement initiatives that reduce the drug prices. On this basis; shareholders are advised to support the proposal .

5. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: James McRitchie.

The Proponent asks the Board to take the steps necessary to allow shareholders holding 15% of the Company's shares the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that the right to call a special meeting and the right to act by written consent are two complementary methods to bring matters to management's attention outside the annual meeting cycle. The Proponent states that the current requirement for 25% of shareholders to call a special meeting is much higher than the minimum in Delaware law (10%); and that the lower threshold would make up for shareholders' inability to act by written consent.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote AGAINST the proposal. The Board states that the current 25% threshold provides a reasonable balance between shareholder access and protection against disruptions and distractions brought on by special interest minority shareholders. The Board states that the threshold is equal to or lower than the thresholds adopted by 69% of Delaware companies. The Board argues that special meetings should only be convened for extraordinary events; in part given the substantial costs associated with administering them. Finally; the Board argues that the proposal is unnecessary in light of the Company's high corporate governance standards; which includes a proxy access bylaw.

Conclusion: A vote in support of the resolution is recommended. A minimum requirement of 10% of the shareholders is considered best practice with respect to the ability to call special meetings.

3. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The proponent requests the amendment of the company bylaws to allow holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding share capital the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that this proposal is more important at the Company because shareholders have no right to act by written consent. The Proponent believes that shareholders input on the timing of shareholder meetings is especially important when events unfold quickly and issues may become moot by the next annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that the 25% threshold is reasonable, appropriate and aligned with shareholder interests. The Board believes that Special shareholder meetings can (1) divert the Board and management from their duties and responsibilities to the Company, (2) encourage a more short-term focus at the expense of long-term stockholder value and (3) require significant time and expenditures to convene the special meeting.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

All participants are obliged to hold the shares for a period of four years (lock-in period), which is not considered to be sufficiently long term, although above market practice. In sum :we would oppose as 1. the lock-in period is not considered sufficiently long term2. the grant of a sum equivalent to 30% of their salary is not related to performance. They receive an amount of 30% of their salary in shares, for free. 3. the actual amount of variable remuneration, when they sell the shares after 4 years, does not necessarily depend on their performance.

UNILEVER PLC AGM - 02-05-2018

3. Approve Remuneration Policy

Key policy changes: Under the new Reward Framework, the Management Co-Investment Plan (MCIP) becomes the only long-term incentive as the GSIP has been discontinued with the final award in February 2018. Under the MCIP, the CEO and CFO can invest up to 67% of their gross annual bonus into Unilever shares which are matched based on performance over four years, with no match shares at threshold, 1.5X matching shares at Target performance and 3x match at Maximum. The use of matching shares is not considered appropriate.

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is acceptable.

Balance: The maximum variable pay for the CEO is 675% of salary (Annual bonus: 225%, MCIP: 450%) which is excessive. While indeed, the Company has simplified its remuneration structure by removing the Global Share Incentive Plan (GSIP) leaving the Annual Bonus & the MCIP. The use of a share matching plan is not supported. In addition, the same performance metric, underlying sales growth is in place for both the Annual Bonus and the MCIP, raising concerns that executives are being rewarded twice for the same performance. There is no evidence that dividends may not accrue on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not.

Contracts: An inappropriate level of upside discretion can be used by the Committee upon termination as time pro-rata vesting may be disappled. In addition, there is a level of discretion in determining a 'good leaver'

HUNTINGTON INGALLS INDUSTRIES INC. AGM - 02-05-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John R. Chevedden

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that the written consent process does not provide protections and advantages and instead undermines the important deliberative process through which the informed views of all stockholders, management and the Board are considered. Stockholder action by written consent would make it possible for the holders of a bare majority of outstanding common stock to take significant corporate action without any prior notice to the company or other stockholders, and without giving all stockholders sufficient opportunity to consider, discuss and vote on stockholder actions that may have important ramifications for the company and its stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result, shareholders could be prevented from voting or even receiving accurate and complete information on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

ALLERGAN PLC AGM - 02-05-2018

6. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Not disclosed.

The Proponent asks for the Board to adopt as policy; and amend the governing documents as necessary; to require the Chair of the Board of Directors; whenever possible; to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition; implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement. If the Board determines that a Chair who was independent when selected is no longer independent; the Board shall select a new Chair who satisfies the requirements of the policy within a reasonable amount of time. Compliance with this policy is waived if no independent director is available and willing to serve as Chair. This proposal requests that all the necessary steps be taken to accomplish the above.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that it is the Board's responsibility to protect shareholders' best interests by ensuring independent oversight of the management of the Company. The Proponent points to several pieces of academic and investment commentary in support of an independent Chairman and the governance benefits of such. The Proponent highlights that this proposal is of particular importance because the stock price fell to $240. It was reported that 53% of the Standard & Poors 1,500 firms separate the positions of Chairman and CEO. This proposal topic won 50%-plus support at 5 major U.S. companies in 2013 including 73%-support at Netflix. The proponent argues that management was focused on dodging responsibility to shareholders as previous annual meetings were held at 4:00 am.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board argues that the Company's current flexible leadership structure is in the best interests of shareholders and that the proposal is unnecessary to ensure effective oversight of management and accountability to shareholders. The Board also outlines some of its current governance practices that help ensure independent oversight of management; including the separation of the the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer roles. The Company's Lead Independent Director role provides strong independent oversight and has been enhanced in response to shareholder feedback.

Conclusion: The proposal effectively requires the permanent separation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman roles by establishing the position of Chairman as independent. A permanent separation of these roles is considered best practice. The Chief Executive Officer should be responsible for the running of the business and the Chairman for the functioning of the Board. Therefore a vote for the proposal is recommended.

DISCOVER FINANCIAL SERVICES AGM - 02-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Adopt Simple Majority Vote

Proposed by: Myra K. Young

Discover Financial Services shareholders request that the board take each step necessary so that each voting requirement in the charter and bylaws that calls for a greater than simple majority vote be eliminated, and replaced by a requirement for a majority of the votes cast for and against applicable proposals, or a simple majority in compliance with applicable laws.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that supermajority requirements are used to block initiatives supported by most shareowners but opposed by a status quo management. The majority of S&P 500 and S&P 1500 companies have no supermajority voting requirements. Additionally, unlike the majority of S&P 500 and S&P 1500 companies, the Company prohibits shareholders from calling special meetings. Shareowners are willing to pay a premium for shares of companies that have excellent corporate governance. Supermajority voting requirements have been found to be one of six entrenching mechanisms that are negatively related to company performance according to "What Matters in Corporate Governance" by Lucien Bebchuk, Alma Cohen and Allen Ferrell of the Harvard Law School.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that Delaware law permits companies to adopt supermajority voting requirements, and a number of publicly-traded companies have adopted these provisions to preserve and maximise long-term value for all shareholders. Supermajority voting requirements on fundamental corporate matters help to protect shareholders against the self-interested actions of a few large shareholders, who may have an agenda opposed to the long-term value of the Company. These voting standards ensure that fundamental changes to the Company are only enacted when the shareholders have reached a broad consensus to take action.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

3. Amend Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the The Goldman Sachs Amended and Restated Stock Incentive Plan (2018). The 2018 SIP permits grants of Awards to individuals in the following classes of persons: (1) any current or prospective director of Goldman Sachs, (2) any officer or employee of Goldman Sachs, (3) any consultant or other service provider to Goldman Sachs, and (4) any former director, officer or employee of, or consultant or other service provider to, Goldman Sachs with respect to the year of their departure from, or completion of service to, the firm. The 2018 SIP generally will be administered by our Compensation Committee (and those to whom it delegates authority), unless our Board determines otherwise. The Committee is granted broad discretion to make awards under the 2018 SIP and to interpret and implement the 2018 SIP. Our Board, in its sole discretion, also may grant Awards or administer the 2018 SIP.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). An oppose vote is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: The Unitarian Universalist Association

Shareholders of Goldman request the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing: (i) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) Payments by Goldman used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; and Goldman's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Goldman spent $26.49 million from 2010-2016 on federal lobbying. This figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where Goldman also lobbies but disclosure is uneven or absent. Goldman is a member of the Investment Company Institute, Managed Funds Association and Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association, which together spent over $34 million on lobbying for 2015 and 2016. Goldman does not disclose its memberships in, or payments to, trade associations, or the amounts used for lobbying. Furthermore, Goldman prohibits its payments to trade associations from being used for political contributions, but this does not cover payments used for lobbying. This leaves a serious disclosure gap, as trade associations generally spend far more on lobbying than on political contributions.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Statement on Policy Engagement and Political Participation and the Company's existing public disclosures already address the requests in the proposal. Doing so would impose additional administrative burden on the firm without providing material new information to shareholders. Additional disclosure may also raise potential competitive and business-related concerns.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: James McRitchie and Myra K. Young

Stockholders of the Goldman Sachs Group, Inc. ask the board of directors to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions and any associated documents, to include the following changes for the purpose of decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for three years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group: No limitation shall be placed on the number of stockholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under our Company's proxy access provisions.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that under current provisions, even if the 15 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the 3% holding criteria at most of companies examined by the Council of Institutional Investors. Allowing an unlimited number of shareholders to aggregate shares would facilitate greater participation by individuals and institutional investors in meeting the stock ownership requirements, 3% of the outstanding common stock entitled to vote. Although the Company's Board adopted a proxy access bylaw, it contains troublesome provisions that significantly impair the ability of shareholders to participate because of the large average amount of common shares each is required to hold for three years given the current aggregation limit of 15. Adoption of all the requested amendment would come closer to meeting best practices.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that a reasonable group aggregation limit supports and strengthens the proxy access right by providing that it may be used by shareholders who have a sufficient financial stake in our firm such that their interests are properly aligned with the interests of our shareholders as a whole. Without any such limit, the Board could be required to make burdensome and time-consuming inquiries into the nature and duration of the share ownership of a large number of individuals in order to verify their share ownership and confirm eligibility for the proxy access rights. This unwieldy administrative burden could create undue expense and impede the exercise of proxy access rights by other shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: The move would strengthen shareholder democracy and is supported. It is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board. Furthermore; the requested threshold is considered reasonable. Support is therefore recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent is requesting that the Company allows holders in the aggregate of 10% of the share capital the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The Proponent believes that this approach could give shareholders greater standing to improve the makeup of the board of directors after the 2018 AGM. The Proponent also mentions that long-tenure can impair the independence of a director no matter how well qualified. Independence is an all-important qualification for a Lead Director. Currently, there are three directors with tenures over 12 years: Nicholas Chabraja (23 Years); John Keane (13 Years); Lester Lyles (13 Years).

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe its adoption is unnecessary because the existing special meeting bylaw strikes an appropriate balance between the right of shareholders to call a special meeting and the interests of our company and shareholders in promoting the appropriate use of corporate funds and resources.

PEPSICO INC. AGM - 02-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board amend the Company bylaws to allow holders in the aggregate of 10% of the share capital the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that there is a need to have the full shareholder right to call a special meeting as the lax corporation laws of North Carolina do not allow shareholder action by written consent. The Proponent believes that this would allow shareholders to have a greater ability to engage the Board and management to improve the qualifications of the directors and make sure that the Board of Directors is continually refreshed with new diverse talent in order to maintain director independence.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it has been determined that the action requested by the shareholder proposal is neither necessary nor in the best interests of PepsiCo or its shareholders. PepsiCo already permits shareholders holding in the aggregate 20% or more of our outstanding shares to call a special meeting. The Board believes that shareholders have significant opportunities to engage with management and the Board throughout the year.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

INMARSAT PLC AGM - 02-05-20182. Approve the Remuneration Report*

It is noted that at last year's AGM the remuneration report received a considerable number of oppose votes (44.8%). The Company has stated that the Remuneration Committee engaged with shareholders during 2017 to address the high level of opposition. Consequently, the Committee decided to make the following two changes to the BSA: performance against each measure, will now be assessed on an independent basis, and there will no longer be an opportunity to 'offset' any under-performance against one measure with out-performance against the other; secondly, payout for target performance will be reduced from 100% to 80% of maximum, and a stretch target will be introduced, the achievement of which will be required for full payout.

Overall disclosure is adequate. Performance conditions and targets for long term incentives and the annual bonus are disclosed. However, it is considered inappropriate that EBITDA was used as a performance condition to determine awards under all three incentive plans, as this could lead to excessive and unmerited payouts for Executives. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the change in the salaries of other UK employees, as the CEO's salary rose by 3% while for other UK employees the increase was 6.1%. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is acceptable at 17:1. However, changes in the CEO's total remuneration over the past five years are not in line with changes in TSR during the same period, and total variable pay for the year under review is considered excessive at 218.2% of salary.

UNILEVER NV AGM - 03-05-2018*5. Approve Remuneration Policy

Under the new Reward Framework, the Management Co-Investment Plan (MCIP) becomes the only long-term incentive as the GSIP has been discontinued with the final award in February 2018. Under the MCIP, the CEO and CFO can invest up to 67% of their gross annual bonus into Unilever shares which are matched based on performance over four years, with no match shares at threshold, 1.5X matching shares at Target performance and 3x match at Maximum. The use of matching shares is not considered appropriate. Overall disclosure is acceptable. The maximum variable pay for the CEO is 675% of salary (Annual bonus: 225%, MCIP: 450%) which is excessive. While indeed, the Company has simplified its remuneration structure by removing the Global Share Incentive Plan (GSIP) leaving the Annual Bonus & the MCIP. The use of a share matching plan is not supported. In addition, the same performance metric, underlying sales growth is in place for both the Annual Bonus and the MCIP, raising concerns that executives are being rewarded twice for the same performance. There is no evidence that dividends may not accrue on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not. An inappropriate level of upside discretion can be used by the Committee upon termination as time pro-rata vesting may be disappplied. In addition, there is a level of discretion in determining a 'good leaver'

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Next year's fees and salaries are clearly stated. Performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus and LTIP are disclosed. Accrued dividends on vested share incentives are not separately disclosed.

Balance: The CEO's realised variable pay for the year under review is considered excessive at 525.5% of salary (Annual Bonus: 115.5% LTIP: 410%). The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of PIRC's comparator group. There has been an appropriate use of the Committee's discretion as due to the increase in the number of fatalities during the year, bonus pay outs were scaled back. The CEO's pay in the last five years is in line with the Company's financial performance over the same period. In addition the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable standing at 216:1.

DTE ENERGY COMPANY AGM - 03-05-2018*5. Shareholder Resolution: Environmental Issues

Proposed by: Kenneth Fink

Shareholders request that the Company (DTE) commission an independent economic analysis of the potential cost avoidance and the potential financial benefit to Shareholders and Ratepayers of closing the Fermi 2 prior to the expiration of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission license. Shareholders request that this analysis include financial projections indicating the most advantageous date of closure, and that opportunity costs are examined. Shareholders request that a report be provided and presented at the next DTE Shareholders Meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the worldwide electric energy market is rapidly shifting from fossil fuels and nuclear electricity to distributed renewable electric power. The Fermi 2 nuclear plant is the most expensive electrical generating facility in the DTE fleet. Development of a diverse and growing local industrial sector benefits DTE Shareholders with increased sales and viability. Michigan is positioned to be a solar energy manufacturing hub. Adopting solar energy solutions on a mass scale feeds business synergy locally with leaders in the field. The Proponent believes that this resolution is necessary to address the future viability of the Company in changing times. Investments in distributed, renewable energy are the fastest, safest, most affordable way to expand generating capacity. To protect DTE's market share, and DTE stockholder's financial interests, the Company must support distributed power, or more ratepayers will be lost to off grid, standalone systems.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the independent economic analysis requested by this proposal would be both duplicative and expensive. The Company has already studied the economics of Fermi 2 at great length, and has determined that its continued operation makes sense not only from a financial perspective, but also in the larger context of evolution to a sustainable future. Instead of spending valuable company resources reconsidering the operation of Fermi 2, shareholders would be better served by continuing their focus on transitioning away from coal and toward renewables and efficient natural gas generation, with Fermi 2 serving as a reliable source of zero-carbon power.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the company; but also as a means of ensuring that the management and the Board give due consideration to these issues. It is believed that additional disclosure would be of benefit to shareholders who could make a more informed judgement on potential risks and ethical aspects related to their investment. Support is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareowners ask the board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend its bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting. This proposal does not impact the board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Scores of Fortune 500 companies allow a 10% of shares to call a special meeting compared to DTE Energy's higher requirement. DTE shareholders do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under state law. Special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. This proposal topic won more than 70%-support at Edwards Lifesciences and SunEdison in 2013. An enhanced ability of shareholders to call a special meeting would give shareholders greater standing to have input in improving the makeup of our board of directors after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and has concluded that lowering the threshold for holders of our common stock to call a special meeting goes against the best interests of the Company and its shareholders. The Company's bylaws currently provide that the Corporate Secretary will call a special meeting when requested to do so by holders of at least 25% of the outstanding common stock entitled to vote at such a meeting. The board voluntarily adopted the 25% threshold in February 2015 (a reduction from the previous 75% threshold) based on peer benchmarking and shareholder input. The 25% threshold is consistent with mainstream practice in the utility sector and across the economy, and it prevents misuse of the process by a small minority of shareholders, who may be pursuing narrow, short-term interests at the expense of the larger body of shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: A minimum requirement of 10% of the shareholders is considered best practice with respect to the ability to call special meetings. Support is therefore recommended.

VERIZON COMMUNICATIONS INC AGM - 03-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Bylaws – Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests that the Board amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The Proponent argues that this proposal is particularly important because shareholders do not have the opportunity to act by written consent and that now is a good time to adopt this proposal topic since the Company's stock price has been dead money since late 2016.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that under the Company's bylaws, any individual shareholder who owns at least 10%, or multiple shareholders who together own at least 25%, of the Company's stock may call a special meeting of shareholders. The Board believes that special meetings should be extraordinary events that occur only when an individual shareholder, or group of shareholders, with a substantial percentage of shares agrees there are extremely pressing matters that must be addressed before the next annual meeting.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Boston Common U.S. Equity Fund.

The Proponent requests that the Board provides full disclosure on Verizon Communication Inc.'s direct and indirect lobbying activities and expenditures to assess whether Verizon's lobbying is consistent with its expressed goals and in the best interests of shareholders.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Verizon has spent over $100 million on federal lobbying (opensecrets.org). This figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where Verizon also lobbies in all 50 states ("Amid Federal Gridlock, Lobbying Rises in the States," Center for Public Integrity, February 11, 2016), but disclosure is uneven or absent. In addition, Verizon does not disclose its memberships in, or payments to, trade associations, or the amounts used for lobbying.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as Verizon fully complies with the disclosure obligations imposed by the federal, state and local laws relating to its lobbying activities. At the federal level, Verizon files public quarterly reports disclosing its lobbying expenditures and detailing its lobbying activities, the entities it lobbied and the subject matters upon which it lobbied. Verizon participates in a number of trade associations, which not only provide valuable industry and market expertise, but also advocate positions on behalf of their members.

PIRC Analysis: The Board has not shown that the Company's existing disclosure addresses the concerns and information requested by the Proponent. The sums referred to by the Proponent are significant, and thorough disclosure with respect to how shareholders' funds are used to further political or legislative objectives is welcomed. It is noted that in terms of disclosure surrounding political donations, the Company appears in the second tier of the CPA-Zicklin Index. Accordingly, support is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: AFL-CIO Reserve Fund.

The Proponent asks that the Board take the steps necessary to adopt a policy to require that the Chairman of the Board shall be an independent director who has not previously served as an executive officer of the Company.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the combination of these two roles in a single person weakens a corporation's governance, which can harm shareholder value. The Proponent also believes that the Chairman should be an independent director, who has not previously served as an executive, in order to provide robust oversight and accountability of management, and to facilitate effective deliberation of corporate strategy.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that decisions concerning its leadership structure, including whether an independent Chairman is appropriate, should be based on the unique circumstances and challenges confronting Verizon at any given time, and should take into account the individual skills and experience that may be required in an effective Chairman at that time. The Board leadership includes a strong independent Lead Director who shares governance responsibilities with the Chairman, ensuring forthright communication, effective independent oversight of management's performance and accountability to shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal. Support is recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Assess Feasibility of Cyber Security and Data Privacy as a Performance Measure for Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: The Park Foundation, Inc.

The Proponent requests that the appropriate board committee publish a report assessing the feasibility of integrating cyber security and data privacy metrics into the performance measures of senior executives under the company's compensation incentive plans.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that currently, Verizon links senior executive compensation to diversity metrics and carbon intensity metrics. Cyber security and data privacy are vitally important issues for Verizon and should be integrated as appropriate into senior executive compensation as we believe it would incentivize leadership to reduce needless risk, enhance financial performance, and increase accountability. The Proponent has claimed that while Verizon has made several policy commitments regarding data privacy and data security, there is significant evidence that Verizon has not been successful at implementing those commitments and/or faces significant challenges to doing so. In 2016, Fortune reported that "Verizon's division that helps Fortune 500 companies respond to data breaches, suffered a data breach of its own ... [including] information on some 1.5 million customers of Verizon Enterprise." In October 2017, it was announced that all 3 billion accounts in subsidiary Yahoo had been breached prior to its acquisition by Verizon. With its acquisition of AOL and Yahoo and the combination of these firms into a new digital media and advertising company called Oath, Verizon now reportedly aims in coming years to double its advertising reach to 2 billion people in Latin America, Asia and Europe. CNBC reported that Oath is "working with third parties to provide more transparency in telling marketers where their ads are running." This will require sharing information and will depend on the security and policies of vendors and other third-party partners.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Board does not think that the proposed performance metrics for senior executive compensation would have the presumed effect of preventing a network or data security breach. The Board believes that there is not necessarily a correlation between a senior executive's actions and the prevention of cyber or data security incidents. In addition, the Board believes that the proposal incorrectly suggests that cybersecurity and data privacy performance metrics are analogous to the diversity and carbon abatement performance metrics that Verizon uses in its short-term incentive awards. Verizon has a dedicated Chief Information Security Officer whose team is responsible for leading enterprise-wide information security strategy, policy, standards, architecture and processes.

PIRC Analysis: In 2016, the breach suffered by the Company, whilst considered a reasonable concern, did not have a significant adverse effect upon the share price. There is, however, merit in the Proponent's proposal. While it is difficult to assess a viable performance metric that quantifies an executive officer's performance in cyber security and data privacy matters, given the importance of this issue to investors, a report on the feasibility of such measures would be of benefit to investors.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Clawback of Incentive Payments

Proposed by: Jack K. & Ilene Cohen.

The Proponents request that the Board amend the Company's compensation claw back policy, as applied to senior executive officers, to provide that the Human Resources Committee will review and determine whether to seek recoupment of incentive compensation paid, granted or awarded to a senior executive officer if, in the Committee's judgment, there has been conduct resulting in a violation of law, regulation or Company policy that causes significant financial or reputational harm to the Company, and a senior executive either engaged in the conduct or failed in his or her responsibility to manage or monitor conduct or risks, with the Company to disclose to shareholders the circumstances of any recoupment and of any decision not to pursue recoupment.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponents argue that a claw back policy limited to "willful misconduct" is too narrow and believe that recoupment is an important remedy for other conduct that does not cause a restatement of financial results, but may harm the Company's reputation and prospects in addition to any financial penalties or loss. Also, the Proponents argue that recent high-profile regulatory fines paid by the Company underscore the need for a stronger policy.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's existing claw back policies sufficiently address the objectives of the proposal because they empower the Company to hold executives accountable for actions or omissions that result in significant reputational or financial harm to the Company. The Board argues that all of the Company's employees who receive equity grants under the Company's Long-Term Plan are subject to an additional claw back policy that requires the cancellation and/or repayment of incentive compensation (both short-term and long-term) if the Committee determines that the Company was required to materially restate its financial results because of the employee's willful misconduct or gross negligence.

PIRC Analysis: It is in shareholders' interests for the Company to adopt a policy of recoupment in the circumstances set out by the Proponents and, accordingly, we recommend a vote for the proposal.

9. Shareholder Resolution: Eliminate Above-Market Earnings in Executive Retirement Plans

Proposed by: The Association of BellTel Retirees Inc.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt a policy that prohibits the practice of paying above-market earnings on the non-tax-qualified retirement saving or deferred income account balances of senior executive officers. This policy should be implemented prospectively and apply only to senior executive officers in a manner that does not interfere with any contractual rights.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that the Company offers senior executive officers far more generous retirement saving benefits than rank-and-file managers and other employees receive under the company's tax-qualified saving plans, in our view. One costly and unjustifiable feature is the payment of an above-market rate of return on the multi-million dollar supplemental non-tax-qualified savings and deferred income account balances of senior executives. Proxy advisor Institutional Shareholder Services flagged this practice in its 2017 proxy analysis report, stating that Verizon "provided guaranteed earnings rates on deferred compensation that are above what can be earned in the general marketplace. This non-performance-based benefit creates additional costs to shareholders." The Verizon Executive Deferral Plan allows executives to contribute or defer compensation significantly above applicable IRS limits, including without limit the long-term incentive compensation that represents the bulk of their annual income. In 2016, CEO Lowell McAdam received $100,855 in "above-market earnings" on his non-qualified plan assets, which totaled just under $12 million at year-end. The six named executive officers cumulatively held more than $50 million in non-qualified accounts at year-end 2016.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose as the proposal fundamentally misrepresents the investment returns paid to participants in Verizon's Executive Deferral Plan, which we refer to as the Deferral Plan. None of the 28 hypothetical investment options offered under the Deferral Plan pay a premium above what can be earned in the market. All but one of the hypothetical investment options simply mirror the performance of the investment options available under Verizon's tax-qualified 401(k) savings plan. The one additional hypothetical investment option, which is referred to as the Moody's investment option, offers a return equal to the long-term, high-grade corporate bond yield average as published by Moody's Investor Services Inc. – in other words, a rate entirely reflective of today's market rate for loans to large corporations such as Verizon. With regards to the references to the "above market earnings" mentioned in the summary compensation table, these figures relate to the amounts that the individuals elected to invest in the Moody's investment option. In 2017, the annual rate of return on the Moody's investment option was approximately 4.135%. Given that the S&P 500 Price index returned over 18% in 2017, it is unreasonable and unfair to characterize the returns on the Moody's investment option as "preferential" or "above-market."

PIRC Analysis: The proposed implementation of the policy is reasonable and it applies only to earnings on the non-tax-qualified retirement saving or deferred income account balances. The proposal is in the best interest of shareholders, and support for the resolution is therefore recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt a policy; and amend the Company's governing documents as necessary; to require the Chair of the Board of Directors; whenever possible; to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition; implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement. If the Board determines that a Chair who was independent when selected is no longer independent; the Board shall select a new Chair who satisfies the requirements of the policy within a reasonable amount of time. Compliance with this policy is waived if no independent director is available and willing to serve as Chair. This proposal requests that all the necessary steps be taken to accomplish the above.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that a board chairman who is independent of the Company and its management will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management. The proponents further say that an independent director serving as chairman can help ensure the functioning of an effective board. The proponent also highlights weakness with the current board. Directors Kelvin Westbrook and Patrick Moore received the highest negative votes in 2017. They each had long-tenure which can impair the independence of a director. This proposal topic won 47% support at the 2014 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that if the Chair of the Board is an independent director; it would limit the Board's ability to select the director best suited to serve as chair; based on the relevant facts; circumstances; and criteria as they exist at the time. It also argues that such mandates would impose an unnecessary restriction on the Board that is not in the best interests of the Company. It says that it is essential that essential for it maintain an appropriate degree of discretion to select the best possible Chair of the Board even if the Company and its stockholders are best served by a Chair who acts in a dual role as Chief Executive Officer. The board also states that they regularly review their governance process and leadership structure, and will make determinations based upon the best interests of the Company and its stockholders at that time.

PIRC Analysis: The separation of the roles is considered a corporate governance best practice; with an independent Chairman who can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. A vote in favour is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: National Center For Public Policy Research

Proponent requests that the Board provide a report updated semi-annually disclosing the Company's policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; payments by Duke Energy used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; Duke Energy's membership and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and/or endorses model legislation; and a description of management's and the Board's decision-making process and oversight for making payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that shareholders support transparency and accountability in corporate spending on political activities. The Company should be proud of its memberships in trade associations and non-profits groups that promote pro-business, pro-growth initiatives. For example, the Company's membership in groups such as the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC) should be applauded and endorsed by shareholders. ALEC advances initiatives that are designed to unburden corporations such as Duke Energy, allowing them the freedom to create jobs and economic prosperity in the United States.' The proponents supports the Company's free speech rights and freedom to associate with groups that advance economic liberty and believes that the Company should stand up for those rights.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board opposes the resolution and states that they are committed to adhering to the highest standards of ethics in engaging in any lobbying activities. The Corporation's corporate political contributions and lobbying activities are subject to regulation by the state and federal government, including requirements to provide disclosures of federal and state lobbying expenses. These disclosures are publicly available and are linked to the company's website. Duke Energy discloses all corporate contributions in excess of $1,000, the federal lobbying portion of trade association dues for trade associations with dues over $50,000.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's report on political donations could be improved and the Company. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. #### 4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that this proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. Eastman Chemical shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under Delaware law. According to the lame Eastman Chemical special meeting provision it would take 25% of shares (instead of 10% per Delaware law) to call a special meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that permitting stockholder action by written consent would circumvent the proper and usual process of allowing deliberation at a meeting of stockholders, would be contrary to principles of openness and good governance, and has the potential to inappropriately disenfranchise stockholders. The practices of other large companies reflect that opinion; currently, less than one-third of Fortune 500 companies permit shareholders to act by written consent. Allowing stockholder action by written consent would result in a small group of self-interested stockholders, who together would hold a threshold amount of shares, and who do not owe any fiduciary responsibilities to other stockholders, to take important actions without the involvement of, and with little or no advance notice to, the Company or other stockholders, including actions that may constitute self-interested transactions or that otherwise may not be in the long-term best interests of the Company and its stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent request that the Board amends the bylaws of the Company to allow holders in the aggregate of 10% the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. An enhanced ability of shareholders to call a special meeting would give shareholders greater standing to have input in improving the makeup of the board of directors after the 2018 annual meeting. For instance, the Company did not have oversight of the CEO by an independent chairman.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as convening a special meeting imposes significant administrative and operational costs. The Board believes that the current 25% threshold prevents one or two shareholders from calling a special meeting and imposing these costs on all shareholders even when most shareholders do not want a special meeting.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Environmental Issues

Proposed by: The Comptroller of the State of New York

Shareholders request that Fluor Corporation adopt time bound quantitative, company-wide goals for the reduction of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, taking into consideration the goals of the Paris Climate Agreement, and issue a report by December 2018, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on its plans to achieve these goals.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that in order to mitigate the worst impacts of climate change, the IPCC estimates that a 55% reduction in GHG emissions globally is needed by 2050 (relative to 2010 levels) to stabilize global temperatures, entailing a US target reduction of 80%. Setting GHG emission targets is widespread among US companies and can have positive financial outcomes. More than 60% of Fortune 100 companies have GHG reduction commitments, renewable energy commitments, or both. A report published by WWF, Carbon Disclosure Project (CDP), and McKinsey & Company, The 3% Solution: Driving Profits Through Carbon Reduction (2013), found that companies with GHG targets achieved an average of 9% better return on investment than companies without targets.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it manages its greenhouse gas emissions, use of renewable energy and energy efficiency on a facility-by-facility basis. The Board believes that setting company-wide goals for the reduction of GHG emissions does not allow local facility management the full flexibility that is necessary to reduce environmental impact, increase energy efficiency and employ renewable energy at their facilities. Rather, its current approach allows local management around the globe to institute the best initiatives for their facilities and has resulted in the Company's superior performance, which is the ultimate indicator of how well a programme is designed and executed.

PIRC Analysis: The Company acknowledges its need to manage and reduce its GHG emissions and the importance of this to the Company's business. The resolution is not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board discretion in interpreting its scope and application so that, for example, a target of overall reduction of GHG emissions could be taken as being relative to the increasing or decreasing scale of the business rather than in absolute terms. By adopting transparent targets, the Board will assist shareholders in managing their own portfolio risks arising from GHG emissions by investee companies. Support for the resolution is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Political Contributions

Proposed by: The New York State Common Retirement Fund

The Proponent requests that the Board provide a report semi-annually disclosing the Company's: policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum; and monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used, including: a) the identity of the recipient as well as the amount paid to each; and b) the title(s) of the person(s) in the Company responsible for decision-making.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: As long-term shareholders of Equifax, the Proponents support transparency and accountability in corporate spending on political activities. These include any activities considered intervention in any political campaign under the Internal Revenue Code, such as direct and indirect contributions to political candidates, parties, organizations, or ballot measures; direct independent expenditures; or electioneering communications on behalf of federal, state, or local candidates. Disclosure is in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders. The Supreme Court affirmed this in its Citizens United decision: "[D]isclosure permits citizens and shareholders to react to the speech of corporate entities in a proper way. This transparency enables the electorate to make informed decisions and give proper weight to different speakers and messages." Gaps in transparency and accountability may expose the company to reputational and business risks that could threaten long-term shareholder value. Publicly available records show that Equifax contributed over USD 600,000 in corporate funds since the 2004 election cycle. However, publicly available data does not provide a complete picture of the Company's political spending. For example, the Company's payments to trade associations and "social welfare organizations" – organized under section 501(c)(4) of the IRS Code – used for political activities are undisclosed and unknown. This proposal asks the Company to disclose all of its political expenditures, including payments to trade associations and other tax exempt organisations.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company's political contributions are not financially material to the Company. In 2016, 2015 and 2014, aggregate political contributions made directly by the Company with corporate funds totaled approximately USD 1,500, USD 2,000, and USD10,250, respectively. In 2016, the Company's total expenses relating to political contributions were de minimis when compared to the Company's total operating costs of approximately USD 2.3 billion. The Company already discloses sufficient information regarding its political contributions and already has an appropriate system of oversight in place, including the Policy and the Code of Ethics, to confirm that the Company's political contributions comply with applicable law and are in the best, long-term interests of the Company and its shareholders. Accordingly, the Board believes that preparing an additional report as requested by the proposal would be an unnecessary and imprudent use of the Company's time and resources.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations could be improved as the Company's political disclosure and accountability policies and practices is in the bottom tier of the S&P500. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

4. Ratify Existing Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

The Board of Directors is requesting shareholders' approval to keep the Ownership Threshold for Stockholders to Request a Special Meeting of Stockholders at 25%. The Board determined to submit this ratification proposal in order to provide all of stockholders with a means of communicating their views on the existing 25% ownership threshold. The Board states that the current 25% threshold provides a reasonable balance between shareholder access and protection against disruptions and distractions brought on by special interest minority shareholders.

The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. As the board of directors are making efforts to respect shareholders' rights a vote for the resolution is recommended.

RECKITT BENCKISER GROUP PLC AGM - 03-05-20182. Approve the Remuneration Report*

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered acceptable.

Balance: Due to actual results being below the stretching performance targets set, no bonus will be paid to the Executive Directors for 2017. The Committee considered it appropriate to exercise its discretion to reduce the vesting outcome for the 2015 LTIP by 50% for the CEO and CFO to align pay outcomes with the 'shareholder experience'. The impact of this is to reduce the 2017 single figure for the CEO from £23.7m to £12.5m and to reduce that for the CFO from £5.2m to £3m. This compares to 2016 single figures of £15.3m and £6.8m, respectively. However the realised amount is considered excessive at £11,220,400 or 1187% of the CEO's salary. In addition, the CEO's LTIP award is considered excessive at £6,486,000 (£19,456,000 if the options are included). This gains further importance in light of the fact that the target range used: 6% to 10% EPS CAGR growth is not considered sufficiently stretching. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 32:1. The changes in CEO total pay over the last five years are not commensurate with the changes in Company's TSR performance over the same period.

IMI PLC AGM - 03-05-20183. Approve Remuneration Policy*

Under the newly proposed policy, the main material changes are as follows: pension allowances for new hires will be reduced from 30% to 25% of salary for a Chief Executive and from 25% of salary to 20% for any other executive director; a two year post-vesting holding period will be introduced to the Company's ltip, the IMI Incentive Plan (IIP).

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. Although pension entitlements have been reduced for new hires, the current pension arrangements for Executive Directors are considered excessive. Under the annual bonus, the amount deferred, as well as the deferral period, are considered adequate, though this only applies if the Executives have not fulfilled their shareholding requirements. Share deferral should apply in any case. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they do not operate interdependently. With respect to the Company's LTIP, the performance period at three years is not considered to be sufficiently long term. However, the introduction of a two year post-vesting holding period is welcomed. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they are all financial based and do not operate interdependently. Total potential variable pay is excessive at 450% of salary, and can be increased to 600% of salary in exceptional circumstances. There is no time-limit set for Executives' shareholding requirements, which is not in line with best practice. In relation to contracts, Directors may be entitled to excessive variable awards up to 600% of base salary, on recruitment. In the event of termination of employment, the policy on awards for good leavers is that they vest on normal vesting date or at cessation, subject to satisfaction of the associated performance conditions. Time-apportionment for the period worked is at the discretion of the Committee, which is not supported. Material exception to contract policy exists, as Mr Roy Twite would be entitled to termination payments in excess of 12 months, in the event of a takeover., which is considered inappropriate.

CMS ENERGY CORPORATION AGM - 04-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent asks for the preparation of a report; updated semi-annually that discloses the Company's: 1. Policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum; 2. Monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described above, including: a. The identity of the recipient as well as the amount paid to each; and b. The title(s) of the person(s) in the Company responsible for decision-making. The report should be posted on the Company's website within 12 months of the annual meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that transparency and accountability on political activities is in the best interests of shareholders. The Proponent states that the Company does not disclose its memberships in or payments to trade associations; and that absent a system of accountability; Company assets could be used for objectives contrary to long-term Company interests. The Proponent points to public information about the Company's significant expenditures on lobbying activities (e.g. $14 million in corporate funds since 2010 election cycle); but states that disclosure overall is uneven.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board states that the Company's current policies and disclosure already address many of the Proponent's concerns. The Board also states that the Proposal is not in the best interests of shareholders; is it would require disclosure of proprietary information and could place the Company at a competitive disadvantage. The Board believes that the level of specific disclosure requested by the proposal could have unintended consequences and could hinder the ability to pursue business and strategic objectives.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations could be improved. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure:All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Next year's fees and salaries for all directors are clearly stated. All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and prices.

Balance: The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are considered in line with the Company's TSR performance over the same period. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered appropriate at 11:1. Appropriate payments were made regarding the appointment of Keith as Chief Executive. However, the variable pay of the CEO for the year under review represents more than 200% of salary which is considered excessive. It is therefore noted that the CEO comparison is based on Keith Barr's part year 2017 remuneration. The 149% of salary vesting for LTIP is obtained by dividing the full 15/17 LTIP cycle award by a part-year salary. Instead the annual salary (£775,000) should be used, resulting in 75% of salary. However, the 71% of salary APP award, was for a part year and the full year equivalent would have been 139%.

22. Shareholder Resolution, market valuations of all the Company's assets on an annual basis

It has been proposed by MSD European Opportunity Master Fund, L.P. and MSD Value Investments, L.P. that the market valuations of all the Company's assets are disclosed on an annual basis. The argument is made that currently, the Company's balance sheet is not a reasonable reflection of the market value of the Company's assets in existing use and that by providing an annual market value of the assets it will both increase transparency and, far more importantly, help shareholders to assess operating performance over time.

The Company has responded to this proposal and argued that under current accounting standards and reporting requirements, these properties are not required to be shown at their fair market value. Also, the Company argues that valuations are inherently subjective and may fluctuate from year-to-year based on changes in assumptions and calculation methodologies, which could be confusing to investors.

It is considered that improved and updated disclosure regarding the Company's assets will benefit the minority shareholders of the Company and therefore a vote in favour is recommended.

ILLINOIS TOOL WORKS INC. AGM - 04-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special stockholder meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. A stockholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent and are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle such as the election of directors. This same proposal topic won more than 70%-support at Edwards Lifesciences and SunEdison in 2013.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 20% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also; the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Environmental Issues

Proposed by: Joan Nonie Brady, c/o Trillium Asset Management LLC; and The Comptroller of the City of New York, as the custodian and trustee of the New York City Employees' Retirement System, the New York City Fire Pension Fund, the New York City Teachers' Retirement System, and the New York City Policy Pension Fund, and custodian of the New York City Board of Education Retirement System.

The Proponents request the Board of Directors to adopt time-bound, quantitative, company-wide, science-based targets for reducing greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, consistent with the goals of the Paris Climate Agreement, and report annually, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on its plans and progress towards achieving these targets.

Supporting Argument: The Proponents argue that while the Company's products help its clients reduce energy usage and climate impacts, the Company has not publicly set GHG emissions reductions targets for its own operations. Also, the Proponents argue that over half of S&P 500 companies have set GHG emissions reduction targets and the Company may not achieve the benefits realised by its peers. 50% of the S&P 500 companies have set GHG emissions reduction targets. Among these companies are many of ITW's peers, proving it is possible to reduce emissions while growing the business: Cummins has achieved a 36% reduction in GHG intensity from 2005 to 2015 and now commits to science-based targets; 3M aims to reduce GHG emissions 50% below 2002 levels by 2025; and Johnson Controls has reduced GHG emissions intensity 41% from 2002 to 2014 and targets an additional 15% reduction by 2020. In 2013, Carbon Disclosure Project and World Wildlife Fund found that four out of five companies in the S&P 500 earned a higher return on investments aimed at reducing carbon emissions than other capital investments.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's emissions data are available through the Carbon Disclosure Project and has also begun disclosing information regarding its greenhouse gas emissions as part of the Company's newly expanded Corporate Social Responsibility Report. The Board argues that its commitments to CSR are best accomplished through CSR strategies developed internally because management, with oversight by the Board, is best positioned to determine how to drive sustainability within the Company. Also, the Board argues that measuring performance against preset goals may present a misleading view of the Company's progress in reducing emissions given the Company's dynamic portfolio. The Board regularly engages with major shareholders who have informed the Company that they either do not support or are not inclined to support shareholder proposals that prescriptively require sustainability goals and targets, understanding that management and the Board should be responsible for determining company-appropriate objectives.

Analysis: Although the Company discloses information on reducing total greenhouse gas emissions; the Company has not yet adopted quantitative goals. Setting GHG reduction targets would enable shareholders to better evaluate emissions performance trends and the effectiveness of ITW's strategies. The resolution is not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board to set its own targets in the interests of the Company as a whole and does not; therefore; compromise the directors' fiduciary duties. A vote for is recommended.

ENTERGY CORPORATION AGM - 04-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Distributed Renewable Generation Resources

Proposed by: As You Sow

Shareholders request that Entergy prepare a report (at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information) describing how the Company could adapt its enterprise-wide business model to significantly increase deployment of distributed-scale non carbon-emitting electricity resources as a means of reducing greenhouse gas emissions consistent with limiting global warming to no more than 2 degrees Celsius over pre-industrial levels.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that in 2014, Barclays downgraded bonds for the entire United States electric utility sector due to the rapidly declining costs of solar power and energy storage technologies. UBS projects solar systems and batteries will cause a huge disruption, noting, "Large-scale power stations could be on a path to extinction." Over half of global utility executives believe distributed generation will cause revenue destruction, according to an Accenture survey. Accenture further noted that those who embrace distributed generation can turn the threat into an opportunity. Distributed generation of electricity is expanding through residential rooftop solar and corporate installations of renewable power. As of November 2017, 114 major brands had committed to work towards 100 percent renewable energy by signing on to the RE 100 Pledge. Utilities must either meet these customers' demand, or risk losing them as they pursue solutions like distributed renewable generation independently.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company was the first U.S. utility to commit voluntarily to stabilizing CO2 emissions in 2001, and has remained steadfast in its commitment, as evidenced by Environment2020, its 10-year, holistic environmental strategy adopted in 2011 and discussed in detail on the corporate website. The strategy sets forth the broad contours of Entergy's forward-looking policies and actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, among other pollutants, including reducing the Company's environmental footprint, acting as a thought leader and promoter of proactive climate change adaptation, meeting and exceeding environmental legal requirements, and transforming the Company's generating fleet to one with higher efficiency and lower emissions. The Board believes it can better serve its customers and the goal of reducing greenhouse gas emissions by continuing to consider and evaluate all available technologies and approaches on an equal footing, selecting the most cost-effective solutions that best meet the needs of customers at the time and taking all relevant considerations into account.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the company but also as a means of ensuring that the management and board of a company give due consideration to these issues. Support is recommended.

ABBVIE INC AGM - 04-05-2018

7. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Zevin Asset Management, on behalf of William Creighton, and co-filers Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes and Fresh Pond Capital
Stockholders of AbbVie request the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing: (i) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) Payments by AbbVie used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; and (iii) AbbVie's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that AbbVie spent $20.57 million from 2013 - 2016 on federal lobbying (opensecrets.org). This figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where AbbVie also lobbies but disclosure is uneven or absent. For example, AbbVie spent $1,506,820 on lobbying in California from 2013 - 2016. The Company is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, which has spent over $1.3 billion on lobbying since 1998. The Company also sits on the board of the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA), which spent over $100 million against a California drug pricing initiative ("Big Pharma Fights 'Tooth and Nail' against California Drug Vote," Bloomberg, October 2016). The Company does not disclose the portion of its trade association payments that are used for lobbying.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as through its public policy committee, it exercises oversight of AbbVie's political and lobbying activities, as specifically enumerated in the Committee's charter, and which are further governed by the Committee's approved policy on political contributions. The public policy committee and AbbVie's senior management review these activities and expenditures on a regular basis. The Company's website describes its oversight process and its guiding principles for lobbying and political activities. It pursues activities that shape policies to benefit patients, with a focus on improving patient access to new therapeutic advances.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations is acceptable. The Company appears in the top quartile of the S&P500 in terms of its disclosure surrounding its lobbying disclosure. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Dana Investment Advisors and co-filer Sisters of St. Joseph of the Third Order of St. Francis Shareholders request the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend the bylaws as necessary, to require the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. This policy would be phased in for the next CEO transition.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the role of the CEO and management is to run the company, whereas the role of the Board of Directors is to provide independent oversight of management and the CEO. There is a potential conflict of interest for a CEO to be her/his own overseer as Chair while managing the business. Shareholders are best served by an independent Board Chair who can provide a balance of power between the CEO and the Board empowering strong Board leadership. The primary duty of a Board of Directors is to oversee the management of a company on behalf of shareholders. The Proponents believe a combined CEO/Chair creates a potential conflict of interest, resulting in excessive management influence on the Board and weaker oversight of management.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that stockholders are best served by preserving the flexibility to determine the appropriate leadership structure for the Company in light of the circumstances at the time. The board carefully considers the independence of its directors and committees, the availability of an engaged strong lead independent director, the strategic plan, and the leadership of the CEO. It is important that the Board continue to be able to assess these relevant factors, in fulfillment of its fiduciary duty, to determine the leadership structure best suited to meet the needs of AbbVie. Further, the Board argues that it is committed to periodically reviewing the its leadership structure.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director; and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

9. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Integrating Risks Related to Drug Pricing into Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: The United Church Funds, and co-filers, including Mercy Health, Mercy Investment Services, Inc., Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary, Sisters of Providence, Mother Joseph Providence, Sisters of St. Francis of Philadelphia, Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange, Trinity Health, UAW Retiree Medical Benefits Trust, and Zevin Asset Management, LLC on behalf of Claire L Bateman

Shareholders of AbbVie Inc. urge the Compensation Committee to report annually to shareholders on the extent to which risks related to public concern over drug pricing strategies are integrated into AbbVie's incentive compensation policies, plans and programmes for senior executives. The report should include, but need not be limited to, discussion of whether incentive compensation arrangements reward, or not penalize, senior executives for (i) adopting pricing strategies, or making and honoring commitments about pricing, that incorporate public concern regarding the level or rate of increase in prescription drug prices; and (ii) considering risks related to drug pricing when allocating capital.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponents argue that they believe that senior executive incentive compensation arrangements should reward the creation of sustainable long-term value. To that end, it is important that those arrangements align with company strategy and encourage responsible risk management. A key risk facing pharmaceutical companies is potential backlash against high drug prices. Public outrage over high prices and their impact on patient access may force price rollbacks and harm corporate reputation. Legislative or regulatory investigations regarding pricing of prescription medicines may bring about broader changes, with some favoring allowing Medicare to bargain over drug prices.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it has demonstrated a commitment to both balanced, appropriate executive compensation programmes and to responsible drug pricing. The preparation and maintenance of the proposed report would not provide meaningful information to stockholders, would not be a good use of AbbVie's resources, and is unnecessary. Further, AbbVie's current compensation policies and practices provide the compensation committee with the authority to exercise discretion to adjust incentive payments, if needed. AbbVie's strategy is to develop innovative therapies that could have a significant impact on patients. The Company's strategy does not rely on price increases. Since the Company's inception, it has launched more than 15 new products or indications across key therapeutic areas and has developed one of the strongest late-stage pipelines in the industry with several programmes positioned for market leadership.

PIRC Analysis: Many companies already incorporate social and environmental measures into their executive compensation programme. The resolution is not prescriptive leaving discretion to the Compensation Committee to decide whether such measures are at all appropriate and if so, to choose specific measures, targets and appropriate weightings. A vote for is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Bylaws - Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Myra K. Young

Shareholders request the Board of Directors take the steps necessary to amend its Bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders with an aggregate of 15% net long of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Delaware law allows 10% of company shares to call a special meeting. A shareholder right to call a special meeting is a way to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. This is important because there could be 15-months between annual meetings. Shareholder rights to act by written consent and to call special meetings are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that the stockholder proposal does not strike an appropriate balance between enhancing stockholder rights and adequately protecting stockholder interests. The Board recognises that providing stockholders the ability to request special meetings is viewed by some stockholders as an important corporate governance practice. However, the Board believes that a small minority of stockholders should not be entitled to utilise the mechanism of special meetings for their own interests, which may not be shared more broadly by stockholders of the Company. For this reason, the Board believes that the 25% ownership threshold in the Company's Special Meeting Proposal is more appropriate than the 15% threshold in this stockholder proposal.

PIRC Analysis: A minimum requirement of 10% of the shareholders is considered best practice with respect to the ability to call special meetings. Support is therefore recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Adopt Simple Majority Vote

Proposed by: The AFL-CIO Reserve Fund

Shareowners of Marriott International, Inc. urge the Company to take all steps necessary, in compliance with applicable law, to remove the supermajority vote requirements in its bylaws and Certificate of Incorporation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company historically has been a family-owned company with a high percentage of shares held by insiders. Then in September 2016, the Company merged with Starwood Hotels to form one of the world's largest hotel companies. After this merger, the percentage of the Company's shares held by public investors increased significantly. Accordingly, the Proponent believes that the Company should follow best practices in corporate governance for public companies. The Company's bylaws and Certificate of Incorporation contain provisions that require the support of two-thirds of all outstanding shares to remove or amend. Because of abstentions and broker non-votes, achieving such a supermajority vote requirement can be difficult to obtain. Many of these corporate governance provisions affect important shareholder rights.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as a majority of votes cast is already the voting standard for electing the Company's directors in uncontested director elections under the Company's existing Certificate and Bylaws. The approval of 66 2/3% of outstanding shares is required under the Governance Documents only for certain fundamental changes to the Company's corporate governance, including the removal of directors, certain amendments to the Governance Documents, certain transactions with "Interested Stockholders" and the approval of certain fundamental corporate changes such as a merger, consolidation, or sale of substantially all of the assets of the Company. Supermajority voting requirements on fundamental corporate matters help to protect stockholders against self-interested and potentially abusive transactions proposed by certain stockholders who may seek to advance their interests over the interests of the majority of the Company's stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

BERKSHIRE HATHAWAY INC. AGM - 05-05-2018*2. *Shareholder Resolution: Report on Methane Emissions Management, Including Reduction Targets

Proposed by: A representative of Baldwin Brothers Inc

Shareholders request Berkshire Hathaway issue a report (by October 2018, at reasonable cost, omitting proprietary information) reviewing the Company's policies to measure, monitor, mitigate, disclose, to meet quantitative reduction targets and safety standards for methane assets and required upgrade costs to facilities resulting from all operations, including storage and transportation, to meet such targets under the Company's financial or operational control.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that leaked methane represented 30 billion dollars of lost revenue (3% of gas produced) in 2012. Yet, an October 2016 study published in Nature indicates methane emissions from the oil and gas sector are 20 to 60% higher than previously thought. Research indicates methane leaks could erase the climate benefits of reducing coal use to meet internationally agreed upon climate change targets. Methane emissions are a significant contributor to climate change, with an impact on global temperature roughly 84 times that of CO2 over a 20 year period. The EPA released guidelines in May 2016 targeting a 40-45 percent methane emissions reduction below 2012 levels by 2025. The One Future Emissions Framework has a desired outcome of an average rate of emissions leakage that is equivalent to 1 percent of total natural gas production across the value chain.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it does not believe that issuance of a report reviewing the Company's policies to measure, monitor, mitigate, disclose, to meet quantitative reduction targets and safety standards for methane assets and required upgrade costs to facilities resulting from all operations, including storage and transportation, to meet such targets under the Company's financial or operational control is a prudent exercise to undertake. The Company recognises the importance to shareholders and to the future of Berkshire and its subsidiary companies of minimizing methane releases from an environmental, safety and cost perspective. Northern Natural Gas and Kern River Gas Transmission Company, Berkshire's gas transmission pipeline businesses, are active participants in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Natural Gas STAR Program. This programme is a voluntary partnership between the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the oil and gas industry and promotes the implementation of technologies and practices to reduce emissions of methane and transparently report the information.

PIRC Analysis: The Company acknowledges its need to manage and reduce its methane emissions and the importance of this to the Company's business. The resolution is not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board discretion in interpreting its scope and application so that, for example, a target of overall reduction of GHG emissions could be taken as being relative to the increasing or decreasing scale of the business rather than in absolute terms. By adopting transparent targets, the Board will assist shareholders in managing their own portfolio risks arising from GHG emissions by investee companies. Support for the resolution is recommended.

3. *Shareholder Resolution: Report on Sustainability

Proposed by: Ms. Freeda Cathcart

Shareholders request that Berkshire Hathaway adopt a policy to encourage more Berkshire subsidiary companies to issue annual sustainability reports. The disclosure should be prepared at reasonable cost and omit proprietary information.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that according to the US SIF Foundation's 2016 Report on US Sustainable, Responsible and Impact Investing Trends, as of year-end 2015, more than one out of every five dollars under professional management in the United States USD 8.72 trillion or more—was invested according to socially responsible investment strategies. This demonstrates a high level of interest from investors and the public in corporate social responsibility. The Proponent commends some Berkshire subsidiaries for providing sustainability reports and believes Berkshire would benefit from encouraging more subsidiaries to: conduct sustainability audits, set sustainability goals, and create web-based sustainability reports.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it does not believe that the adoption of a policy to encourage more Berkshire subsidiaries to issue annual sustainability reports is necessary. The various Berkshire subsidiaries who prepare sustainability reports and/or include information on their web sites with respect to sustainability are doing so because of decisions made by their respective management teams and not as a result of an edict or requirement mandated by the Corporate senior management team.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent is seeking additional disclosure, which is considered acceptable. It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the company, but also as a means of ensuring that the management and the Board give due consideration to these issues. It is believed that additional disclosure would be of benefit to shareholders who could make a more informed judgement on potential risks and ethical aspects related to their investment.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the annual report on remuneration of Executive and Non-Executive Directors. The Company discloses all elements of remuneration for Executives and Non-Executives. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely that shareholders reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. ## AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY AGM - 07-05-2018

3. Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The compensation rating is: BDC. Based on this rating, it is recommended that shareholders oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: William Steiner

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. American Express shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under state law. According to the lame AXP special meeting provision it would take 25% of shares (instead of 10% per state law) to call a special meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as permitting action at a meeting (whether the annual meeting or a special meeting) is a more equitable process for shareholders than the written consent process as it provides all shareholders the opportunity to participate, deliberate and vote. The Board believes that implementation of this proposal is unnecessary given the ability of shareholders to call special meetings which allow for shareholder action between annual meetings in an orderly and equitable manner.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Myra K. Young

Shareholders request the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend the governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition, implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that a number of institutional investors said that a strong, objective board leader can best provide the necessary oversight of management. Thus, the California Public Employees' Retirement System's Global Principles of Accountable Corporate Governance recommends that a company's board should be chaired by an independent director, as does the Council of Institutional Investors. An independent director serving as chairman can help ensure the functioning of an effective board.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes it is important to maintain the flexibility to choose the leadership structure that will best fit the Company's circumstances and Board composition at any particular time and that mandating a set leadership structure regardless of the circumstances could impede the Board's effectiveness and ability to act in the best interests of the Company and its shareholders. The Board recently reviewed its Company's leadership structure in connection with the Company's recent transitions, and chose to maintain a unified Chairman and CEO role combined with a Lead Independent Director with clearly defined and significant responsibilities.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director; and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

L3 TECHNOLOGIES INC AGM - 07-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the Board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

of shares (instead of the 10% called for in Delaware law) and then all shares held for less than one continuous year would be disqualified. Thus to obtain the 20% requirement it could take the holders of 51% of L3 shares to go through the tedious process to call a special meeting and obtain the 20% of shares that represented one-year of continuous holdings. In other words it could take 51% of shares to go through the tedious process to initiate a meeting in which the same 51% of shares would be needed to take action.

Board's Supporting Argument: The Board supports the shareholder written consent proposal, as it is strongly committed to sound governance practices and is actively interested in the views and concerns of its shareholders. In furtherance of that commitment, the Board agrees with the Shareholder Written Consent Proposal that holders of a majority of the Company's Common Stock should be provided the right to act by written consent as a supplemental means of acting between annual meetings, in addition to their current ability to call a special meeting. The Board however notes that the Company already maintains open lines of communication with large and small shareholders, financial analysts and shareholder advisory services regarding important issues relating to the Company's business and governance. In response to the assertion in the Shareholder Written Consent Proposal that certain of its non-employee directors own no shares of Common Stock, the Board notes that it has maintained rigorous stock ownership guidelines for non-employee directors since 2006.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Declassify the Board of Directors

Authority is sought to amend the Articles of Incorporation to eliminate the classified board structure. If approved, this proposal would become effective upon the filing of amended and restated articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State of Indiana, which the Company would do promptly after shareholder approval is obtained. Directors elected prior to the effectiveness of the amendments would stand for election for one-year terms once their then-current terms expire. This means that directors whose terms expire at the 2019 and 2020 annual meetings of shareholders would be elected for one-year terms, and beginning with the 2021 annual meeting, all directors would be elected for one-year terms at each annual meeting.

It is considered best practice to declassify the Board as a classified board can be used as an anti-takeover device and could serve to entrench underperforming management. Shareholder concerns in relation to specific issues can more appropriately be raised in the context of individual directors' responsibilities if all directors face election each year. Support is therefore recommended.

5. Eliminate Supermajority Vote Requirement

Authority is sought to amend the Articles of Incorporation to eliminate supermajority voting provisions.

It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Support the Descheduling of Cannabis

Proposed by: Fred Pfenninger

The Proponent requests that the Company announce its support for the descheduling of cannabis.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that The Controlled Substances Act of 1970 called for the creation of a special federal commission appointed by Congress and President Nixon to study all aspects of cannabis and report their findings. Federal prohibitions outlawing cannabis recreational, industrial and therapeutic use were first imposed by Congress under the Marijuana Tax Act of 1937 and later reaffirmed by federal lawmakers' decision to "temporarily" classify marijuana as well as the plant's organic compounds known as cannabinoids as a Schedule I substance under the Controlled Substances Act of 1970. This classification, which categorises the plant by statute alongside heroin, defines cannabis and its cannabinoids as possessing a high potential for abuse, no currently accepted medical use and a lack of accepted safety for the use of the drug. After two years of scientific study, the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse ("Schafer Commission") report "Marijuana: A Signal of Misunderstanding" reported that there was little proven danger of physical or psychological harm, it does not lead to physical dependence, it is not a gateway drug, and no one should go to jail for the private possession of cannabis. Despite the US Government's nearly century long prohibition of the plant, cannabis is one of the most investigated therapeutically active substances in history. To date there are approximately 22,000 published studies or reviews in the scientific literature referencing the cannabis plant and its cannabinoids, nearly half of which were published within 10 years according to a key work search on the search engine PubMed Central.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it has finite resources for advocacy, which it must limit and focus to be effective, and descheduling of cannabis is not one of the Board's core priorities. The Company focuses its resources to support organisations that champion public policies that contribute to pharmaceutical innovation, healthy patients, and a healthy business climate. The Company is also actively engaged in public policy discussions that relate to its current products and other important topics related to drug pricing.

PIRC Analysis: Rescheduling cannabis to a schedule II drug is considered to be an advantage, as this has the potential of increasing the pace and quality of studies incorporating medical marijuana. Furthermore, the financial implications of legalising the drug, mean that funds spent on policing and treating users of illegally traded and consumed cannabis, can be freed up for more advantageous ventures. Revenue raised from a regulated cannabis trade could be directed towards further research, education and other items, which would benefit society as a whole. Support for the descheduling of cannabis is considered to be in shareholders' interests for the reasons cited above. A vote for is recommended.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: The Comptroller of the State of New York, Thomas P. DiNapoli.

The Proponent requests that the Company prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: i.) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; ii.) payments by the Company used for direct or indirect lobbying or grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; iii.) the Company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation; and iv.) description of the decision making process and oversight by management and the Board for making the above payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company spent over $15.3 million in 2014 and 2015 on federal lobbying (opensecrets.org) and this figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states. Also, the Proponent argues that the Company does not disclose its payments to trade associations, or the amounts used for lobbying and does not disclose its contributions to tax-exempt organisations that write and endorse model legislation.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that beginning in 2005, the Company has published the following information on its website: policies and procedures for company and political action committee (PAC) contributions; contributions to candidates, including information about the candidate's office, party affiliation, state, and district; and contributions to political organisations and Section 527 organisations reported by state. Also, the Board argues that detailed corporate contributions, PAC contribution data, and the Company's direct lobbying expenses are available to the public on the Federal Election Committee website and through individual state agencies.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

9. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Policies and Practices Regarding Contract Animal Laboratories

Proposed by: People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA)

The Proponents request that the Board strengthen its Company's policy and practices regarding contract animal laboratories and issue a report to shareholders.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that In spite of its "commitment to the ethical treatment of animals," which extends to external laboratories, the Company has repeatedly conducted business with contract laboratories where substandard animal care practices have been documented by government agencies. The Company's animal care policy states that "animals used in research shall be treated humanely, with pain or distress eliminated or minimized." Additionally, the Company requires all contract research organizations "to adhere to [its animal welfare] policies and principles." Yet the Company has paid for services conducted at and purchased animals from at least three contract laboratories-Liberty Research, Inc. (Liberty), Professional Laboratory and Research Services (PLRS), and Covance-with serious violations of federal animal welfare laws. Apparent carelessness in choosing outside laboratories is a long-standing issue for the Company. A 2010 PETA video exposé of PLRS documented repeated violations of federal laws.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it is committed to the appropriate treatment of animals in research. Of the violations cited by PETA in their proposal, Lilly has terminated relationships with one of the three laboratories. For the second laboratory, work has been curtailed and confined to a single site with additional oversight and remediation. The third laboratory self-reported the incidents and took immediate action to address the cited issues. The Company does not condone, in any form, the mistreatment of research animals, and recognises its fundamental ethical and scientific obligation to ensure the appropriate treatment of animals used in research. The Company has processes and procedures in place to ensure humane treatment of animals, including programmes for oversight by an internal corporate Animal Welfare Board, Institutional Animal Care and Use Committees, or an equivalent ethical review board, as well as veterinary oversight at every site-both ours and contract laboratories. The Board is committed to quality research-animal care and use, the responsible use of animals in medical research, and the use of alternative methods whenever possible and appropriate. The Company has been accredited by the Association for Assessment and Accreditation of Laboratory Animal Care (AAALAC). AAALAC accreditation rules and standards can be found on the AAALAC website (www.aaalac.org). This accreditation is a voluntary process that includes a detailed, comprehensive review of our research-animal programme including animal care and use policies and procedures, animal environment, housing and management, veterinary medical care, and physical plant operations.

PIRC Analysis: The Board has demonstrated how the Company has already sought to address the Proponent's concerns with appropriate and feasible commitments and policies. An oppose vote is recommended.

10. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Integrating Drug Pricing Risks into Incentive Compensation Plans

Proposed by: Mercy Investment Services, Inc.

Shareholders urge the Compensation Committee to report annually to shareholders on the extent to which risks related to public concern over drug pricing strategies are integrated into Eli Lilly's incentive compensation policies, plans and programmes for senior executives. The report should include, but need not be limited to, discussion of whether incentive compensation arrangements reward, or not penalize, senior executives for (i) adopting pricing strategies, or making and honouring commitments about pricing, that incorporate public concern regarding the level or rate of increase in prescription drug prices; and (ii) considering risks related to drug pricing when allocating capital.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that senior executive incentive compensation arrangements should reward the creation of sustainable long-term value. To that end, it is important that those arrangements align with company strategy and encourage responsible risk management. A key risk facing pharmaceutical companies is potential backlash against high drug prices. Public outrage over high prices and their impact on patient access may force price rollbacks and harm corporate reputation. An October 2017 report indicated that five states and federal prosecutors are investigating insulin makers, including Eli Lilly, for anticompetitive practices related to pricing.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company's annual proxy statement provides detailed information on the Company's policies, plans, and practices relating to executive compensation. Each year, the CD&A section of this document describes the executive compensation philosophy, the Board of Director's Compensation Committee's process for setting executive compensation, the elements of its compensation programme, the factors the committee considered when setting executive compensation for the previous year, and how the Company's results affected incentive payouts for the previous year's performance. Given that information relating to executive compensation programmes, plans, and practices is already disclosed as part of the proxy statement, the Board believes an annual report is unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: The incorporation of drug pricing risks into the performance measures of senior executives is considered best practice and will help the Company better mitigate legal, regulatory and reputational risk, which can be detrimental to company performance. On this basis, shareholder are advised to support the proposal.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not disclosed

Shareowners ask the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting (or the closest percentage to 10% according to state law). This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. This proposal topic won more than 70% - support at Edwards Lifesciences and SunEdison in 2013. A shareholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent and are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle such as the election of directors. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it has a demonstrated commitment to best practices in corporate governance and accountability to its shareowners, which makes adoption of the proposal unnecessary. The Board believes that the existing shareowner right to call a special meeting strikes the right balance. The Company's current 20% ownership threshold allows for a reasonable number of shareowners to call a special meeting and thereby impose these costs on all shareowners.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

NISOURCE INC. AGM - 08-05-2018*4. *Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that stockholder action must be effected at a duly called annual or special meeting and may not be effected by written consent. The communications and processes associated with a stockholder meeting protect the interests of all stockholders by providing every stockholder with an opportunity to discuss concerns with other stockholders and with the Board of Directors and management and allowing all stockholders to vote on any proposals. This proposal, however, would enable a group of stockholders controlling a majority of the vote to take action - even significant action, such as electing new directors or agreeing to sell the Company - without any input or vote from the other stockholders. Permitting stockholder action by written consent could also create substantial confusion and disruption at a widely held public company like NiSource. Multiple groups of stockholders would be able to solicit written consents at any time and as frequently as they choose on a range of issues, some of which may be duplicative or conflicting. In contrast, the orderly stockholder meeting process allows for actions to be clearly articulated to the Board and stockholders and avoids duplicative and conflicting proposals.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

PRUDENTIAL FINANCIAL INC. AGM - 08-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt as policy to require the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that having an independent director serving as chairman can help ensure the functioning of an effective board. The Proponent suggest that if the Board determines that a Chair who was independent when selected is no longer independent, the Board should select a new Chair who satisfies the requirements of the policy within a reasonable amount of time.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and believes that it is in the best interest of shareholders for the Board to have the flexibility to determine the best person to serve as Board Chair, whether that person is an independent director or the CEO. The Board argues that in 2017, independent directors, as well as the Company's Chief Governance Officer, engaged with many investors on the issue of Board leadership structure, among other things, and have presented their feedback to the Board as part of its decision-making process on the appropriate Board leadership structure going forward. Also, the Board believes that its current structure and governance allows it to provide effective oversight of management.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. ## CUMMINS INC. AGM - 08-05-2018

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareowners ask the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting. This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that adoption of this proposal can help make up for shareholders' lack of shareholder rights. Scores of Fortune 500 companies allow 10% of shares to call a special meeting. Special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Any claim that a shareholder right to call a special meeting can be costly may be largely moot. When shareholders have a good reason to call a special meeting, the Board should be able to take positive responding action to make a special meeting unnecessary.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it regularly reviews the Company's governance practices and believes that it has solid and efficient mechanisms in place to allow shareholders to communicate with the Board and bring items to its attention. The Board agrees that shareholders should have the ability to call special meetings. The Company's by-laws currently provide that shareholders holding at least 25% of the voting power of all of the outstanding shares of common stock may call a special meeting. In 2012, after extensive outreach to, and discussions with shareholders, shareholders overwhelmingly approved this 25% threshold.

SIMON PROPERTY GROUP INC. AGM - 08-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Termination benefits following a change in control.

Proposed by: Laborers' District Council and Contractors' Pension Fund

The Proponent request that any future employment agreements entered into with the Company's CEO David Simon after the expiration of his current employment agreement do not provide Mr. Simon any termination benefits following a change in control. This proposal shall be implemented so as not to violate any existing employment agreements or other contractual obligations, including but not limited to the 2011 CEO Retention Agreement and subsequent amendments or restatements, or the terms of any compensation or benefit plan currently in existence on the date this proposal is adopted.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Mr. Simon's interests are already aligned with those of the other shareholders and he need not fear being fired in the event of the Company being involved in a merger or acquisition. Mr Simon is the beneficial owner of 27,136,117 shares of Company stock, representing 8.03% of the Company. According to the the proxy statement, Simon would receive an estimated benefit in excess of 258,000,000 USD following his termination by the Company without cause or his resignation with good reason following a change in control. The proponent believes that the estimated benefit valued at more than a quarter of a billion dollars for CEO Simon is not justified and should not be extended beyond his current employment agreement.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that the board's sole and exclusive power and authority to negotiate an employment agreement with its current CEO should not be limited. The board argues that a vote for the proposal will restrict the Board and the compensation committee when negotiating any future employment agreement with the CEO. In order for the Board and the Compensation Committee to be most effective they must not be limited by the perspective of an individual shareholders who are not experienced with the complex issues associated with any future negotiation CEO's employment contract. They also indicate that the proposal contains outdated information and that his actual entitlement is 215,169,812 USD.

PIRC Analysis: Disclosure of the payments made to directors resulting from the termination of executives by the company without cause or resigns with good reason following a change in control is a demonstration of good corporate governance. However, the magnitude of these fees are a sign of concern as best practice states that cash severance payments must not exceed 300% of the NEO's base salary. As the CEO's severance payments far exceeds the best practice limit, a vote for the resolution is recommended.

3M COMPANY AGM - 08-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: James McRitchie.

The Proponent requests that the Board amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 15% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholders meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Also; the Proponent argues that Delaware law allows 10% of the Company's shares to call a special meeting. Currently, 64% of S&P 500 companies have adopted company bylaws, articles of incorporation, or charter provisions to allow shareholders to call a special meeting. Even more than half of all S&P 1500 companies allow shareholders this right. In 2016, this topic received a 44% vote in support.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that the requested 15% ownership level is unduly low and could result in shareholders who have not garnered significant support from other shareholders disrupting the Company by calling special meetings to consider proposals that may not be supported by other shareholders and that are not viewed by the Board as being in the best interest of all shareholders. In addition; the Board argues that a 25% ownership threshold has emerged as the most common threshold for the companies that do give shareholders the right to call special meetings.

PIRC Analysis: The 15% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

WILLIAM HILL PLC AGM - 08-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Performance conditions and targets are disclosed for the annual bonus which is welcome. All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and prices and next year's fees and salaries are clearly stated. However, the Company states that the grant of awards under the PSP will be deferred until after the AGM in May which is considered inappropriate.

Balance: The CEO's salary is considered to be in the median range of a peer comparator group. However, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 60:1. The changes in CEO total pay under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Potential awards that can be granted to the CEO are considered excessive as it may reach 375% of base salary. However, the total realised remuneration for the CEO during the year under review is 97.2% of salary which is not considered excessive. There are concerns surrounding the "Replacement Award" made to Ruth Prior which does not have any associated performance conditions or post-vesting holding requirements. An award of this nature is considered highly inappropriate.

EXPEDITORS INTERNATIONAL OF WASHINGTON INC. AGM - 08-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Assess Feasibility of Including Sustainability as a Performance Measure for Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: Clean Yield Asset Management

Shareholders request the Board Compensation Committee prepare a report assessing the feasibility of integrating sustainability metrics into the performance measures of senior executives under the Company's compensation incentive plans. Sustainability is defined as how environmental and social considerations, and related financial impacts, are integrated into corporate strategy over the long term.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that effectively managing for sustainability offers positive opportunities for companies and should be a key metric by which executives are judged. Linking sustainability metrics to executive compensation could reduce risks related to sustainability under performance, incent employees to meet sustainability goals and achieve resultant benefits, and increase accountability. Examples relevant to the Company could include: greenhouse gas emissions measurements, energy and water intensity (consumption per dollar of revenue), renewable energy consumption and worker safety incidents. Numerous studies suggest companies that integrate environmental, social and governance factors into their business strategy reduce reputational, legal and regulatory risks and improve long-term performance.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that its Compensation Committee is best positioned to design and implement executive compensation arrangements that will promote the Company's goals and create long-term shareholder value. The Board is proud of the Company's sustainability efforts and continuing initiatives as described on its website at www.expeditors.com/about-us/corporate-citizenship, and the Company is fully committed to operating in a sustainable and ethical manner. Nevertheless, the Board believes that this proposal unduly interferes with the operations of the Compensation Committee, and that the shareholders' interests are best served by maintaining the Committee's flexibility to determine which metrics are best to drive sustainable, long-term growth.

PIRC Analysis: The incorporation of sustainability metrics into the performance measures of senior executives is considered best practice and will help the Company better mitigate legal, regulatory and reputational risk, which can be detrimental to company performance. On this basis, shareholder are advised to support the proposal.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Stockholders ask the Board of directors to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions and any associated documents, to include the following changes for the purpose of decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for three-years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group: No limitation shall be placed on the number of stockholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under our Company's proxy access provisions.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the current 3% criteria for a continuous three-years at most companies according to the Council of Institutional Investors. This proposal addresses the ironic situation that the Company now has with proxy access potentially for only the largest shareholders who are the least likely shareholders to make use of it. A more potent version of proxy access could give shareholders greater standing to have input in improving the makeup of the Board of Directors after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Board believes it already strikes the appropriate balance between providing shareholder nomination rights and protecting the interests of all shareholders. The Board continues to believe that this shareholder aggregation limit is appropriate to control the administrative burden and costs for the Company while affording proxy access opportunities to shareholders, given the broad solicitation that would be required and the practical difficulties of coordinating a larger number of stockholders. In particular, the Board notes that the Company already permits a group of investment funds under common management and investment control to be treated as a single shareholder for purposes of the limit. Since the Company's adoption of proxy access in 2015, the overwhelming majority of companies that have adopted proxy access have incorporated a 20 shareholder aggregation limit.

PIRC Analysis: The move, that would strengthen shareholder democracy, is supported and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board. Furthermore, the requested threshold for holding requirement for nominators is considered sufficient. In addition, the nomination of new Board members would facilitate greater independence in the oversight of the Company. Support is therefore recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend its governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition, implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that having a board chairman who is independent of management is a practice that will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management. Caterpillar is an example of a company recently changing course and naming an independent board chairman. Caterpillar had strongly opposed a shareholder proposal for an independent board chairman as recently as its 2016 annual meeting. Wells Fargo also changed course and named an independent board chairman in 2016.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company currently has an independent Chairman of the Board. The Board's existing leadership and board structure enable strong independent oversight, and the Board has been significantly refreshed. From Alexion's inception in 1992 until October 2014, Alexion had an independent Chairman and separated the positions of Chairman and CEO. In October 2014, Alexion's then current CEO, Dr. Leonard Bell, Alexion's principal founder and CEO from 1992 - 2015, assumed the role of Chairman immediately following the sudden death of the Board's then serving Chairman. The Board has been significantly refreshed, with a majority of the Board standing for election at the 2018 annual meeting consisting of new independent directors relative to the composition of the Board as of June 2015.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate and board appraisal. Moreover, it is preferable for the Chairman to be both independent of management and free from other potential conflicts of interest. The Company has appointed an independent Chairman in May 2017, which is welcomed; however, to avoid any future instances of combined roles, it would be preferable for the Company to reflect the separation of roles between management and the Board in its governing documents. Support for the proposal is therefore recommended.

BAXTER INTERNATIONAL INC. AGM - 08-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponents request that the Board adopt a policy and amend its governing documents as necessary to require the Chair of the Board of Directors whenever possible to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement. If the Board determines that a Chair who was independent when selected is no longer independent, the Board shall select a new Chair who satisfies the requirements of the policy within a reasonable amount of time. Compliance with this policy is waived if no independent director is available and willing to serve as Chair. This proposal requests that all the necessary steps be taken to accomplish the above.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that it is the responsibility of the Board of Directors to protect shareholders' long-term interests by providing independent oversight of management. By setting agendas, priorities and procedures, the Chairman is critical in shaping the work of the Board. Having a board chairman who is independent of management is a practice that will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management. In 2015, 53% of the Standard & Poor's 1,500 firms separate the chairman and CEO positions. This proposal topic won 50%-plus support at 5 major U.S. companies in 2013 including 73%- support at Netflix.

Opposing Argument: The Board argues that its Lead Director provides strong, independent leadership and that the current leadership structure is the most effective for Baxter. In addition, the Board expressed the same position in its response to a similar stockholder proposal submitted in 2016 after Mr. Almeida's appointment as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. The decreased level of support received by the 2016 proposal (approximately 30% in 2016 down from approximately 48% in 2015) indicates that company stockholders are widely supportive of the Board's position. The Board argues that Mr. Almeida's decades of experience in the medical products industry, including his previous experience as the chairman and chief executive officer of another publicly held medical device company, make him well positioned to lead Baxter's business, operations and strategy and to serve as the chairman of the Board.

PIRC Analysis: Mr Almeida has served as the Chairman & CEO of the Company since 2016. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance; effective debate and board appraisal. Moreover; it is preferable for the Chairman to be both independent of management and free from other potential conflicts of interest. Support for the proposal is therefore recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to undertake necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. The proponent states that written consent is needed in lieu of a lack of independence on the board. The lead Director, Thomas Stallkamp, has a tenure of 17-years. Long-tenure can detract from the independence of a director no matter how well qualified.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes; which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently; shareholders of 25% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold; particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Finally; the Board argues that its active engagement with shareholders and strong corporate governance practices make the proposal unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden

The Board is asked to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Shareowner input on the timing of shareowner meetings is especially important when events unfold quickly and issues may become moot by the next annual meeting, with meetings being up to 15 months apart. The Proponent states that the majority of Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. The Proponent further argues that there could already be signs of shareholder dissatisfaction with the O'Reilly Automotive practice of long-tenure as Lawrence P. O'Reilly and Rosalie O'Reilly-Wooten, who averaged 42-years in long-tenure, each received 16-times as many negative votes as Thomas Hendrickson who had 7-years tenure.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that providing holders of only 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special meeting of stockholders is unnecessary and not in the best interests of the Company or its stockholders. The Company's Bylaws already permit stockholders who own 25% or more of the Company's outstanding common stock, on an aggregate net long basis, to call a special meeting. The 25% minimum threshold is a reasonable one that strikes the right balance between ensuring that stockholders have a means of calling a stockholders meeting and protecting against the risk that a small minority of stockholders could trigger a special meeting and its associated financial expense and disruption to the Company's business.

PIRC Analysis: The proponent's request for 10% is considered acceptable and more favourable than the limit proposed by the Board. We consider that shareholders should have the right to convene special meetings and we consider the thresholds recommended as acceptable.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. This resolution received a 40% vote in support at the 2016 Danaher annual meeting.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also, the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

A total of 7,500,000 shares of common stock will be available for issuance under the 2018 Plan, this would result in a fully-diluted overhang of 6.74%. The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan).

RENTOKIL INITIAL PLC AGM - 09-05-2018*2. Approve Remuneration Policy

The current policy was approved on 11 May 2016 and was not due for a vote this year. However, the Remuneration Committee undertook a review in light of recent financial progress and consulted with Shareholders. Subsequently, various changes to the current remuneration framework were proposed which led to the proposal of a new policy subject to shareholder approval at this year's AGM.

The proposed policy changes are as follows: (i) increase in the maximum opportunity for the annual bonus from 100% to 150% of salary; (ii) upon application of the individual performance modifier the bonus payout for corporate financial performance will be increased by up to 25%, capped at an overall maximum of 180% of salary; (iii) Executive Directors will defer 40% of annual bonus (beginning with bonus earned in relation to 2018 performance) into a new Deferred Bonus Plan, with a minimum deferral period of three years; (iv) annual share awards under the PSP will be increased from 200% to 250% of salary for the Chief Executive - may be increased to 300% of salary (versus 250% under the current policy) in exceptional circumstances; (v) a two year post-vesting holding period will apply to any awards granted in or after 2018; (vi) Executive Directors' shareholding guidelines will increase from 200% to 300% of annual base salary for the Chief Executive and from 150% to 200% of annual base salary for the Chief Financial Officer; (vii) lastly, future Executive Directors appointed will be eligible for a pension contribution or cash equivalent of 15% of salary.

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. The proposed limit of 15% of salary for the pension contributions of newly appointed Executive Directors is welcomed. However, this change does not apply to current Executive Directors or internal appointments; the CEO's current pension contribution is considered excessive at 25% of salary. The portion of the annual bonus which is subject to share deferral is not considered adequate, as it is recommended that at least half of the annual bonus is deferred into shares. The increase in the maximum opportunity for the annual bonus is not a welcomed change. With respect to the PSP, the three year performance period is not considered to be sufficiently long term. However, the introduction of a two year post-vesting holding period under the new policy is welcomed. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they are both financial based and do not operate interdependently. It is recommended that at least one non-financial KPI is used, and that performance conditions operate interdependently. The proposed increase in the maximum opportunity from 200% to 250% of salary for the CEO is an inappropriate change. Moreover, the limit can be increased to 300% of salary in exceptional circumstances, which is contrary to best practice.

Total potential variable pay is excessive at 400% of salary for the CEO. Furthermore, when taking into account the effects of the individual performance modifier for the annual bonus, and the exceptional limit under the PSP, variable pay can reach 480% of salary. This is considered excessive, especially when compared to the recommended limit of variable pay of 200% of salary.

Shareholding requirements have been increased for Executives under the new policy, which is welcomed. At 300% of salary for the CEO, and 200% of salary for other Executives, which are to be built over five years, the shareholding guidelines are considered adequate and the changes promote better alignment with shareholder interests.

In relation to contracts, there is no guarantee that the Committee does not have the power to exercise upside discretion to dis-apply time pro-rating and performance conditions on termination of employment or on a change of control. On recruitment the Committee can exercise discretion to make variable pay awards of up to 480% of salary, which is excessive. In addition, this limit excludes any awards made to compensate the Executive Director for remuneration forfeited from their previous employer, which is inappropriate. Different measures and targets may be applied to a new appointment's annual bonus in the year of joining, which is contrary to best practice.

4. Amend the Performance Share Plan 2016 (the 2016 PSP)

Authority sought to amend the Performance Share Plan (PSP), which was first approved by shareholders at the AGM in 2016. The Company seeks approval for some minor amendments to its existing terms. The amendments are as follow: proposal to increase the maximum opportunity from 200% of salary to 250% of salary, and to 300% of salary in exceptional circumstances; introduction of a two year post-vesting holding period, applying after the three year performance period; permit the application of clawback to five years; permit the accrual of dividends between the grant date and the actual date of vest or exercise; it is proposed that the Remuneration Committee are given discretion to also allow early vesting in the event of any other exceptional circumstance; proposed amendments have been made throughout the rules for compliance with legislative changes, which include the Market Abuse Regulations which came into effect in 2016 and the General Data Protection Regulation which applies in full from 25 May 2018; allow an addendum to be added to the 2016 PSP (which will be valid until the expiry of the 2016 PSP) to allow the granting of awards to participants in France under an approved plan; proposed amendments have been made to the US Schedule to ensure that the awards to US tax payers are in accordance with US tax rules following the changes to the main body of the PSP.

The introduction of a two year holding period is a welcomed change. However, the increase in the maximum opportunity is considered inappropriate and can lead to excessive payouts. It is recommended that total variable pay is limited to 200% of salary, yet PSP awards alone can exceed this limit. In light of this concern, an oppose vote is recommended.

UNITED RENTALS INC AGM - 09-05-2018*4. *Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as without proper procedural protections, stockholder action by written consent can deprive stockholders of information, a voice and a vote on the matter approved in the written consent; stockholder meetings are a better method to present important matters for consideration by stockholders, and the Company's stockholders may effect change by calling a special meeting to raise matters for the review and approval of all stockholders; and the Company's existing corporate governance policies and practices provide stockholders with meaningful access to the Board and significant rights and protections. Currently, the Company's Certificate of Incorporation and By-Laws provide that stockholders holding 25% or more of the Company's outstanding common stock may call a special meeting. This is less than the percentage of stockholders that would be necessary to act by written consent under the Stockholder Proposal. Thus, stockholders proposing to act by written consent may propose any proper matter for a vote either through a special meeting or at our annual meeting. PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. ### 13. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered acceptable.

Balance: The total realised variable remuneration for the CEO in the year under review was 201.5% of salary, which is considered to be slightly excessive. Although the Remuneration Committee maintains discretionary powers in making awards, it does not appear that discretion was used in the year under review. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and found to be unacceptable at 39:1. It is disappointing to see the Company circumvented the spirit of the CRD IV regulations by creating a Role Based Pay allowance (fixed pay allowance) which is delivered quarterly in shares, subject to a holding period with restrictions lifting over five years (20% each year). The sum of £100,000 was paid to the CEO as her role based allowance for the year. The use of Fixed Pay is not considered appropriate as it increases indirectly the maximum variable opportunity for the Executives (as variable pay is capped as % of fixed pay).

5. Amend Articles: Provide Right to Call Special Meeting

It is proposed to amend the bylaw on a non-binding basis to provide shareholders of the Company in the aggregate at least 25% of the outstanding shares, and who have held such shares continuously for at least one year prior to their request. In January 2018, the Board adopted a newly revised Article II, Section 3, of the By-laws (the "Stockholder Special Meeting Provision"), which requires the Company to call a special meeting of stockholders upon written request from record shareholders who own shares that represent at least 25% of the outstanding shares of the Company and who have held such shares continuously for at least one year. Due to this proposal, the Company has omitted a shareholder proposal from the Proxy Statement requesting that it take the steps necessary to amend its governing documents to give the power to call special stockholder meetings to holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding shares of the Company's outstanding shares. The Company believes the shareholder proposal is excludable as it directly conflicts with this proposal due to the different ownership thresholds proposed.

It is believed that the right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. As this proposal has negated the inclusion of the shareholder proposal, opposition is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are 2 complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Board believes that the implementation of this proposal is unnecessary and is not in the best interests of Dominion Energy's shareholders. Dominion Energy has an existing Bylaw provision that provides shareholders holding 25% or more of the company's outstanding common stock with the right to call special meetings. The Board believes that this provision offers a transparent and equitable mechanism for shareholders to raise matters for consideration by the Company outside of the setting of annual meetings and special meetings called by the Board. Permitting action by written consent would enable a limited group of shareholders to act without the same required transparency to all shareholders. Specifically, the proposal could allow a dissident shareholder group to disenfranchise other shareholders – particularly its many smaller shareholders – by sidestepping a full debate of the merits or consequences such a proposed action presents.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. KINDER MORGAN INC AGM - 09-05-2018*4. Advisory Vote on Say on Pay Frequency

The Company is providing shareholders with an advisory vote on whether the advisory vote on executive compensation should be held every one, two or three years. The Board is required by Section 951 of The Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act to offer this vote on the frequency of a say-on-pay proposal not less than every six years, although they have the option to offer this proposal more often.

The Board of Directors recommends an annual vote. It is considered that an annual vote on executive compensation is best practice for companies. Executive compensation comprises both fixed and variable pay elements, with the variable including share based incentive awards and cash bonuses over which the compensation committee have discretion. Decisions affecting the quantum and design of variable pay are made annually by the committee and it is therefore appropriate that shareholder approval is sought at the maximum frequency permitted by the new legislation. Contentious compensation payments and issues could occur in the intervening years between votes, if the frequency is less than annually. A one year frequency is therefore recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Methane Emissions Management

Proposed by: Lowell Miller, CIO and Founder of Miller/Howard Investments, Inc., Robeco Quant Developed Markets Equities Fund and Mercy Investment Services, Inc.

The Proponent asks for the to Board issue a report - at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information - reviewing the Company's policies, actions and plans to measure, monitor, mitigate, disclose, and set quantitative reduction targets for methane emissions resulting from all operations, including storage and transportation, under the Company's financial or operational control.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that methane emissions are a significant contributor to climate change. Leaked methane represented 30 billion dollars of lost revenue (3 percent of gas produced) in 2012. Yet, an October 2016 study published in Nature indicates methane emissions from the oil and gas sector are 20 to 60 percent higher than previously thought. The Proponent states that Kinder Morgan, Inc. has over twenty storage facilities that may face risks and argues that a strong program of measurement, mitigation, target setting and disclosure will reduce regulatory and legal risk, maximize gas for sale, and bolster shareholder value. The Proponent proposes that the report should include the leakage rate as a percentage of production, throughput, and or stored gas; management of high risk infrastructure; best practices; worst performing assets; environmental impact; reduction targets and methods to track progress over time. Best practice strategy would utilize real-time measurement and monitoring.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board argues that its current disclosure, including environmental reports, adequately describe the Company's methane management strategy. The Board describes the Company's practices around the safe and efficient operation of its pipelines and other assets. The Board then describes its ongoing efforts to reduce methane emissions. The Board states that information about environmental initiatives and performance is available on the Company's website. Finally, the Board states that the proposed report would provide shareholders with little information beyond what is already available online.

Conclusion: The Company acknowledges its need to manage and reduce its GHG emissions and the importance of this to the Company's business. The resolution is not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board discretion in interpreting its scope and application, so that, for example, a target of overall reduction of GHG emissions could be taken as being relative to the increasing or decreasing scale of the business, rather than in absolute terms. By adopting transparent targets, the Board will assist shareholders in managing their own portfolio risks arising from GHG emissions by investee companies. Support for the resolution is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Sustainability

Proposed by: New York State Common Retirement Fund and Thomas P. DiNapoli, the Comptroller of the State of New York.

The Proponent asks for the Board to issue an annual sustainability report describing the Company's short- and long-term responses to ESG-related issues, including issues related to human rights and the rights of indigenous communities. The report should be prepared at reasonable cost, omit proprietary information, and be available to shareholders by December, 2017. The Proponent recommends that the Company consider using the Global Reporting Initiative Sustainability Reporting Guidelines to prepare the report.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that managing and reporting environmental, social and governance (ESG) business practices helps companies compete in a global business environment characterized by finite natural resources, changing legislation, and heightened public expectations. Reporting allows companies to publicize and gain strategic value from existing sustainability efforts and identify emerging risks and opportunities. The Proponent argues that ESG issues can pose significant risks to business, and without proper disclosure, stakeholders and analysts cannot ascertain whether the company is managing its ESG exposure. The Proponent further states that the majority of large corporations also recognize the value of sustainability reporting. The Proponent stresses that Kinder Morgan does not publish a comprehensive sustainability report or respond to CDP's annual survey.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board argues that its existing disclosure adequately describes its sustainable business practices. The Board states that the Company's public Code of Business Conduct and Ethics outlines its policies on ESG issues. The Board then describes some of its existing environmental and good governance practices, including its Environmental, Health and Safety Policy Statement and Operational Excellence Report, which reports on safety and community achievements annually. Finally, the Board states that the preparation of an annual sustainability report would be expensive and time-consuming and duplicative of information already available, and would ultimately not cause the Company to modify its business practices around ESG issues.

Conclusion: The Proponent's request is reasonable, and the annual disclosure of sustainability information - in a single format - is in the best interests of shareholders. The Board has not shown, on balance, that its existing disclosure on environmental and other matters adequately addresses the proposal. Therefore, a vote in favour of the resolution is recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Assess Portfolio Impacts of Policies to Meet 2 Degree Scenario

Proposed by: Zevin Asset Management, LLC acting on behalf of Trust R U/A

Shareholders request that, by 2019, KMI publish an assessment of the medium and long-term portfolio impacts of technological advances and global climate change policies. The assessment can be incorporated into existing reporting and should analyze the impacts on KMI's portfolio of assets and planned capital expenditures under a scenario in which reduction in fossil fuel demand results from technological advances, carbon restrictions and related rules or commitments adopted by governments consistent with the globally agreed upon 2 degree target. The report should be overseen by a committee of independent directors, omit proprietary information, and be prepared at reasonable cost.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Paris Agreement, which went into effect on November 4, 2016, requires signatories to submit progressively stronger nationally determined contributions every five years with a view to ensuring that the objective to restrict warming to well below 2 degrees is met. The Proponent argues that the Company has not provided investors with any analysis regarding how its portfolio of assets or planned capital expenditures perform under a 2 degrees scenario. Major asset managers (e.g. BlackRock, State Street Global Advisors) have called for improved climate risk disclosures. In the credit market, Moody's Global Ratings includes low demand scenarios in its ratings analysis of companies in high risk sectors such as the energy industry.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it does not believe that preparing an assessment of the medium- and long-term portfolio impacts of technological advances and global climate change policies is in the best interest of stockholders. The Board argues that an assessment of the potential impacts of technological advancements and global climate change policies on the Company's portfolio of assets would require speculations about future risks in the general sense, which is inconsistent with reporting obligations and may cause overstating the likelihood of certain risks, which could be detrimental to the business. The Board then describes its existing practices that address climate change concerns. Finally, the Board states that the preparation of an annual sustainability report would be expensive and time-consuming and duplicative of information already available

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the Board should continue to commit to reporting on how climate change issues are mitigated. The proposal would help to mitigate risk and help to inform shareholders on the Company's resilience to the implementation of climate change policies. The proposal envisages the information being incorporated into existing reporting, which is welcomed. It is considered that implementation of the resolution would align the Company with emerging best practice in the industry, which is also welcomed. Therefore, a vote 'FOR' the proposal is recommended.

5. Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareowners ask the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting (or the standard closest to 10% permitted by state law). This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that scores of Fortune 500 companies allow 10% of shares to call a special meeting. Special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call a special meeting and to act by written consent. Shareholders have no right to act by written consent - hence the greater need to expand the right to call a special meeting at Xylem Inc.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as currently, holders of 25% or more of common stock have the right to call a special meeting, pursuant to a Company proposal adopted by shareholders representing more than 80% of the outstanding shares at the 2014 annual meeting. The Board continues to believe that the Company's 25% threshold to call for a special meeting provides shareholders with assurance that a reasonable number of shareholders consider a matter important enough to warrant a special meeting. For the past few years, 25% has been the most common threshold for special meeting rights at S&P 500 companies and is endorsed in the voting policies of a number of leading institutional investors.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The proponent request that the Board of Directors adopt a policy that the Chairman of the Board of Directors shall be an independent Director who is not a current or former employee of the company, and whose only nontrivial professional, familial or financial connection to the company or its CEO is the directorship. The Proponent believes that the over-extension of duties weakens leadership and argues that many successful corporations and financial holding companies have independent board chairmen. Furthermore, when the CEO is the board chairman, this arrangement can hinder the board's ability to monitor the CEO's performance.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's shareholders are best served by its current leadership structure. In particular, the Board believes that combining the positions of Chairman and CEO most effectively utilizes the current CEO's extensive experience and knowledge regarding the Company. Also, the Board believes that combining the CEO and Chairman positions helps the Board respond quickly and effectively to the many business, market and regulatory challenges; serves as a highly effective bridge between the Board and management; and provides the leadership to execute business strategy and create shareholder value. The Board argues that its corporate governance practices and Board composition provide for strong independent leadership and effective independent oversight of the company.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. James McRitchie.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to undertake necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law. The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes, which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently, shareholders of 20% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold, particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Finally, the Board argues that its active engagement with shareholders and strong corporate governance practices make the proposal unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result, up to 49% of the Company's shareholders could be prevented from voting, or even receiving accurate and complete information, on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

3. Amend Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the the amendments to the 2013 Incentive Plan , which include: an increase in the pool of shares available under the 2013 Incentive Plan from 48,124,434 shares, the re-approval of the performance criteria; an increase in the maximum number of shares of common stock that may be granted under awards to any individual in any calendar year from six million to 15 million; and an increase in the maximum cash award for any individual in any calendar year from USD 10 million to USD 20 million per calendar year covered by the award.

Employees, officers, consultants and advisors and those of our subsidiaries are eligible to be granted awards under the 2013 Incentive Plan. The 2013 Incentive Plan is administered by the Compensation Committee. The Committee has the authority to adopt, amend and repeal the administrative rules, guidelines and practices relating to the 2013 Incentive Plan and to interpret the provisions of the 2013 Incentive Plan. Subject to any applicable limitations contained in the 2013 Incentive Plan, the Compensation Committee, or any other committee to whom the Board delegates authority, as the case may be, selects the recipients of awards and determines the terms of such awards.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards. We also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan).

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Steps Taken to Increase Board Diversity

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponents request the Board of Directors to adopt a policy for improving board diversity requiring that the initial list of candidates from which new management-supported director nominees are chosen by the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee should include (but need not be limited to) qualified women and minority candidates. The Policy should provide that any third-party consultant asked to furnish an Initial List will be asked to include such candidates.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Currently, Discovery Communications appears to have no minorities on its board. A growing body of empirical research indicates a significant positive relationship between firm value and the percentage of women and minorities on board. For instance, one study found a significant positive correlation between gender diversity and the inclusion of people of color on boards and both return on assets and return on investment. Another found a positive and significant relationship between racial diversity and innovation, reputation and firm performance. A 2015 McKinsey study of 366 companies found that companies with corporate leadership in the top quartile for racial and ethnic diversity were 35% more likely to have financial returns above their national industry median.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that when evaluating nominees, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee considers a variety of factors, including their range of experience, soundness of judgment, commitment to understand the Company and its industry, and willingness and ability to contribute positively to the decision making process of the Company. Also, the Board argues that globally, 41% of the Company's executive team is female and 43% of the U.S. executive team is female and the Company ranks first in percentage of female managers in the Company's industry in the U.S. and second for female executives. The Company also has a strong ethnic minority representation, at 37% in the US, as compared to the US industry average of 32%.

PIRC Analysis: The potential benefits of board diversity lie in widening the perspectives on business issues brought to bear on decision-making, avoiding too great a similarity of attitude and helping companies understand their customers, marketplace, supply chain and workforces. A policy would encourage the board to consider board diversity in the context of the long-term interests of the Company and its shareowners. In addition, the policy is not too prescriptive, and only requires that women and ethnic minorities be put on an initial list for consideration. A vote in favour is recommended.

3. Approve Remuneration Policy

Policy changes: (i) Increased level of disclosure for the EIP; (ii) Increase in the maximum opportunity under the EIP from 200% to 300% of salary; (iii) Increase in the weighting of performance metrics linked to both the long-term and financial performance, whilst removing personal objectives and (iv) increase in the current shareholding requirements applied to 200% from the current 100% of base salary. In addition, new post-cessation holding requirements will also apply, requiring executive directors to continue to meet the shareholding requirements in full for at least one year post-cessation, and to continue to meet 50% of the shareholding requirements for the second year post-cessation.

Disclosure: Overall policy disclosure is acceptable.

Balance: The Company has a sole incentive plan, the Executive Incentive Plan with awards paid in cash (40%) and deferred Rathbones shares (60%) which vest over a five-year period in equal tranches of 20% per annum. The maximum opportunity under this plan is considered excessive at 300% of salary. A three year performance period is not considered sufficiently long-term however there is a full five year sale restriction period.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Eliminate Supermajority Vote Requirement

Proposed by: James McRitchie

Shareholders request that the board take each step necessary so that each voting requirement in the charter and bylaws that calls for a greater than simple majority vote be eliminated, and replaced by a requirement for a majority of the votes cast for and against applicable proposals, or a simple majority in compliance with applicable laws.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that shareowners are willing to pay a premium for shares of companies that have excellent corporate governance. Supermajority voting requirements have been found to be one of six entrenching mechanisms that are negatively related to company performance according to "What Matters in Corporate Governance" by Lucien Bebchuk, Alma Cohen and Allen Ferrell of the Harvard Law School. Supermajority requirements are used to block initiatives supported by most shareowners but opposed by a status quo management. The majority of S&P 500 and S&P 1500 companies have no supermajority voting requirements.

Board's Stance: The Nomination and Corporate Governance Committee and Board will consider the voting results on this proposal in their future deliberations regarding the appropriate voting standards within the Company's Charter and Bylaws.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

KEYCORP AGM - 10-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden, on behalf of Mr. Kenneth Steiner

Shareowners ask the board to take the steps necessary to amend the Bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting (or the closest percentage to 10% according to state law).

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that scores of Fortune 500 companies allow a 10% of shares to call a special meeting compared to KeyCorp's higher requirement. KeyCorp shareholders do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under state law. A shareholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent and are 2 complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle such as the election of directors. An enhanced ability of shareholders to call a special meeting would put shareholders in a better position to have a role in improving the makeup of the board of directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board states that KeyCorp already permits shareholders holding 25% of all shares outstanding to call special meetings of shareholders for any purpose. The Board strongly believes that the current 25% threshold is a reasonable and meaningful threshold that balances the shareholders' ability to call a special meeting while not forcing KeyCorp to expend significant time and money on a special meeting that only a small minority of shareholders wants. Moreover, a 25% threshold is also the same as, or lower than, the special meeting rights at 78.5% of 469 S&P 500 companies surveyed by TheSharkRepellent.com. Reducing the threshold to 10% could cause KeyCorp to spend time and resources on a special meeting even if up to 90% of shareholders do not want a special meeting.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

UNION PACIFIC CORPORATION AGM - 10-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: John Chevedden

The Proponent asks for the Board to adopt a policy to require the Chairman to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase the policy in. If an independent Chairman becomes not independent, then the Board will select a new independent Chairman within a reasonable length of time. If no independent director is willing to serve as Chairman, compliance with the policy would not be necessary.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that it is the Board's responsibility to protect shareholders' long-term interests by providing independent oversight of management. The Proponent argues that the Board is less likely to provide independent oversight if the Chairman is also Chief Executive Officer. The Proponent points to several pieces of academic and investment commentary in support of an independent Chairman and the governance benefits of such. Having a board chairman who is independent of management is a practice that will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board states that it requires flexibility in selecting the leadership of the Company in order to govern the Company effectively and in the best interests of shareholders. The Board also points out its policy to require an independent director when the Chairman is not considered independent. Finally, the Board highlights its strong corporate governance practices.

Conclusion: A vote for the resolution is recommended. The proposal effectively requires the separation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman roles by establishing the position of Chairman as independent. A separation of these roles is considered best practice. The Chief Executive Officer should be responsible for the running of the business and the Chairman for the functioning of the Board. It is noted that at the 2017 annual meeting 46.03% of shareholders voted in favour of this proposal.

Disclosure: All elements of each director's cash remuneration are disclosed and next year's salaries are clearly stated. However, Performance targets for the AIP are not fully disclosed as they are deemed to be commercially sensitive. Also, dividend accrual is not separately categorised.

Balance: The CEO salary is in the median of the comparator group. However, the ratio between the CEO pay and the average employee pay is not appropriate at 61:1. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over the last five years is aligned to the change in TSR over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has been approximately 23% whereas, on average, TSR has increased by 21.4%. However, the CEO's total variable pay for the year under review is considered highly excessive as it amounts to 409.5% of his salary.

ONESAVINGS BANK PLC AGM - 10-05-20183. Approve Remuneration Policy*

The proposed changes to the policy are as follows: maximum opportunity for the annual bonus increased to 150% of salary; the proportion of bonus based on the Business Balanced Scorecard and personal performance changed from 75:25 to 90:10; a two year post-vesting holding period introduced on PSP awards made from 2018; the share ownership guidelines increased by 50% of salary to 250% of salary for the CEO and 200% of salary for the CFO; the maximum pension contribution remains at 13% of salary, however the individual will not be required to make a contribution into the plan to receive this.

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. Bonus awards are paid to the Executive Directors, 50% in cash and 50% in shares, which is within guidelines. The deferral period is adequate. However, performance conditions do not operate in an interdependent manner. Awards under the PSP are subject to performance conditions which work independently of each other. This is against guidelines as they should work in an interdependent manner. Also, no non-financial indicator is used. The three-year performance period is not considered sufficiently long term, though the introduction of a two year holding period is welcomed. Total potential variable pay is excessive at 350% of salary. The increase in shareholding requirements is welcomed, however they do not meet best practice guidelines as no time-frame is set. A dividend or dividend equivalents may be accrued on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards are not supported as they mis-align shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not. The policy on recruitment does not raise serious concerns. However, in the event of termination of employment, the Remuneration Committee has overall discretion on the treatment of outstanding awards. The Committee can dis-apply time pro-rating on PSP awards if an Executive is awarded good leaver status, which is inappropriate.

SERCO GROUP PLC AGM - 10-05-2018*2. Approve Remuneration Policy*Policy Changes.

A reduction in the maximum opportunity of the pension from 30% to 20% of salary for new directors has been implemented. However, the maximum opportunity under the Annual Bonus will increase from 150% to 175% for the CEO and from 130% to 155% for the CFO which is considered inappropriate. The Deferred Bonus Plan is being removed from the remuneration policy which will lower potential reward levels particularly given the share matching element of this plan.

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered adequate

Balance: The maximum potential award under all incentive schemes is 375% of base salary which is excessive. Furthermore, the maximum pension contribution for current executives is considered excessive at 30% of salary. However, the policy being proposed at the 2018 AGM has reduced the maximum opportunity to 20% of salary for all new directors. There is compulsory deferral into shares vesting after three years of any bonus earned over 100% of salary. PIRC would prefer to see at least half of any cash bonus earned to be deferred in the form of deferred shares. Also, the shareholding requirement is the build-up of shares to at least 200% of salary which, although welcome, does not require a time period within which this accumulation must occur; and only 50% of the net value of any performance shares must be retained. If no time deadline is attached, PIRC would prefer to see 100% of vested shares retained until adequate shareholdings have been achieved. The performance metrics for both the Annual Bonus and PSP awards are not operating interdependently, such that vesting under the incentive plan is only possible where all threshold targets are met which does not meet best practice.

Contracts: There does not appear to be an 'Exceptional' limit for recruitment included in the policy which is welcome. However, the Remuneration Committee has the discretion to determine whether a director qualifies as a "good leaver" which is not considered appropriate.

Balance: The CEO salary is in the upper quartile of a peer comparator group which raises concerns over the excessiveness of the salary. Furthermore, the balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is not considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over the last five years is not aligned to the change in TSR over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has been approximately 40.96% whereas, on average, TSR has decreased by 15.74%. The CEO's total realised pay for the year under review is considered excessive at 246.43% of his salary (Annual Bonus: 112.53% & PSP: 133.9%). There are concerns with the Plan as it has various elements bundled together and can be used as a vehicle for potentially excessive executive payments. Furthermore, as performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that awards may not be subject to robust enough performance targets and the Committee will have considerable flexibility in the payout of discretionary awards. The authority is limited to one third of the Company's issued share capital. This cap can increase to two-third of the issued share capital if shares are issued in connection with an offer by way of a rights issue. All directors are standing for annual re-election. SEMPRA ENERGY AGM - 10-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The proponent requests the board of directors to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions to decrease the amount of Company share capital the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for 3-years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group and to increase the possible number of proxy access director candidates. The proponent proposes that no limitation shall be placed on the number of shareholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under the Company's proxy access provisions. Additionally, the number of shareholder-nominated candidates eligible to appear in proxy materials will not be less than 2 when the board has less than 12 members. The number of shareholder-nominated candidates eligible to appear in proxy materials will not be less than 3 when the board has more than 12 members

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The proponent argues that even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the current 3% criteria for a continuous 3-years at most companies according to the Council of Institutional Investors. The proponent believes that it is especially important to improve a shareholders right, such as proxy access when there seems to be a board refreshment problem at Sempra that needs to be addressed after the 2018 annual meeting. Three Sempra directors had more than 19-years long-tenure: William Jones, William Ouchi and William Rusnack.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe they have already adopted a carefully considered proxy access framework that strikes the appropriate balance between enhancing shareholder rights and adequately protecting the best interests of all of the shareholders. During the 2015 AGM, the Board spoke with many shareholders who expressed support for proxy access but had varying perspectives on an appropriate framework. Among the reasons given for supporting proxy access was the belief that such rights would increase accountability of directors to shareholders and give shareholders a more meaningful voice in nominating and electing directors. The current proxy access bylaw permits 20 shareholders (counting as one shareholder a group of funds (i) under common management and investment control or (ii) publicly offered as part of the same family of funds) to aggregate their holdings to reach the 3 percent ownership threshold. The board believes that this limit of 20-rather than no limit as requested by the shareholder proposal-is necessary in order to make the proxy access right manageable, is consistent with the vast majority of companies that adopted proxy access bylaws in 2015 and thereafter and is widely endorsed among institutional shareholders. Regarding board refreshment, the Board claims to routinely review board and committee composition to help ensure that they have the right balance of experience, competencies and backgrounds to fulfill their oversight obligations for shareholders. As part of that process, the Corporate Governance Committee and the board consider current tenure and potential retirements.

PIRC Analysis: The amendment sought by the Proponent is considered acceptable, it is unclear why the Board believes the move would be disruptive. On this basis, shareholders are advised to support the proposal as the move could strengthen shareholder democracy, and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board.

UNITED PARCEL SERVICE INC AGM - 10-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Walden Asset Management.

Shareholders of United Parcel Service request the Board to prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: (i) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) payments by UPS used for direct or indirect lobbying or grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; (iii) UPS's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation; and (iv) description of the decision making process and oversight by management and the Board for making payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that as Shareholders they encourage transparency and accountability regarding staff time and corporate funds to influence legislation and regulation, both directly and indirectly. The Proponent appreciates UPS updating its oversight and disclosure on political spending and lobbying but crucial information on lobbying through trade associations is still secret. The Proponent notes that UPS spent over $34 million in 2012 to 2016 on direct federal lobbying activities. The proponent argues that these figures may not include grassroots lobbying to directly influence legislation by mobilizing public support or opposition and do not include lobbying expenditures in states that do not require disclosure.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it is unnecessary because of UPS's already extensive disclosures regarding lobbying and political activities, the oversight provided by the Board of Directors, and the Company's existing policies. Preparing a special report beyond UPS's current voluntary and mandatory disclosures is not an efficient use of resources. Additionally, UPS's shareowners previously rejected this proposal in 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017.

PIRC Analysis: It is viewed that not all lobbying activity by the Company, as defined by the Proponent, has been disclosed and that all shareholder funds should be accounted for. The amounts of shareholder funds mentioned are considered to be material and greater transparency in this area is to be welcomed. Therefore, the report is considered to be a reasonable request for disclosure, and a vote for the resolution is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Approve Recapitalization Plan for all Stock to Have One-vote per Share

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

Shareholders request that the Board take steps to ensure that all of the company's outstanding stock has an equal one-vote per share in each voting situation. This would encompass all practicable steps including encouragement and negotiation with shareholders, who have more than one vote per share, to request that they relinquish, for the common good of all shareholders, any preexisting rights, if necessary.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that this proposal is important because certain shares have super-sized voting power with 10-votes per share compared to the weakling one-vote per share for other shareholders. In this way, shareholders do not have an equal voice in the Company's management. Such shareholders were also unable to call a special meeting or act by written consent and are restricted by provisions mandating an 80%-vote in order to make a certain improvements to our corporate governance.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board's statement in opposition states that the Company's ownership structure allows the Company to pursue long-term growth strategies and avoid the drawbacks associated with excessive emphasis on short-term goals. In this regard, the Board views that the interests of employees and class B share-owners are aligned. The Board states that management is able to run the Company with a sense of purpose by focusing on sustainable value creation that benefits all of the Company's constituents. The Board also explains that the Company's current ownership structure, which has been in place since UPS became a public company in 1999, includes class A shares which are held by current and former UPS employees and their families, many of whom owned UPS shares before the Company's initial public offering.

PIRC Analysis: It is viewed that a dual class structure treats the majority of shareholders inequitably, that the principle of 'one share, one vote' is best practice and that voting rights should be allocated equitably. On this basis a vote for the proposal is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Assess Feasibility of Including Sustainability as a Performance Measure for Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: Zevin Asset Management.

Shareholders request the Board Compensation Committee prepare a report assessing the feasibility of integrating sustainability metrics into the performance measures of senior executives under the Company's compensation incentive plans. Sustainability is defined as how environmental and social considerations, and related financial impacts, are integrated into corporate strategy over the long term.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that while UPS has taken steps to address ESG issues and has developed a set of corporate sustainability goals, it has not explicitly linked sustainability goals with senior executive incentives. Linking sustainability metrics to executive compensation could reduce risks related to sustainability underperformance, incent employees to meet sustainability goals and achieve resultant benefits, and increase accountability. The Proponent also argues that numerous studies suggest that companies that integrate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into their business strategy reduce reputational, legal and regulatory risks and improve long-term performance.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholder to oppose. The Board is of the view that integrating sustainability metrics into senior executives' compensation performance measures is unnecessary and not in the best interests of the Company or its shareowners. The Board argues that UPS's senior executives already effectively manage for sustainability and are highly motivated to meet the Company's sustainability goals. The Board argues that sustainability performance already impacts executive compensation, including evaluations on whether the Company and its operating regions contribute appropriately to the well-being of their communities and industries. The Board also notes the Company's strategy for driving sustainability improvement, which is explained in details in the Corporate Sustainability Report.

PIRC Analysis: Many companies already incorporate sustainability measures in their executive compensation targets and this is considered to be best practice. The incorporation of sustainability metrics will help the Company better mitigate legal regulatory and reputational risk, which can be detrimental to company performance. A vote in favour is advised.

MELROSE INDUSTRIES PLC AGM - 10-05-2018*2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure is substandard. There is inadequate disclosure regarding the specific performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus. There is a concern that share incentive awards under the Value Incentive Plan cannot be estimated, and there is therefore a lack of transparency. In addition, there is no information provided regarding the reasons for the significant opposition to the remuneration policy put forward at the extraordinary general meeting on 11 May 2017, nor is there any mention of shareholder engagement and steps taken to address shareholder concerns.

The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company. However, the Company disclosed only the change in the salaries of senior head office employees, which is inappropriate, as this is not reflective of the change in the salaries of the general workforce. The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are not considered in line with the changes in the Company's TSR performance over the same period. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 25:1. Total variable pay for the year under review was highly excessive, amounting to £42,198,280 for the CEO, which is 8884% of his salary. Given that the recommended limit for total variable pay is 200% of salary, such an award is considered inappropriate. The majority of this was from the Value Incentive Plan (£41,770,280). The Company explained that they created £3.6 billion in value for shareholders in that five year period equating to an annual average of 22% and this remuneration strategy has directly driven historical outperformance. In spite of the Company's explanation, the amount is considered highly excessive. Moreover, the Executive Directors received pay under the annual bonus, which is inappropriate.

The Board of Directors request shareholders approval of the 2018 Long-Term Incentive Plan. Equity will be awarded in the form of stock options, stock appreciation rights, performance-based restricted stock units (Performance Units), and Other Stock-Based Awards. The maximum number of shares of common stock that is available for the Plan Awards each year is equal to 2% of the total number of issued shares of common stock. As of December 31, 2017, the total number of issued shares of common stock was 3,987,071,864 shares and 2% of such number is 79,741,437 shares. The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards. Given that there is no meaningful way that shareholders can approve or re-approve performance goals, a vote to oppose is recommended.

5. *Shareholder Resolution: Recapitalization Plan for all Stock to Have One-vote per Share

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent request that the Board take steps to ensure that all of the company's outstanding stock has an equal one-vote per share in each voting situation. The board should encompass all practicable steps including encouragement and negotiation with shareholders, who have more than one vote per share, to request that they relinquish, for the common good of all shareholders, any preexisting rights, if necessary.

Supporting Argument:The Proponent argues that the Ford Family shares are allowed 16-votes per share compared to the one-vote per share for regular shareholders and that this dual-class voting stock reduces accountability by allowing corporate control to be retained by insiders disproportionately to their money at risk. This resolution has been supported by the S&P 500 .SPX who have started excluding companies that issue multiple classes of shares.

Opposing Argument:The Board is against the proposal and argues that the long history of Ford family involvement in the Company has been one of its greatest strengths. The Board argues that the Company's structure ensures that the Company has a solid and loyal investor base throughout economic downturns and crises and that many purchasers of Company stock are attracted to it because of the dual-class structure. Also, the Board believes that the Company's ownership structure has helped insulate the Company from business cycles and related short-term pressures, while allowing the Board and senior management to focus on long-term success. This resolution received a 62.44% and 64.01% vote in opposition in the 2016 and 2017 annual meeting, respectfully.

PIRC Analysis:It is considered that the existing class structure treats the majority of shareholders inequitably; the principle of one-share-one-vote is best practice and voting rights should be allocated equitably. Support is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: The Unitarian Universalist Association. The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing:

1.) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; 2.) payments by the Company used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; e.) the Company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation; and 3.) description of management's decision making process and the Board's oversight for making the above payments.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company spent USD 25 million in 2015 and 2016 on direct federal lobbying activities and this figure does not include expenditures to influence legislation in states. Also, the Proponent argues that the Company does not comprehensively disclose all of its major trade association memberships and nor does it disclose its payments to trade associations or the amounts used for lobbying. The proponent believes that transparent reporting would reveal whether company assets are being used for objectives contrary to Ford's long-term interests.

Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that the Company has a political action committee, the Ford Civic Action Fund (the Fund). All of the contributions made by the Fund are derived from voluntary employee contributions; the Company makes no contributions. The Company does, however, pay the solicitation and administrative expenses of the Fund, which are minimal, as permitted by law. Information with respect to contributions made by the Fund in connection with federal and state elections is publicly available at the Federal Election Commission and applicable state boards of election, respectively. Also, the Board argues that the Company does not make contributions to political parties or other committees for the purpose of influencing the election of candidates to federal, state, or local public office and also it does not engage in independent expenditures or electioneering communications, nor does it make payments to trade associations or other industry groups to be used specifically for political purposes.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any potential conflict of interest (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation). The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Fleet GHG Emissions in Relation to CAFE Standards

Proposed by: As You Sow on behalf of the Arkay Foundation

The proponent request that Ford, with Board oversight, publish a report, at reasonable cost, describing whether and how the company's fleet GHG emissions through 2025 will increase given its planned changed in fleet mix and industry's proposed weakening of the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards or, conversely, how it plans to retain emissions consistent with, or better than, CAFE standards to ensure its products are sustainability in a rapidly decarbonizing vehicle market.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Board of Directors are not making sufficient efforts to reduce the GHG emissions target set by the the Paris agreement. Transportation accounts for more than 23 percent of global carbon dioxide emissions; this sector will need to make major emissions cuts for countries to achieve the Paris goal. However, the company have not made the appropriate efforts to keep global temperature rise below 2 degrees Celsius. Ford also announced an initiative to expand electric vehicle development, but has yet to specify sales targets, percentages of planned electric drive vehicles, etc.<sup>4</sup> Coupled with lobbying to weaken CAFE standards, this new plan raises serious questions about whether the company will retreat in reducing fleetwide GHG emissions, especially through 2025, a critical window of opportunity for the industry to meet climate goals. The filing shareholder argues that the Company's actions have created investor concern about the alignment of its fleet emissions with an increasingly low carbon global vehicle market.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that the production of such report is not in the best interest of the Company or shareholders. The company state that they are committed to reducing emissions from vehicles around the world and have Company has funded many new projects that have made the company's products and facilities more efficient. If implemented the right way, new mobility solutions like dynamic shuttles and ride sharing will make a significant positive impact on the environment by taking vehicles off of roads while also providing people with safe, accessible, and affordable transportation. Currently the company annually publish a Sustainability Report, in which they detail how they have incorporated sustainability into every area of the business and outline their overall climate change strategy.

PIRC Analysis:It is noted that the company does not disclose within its sustainability report how it plans to retain emissions consistent with the CAFE standards. The proposed report will increase transparency and the link between the environmental policies and practice, and climate change risk. On this basis; it is recommended to vote in favour of the shareholder resolution.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Transparent Political Spending

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The proponent is requesting for the board of directors to provide a report, updated semiannually, disclosing the Company's: 1.Policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum. 2.Monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described in section 1 above, including: (a) The identity of the recipient as well as the amount paid to each; and (b) The title(s) of the person(s) in the Company responsible for decision-making. The report shall be presented to the board of directors or relevant board committee and posted on the Company's website within 12 months from the date of the annual meeting. This resolution does not encompass lobbying.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The proponent requests that the company disclose all of its political spending, including payments to trade associations and other tax exempt organizations, which may be used for political purposes. Implementation would bring Ford in line with a growing number of leading companies, including Procter & Gamble Co., which present this information on their websites. The Proponent argues that disclosure of political spending is important as it can provide shareholders and citizens with the information needed to hold corporations and elected officials accountable for their positions and supporters. Shareholders can determine whether their corporation's political speech advances the corporation's interest in making profits, and citizens can see whether elected officials are "in the pocket" of so-called moneyed interests. This view point has been supported by the Supreme Court who recognized in 2010 that "prompt disclosure of expenditures can provide shareholders and citizens with the information needed to hold corporations and elected officials accountable for their positions and supporters".

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they do not believe that the additional information requested by the proposal will add significant value for shareholders. The Company has a policy not to make contributions to political candidates or organizations, nor to employ its resources for the purpose of helping to elect candidates to public office, even where permitted by law. The Company also has a political action committee, the Ford Civic Action Fund (the "Fund"). All of the contributions were derived from voluntary employee contributions; the Company makes no contributions. Although, the Company do make contributions with respect to state and local ballot questions and referenda that have a direct impact on the Company's business (such as those dealing with local property taxes). The board believes that the production of such report would would require significant time and expense.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent is seeking additional disclosure; which is considered acceptable. Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is considered to be in the best interests of shareholders. Therefore a vote in support is recommended.

4. *Shareholder Resolution: Report on Feasibility of Adopting GHG Disclosure and Management

Proposed by: Sisters of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary

The Proponent request that the board of directors oversee the adoption of time-bound, quantitative, company-wide, science-based targets for reducing total greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, taking into account the goals of the Paris Climate Agreement, and report, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on its plans to achieve these goals.

Supporting Argument: In December 2015, representatives of 195 countries adopted the Paris Climate Agreement, which specifies a goal to limit the increase the in global average temperature. Climate change has significant potential to adversely impact the Company's business. In the most recent 10-K the company detailed how contract carriers were subject to increasingly stringent regulations around climate change, which could increase contract costs. As the frequency of extreme weather events may change with climate change, shipments may be subject to more frequent delays and losses, ultimately increasing operating costs and potentially threatening revenues.

Boards Opposing Argument: The Board argues that, as a non-asset-based logistics company; it does not directly control the GHG emissions produced from the use of motor carrier or other transportation equipment. However, the company understands the impacts that global integrated supply chains can have on the world's climate. They also recognise the importance of taking actionable steps so the supply chains of today and tomorrow support global environmental sustainability. The company also mentions current projects such as: Reducing Empty Miles; Supporting Local, Sustainable Farming Programs and Reducing Paper and Water Consumption that they partake in to help improve environmental sustainability. The Board states they will continue to pursue these and other methods to improve environmental sustainability, but they do not believe that the proposal is an effective or prudent use of company's time and resources.

PIRC Analysis: Although the Company pursues projects that help reduce total greenhouse gas emissions; quantitative goals have not been adopted, at this time. The resolution is not considered to be not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board to set its own targets in the interests of the Company as a whole and does not, therefore, compromise the directors' fiduciary duties. A vote for is recommended.

NUCOR CORPORATION AGM - 10-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Domini Impact Equity Fund.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to authorise the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing : (i) the Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) payments by the Company used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; (iii) the Company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation; (iv) description of management's and the board's decision making process and oversight for making payments described in sections 2 and 3 above.

Supporting Argument: It is the view of the Proponent that significant shareholder funds are used for lobbying and political contributions, which remain undisclosed or unevenly so. Nucor spent $13,610,000 from 2010 - 2016 on federal lobbying. Data on state level spending is not consistently available. Nucor's disclosed numbers only include federal lobbying and not lobbying conducted on state-level, as well as omitting whether its restrictions on trade associations to use its payments for political contribution also apply to lobbying. The Proponent identifies serious transparency and reputational concerns as there are potential discrepancies between the Company's ethical commitments and its indirect lobbying. Nucor does not disclose its payments to, or memberships in, trade associations, nor the amount dedicated to lobbying or its non-deductible trade association payments used for political contribution.

Opposing Argument: Nucor's Board of Directors recommends a vote against this proposal. It believes that the restrictions imposed, and reports required, by existing state and federal law together with Nucor's existing internal compliance and decision-making processes strike the appropriate balance between disclosure of Nucor's activities and protection of Nucor's strategies and confidential information. All of Nucor's lobbying and advocacy activities are managed and overseen by its Public Affairs Department, which ensures not only that such activities comply with applicable law but also that all activities further the long-term interests of Nucor and its stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is viewed that not all lobbying activity by the Company, as defined by the proponent, has been disclosed and that all shareholder funds should be accounted for. The amounts of shareholder funds mentioned are considered to be material and greater transparency in this area is to be welcomed. Shareholders have the right to know the manner in which their funds are being expended by the Company. Therefore, the report is considered to be a reasonable request for disclosure, and support is recommended. The same proposal gained a 30.24% vote in favour at the 2017 meeting.

The proposal requests that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the right to act by written consent won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. This included 67%-support at both Allstate and Sprint. Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle and it saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. The Proponent notes that the Company requires 20% of shares to aggregate their holdings to call a special meeting - a higher level than the 10% of shares permitted by many states of incorporation. The Proponent concludes that dozens of Fortune 500 companies provide for both shareholder rights - to act by written consent and to call a special meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as 20% threshold for calling a special meeting is reasonable and is lower than the threshold at many S&P 500 companies. A majority of companies that have adopted provisions giving shareholders the ability to call special meetings have adopted the same or higher thresholds. The Board argues that shareholder action by written consent imposes meaningful costs on the Company related to the significant time and attention the Board and management will spend reviewing and responding to the written consent proposal. The Board also argues that administrative costs related to holding a special meeting to consider a shareholder proposal are warranted to ensure that all shareholders, and not just those conducting the solicitation, have the ability to express their views on the proposal being considered, which is believed to be an important shareholder protection.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Gender Pay Gap

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board reports annually to shareholders, whether there exists a gender pay gap amongst the Company's employees, and if so, the measures being taken (policies, programmes, goals etc.) to eliminate any such pay disparity, and to facilitate an environment that promotes opportunities for the equal advancement of women. The gender pay gap is defined as the difference between male and female earnings expressed as a percentage of male earnings according to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. The report should be prepared by December 2018 at reasonable cost and omit proprietary information.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that despite progress, pay inequity and advancement opportunities remains a cause of concerns for the healthcare industry. Women comprise 78% of the healthcare workforce but remain under-represented at the leadership level. At Fortune 500 healthcare companies, women represent only about 20% of executive leadership and 63% of these companies have less than 25% women on their boards. The Proponent further states that women earn about 93 cents for every dollar earned by their male peers and that the healthcare and insurance industries both have an adjusted gender pay gap of 7.2%. Currently the company does not disclose gender pay-gap across all staff, including: workers, middle-managers and senior managers.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as its adoption is deemed unnecessary and is not considered in the best interests of our stockholders. The Board stresses that the Company has supported diversity and equality in all areas of business, including hiring and compensation, and strives to promote a work environment where employees' differences are respected and valued. The Company's is a leader among Fortune 25 companies with a workforce that is 68% female and 39% minority. Among its leadership ranks, director level and higher, over 46% of their leaders are female. The Board concludes that the Company has already established commitment to diversity and equality. In response to the proposal last year, the company enhanced its disclosure around pay equality.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponents request for a gender pay report is considered in the best interest of shareholders; in addition it would help promote diversity within the organisation as the Board would be more accountable to shareholders on addressing the issue. It is considered that the requested report is reasonable and would underpin the Company's efforts in fostering diversity and thereby enhancing its reputation. A vote for is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Measures Taken to Manage and Mitigate Cyber Risk

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The proponent requests for the board of directors to review and publicly report (at reasonable cost, in a reasonable timeframe, and omitting proprietary and confidential information) on its cyber risk and actions taken to mitigate that risk. A report adequate for investors to assess practices related to cyber risk should include: aspects of business or operations that give rise to material cyber risk; the extent to which the Company outsources functions that have material cyber risks, descriptions of those functions and how the Company addresses those risks; descriptions of cyber incidents experienced by the Company that individually or in the aggregate are material, including a description of costs and consequences; risks related to cyber incidents that remain undetected for an extended period; description of relevant insurance coverage; compliance, regulatory or contractual obligations related to cyber risk; certification to widely recognized standards; and how cyber risks and cyber incidents are reflected in financial statements.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: In 2017, the Healthcare Industry Cybersecurity Task Force noted the industry experienced more cyber incidents resulting in data breaches than any of the other 15 critical infrastructure sectors. Data breaches are serious and are becoming increasingly costly and frequent. It is reported that data breaches could be costing the healthcare system USD 6.2 million . In 2017, the company stated that 'A failure in the security of our technology infrastructure or a significant disruption in service within our operations could materially adversely affect our business and results of operations'. However, the Company has not provided shareholders with a full report regarding this risk and its policies, procedures or other information concerning how it mitigates this risk.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that it is unnecessary because the Company already provides adequate disclosure concerning data privacy and cybersecurity risk. Disclosures on cybersecurity risk are already contained in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K and annual proxy materials distributed to all stockholders on an annual basis. The Board does not believe that preparing a separate cybersecurity report according to the terms of the proposal is an effective way for the Company to communicate the Company's cyber risk and actions taken to mitigate that risk to its investors. The board also believes that the report contemplated by the proposal would impose an unnecessary burden and expense on the Company.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the report will provide shareholders with additional information on the cybersecurity risk that the company currently face. Since the Company states it already produces a lot of the information on its Annual report and Form 10-K; disclosing this information should not be too arduous for the Company to complete. On this basis; shareholders are advised to vote in favour.

TP ICAP PLC AGM - 10-05-2018*2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. Changes in CEO pay over the last five years are in line with the Company's financial performance over the same period. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is acceptable, at 9:1. The change in the CEO's salary is not in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary rose by 9% while average employee pay increased by 5.6%; such a difference in the change of salaries is not considered acceptable. The Company only compares the change in CEO salary with the change in the salaries of the senior management, which is inappropriate. Awards granted under the transformation LTIP are considered very excessive, with a maximum attainable value of £15 million, which is the equivalent of 2500% of the CEO's salary. Total variable pay for the year under review was also excessive, amounting to 287% of salary. Lastly, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

The 2018 Equity Plan will be administered by the Compensation Committee, which is and will be composed of independent directors of the Company. The Board will administer the 2018 Equity Plan as to awards to members of the Board. The Compensation Committee will have full authority, subject to the terms of the 2018 Equity Plan, to establish rules and regulations for the proper administration of the 2018 Equity Plan, to select the employees, consultants and directors to whom awards are granted, and to set the date of grant, the type of award that shall be made and the other terms of the awards. All employees, consultants and directors of the Company and its affiliates are eligible to participate in the 2018 Equity Plan. A total of 17,800,000 shares will be available for future grants under the 2018 Equity Plan. The 2018 Equity Plan permits the granting of any or all of the following types of awards: (1) stock options, (2) restricted stock, (3) restricted stock units, (4) performance awards, (5) phantom shares, (6) stock appreciation rights, (7) stock payments, and (8) substitute awards.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan).

REPUBLIC SERVICES INC. AGM - 11-05-2018*5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Political Contributions

Proposed by: International Brotherhood of Teamsters General Fund .

The proponent requests that the Company provide a report, updated semi-annually, disclosing the Company's: 1. Policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum. 2 . Monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described in section 1 above

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that disclosure in corporate political spending is in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders. Publicly available records show Republic Services has contributed at least $230,000 in corporate funds since the 2010 election cycle. However, relying on publicly available data does not provide a complete picture of the Company's political spending. The Company's payments to trade associations that may be used for election-related activities are undisclosed and unknown. This proposal asks the Company to disclose all of its political spending, including payments to trade associations and other tax-exempt organisations, which may be used for political purposes.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal, as adopting it would impose additional costs and administrative burdens without conferring a commensurate benefit on the business and the shareholders. The Board states that they comply with all applicable laws and regulations pertaining to political campaign contributions, including those requiring public disclosures. As a result of these extensive legal and regulatory disclosures, information on the political contributions is available to shareholders and interested parties through public sources. It is also claimed that the Company does not make federal political contributions. Employees of the Company make contributions personally or through the Republic Services Employees For Better Government Political Action Committee (RSPAC), which is entirely funded by voluntary contributions of the personal funds of the employees and no corporate funds are used by the RSPAC. All political contributions over $200 are made publicly available by the Federal Election Commission (FEC).

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover; it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

COLGATE-PALMOLIVE COMPANY AGM - 11-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: John Chevedden

The Proponent requests the Board take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also, the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

AMERICAN WATER WORKS COMPANY INC. AGM - 11-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on the Human Right to Water and Sanitation

Proposed by: NorthStar Asset Management, Inc. Funded Pension Plan

The proponent requests that the Board of Directors issue a report to shareholders, omitting proprietary information and at a reasonable cost, tracking the Company's impacts and responses on the human right to water and sanitation. Shareholders suggest the report include narrative and key performance indicators such as: 1) Whether/how the Company identifies any business partners with poor track records or protection policies on human rights and/or environment; 2) How the Company addresses risks to the HRWS arising from such relationships; 3) The most significant events or challenges implicating the HRWS within the past year involving the Company or its business partners and assessing the responses; 4) Percentage of customers paying water rates considered unaffordable by the United Nations Development Program (above 2.5-3% of monthly household income); 5) Customer demographics for non-payment shutoffs (including age, race, ethnicity, children, elderly or ill, income level, shutoff duration); 6) Company policies on public policy advocacy to support the HRWS (to ensure affordability for all); 7) Whether/how the company evaluates the effectiveness of mechanisms intended to ensure water affordability for those in financial need.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company's existing reports do not adequately allow shareholders or communities to understand key trends, challenges, or progress on the Human right to Water and Sanitation (HRWS) at the company. Recent years' reports show the HRWS is implicated frequently in incidents involving the company. In September 2017, a class action lawsuit regarding poisoned drinking water for hundreds of thousands of citizens after another company's chemical spill was settled for 151 million USD.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe a separate report on the human right to water and sanitation would not enhance their existing disclosures or practices contained in the company's Corporate Responsibility Report. Since 2011, the Company has produced Corporate Responsibility Reports, which describes the Company's focus on customers and community, environment and human rights efforts. The most recent report includes a description of the Company's efforts to promote the human right to water within the business. The Board believes that a separate report would also require the commitment of additional resources while providing minimal new information or value to the stockholders to that provided by the Corporate Responsibility Report.

PIRC Analysis: The report will provide shareholders with additional information on the Company's impacts and responses on the human right to water and sanitation. Since the Company states it already produces a lot of the information on its corporate responsibility report, disclosing this information should not be too arduous for the Company to complete. On this basis, shareholders are advised to vote in favour.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Boston Common Asset Management.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: 1. Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications. 2. Payments by AWK used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient. 3. AWK's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation. 4. Description of the decision making process and oversight by management and the Board for making payments.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company spent USD1.1 million since 2010 on federal lobbying activities. Also, the Proponent argues that the Company does not comprehensively disclose all of its major trade association memberships and does not disclose its payments to trade associations or the amounts used for lobbying. The proponent believes that transparent reporting would reveal whether company assets are being used for objectives contrary to Ford's long-term interests.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that this proposal would result in an unnecessary use of time, effort and resources to obtain the information needed to prepare the report. The Board believes that they are already subject to extensive reporting requirements regarding lobbying activities and have strong internal controls to ensure that any lobbying activity is conducted with honesty and professionalism, in accordance with the law. The Board believes that it is in the stockholders' best interests for the Company to engage in limited advocacy activities in order to educate government officials, regulators and the public about the Company's position on public policy issues that impact the business, customers, employees and local community.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. #### 6. Shareholder Resolution: Political Contributions Proposed by: Trillium Asset Management, LLC, as representative of Benedictine Sisters of Virginia, Inc., Sundance Family Foundation and Nancy Jacobs, The Proponent is requesting for the board of directors to provide a report, updated semiannually, disclosing the Company's: 1. Policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum. 2. Monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described in section 1 above, including: (a) The identity of the recipient as well as the amount paid to each; and (b) The title(s) of the person(s) in the Company responsible for decision-making. The report shall be presented to the board of directors or relevant board committee and posted on the Company's website within 12 months from the date of the annual meeting. This resolution does not encompass lobbying.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent requests that the Company disclose all of its political spending, including payments to trade associations and other tax exempt organisations, which may be used for political purposes. Implementation would bring AWWC in line with a growing number of leading companies, including PG&E Corp. and Sempra Energy, which present this information on their websites. The Proponent argues that disclosure of political spending is important, as it can provide shareholders and citizens with the information needed to hold corporations and elected officials accountable for their positions and supporters. Shareholders can determine whether their corporation's political speech advances the corporation's interest in making profits, and citizens can see whether elected officials are 'in the pocket' of so-called moneyed interests.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they do not believe that the additional information requested by the proposal will add significant value for shareholders. The Board believes adoption of the proposal is unnecessary and would not be in the best interests of the Company or stockholders as the Company has been transparent and accountable regarding its political contributions. Beginning with the 2018 fiscal year, the Company has committed to providing on their web site, certain information regarding direct contributions made to political parties, candidates or campaigns during the fiscal year. The Board believes that a semiannual report requested by this proposal would be burdensome and an unnecessary use of resources.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent is seeking additional disclosure, which is considered acceptable. Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is in the best interests of shareholders. Therefore a vote in support is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Ethical Recruitment in Global Supply Chains

Proposed by: Domini Social Equity Fund.

The Proponent requests request that by December, 2018 the Company begin publishing, at reasonable cost and excluding proprietary information, an annual report disclosing specific remedial efforts taken to ensure that its global supply chain is free of forced or bonded labor, including any efforts to reimburse workers for recruitment fees that were paid in violation of the Company's policies.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that there is growing awareness of the role of unscrupulous labour recruiters in exploiting workers and job seekers through charging fees; withholding personal papers/passports and failing to provide written contracts spelling out the terms of employment. Failure to put proactive policies and procedures in place exposes a company to significant risks; including legal action and media reports that negatively impact reputation. In 2016's Global Slavery Index estimates that 45.8 million people are in some form of modern slavery in 167 countries. The electronics industry has come under increased scrutiny for labour abuses in factories including the exploitation of migrant workers who have paid fees to obtain employment. According to a US Department of Labour-funded study; '92 percent of the migrant workers in Malaysia's electronics industry had paid recruitment fees and that 92% of that group had paid fees that exceeded legal or industry standards'. The State of California and the United Kingdom have passed laws requiring companies to report on what they are doing to eradicate human trafficking and slavery. U.S. federal contractors are currently required to put in place compliance programs for their extended supply chains to assess and address any abuses associated with charging workers recruitment fees. Motorola Solutions is a government contractor; has ethical recruitment policies; and describes its process for implementing its forced labour and human trafficking policies. However; out of its entire global supply chain; Motorola Solutions only audited fifteen sites in 2016. It reports that 13 "freely chosen employment" issues were identified; but provides no further information. Investors have insufficient information to gauge how well the Company is addressing this serious risk to workers and to the Company.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Company agrees with the principles on which this proposal is based and already addresses the concerns it raises; making this proposal unnecessary. In fact; the Company already has in place a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that address human rights in the workplace; which are designed to ensure that its operations worldwide are conducted using high standards of integrity and ethical business conduct applied uniformly and consistently. The Company's policies include: the Motorola Solutions Code of Business Conduct, the Motorola Solutions Human Rights Policy, the Anti-Human Trafficking Statement, the Anti-Human Trafficking Compliance Plan and the Motorola Solutions Environment. These specific policies are based upon internationally recognized human rights standards, such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the core labour standards of the International Labour Organization, the United Nation's Global Compact, Social Accountability 8000 (SA 8000) standard, and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, to name a few. The Company is a full and active member of the Responsible Business Alliance (RBA) and the Information Technology Industry Council (ITI), which both proactively work to combat human rights concerns in our industry. Additionally, the Company adheres to a long-standing Supply Chain Corporate Responsibility program that includes risk assessments, audits and follow-up through a corrective and preventive action program to ensure the Company policies are being followed by its employees and third parties.

PIRC Analysis:The Board argues that there is no need for these proposals as the Company already has policies in place addressing these issues. However; the Proponent raises a key concern with the fact that the Company only audited fifteen sites in 2016; which raises concerns that there may be room for error in the Company's evaluation of this risk. On this basis; shareholders are advised to vote in favour.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Independent Director with Human Rights Expertise

Proposed by:The Episcopal Church.

The Proponent requests that, as elected board directors' terms of office expire, the Motorola Solutions Board Nominating Committee nominate for Board election at least one candidate who: has a high level of human rights expertise and experience in human rights matters relevant to Company production and supply chain, related risks, and is widely recognized in business and human rights communities as such, as reasonably determined by the Board, and will qualify, subject to exceptions in extraordinary circumstances explicitly specified by the Board, as an independent director

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that the Company would benefit by electing to its Board independent specialists versed in all business aspects of human rights. Human rights expertise at both management and board levels is critical to industrial companies' success because of the significant environmental issues that are associated with their operations. Motorola Solutions conducts business in countries with human rights challenges including China, Singapore, Middle East, Israel and occupied Palestinian territories. Also; the Proponent argues that an authoritative figure with acknowledged expertise and standing could perform a valuable role in ways that would enable the Board to address more effectively the issues and risks inherent in its present business model regarding human rights.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and believes that its current membership possesses significant skill set that is experience capable of adapting to shifting trends within the industry and corporate environment; the elected members of the Board Nominating and Governance Committee should not be arbitrarily constrained in their assessment of which skills and experience best serve the present and expected future needs of the Board. The board also states that it already has in place a comprehensive set of policies and procedures that address human rights in our business. The Company's policies include: the Motorola Solutions Code of Business Conduct, the Motorola Solutions Human Rights Policy, the Motorola Solutions Supplier Code of Conduct, the Anti-Human Trafficking Statement, the Anti-Human Trafficking Compliance Plan and the Motorola Solutions Environment, Health & Safety Policy. Also; the Board believes that the proposal is unnecessary and would narrow the pool of eligible Directors for consideration.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the Board might benefit from a director with relevant experience in human rights which is an increasingly significant issue for the company. The issue of human rights is of high priority to a significant number of shareholders and the Board could benefit from the election of a director to strengthen the capability of the Board to determine the company's strategic direction and response to the issue of human rights. There are no members of the board that are well versed aspects regarding human rights. It is also considered that such issues should be a matter for consideration for the Board as a whole. However, directors are expected to represent the interests of all shareholders and requiring that a new director have a highly specific background or skill set may not be in the best interests of all shareholders. On this basis, an abstain vote is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Lobbying Disclosure

Proposed by: Mercy Investment Services, Inc.

The Proponent requests that the Board of Directors prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: 1) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications. 2) Payments by MSI used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including amount of payment and recipient. 3) MSI's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation. 4) Description of management's and Board's decision-making process and oversight for making payments described in sections 2 and 3 above.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company spent approximately $16 million from 2010-2016 on federal lobbying (Senate reports) and this does not include expenditures to influence legislation in states and provides limited information regarding lobbying conducted by third parties. MSI belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, which has spent over $1.3 billion on lobbying since 1998, and the National Association of Manufacturers, which spent $25.44 million on lobbying in 2015 and 2016. The proponent questions if MSI's membership in the Chamber presents a reputational risks and values incongruity on the issue of climate change. MSI has committed to science-based targets in alignment with the Paris Agreement on climate change, yet the Chamber has sued to block the EPA Clean Power Plan to address climate change.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company already discloses lobbying activities and expenditures; including expenditures made through trade associations; as required by law. The Board argues that contrary to the proposal's supporting statement; the Company's total reported U.S. federal lobbying expenditures do; in fact; include expenditures for "indirect lobbying" via trade associations; as required by law.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover; it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Pro-rata Vesting of Equity Awards

Proposed by: International Brotherhood of Teamsters General Fund

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt a policy that in the event of a change in control (as defined under any applicable employment agreement, equity incentive plan or other plan), there shall be no acceleration of vesting of any equity award granted to any senior executive officer, provided, however, the board's Compensation Committee may provide in an applicable grant or purchase agreement that any unvested award will vest on a partial, pro rata basis up to the time of the named executive officer's termination, with such qualifications for an award as the Committee may determine.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company allows senior executives to receive an accelerated award of unearned equity under certain conditions after a change of control of the Company. Also; the Proponent argues that to accelerate the vesting of unearned equity on the theory that an executive was denied the opportunity to earn those shares seems inconsistent with a "pay for performance" philosophy worthy of the name. The proponents request for the board of directors to follow othe major corporations such as Apple, Chevron, Dell, Exxon Mobil, IBM, Intel and Microsoft who have have limitations on accelerated vesting of unearned equity.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the proposed policy could jeopardise the objective of the Company's compensation programme to attract; retain; reward and incentivise exceptional; talented employees. The Board believes that the Company's practice of accelerating the vesting of equity awards in the event of a change in control serves to align the interests of the Company's executive officers with those of the Company's stockholders and will incentivise executive officers to remain objective; avoid conflicts of interest and stay focused on executing a strategic change that could maximise stockholder value. Also; the Board argues that the proposal would result in undue restriction on the Compensation Committee's structuring of executive compensation.

PIRC Analysis: The acceleration of unvested stock pursuant to a change in control where there is no reference to performance is not supported. It is considered that a large potential payment automatically triggered by a change-in-control could influence executives' judgement on its value for shareholders; and potentially thus influence the Board to accept an offer. Support is therefore recommended.

9. Shareholder Resolution: transformation from producing energy from fossil sources to renewable energy

Proposal from the shareholder Guttorm Grundt, regarding business transformation from producing energy from fossil sources to renewable energy.

The filing shareholder proposes that the shift will consist of the following steps: first, full phasing out of all new exploration activity and exploratory drilling for fossil energy resources by 2021; second, full focus on renewable energy development and production offshore and onshore, aiming at an energy balance between produced fossil and renewable energy by 2030. Last, funds saved through reduced investments in and farm-down of fossil energy production should be transferred to investments in renewable energy production. The Board does not support the proposal.

The Board recognises climate change as a major risk and states the company will further develop a position within renewable energy in order to continue to create value for shareholders in a sustainable way. The Board further stress that in line with principles of good corporate governance, the company's strategy should be determined by the board Support would be provided to a request asking for a scenario setting out a low-carbon transition in line with the goals set out in the Paris agreement. Such scenario planning would enable the disclosure of consistent climate-related financial risk disclosure to shareholders (in line with the Taskforce on Climate-Related Disclosure). However, the action called for by the requisitionist is asking for the board to present a specific strategy and environmental impact assessment in the 2018/2019 annual report. Whilst there is recognition of the validity of the requisitioner's overall goal that the company be in compliance with the Paris Agreement, this request is considered too prescriptive and does not allow for the Board to determine the best approach, On this basis, opposition is recommended.

10. Shareholder Resolution: Abstain from exploration drilling in the Barents Sea

It is proposed that Statoil refrains from drilling exploration wells in PL859 (Korpfjell) and PL855 (Gemini North) until the writ against the licenses granted in the 23rd licensing round is settled.

Background:

On 18 May 2016, the Government of Norway represented by the Ministry of Petroleum and Energy resolved to offer 13 companies 10 production licenses for petroleum. The production licenses were awarded and ratified by Cabinet Order in June 2016 Two of the license blocks include the prospects Korpfjell located in PL859 and Gjøkåsen in PL857. In October 2016 the validity of this Licensing Decision became subject to a legal Challenge and a writ was filed to the Oslo District Court against the decision of the Government of Norway represented by the Ministry of Petroleum and Energy. The Plaintiffs in the case are Greenpeace Norden and Natur og Ungdom. The lawsuit was heard in November 2017 with the district court affirming that Norwegian citizens have a right to a healthy environment by §112 in the Norwegian Constitution. However, the judgement acquitted the Norwegian state's decision to distribute the licenses. In the judgement, the Oslo district Court ruled that the emissions associated with the incineration of Norwegian-produced oil abroad are not covered by the Constitution's environmental act. In February 2018, the Plaintiffs appealed the judgement, which is at this time not enforceable. The Supreme Court appeals committee is considering the direct appeal.

The requisitioner asserts it would be be irresponsible for Statoil to initiate further drilling operations until the validity of the licenses is settled in court. The Board does not support the proposal and argues that the Company has made the necessary preparations to ensure that the operations are carried out in the best possible manner, and that environmental risks are reduced to the lowest possible level. The Board state that the appeal does not imply any order to stop the activity. Through its agreements with Norwegian authorities, the company has committed to undertake a fixed work programme, and must comply with this legally binding commitment, including drilling wells in these two licences. In the annual report, Statoil recognizes 'government regulations and actions; including changes in energy and climate policies' as a material risk. Such resolutions are considered on the basis of evidence that the action called for is both possible and necessary given the company's disclosure. Whilst the action is called for is possible, it is not regarded as necessary given the current status of existing agreements. On balance, opposition is recommended.

CONOCOPHILLIPS AGM - 15-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Use GAAP for Executive Compensation Metrics

Proposed by: Chevy Chase Trust Company in its capacity as Trustee of the AFL-CIO Equity Index Fund.

The proponent requests the Board to adopt a policy to use generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") when evaluating performance for purposes of determining senior executive compensation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that senior executives should be held accountable for the performance of the Company. There are concerns that the use of non-GAAP performance metrics for executive compensation benchmarks can undermine the connection between pay and performance. Currently, the Company applies Adjusted Return on Capital Employed ("ROCE") and Adjusted Cash Return on Capital Employed, ("CROCE") to calculate performance for senior executive annual incentive award. During the year under review, the program yielded a payout to executives of 90% of the target based on adjusted ROCE and adjusted CROCE. However the Human Resources and Compensation Committee reduced the payout to 0% for reasons disclosed in the proxy statement " We exceeded our absolute targets, but prices negatively impacted our financial performance resulting in a $3.3 billion adjusted earnings net loss". The proponent has commended the committees restraint in recognizing the loss, but feels there are concerns with the committees ability to apply upward or downward discretion.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that their compensation programs are designed to properly incentivize and reward executives for performance and to align compensation with the long-term interests of the shareholders. It is also believed that the programs are the appropriate vehicles to assess ConocoPhillips performance and align the interests of executives in achieving the strategic objectives. For the annual incentive program, the following five categories of corporate performance metrics, with each metrics category equally weighted at 20%: (1) Health, Safety and Environmental; (2) Operational; (3) Financial; (4) Strategic Milestones; and (5) Total Shareholder Return (TSR). The long-term incentive program, the Performance Share Program (PSP), corporate performance is assessed by: 50% TSR, 30% Financial and 20% Strategic Objectives. The Board utilizes these measures of performance so that no single aspect of performance is driven in isolation. The financial information is prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and is supplemented with non-GAAP financial measures.

PIRC Analysis: The use of non-GAAP metrics prevents shareholders from being able to fully assess the challenging nature of the performance targets. In addition, the use of discretion is considered to be a frustration to shareholder accountability. On these bases, support is recommended.

ANADARKO PETROLEUM CORPORATION AGM - 15-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Assess Portfolio Impacts of Policies to Meet 2 Degree Scenario

Proposed by: The Park Foundation Inc.

Shareholders request that Anadarko publish with Board oversight, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, an assessment of the impacts to the Company's portfolio of scenarios consistent with limiting global warming to 2 degrees Celsius or below. The assessment should outline the resilience of the company's reserves and resource portfolio in response to multiple demand and price scenarios and explain how capital planning and business strategies incorporate the financial risks posed by such scenarios.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the CEOs of Statoil and Shell have predicted that peak demand for oil may occur as early as the 2020s. The International Energy Agency (IEA) notes that transportation accounts for more than one fifth of global carbon dioxide emissions and forecasts that electrification of transport will play a critical role in achieving required greenhouse gas reductions. The increasing likelihood of public policy action, and the speed of technological advancements to address climate change, make it vital that Anadarko provide investors with more detailed analyses of the potential risks to its business under a range of climate scenarios. The Proponent adds that a recent analysis of oil and gas carbon asset risk found that 20 to 30% of Anadarko's potential capital expenditure is outside the 2 degree budget, creating a risk of stranded assets.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal and states that the Company has published a Climate Risk Statement that substantially addresses the items to be included in the report requested in the proposal. As set forth in the Climate Risk Statement, Anadarko's management employs a rigorous enterprise risk process, including review and oversight by the Board of Directors. As part of this process, external regulations, policy and initiatives, including the Paris Accord are monitored and considered in long-term strategic planning. A range of future demand and pricing scenarios, including scenarios in a carbon-constrained world, are considered when formulating the long-term investment and development plans. The Company also utilises third party analyst firms to provide commodity market analysis and industry and economic projections.

PIRC Analysis: Although the Climate Risk Statement addresses the main thrust of the proponent's request in that it notes that the Company has assessed carbon constrained scenarios, it is lacking in sufficient detail for shareholders to be able to determine the rigour of this assessment. There is no disclosure as to whether a 2 degree scenario was analysed or the nature of the analysis for example what assumptions were used on demand, price and timeframe, nor any outcome of the analysis. Shareholders thus have a paucity of information to assess the degree of carbon asset risk associated with different demand scenarios nor how the company can address or reduce such risk. Undertaking the impact assessment would help the board to mitigate risk and inform shareholders on the Company's resilience to the implementation of climate change policies that will impact on the use of oil and gas reserves through to 2040. It is considered that implementation of the resolution would align the Company with emerging best practice in the industry, which is welcomed. A vote 'FOR' the proposal is recommended.

The Board is proposing the amendments to the company's bylaws to include proxy access. The move, that would strengthen shareholder democracy, is supported, and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board. ### 6. Shareholder Resolution: Prepare Employment Diversity Report

Proposed by: Scott M. Stringer, Comptroller of the City of New York, on behalf of the New York City Employees' Retirement System, the New York City Police Pension Fund, and the New York City Board of Education Retirement System.

The Proponent requests the Board to adopt and enforce a policy requiring the Company to disclose annually its EEO-1 data – a comprehensive breakdown of its workforce by race and gender according to ten employment categories – on its website. The Proponent argues that the Company is part of a financial industry which is characterized by under-representation of minorities and women, particularly in senior positions. The Proponent considers that the requested disclosure would permit shareholders to evaluate the effectiveness of the Company's efforts to increase the diversity of its workforce.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the requested disclosure is filed in a confidential report to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) on the agency's standard form and considers that adoption of the proposal would cause the Company to breach the assurances of confidentiality and privacy that it has made to its employees. The Board argues that this proposal would undermine the Company's ability to recruit and retain a diverse workforce. In addition, the Board argues that EEO-1 data has been rejected by federal courts as not sufficiently probative for determining whether employment decisions reflect bias against a particular racial or ethnic group.

PIRC Analysis: Additional disclosure on diversity is welcomed. The Proponent states that two-thirds of the S&P 100 companies now readily discloses this information. The Board argues that it would breach its confidentiality agreements with its employees. However, the EEO-1 report does not go into such specific detail as to single individual employees out. The Proponent is requesting that the workforce be broken down into ten employment categories, which is considered sufficiently broad. On this basis, shareholders are advised to vote in favour. It is noted that 27% of shareholder voted in favour of this resolution at the annual meeting.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Political Contributions

Proposed by: John Chevedden, on behalf of James McRitchie.

The Proponent requests the Company provide a report, updated semiannually, disclosing the Company's: 1. Policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum. 2. Monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described in section 1 above, including: (a) The identity of the recipient as well as the amount paid to each; and (b) The title(s) of the person(s) in the Company responsible for decision-making.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that disclosure is in the best interest of the shareholders. The Proponent believes that relying on publicly available data does not provide a complete picture of the Company's political spending. For example, Schwab's payments to trade associations that may be used for election-related activities are undisclosed. This proposal asks the Company to disclose all of its political spending, including payments to trade associations and other tax exempt organizations, which may be used for political purposes.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe they already provide sufficient oversight of political and lobbying contributions, as well as disclosure of the Company's policy. In addition, it is believed that the cost and effort to compile and report this data would outweigh its limited value to shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that not all lobbying activity by the company, as defined by the proponent, has been disclosed and that all shareholder funds should be accounted for. Therefore, the report is considered to be a reasonable request for disclosure, and a vote for is recommended.

FIRSTENERGY CORP. AGM - 15-05-2018

7. Shareholder Resolution: Reduction in the Threshold to Call a Special Shareholder Meeting

Proposed by: John Chevedden

The Proponent requests that the Board of Directors amend the Company's bylaws to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Scores of Fortune 500 companies allow 10% of shares to call a special meeting compared to FirstEnergy's higher requirement. FirstEnergy shareholders do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under state law. The Proponent believes that this proposal is important because the Company does not provide for shareholders to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and believes that the proposal is unnecessary because of its existing special meeting by-law provision; which allows stockholders owning at least 25% of the Company's shares to call a special meeting. The Board argues that lowering the threshold to 10% would allow special interest groups with small minority ownership interests to potentially cause disruption and substantial costs to be incurred by the other 90% of stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The requested threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

The Board proposes the amendment of the bylaws so that any such special meeting shall be called by the Board upon the written request or requests of shareholders holding shares representing in the aggregate at least 20% of the outstanding shares.

The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. However, the limit proposed by the Company of 20% is greater than that allowed under Delaware law. Implementing a limit higher than that required by state law is not viewed as being in the best interests of shareholders. On this basis, an oppose vote is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors adopt a policy requiring the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, be an independent member of the Board. The Proponent argues that a Board is less likely to provide rigorous independent oversight of management if the Chairman is also the CEO, and having a board chairman who is independent of management is a practice that will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that adopting a policy requiring that the Chairman be an independent director could limit the Board's ability to choose the person best suited for the role at a particular time. The Board argues that the Company's current governance structure provides the independent leadership and management oversight sought by the proposal. Pursuant to the Firm's Corporate Governance Principles, when the positions of Chairman and CEO are held by one individual, the independent directors will annually appoint an independent director to serve as Lead Independent Director.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended. It is noted that 37.48% of shareholders voted in favour of this proposal at the 2017 annual meeting.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Prohibit Accelerated Vesting of Awards to Pursue Government Service

Proposed by: AFL-CIO Reserve Fund.

The Proponent requests the Board adopt a policy prohibiting the vesting of equity-based awards for senior executives due to a voluntary resignation to enter government service (Government Service Golden Parachute). The Proponent argues that the Company provides its senior executives with vesting of equity-based awards after their voluntary resignation of employment from the Company to pursue a career in government service.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the Government Office accelerated distribution provisions do not provide employees with a windfall and these provisions do not reward employees for leaving the Company to enter government service. The Government Office distribution provisions are intended to help the firm attract and retain employees.

PIRC Analysis: The acceleration of unvested stock where there is no reference to performance is not supported. Support is therefore recommended. It is noted that 27.53% of shareholders voted in favour of this proposal at the 2017 annual meeting.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Institute Procedures to Prevent Investments in Companies that Contribute to Genocide or Crimes Against Humanity

Proposed by: William L. Rosenfeld.

The Proponent proposes that the Company report to shareholders, at reasonable expense and excluding confidential information, an analysis of how JPMorgan's published corporate values align with its policies regarding investments in companies tied to genocide or crimes against humanity.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company should reconcile its investment practices with its published values for various reasons including: In 2011 - 2014, JPMorgan opposed the "genocide-free investing" proposal which asks the firm to avoid investments in companies that, in management's judgment, substantially contribute to genocide or crimes against humanity; the Company's resistance to "genocide-free investing" is inconsistent with its corporate values; the Company inadequately protects its shareholders from investment in companies connected to genocide.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company already publishes information about the policies and practices which reflect their support and respect for the protection of fundamental human rights and the prevention of crimes against humanity. The asset management business has established a dedicated team to implement a coordinated strategy for sustainable investing, including integration of environmental, social and governance ("ESG") factors, into select investment offerings. However, as a fiduciary, the asset management business must act in the best financial interests of its clients. To that end, it is required to abide by those fiduciary duties and therefore cannot exclude specific assets or types of assets from portfolios solely on the basis of environmental or social issues in contradiction of those duties unless specifically requested by clients or required by law.

PIRC Analysis: Reporting on investments tied to human rights issues allows shareholders to make an informed judgement on social and ethical risks related to their investment. The Company would not dispute this and have developed policies and a reporting structure on human rights and security. However, the Proponent has not, on balance, demonstrated how the proposed report would improve on the Company's existing policy, practices and reporting. Opposition is recommended.

9. Shareholder Resolution: Restore or Provide for Cumulative Voting

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent request that the Board take the steps necessary to adopt cumulative voting .

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that cumulative voting also allows a significant group of shareholders to elect a director of its choice - to safeguard minority shareholder interests and to bring a greater independent risk management perspective to Board decisions. Cumulative voting can be used to elect one director with a highly focused specialization in banking risk management.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as one share, one vote best serves shareholder interests. Cumulative voting is inconsistent with majority voting for directors and can increase the risk of special interests and partisanship.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that cumulative voting systems can potentially allow small shareholder groups to have a disproportionate influence over the election of directors. As the principle of 'one share; one vote' is supported as best practice. An oppose vote is recommended.

17. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. 4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that stockholder action by written consent is not necessary in light of stockholders' existing ability to call a special meeting. The Board carefully evaluates each shareholder proposal submitted in the Company's proxy materials and has decided to remain neutral on this matter.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result shareholders could be prevented from voting or even receiving accurate and complete information on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

SOUTHWEST AIRLINES CO AGM - 16-05-2018*4. *Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend the governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that having a board chairman who is independent of management is a practice that will promote greater management accountability to shareholders and lead to a more objective evaluation of management.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the proposal neglects to state any Company-specific facts or issues that would justify changing the Board's current leadership structure or eliminating the Board's future flexibility to select a leadership structure that it believes to be in the best interests of the Company and its Shareholders at any given time. The Company has implemented a number of practices to accomplish independent oversight of management, including the appointment of the presiding director.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal. It is noted, moreover, that the Lead Director is not considered to be independent owing to length of tenure and there are insufficient independent directors on the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: For

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. Written consent would also put shareholders in a better position to give input on improving director assignments after the 2018 annual meeting. The proponent mentions concerns with three directors who have served on the Board for over 14 years: Nancy Loeffler, John Montford, and William Cunningham.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that permitting Shareholders to act by the written consent of a majority of the Company's outstanding shares would undermine Shareholder democracy and could disenfranchise many Shareholders by enabling one or more substantial Shareholders to take a corporate action without action by, or even notice to, other Shareholders. The Board believes that Shareholders are best served by holding meetings in which all Shareholders are provided with notice of the meeting and an opportunity to consider and discuss the proposed actions and vote their shares.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chose; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

UNIVERSAL HEALTH SERVICES INC AGM - 16-05-2018

2. Shareholder Resolution: Adopt Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: New York City Employees' Retirement System.

The Proponents request the Board to adopt a "proxy access" bylaw. The bylaw should require UHS to include in proxy materials prepared for a shareholder meeting at which Class B/D directors are to be elected the name, Disclosure and Statement of any person nominated for election as a Class B/D director by a Class B/D shareholder or group. This would allow shareholders who have held at least 3% of the Company's relevant issued shares for three years or more to nominate candidates for election to the Board. The Company would be obliged to include such nominees on the general meeting proxy form. The resolution includes proper procedural safeguards for the nomination process. The nominators will be required to certify that their shares were acquired as normal investment business and not for ancillary purposes.

Proponents' Supporting Argument: Proxy access would "benefit both the markets and corporate boardrooms, with little cost or disruption," raising US market capitalization by up to $140.3 billion. This is according to a cost-benefit analysis by the Chartered Financial Analyst Institute, Proxy Access in the United States: Revisiting the Proposed SEC Rule. The proposed terms enjoy strong investor and company support. Between January 2015 and October 2017, more than 300 companies have enacted similar proxy access bylaws for 3% shareowners.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that it advances a solution for a problem that does not exist at the Company, does not take into account the effective voice stockholders already have, undercuts the role of the independent Nominating and Governance Committee, and would introduce an unnecessary and potentially expensive and destabilising dynamic into the Board election process. As a "controlled company" for purposes of NYSE Listed Company Manual Section 303A.00, the Company is not required to have a majority of independent directors and is exempt from the NYSE's requirements relating to compensation committees and nominating/corporate governance committees. However, the Company states that it has a majority of independent directors, including an empowered Lead Independent Director, on the Board, and the current Board structure provides independence and good corporate governance principles with the Company's multi-tiered voting structure.

PIRC Analysis: The move, that would strengthen shareholder democracy, is supported, and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board. The requested threshold for holding requirement for nominators is considered sufficient. Furthermore, the nomination of new Board members would facilitate greater independence in the oversight of the Company. Support is therefore recommended.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION AGM - 16-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden

The Board is asked to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The Proponent states that the majority of Fortune 500 allow shareowners with 10% of shares to call special meetings. The Proponent further argues that Victor Fazio's long tenure of 17 years, may impair the independence of a director.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that providing holders of only 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special meeting of stockholders is unnecessary and not in the best interests of the Company or its stockholders. The Company's Bylaws already permit stockholders who own 25% or more of the Company's outstanding common stock; on an aggregate net long basis; to call a special meeting. The 25% minimum threshold is a reasonable one that strikes the right balance between ensuring that stockholders have a means of calling a stockholders meeting and protecting against the risk that a small minority of stockholders could trigger a special meeting and its associated financial expense and disruption to the Company's business.

PIRC Analysis: The proponents request for 10% is considered acceptable and more favourable than the limit proposed by the Board. We consider that shareholders should have the right to convene special meetings and we consider the thresholds recommended as acceptable.

CINEWORLD GROUP PLC AGM - 16-05-2018

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

The proposed policy changes are not considered appropriate as they will either directly increase the total compensation of executive directors or increase their total potential remuneration. There remain important concerns about the overall remuneration structure. The maximum potential opportunity under all incentive schemes is considered excessive at 350% of salary. For the Annual bonus, any reward earned above 100% of salary deferred into shares for a period of two years, whilst the introduction of a deferral period is welcomed, best practice would require at least 50% of the entire bonus to be deferred. The LTIP is measured over a three year period, which is not considered sufficiently long term. Moreover, there is no additional post vesting holding period attached. Also, the LTIP is measured using only one performance condition, which is not appropriate. Best practice would require multiple performance criteria including the use of non-financial measure(s) that operate in an interdependent manner. In relation to the contract element of the policy, upside discretions can be used to waive performance conditions in the event of a takeover. Furthermore, the Committee are able to use their discretion when determining the status of a departing director and can therefore award "good leaver" status in circumstances they decide it to be appropriate. Also, the recruitment policy allows for the Committee to offer notice periods of longer than 12 months to new directors which is inappropriate.

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to undertake necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes; which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently; shareholders of 10% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold; particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Finally, the Board argues that its active engagement with shareholders and strong corporate governance practices make the proposal unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis it is advised to oppose.

4. *Shareholder Resolution: Assess Environmental Impact of Non-Recyclable Packaging

Proposed by: As You Sow Foundation.

The Proponents request for the Board to issue a report at reasonable cost, omitting confidential information, assessing the environmental impacts of continuing to use non-recyclable brand packaging.

Supporting Argument: Mondelez International's environmental policy states the company "is committed to reducing the environmental impact of our activities, preventing pollution and promoting the sustainability of the natural resources upon which we depend. . ." yet a significant amount of brand product packaging is not recyclable and new studies suggest plastic packaging that reaches the ocean is toxic to marine animals and potentially to humans. Making all packaging recyclable, if possible, is the first step to reduce the threat posed to marine animals and humans. Companies who aspire to corporate sustainability yet use these risky materials must explain why they market non-recyclable instead of recyclable packaging. Companies must also work with recyclers and municipalities to assure that recyclable packaging actually gets collected and recycled.

Opposing Argument: The Board states that it has already set ambitious goals on sustainability for the organization, and clearly outlined the targets and focus areas for Mondelez International, including a packaging elimination goal found on the Company's website. In addition, the Company argues that packaging is a small portion of its corporate environmental impact and the Company has a history of success in packaging elimination as from 2013 to 2016, it eliminated 46,300 tonnes of packaging from its supply chain, with a goal to eliminate 65,000 tones by 2020. Finally, the Company states it strives to eliminate packaging material by optimisation, while still ensuring food safety and preventing food waste.

PIRC Analysis: The Company has shown evidence of reducing and trying to improve its use of (non-recyclable) packaging. It is considered that directors of a company should evaluate the impact of environmental concerns on the company's long-term financial position and reputation. The same proposal from last year received a 30.51% vote in favour. Support is recommended.

5. *Shareholder Resolution: Prepare a Report Regarding the Impact of Plant Closures

Proposed by: AFL-CIO Reserve Fund.

The proponent request that the Board of Directors create a committee, with members drawn from representatives of the employee work force and the management of Mondelez, to prepare a report regarding the impact on communities from the closure of Mondelez manufacturing facilities and alternatives that can be developed to help mitigate the impact of such closures in the future. The report shall be prepared at reasonable cost and omit proprietary information, and shall be made available on the Mondelez website no later than the 2018 annual meeting of shareholders.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the board should create a committee that is able to properly assess the impact of the plant closures on the communities in which the plants were located. Over the past two decades Mondelez has closed a significant number of plants across the United States and Canada. Employees who have lost their jobs as a result of these plant closures had often been employees with Mondelz for decades. Many of them were not able to gain comparable employment and were forced to take low wage jobs, retire early, or move to another town or city in the hope of better opportunities. The proponent argues that establishing the proposed committee will be a first step toward understanding the impact of future plant closings, and the consideration of alternatives measures that can be developed to help mitigate the impact of such plant closures in the future.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Board does not believe that forming an employee-management committee to produce a report to the Board on plant closures as requested by the proponents would enhance our decision-making process or facilitate progress toward our goals. When the board makes the decision they carefully consider a variety of factors – including the impact the decision might have on our employees, our communities and other stakeholders. The company currently provides termination pay, outplacement assistance, retraining and continuation of various benefits.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent's request is considered overly prescriptive as it means the formation of a new standing committee. An oppose vote is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: The Nathan Cummings Foundation.

The Proponent requests that the Company provide a report; updated semiannually; disclosing the Company's: i.) policies and procedures for making; with corporate funds or assets; contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office; or influence the general public; or any segment thereof; with respect to an election or referendum; and monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the above manner.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that relying on publicly available data does not provide a complete picture of the Company's political spending and payments to trade associations used for political activities are undisclosed and in some cases; even management does not know how trade associations use a company's money for political purposes. Public records show that, since the 2010 election cycle, the Company has contributed at least 2,046,254 USD to state or local candidates and their campaigns. Also; the Proponent argues that adoption of the proposal would bring the Company in line with a growing number of leading corporations; Apache Corp. and Anadarko Petroleum Corp., which present this information on their websites.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's senior management held extensive discussions with the Proponent to attempt to address the proposal after it was presented at the Company's 2017 annual meeting, where it failed to receive a majority vote. The Board argues that the Company voluntarily added a number of disclosures to its website in order to provide additional substantive details regarding the Company's approach to political related spending in a good faith effort to address the issues raised by the Proponent.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations could be improved. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Preparation of a Report Regarding Methane Emissions

Proposed by: Unitarian Universalist Association

The Proponent requests for the board of directors to issue a report (by September 2018, at reasonable cost, omitting proprietary information) that reviews the Company's policies, actions and plans related to methane emissions management, including efforts to: measure, monitor, mitigate, disclose, utilize leak detection and repair (LDAR) technologies (including frequency, scope, and methodology).

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Methane gas emissions is a significant contributor to climate change. The oil and gas sector in the U.S. is the largest industrial source of methane emissions, contributing to 31% of U.S. methane emissions. Methane is a climate pollutant 84 times more powerful than carbon dioxide over a 20 year period and is responsible for one quarter of today's global warming. The potency of methane can undermine the positive environmental profile of natural gas and therefore harm its ability to play a positive role. This can have negative long-term implications for demand, particularly when considering the growing competition from renewable energy. The proponent believes that a strong program of measurement, mitigation, target-setting, and disclosure supports continued market share and bolsters shareholder value.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose the resolution and argues the Company proactively discloses information regarding methane emissions from the Company's operations. The report discloses policies and procedures designed to mitigate potential releases field measured volumes of emissions. In addition, the board believes using additional, unnecessary equipment to attempt measurement of such small volumes that Range already manages would be uneconomic and impracticable. The Board argues the proposal will do nothing to advance the Company's continuous improvement efforts in this area or the reporting of such efforts and the effects to stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the Company; but also as a means of ensuring that the management and board of a company gives due consideration to these issues. The Proponent has raised valid arguments against Range's management of this issue; and therefore the production of this report is in the best interest of shareholders. However, the timescale appears onerous (less than five months). An abstain vote is recommended.

0.20. Approve Remuneration Policy of Vice-CEOs

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy of the Vice-CEOs with a binding vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. Although the Company has disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component (performance shares awarded free of charge), the vesting period is not considered to be sufficiently long-term, and there are concerns regarding whether the two factors work interdependently; in addition, it would have been preferred that at least one criterion, or set of criteria, would be linked more effectively with non-financial performance. Lastly, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

JUPITER FUND MANAGEMENT PLC AGM - 16-05-2018

3. Approve Remuneration Policy

For the most part, the proposed changes to the policy are welcome. For example, the introduction of a two year post-vesting holding period on LTIP rewards. As is the introduction of a policy which sees 50% of the total annual bonus deferred into shares over three years and half of the remaining 50% subject to a six month holding period. The increase in the shareholding requirement for the CEO to 300% of salary is also welcomed. However, there remain some important concerns. Although the introduction of a cap on the maximum opportunity of variable remuneration is in line with best practice, the combined cap for both the annual bonus and LTIP is considered highly excessive at 800% of base salary. It is noted that the 5 year average for total remuneration of the highest paid director is £2,606,600, whilst the maximum opportunity under the new policy is £3,400,000. Therefore, there are concerns that the new policy has increased the potential overall quantum of directors remuneration packages. Furthermore, the change in policy has removed non-financial parameters to assess Executives' long-term performance which is considered contrary to best practice as such factors allow the remuneration policy to focus on the operational performance of the business as a whole and the individual roles of each of the senior executives in achieving that performance. Financial parameters are generally beyond an individual director's control. It is noted that business performance underpin operates on the LTIP which ensures that overall business success is relative to the awards made. Also, the performance metrics for both variable incentive schemes are not operating interdependently, such that vesting under the incentive plan is only possible where all threshold targets are met. With regards to the contracts, on termination, upside discretion may be used to waive performance conditions for a 'Good Leaver' status. Moreover, there is no mitigation statement in reference to cessation of employment.

The maximum opportunity under the plan is 375% of salary for the CEO, 50% of the award is based on EPS Growth, which must achieve at least 20% growth over the performance period, and 50% is based on Jupiter's investment outperformance relative to a peer group. Awards will be subject to an additional two-year post-vesting holding period, unless the Committee determines otherwise. #### 4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board undertake the necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. This proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. This included 67%-support at both Allstate and Sprint. Increasing the rights of shareholders through written consent is all the more important since the company's stock fell from 175 USD to 100 USD in one year.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that stockholder meetings provide stockholders with important protections and advantages that are lost with the written consent process. The Board believes that a special meeting is a more appropriate method than action by written consent for stockholders to take action between regular annual meetings; as a special meeting ensures that all stockholders receive notice; adequate time to review proposals and a forum for expressing their views. By contrast; stockholder action by written consent may not result in all stockholders receiving notice of a proposed action and does not permit a variety of views on a proposal to be exchanged. Action by written consent can also create confusion and disruption; as stockholder groups may solicit multiple written consents simultaneously; some of which may be duplicative or contradictory. The Board believes that matters of sufficient importance to warrant action between annual stockholder meetings should not be decided without notification to all stockholders and an opportunity for all stockholders to be heard and to vote at a meeting.

ARCONIC INC. AGM - 16-05-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Kenneth Steiner

Filing Shareholders ask the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the Bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting. This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that a shareholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Arconic shareholders do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under Delaware law. The Proponent adds that if shareholders had a more complete right to call a special meeting, as called for in this proposal, shareholders would have a greater ability to engage the Board and management to improve the qualifications of directors and make sure that the Board of Directors is continually refreshed with diverse new talent in order to maintain director independence-since a special meeting can be called in regard to the election of directors. Long-tenure can impair the independence of directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that a 25% ownership threshold for the right to call special meetings, as provided in the Company's current Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws, is consistent with market practice and strikes an appropriate balance between enhancing shareholder rights and protecting against the risk that shareholders with small minority ownership interests, including shareholders with special interests, could call special meetings that potentially cause disruption and substantial costs to be incurred by the vast majority of shareholders. Arconic's current 25% threshold is equal to or lower than the comparable threshold adopted by approximately 67% of corporations in the S&P 500 Index that permit shareholders to call a special meeting.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus and the LTIP are disclosed. Face values of all outstanding share awards are disclosed. The increase in CEO salary is not in line with the rest of the Company.

Balance: The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable at 51:1. The CEO salary is considered to be in the upper quartile of PIRC's comparator group. The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are not in line with the changes in Company's TSR performance over the same period. The CEO's total variable pay for the year under review amounts to 320% of salary (Annual bonus: 184% : LTIP: 136%), which is excessive.

The Board is proposing that shareholders approves the extension of the amendment and restatement of the Wyndham Worldwide Corporation 2006 Equity and Incentive Plan. The plan currently expires on 30 March 2019 and the Board is seeking to extend the plans term until March 2028. It is considered that, as performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that awards under the Plan will not necessarily be subject to sufficiently robust performance targets (if any). As a result, shareholders cannot assess whether the Plan will operate to align participants' incentives with shareholders' interests. In addition, maximum award limits are considered excessive. Accordingly, shareholders are recommend to oppose the resolution.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Political Contributions

Proposed by: Not disclosed

The Proponent asks for the preparation of a report, updated semi-annually, that discloses the Company's 1) policies and procedures for making contributions to (or to oppose) political campaigns or to influence the public with respect to an election, and 2) specific monetary and non-monetary contributions as described above, including the amounts paid and recipients. The Proponent asks that the report be presented to the Board and posted on the Company's website within six months of the Annual Meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that transparency and accountability on political activities is in the best interests of shareholders. The Proponent states the Supreme Court has recognized the importance of political spending disclosure for shareholders. The Proponent points to public information about the Company's expenditures on political activities, but states that disclosure overall is uneven and that the Company ranked in the third tier of a public index on corporate political accountability and disclosure.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board states that in some cases, it is appropriate and in the Company's best interests to participate political processes. The Board highlights its political contribution policy, which is available online and provides a framework for internal oversight of political activity. The Board also states that existing regulatory and public disclosure requirements regarding political contributions provide the necessary amount of transparency. The Board states that Federal Law prohibits the Company from contributing to candidates for federal office, national party committees, federal accounts of state parties and most types of political action committees (PACs). Finally, the Board states that the requested disclosure could reveal the Company's long-term priorities to competitors, which could potentially harm the Company's interests.

Conclusion: Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is in the best interests of shareholders. The Board has not demonstrated that the existing disclosure adequately addresses the Proponent's concerns. Therefore, a vote for the resolution is recommended.

EDWARDS LIFESCIENCES CORPORATION AGM - 17-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that the proposal would allow critical actions to be approved without notice to other stockholders and without an opportunity for discussion at a stockholder meeting. This proposal, if adopted, could disenfranchise stockholders and may deprive them of these rights, while enabling other short-term or special interest investors with no fiduciary duties to stockholders to approve proposals that are not in the best interest of all stockholders. Because of these deficiencies, the Board believes that the written consent process is not appropriate for a widely held public company.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis it is advised to oppose.

In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. HOST HOTELS & RESORTS INC. AGM - 17-05-2018*3. *Shareholder Resolution: Report on Sustainability

Proposed by: UNITE HERE

The Proponent asks for the Board to issue an annual sustainability report with due diligence about operations at Host's properties, including the impact on investors of hotel operators' environmental, human rights, and labor practices. The reports should be prepared at reasonable cost, omitting proprietary information, and the first report should be available to shareholders in advance of the 2019 annual meeting. The proponent recommend the board of directors to ask its hotel operators to use the Global Reporting Initiative's (GRI) Sustainability Reporting Standards to prepare the report(s). The Standards cover environmental impacts, human rights, and labor practices, and provide a flexible reporting system that allows omission of content irrelevant to company operations."

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that managing ESG issues and reporting on such efforts make companies more responsive to the global business environment. The Proponent also argues that there is a link between sustainability management and value creation; and cites a study in support of this proposition. The Proponent also argues that investors are seeking disclosure of ESG issues. More than 1,700 institutional investors managing over 70 trillion USD have joined The Principles for Responsible Investment; and publicly commit to seek comprehensive corporate ESG disclosure and incorporate it into investment decisions. The Proponent argues that existing ESG reporting is not adequate.

Boards Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board believes that; the proposal would result in missallocation of resources as well as adding time consuming tasks to be dealt with by management; as oppose to focusing on the main strategic and operational duties. While it is opposed to this proposal; the Board wants to highlight to shareholders that the company is mindful of sustainability issues with respect to its operations. Over the last 10 year the company has worked with hotel managers to improve business operations and reduce the impact of properties on the environment, as evidenced by projects including renewable solar power installations, LED lighting, in-room energy management systems, water saving fixtures and core building infrastructure upgrades to heating and cooling. Currently on of the company's largest operators, Marriott International, publishes GRI-aligned indices and reports. The Board believes that having the Company prepare a full-scale GRI sustainability report that includes reporting from hotel operators would be largely duplicative of information already available through their websites and not further stockholder value.

PIRC Analysis: A vote for the resolution is recommended. The Board has not demonstrated; on balance; that the proposal is not in the best interests of shareholders. The concerns identified by the Proponent are not adequately addressed by the Board's response; which cites the production of the report as being a distraction for management. In particular; the Board has not shown that the broad range of ESG issues are covered in the existing disclosure; only quoting carbon neutrality. Shareholders are advised to vote in favour.

INTEL CORPORATION AGM - 17-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

Shareholders request that the Board undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent is a complimentary way to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. The Proponent states that taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that the Company's existing Bylaw provision that provides stockholders with the right to call special meetings offers a transparent and equitable mechanism for stockholders to raise matters for consideration by the Company; whereas this proposal's written consent right would enable a limited group of stockholders to act without the same required transparency to all stockholders. The Board argues that the written consent process; as set forth in this proposal; is less transparent and less democratic than holding a stockholders meeting; and thus deprives stockholders of a forum for discussion or opportunity to ask questions about proposed actions. The Board therefore recommends a vote against this proposal.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose. This proposal topic received a 42% in support at the 2016 annual meeting.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Myra K. Young

The proponent is requesting the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend our governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition, implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Chairman should be separate from the CEO; which will also in turn improve financial performance. Several Standard & Poors firms have followed suit with 53% of the S&P's 1,500 firms separating these two positions. The proponent believes that it is important to adopt a shareholder right to make our CEO more accountable to shareholders.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's shareholders are best served by its current leadership structure. In particular; the Board believes that combining the positions of Chairman and CEO most effectively utilizes the current CEO's extensive experience and knowledge regarding the Company. Also; the Board believes that combining the CEO and Chairman positions helps the Board respond quickly and effectively. The Board argues that its corporate governance practices and Board composition provide for strong independent leadership and effective independent oversight of the company.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. Support is therefore recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Stockholder NorthStar Asset Management, Inc.

The proponent is requesting that the Board of Directors report to shareholders (at reasonable expense, excluding confidential information) a cost-benefit analysis of the most recent election cycle's political and electioneering contributions by Intel and IPAC, examining the effectiveness, benefits, and risks to shareholder value associated with those contributions.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Intel should minimize risk to the firm's reputation regarding possible future missteps in corporate political contributions, including Intel PAC contributions. The New York Times reported that in 2014, anonymous donors to 501(c) nonprofits, businesses, unions and others amounted to 173 million USD. The Proponent appreciates Intel's efforts to strengthen internal oversight of political contributions, however analysis of 2015-2017 political contributions indicate misaligned contributions, including: 51 Members of Congress who have been identified as climate change deniers and 20 Members of Congress that voted against an amendment to the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as Intel already provides significant disclosure regarding its policies, processes, and oversight of political contributions in line with current best practices advocated by a number of leading organizations. In 2017, Intel was highlighted as one of the 'trendsetter companies' by CPA-Zicklin Index of Corporate Political Disclosure and Accountability. The board believes that there is sufficient disclosure as Intel publishes data on its direct and indirect political contributions on its web site and in its annual Corporate Responsibility Report.

PIRC Analysis: While there is always room for improvement in the Company's disclosure of political donations, the Company already provides a market best practice level of disclosure in comparison to the S&P500, and scored 94.3% in the CPA-Zicklin Index of Corporate Political Disclosure and Accountability. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests the Board take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. For instance, John Lord and Ronald Badie had a 13 years long-tenure. Long-tenure can impair the independence of a director no matter how well qualified.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also; the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

HASBRO INC. AGM - 17-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Clawback of Incentive Payments

Proposed by: Comerica Bank & Trust, National Association

Shareholders urge the Board of Directors' Compensation Committee to amend Hasbro's compensation clawback policy, as applied to senior executives, to add that the Committee will review and determine whether to seek recoupment of incentive compensation paid, granted or awarded to a senior executive if, in the Committee's judgment, certain conduct resulted in a violation of law or Hasbro policy and caused financial or reputational harm to Hasbro, and if a senior executive either engaged in the conduct or failed in his or her responsibility to manage or monitor conduct or risks, with Hasbro to disclose to shareholders the circumstances of any recoupment or decision not to pursue recoupment in these situations.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that compensation policies should promote sustainable value creation. Hasbro's current clawback policy allows recoupment of certain incentive pay from a corporate officer if financial results are required to be restated due to material noncompliance with any financial reporting requirement. In the Proponent's view, a recoupment policy that is limited to accounting and financial reporting noncompliance is too narrow. The Proponent views recoupment as an important remedy for other kinds of conduct that may not lead to a restatement, but may nonetheless harm Hasbro's reputation and prospects, as well as its shareholders. The Proponent also believes a clawback policy should apply without regard to "materiality," an element of the current policy. The reason for a stronger policy is illustrated by the political and reputational risks Hasbro is incurring from its association with what a USA Today investigation called "modern-day indentured serv[itude]" in the Los Angeles and Long Beach port trucking industry. The report documented how truck drivers, including those moving products destined for Hasbro stores, are pressured to violate hours of service standards, pay for their own insurance, repairs, and fuel, and to sign "lease-to-own" agreements that do not allow them to keep their trucks or recover their investments if they quit or are fired.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that Hasbro was not involved in the conduct alleged in the USA Today investigation, and suggesting that the Company was in any way involved is incorrect and unfairly harms its reputation. When consumers choose Hasbro products it's an act of trust that those products are manufactured and distributed safely, under fair labour conditions, and without ethical compromise. The Company combines industry best practices, strategic partnerships, and strict auditing standards to respect the safety, well-being, and dignity of workers in its supply chain, including workers of third parties with whom it does business. Furthermore, the Board argues that a clawback policy is different from other employment sanctions in that its purpose is to recoup compensation that has already been paid to an officer or employee in connection with their past service to the Company. Taking back compensation that has already been paid to someone is a draconian measure, but one the Company supports under the right circumstances. Further, under the clawback policy, if an officer or employee is found to have committed a willful, knowing or intentional violation of law or the Company's policies, or fraud, the Board can seek recovery of 100% of the incentive compensation earned by that person in the prior three years. The Board believe this approach is appropriate.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered appropriate to empower the Board to recoup awards under the conditions stated by the Proponent. It is noted that the proposal would supplement rather than replace existing clawback measures. The proposal will be an advance in corporate governance. On this basis support for the proposal is recommended.

The Board of Directors is seeking shareholders' approval to eliminate the supermajority voting requirement. If the proposed Amendment is adopted any matter voted on at any meeting of the stockholders would be decided by the majority in voting interest of the stockholders voting on such matter.

It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

THE HOME DEPOT INC AGM - 17-05-2018*5. Shareholder Resolution: Report and Report on Diversity Policies

Proposed by: The Congregation of Benedictine Sisters

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to prepare a diversity report, available to investors by September 2018, including the following: a chart identifying employees according to their gender and race in each of the nine major Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)-defined job categories for the last three years, listing numbers or percentages in each category; a summary description of any affirmative action policies and programs to improve performance, including job categories where women and minorities are underutilised; a description of policies/programs oriented toward increasing diversity in the workplace.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that companies with good EEO records have a competitive advantage in recruiting/retaining employees. The Proponent argues that allegations of discrimination in the workplace burden shareholders with costly litigation/fines which can damage a company's reputation and that the Company has paid out more than $100 million to settle discrimination lawsuits in the last 17 years. In 2015, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission reported racial minorities comprised 37.2 percent of the private industry workforce, but just 14.01 percent of executives and managers. Likewise, women represented 47.85 percent of the workforce, but just 29.73 percent of executives and managers. The Proponent agrees with a recommendation of the 1995 bipartisan Glass Ceiling Commission that "public disclosure of diversity data-specifically data on the most senior positions-is an effective incentive to develop and maintain innovative, effective programs to break the glass ceiling barriers.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that shareholders have rejected this proposal at thirteen previous annual meetings. The Board argues that one of the Company's core values is Respect for All People, and it strives to foster a culture that encourages, supports, leverages and values diversity and inclusion. Also, the Board argues that it has taken a number of steps to align the Company's diversity initiatives within its strategic framework, including the following: maintain a diversity microsite on the Company's careers website; partner with several diverse national organisations, to promote community involvement and both attract and retain diverse talent; internal communication strategy includes diversity and inclusion messaging focused on increasing cultural awareness and the importance of diversity and inclusion as core values.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered best practice to disclose diversity statistics and to describe how the Company ensures diversity throughout the workforce. At the 2016 AGM, 26.38% of shareholders supported the same proposal. The Company is committed to non-discrimination with its various measures and it is considered that an additional commitment to disclose the requested data would be in shareholder interests and would not be unduly onerous (especially since the Company is required to produce EEO records for the government). A vote for is recommended.

6. Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting. The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Shareowner input on the timing of shareowner meetings is especially important when events unfold quickly and issues may become moot by the next annual meeting. This is important because there could be 15 months or more between annual meetings. This proposal topic received 42% support at the 2016 annual meeting. This level of support could mean that more than 51% of Home Depot shareholders experienced in matters of corporate governance voted in favour of this proposals topic. A shareholder ability to call a special meeting would put shareholders in a better position to give input on improving the makeup of our board of directors after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently, shareholders of 25% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold, particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Current directors could be reassigned. Company performance and shareholder value can benefit from such improvements.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

7. Clawback of Incentive Payments

Proposed by: The International Brotherhood of Teamsters General Fund

Shareholders of The Home Depot, Inc. urge the Board of Directors' Leadership Development and Compensation Committee to amend Home Depot's compensation clawback policy, as applied to senior executives, to add that the Committee will review and determine whether to seek recoupment of incentive compensation paid, granted or awarded to a senior executive if, in the Committee's judgment, certain conduct resulted in a violation of law or Home Depot policy and caused financial or reputational harm to Home Depot, and if a senior executive either engaged in the conduct or failed in his or her responsibility to manage or monitor conduct or risks, with Home Depot to disclose to shareholders the circumstances of any recoupment or decision not to pursue recoupment in those situations.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that it agrees with former GE general counsel Ben Heineman Jr. that recoupment policies are "a powerful mechanism for holding senior leadership accountable to the fundamental mission of the corporation: proper risk taking balanced with proper risk management and the robust fusion of high performance with high integrity." (<http://blogs.law.harvard.edu/corpgov/2010/08/13/making-sense-out-of-clawbacks/>). Home Depot's current clawback policy allows, among other things, a recoupment of certain incentive pay from a corporate officer if such compensation was based on financial results or operating metrics that were satisfied as a result of such officer's knowing or intentional fraudulent or illegal conduct. This recoupment policy is too limited in its assessment of executive conduct and the implications for long-term shareholder value.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it currently has in place a compensation clawback policy, as well as other features in its compensation programmes, that the Board and LDC Committee believe are appropriate and effective and that align the interests of senior executives and shareholders. The Company's existing clawback policy covers knowing or intentional misconduct by executive officers. The proposal, however, would permit the Board to recover compensation from any executive deemed to have "failed in his or her responsibility to manage or monitor conduct and risks." This undefined, subjective standard includes conduct involving no violation of law or Company policy and does not take into account any degree of personal culpability.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered appropriate to empower the Board to recoup awards under the conditions stated by the Proponent. It is noted that the proposal would supplement rather than replace existing clawback measures. The proposal will be an advance in corporate governance. On this basis support for the proposal is recommended.

Shareholder approval is sought for a waiver of the obligation that could arise on Resolution 20 (together the Concert Party) to make a general offer for the entire issued share capital of the Company under Rule 9 of the Takeover Code as a result of purchases by the Company of Ordinary Shares pursuant to the Authority to make market purchases. If the Company were to repurchase from persons other than the concert party all the ordinary shares for which it is seeking authority, their interest would increase from 30.69% to 34.09% of the issued share capital. In no circumstances will the Company make market purchases of Ordinary Shares which would result in the percentage of voting rights in which the Concert Party is interested increase to more than 50 per cent. Also, the Independent Directors have agreed that, over the three year period beginning on the date of the AGM, they will not use the Buyback Authority and future buyback authorities in that three year period if the exercise of those future buyback authorities would have the effect of increasing Sir Peter Wood's shareholding in the Company beyond 35 per cent. ### 3. Approve Remuneration Policy

This is the first policy put forward for shareholder approval since the Company's IPO in October 2017 and Admission to trading on the London Stock Exchange. Overall disclosure is adequate, although Company does not disclose the length of the notice period from its part. There is no overall maximum set for benefits, however the Company limits prerequisite allowances to €28k per year, and car allowances to €17k per year. The setting of such limits is welcomed. With regard to the annual bonus, the first 100% of salary bonus will be paid fully in cash, with any element payable above 100% of salary deferred into ordinary shares of the Company for two years. This is not considered adequate, as it is recommended that at least half of the annual bonus is deferred into shares. The Company uses multiple performance conditions which, contrary to best practice, do not operate interdependently. At three years the LTIP is not considered to be sufficiently long-term. However, a two year post-vesting holding period applies, which is welcomed. The Company uses two performance conditions, though they are both financial based. It is recommended that at least one non-financial KPI is used, and that performance conditions operate interdependently. The policy permits the payment of dividend equivalents on awards, which is not in line with best practice. Malus and clawback provisions apply for both the annual bonus and LTIP. The combined maximum opportunity under all incentive awards is excessive at 600% of salary, or 750% of salary in exceptional circumstances. The shareholding requirements for Executives, 300% of salary to be built over five years, are considered adequate. In relation to contracts, termination payments can exceed one year, as the CEO can receive termination payments for up to 18 months. Although it is the intention of the Committee to pro-rate LTIP and annual bonus awards for time in the case of a good leaver, the Committee can exercise upside discretion and dis-apply time pro-rating, which is inappropriate. With regard to recruitment, the Committee can raise the maximum opportunity of the LTIP to 450% of salary, which is contrary to best practice.

KANSAS CITY SOUTHERN AGM - 17-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. James McRitchie and Ms. Myra K. Young

The Proponent requests request that our board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. This is important because there could be 15-months between annual meetings. The company requires 25% of shareholders to aggregate their shares to call a special meeting. This is much higher than the 10% of shareholders permitted by other companies. This proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. This included 67%-support at both Allstate and Sprint.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that stockholder action by written consent is not necessary in light of stockholders' existing ability to call a special meeting. The Board believes that a special meeting is a more appropriate method than action by written consent for stockholders to take action between regular annual meetings; as a special meeting ensures that all stockholders receive notice; adequate time to review proposals and a forum for expressing their views. By contrast; stockholder action by written consent may not result in all stockholders receiving notice of a proposed action and does not permit a variety of views on a proposal to be exchanged. Action by written consent can also create confusion and disruption; as stockholder groups may solicit multiple written consents simultaneously; some of which may be duplicative or contradictory. The Board believes that matters of sufficient importance to warrant action between annual stockholder meetings should not be decided without notification to all stockholders and an opportunity for all stockholders to be heard and to vote at a meeting.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result; up to 49% of the Company's shareholders could be prevented from voting; or even receiving accurate and complete information; on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; the there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

ALLIANT ENERGY CORPORATION AGM - 17-05-2018*4. *Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Office of the Comptroller of the City of New York.

The Proponent requests that the Company prepare and periodically update a report, to be presented to the pertinent board of directors committee and posted on the Company's website, which discloses monetary and non-monetary expenditures that Alliant makes on political activities, including: expenditures that Alliant cannot deduct as an "ordinary and necessary" business expense under section 162(e) of the Internal Revenue Code (the "Code") because they are incurred in connection with (a) influencing legislation; (b) participating or intervening in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office; and (c) attempting to influence the general public, or segments thereof, with respect to elections, legislative matters, or referenda; contributions to, or expenditures in support of or opposition to political candidates, political parties, and political committees; dues, contributions or other payments made to tax-exempt "social welfare" organisations and "political committees" operating under sections 501(c)(4) and 527 of the Code, respectively, and to tax-exempt entities that write model legislation and operate under section 501(c)(3) of the Code; and the portion of dues or other payments made to a tax-exempt entity such as a trade association that is used for an expenditure or contribution and that would not be deductible under section 162(c) of the Code if made directly by the Company.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that as long-term shareholders, it supports transparency and accountability in corporate spending on political activities. Disclosure is consistent with public policy and in the best interest of Alliant Energy and its shareholders. In its view, the absence of a system of transparency and accountability, company assets could be used for policy objectives that may be inimical to the long-term interests of, and may pose risks to, Alliant Energy and its shareholders. Alliant Energy currently lags numerous utility companies that publicly disclose political spending, including AES Corporation, AGL Resources, American Electric Power, Consolidated Edison, Dominion Resources, Edison International, Entergy, Exelon, and PPL Corporation.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Board believes the Company already addresses some of the items requested in the resolution, and greater disclosure would not be in the best interest of shareholder, since it could have a negative consequence for the Company. As a company that operates in a heavily regulated industry, the Board believes it has a responsibility to shareowners to be engaged and to participate in the political process with respect to issues that affect the Company or are significant to the business. The Company states that the Nominating and Governance Committee oversees the Company's political engagement activities under the Company's political engagement guidelines. Annually, management must provide a report to the Nominating and Governance Committee on the use of all corporate funds in political and social activities. The guidelines include links to publicly available campaign finance disclosure reports and are available on the Company's website. Further, the Board is concerned that by providing disclosure of contributions to certain social or political organisations may cause other such organisation with similar or opposing views to solicit contributions from the Company, resulting in a competitive environment that continues to escalate and become a distraction the business.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations could be improved. Political donations can arouse controversy and it is important that companies protect their reputation by open reporting. It is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be transparent about political donations and so avoid any potential conflict of interest, (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend the governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that an independent chairman could play a key role in strengthening the Board of Directors after the 2018 annual meeting. The Proponent claims that the current Chairman, Christopher Sinclair, lacks an important attribute and has served a tenure (21 years) which can impair the independence of a director. In addition, the Lead Director, Michael Dolan, has also served a long tenure. Both have received 18 times as many negative votes as the CEO. An independent chairman could focus on reassigning some of the directors.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the current structure offers flexibility in Board leadership structure and is more suitable for the Company than a rigid and prescriptive approach. The Board also believes that the Company's strong corporate governance practices provide effective, independent Board oversight.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. Combination of the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance; effective debate; and board appraisal. It is noted; moreover; that the Lead Director is not considered to be independent owing to length of tenure and there are insufficient independent directors on the Board. There are also concerns as a majority of the directors received a significant amount of votes against their election at the 2017 AGM. Support is therefore recommended.

Overall disclosure is acceptable. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. Total variable pay for the year under review was acceptable at 161% of salary for the CEO. However, the change in the CEO's salary is not in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary rose by 3%, while the average employee salary did not rise. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 36:1.

4A. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Daughters of Charity, Inc. and Sisters of the Order of St. Dominic of Grand Rapids

The Proponents request that the Company prepare a report; updated annually; disclosing: i.) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying; both direct and indirect; and grassroots lobbying communications; ii.) payments by the Company used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications; in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; iii.) The company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation. iv.) Description of the decision-making process and oversight by management and the Board for making payments described in section ii

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Company reports spending USD 33,252,662 million from 2010-2018 on state lobbying; yet provides no information by state. Also; the Proponents argue that the Company discloses its trade association dues and amounts of its dues used for lobbying on its website; but this fails to capture all payments. This proposal was presented to shareholders at the 2017, 2016, 2015, 2014 and 2012 annual shareholder meetings. At those meetings 73.52%, 74.53%, 70.99%, 72.84% and 89.98% of the votes cast at the respective meetings were voted against the proposal, reflecting shareholders' agreement that the current disclosure practices meet or exceed their expectations.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company publishes annually its Political Contributions and Related Activity Report and complies fully with all state and federal laws concerning the disclosure of its political and lobbying activity. The Board argues that the Company was ranked in the first tier of the 2017 Center for Political Accountability CPA-Zicklin Index for Corporate Political Accountability and Disclosure ahead of many of its managed healthcare competitors. Also, the Board believes that the information currently available to shareholders is easily accessible and understandable and; coupled with the oversight of the Company's political activities by the Board, is in the best interest of the Company.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

4B. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The Proponent believes that an improved shareholder ability to call a special meeting would put shareholders in a better position to ask for a better assignment of director, as five directors have a 14 to 23 years long-tenure.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also, the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

E.17. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

The 2018 Plan would constitute approval of up to an additional 24,600,000 shares of Common Stock, par value 0.01 USD per share. The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. #### 3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total remuneration table are disclosed as is the performance criteria and specific targets attached to PSP awards. However, certain targets relating the the annual bonus are deemed to be commercially sensitive and are therefore not disclosed. Also, it is noted that figures under the cash in lieu of pension are in fact in respect of housing, utilities and transport. These benefits should be classified under the taxable benefits.

Balance: The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is not considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over the last five years is not aligned to the change in TSR over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has been approximately 0.91% whereas, on average, TSR has decreased by 13.36%. Furthermore, the CEO's salary is in the upper quintile of a comparator group which raises concerns over excessiveness. Also, the ratio of CEO pay compared to the average employee has been estimated and found to be unacceptable at 25:1. However, the total realised variable pay for the year under review is not considered excessive at 120.83% of salary.

THE WESTERN UNION COMPANY AGM - 18-05-2018

5. Stockholder Proposal Regarding Political Contributions Disclosure

Proposed by: The New York State Common Retirement Fund.

Proponent requests that the Board provide a report, updated semi-annually, disclosing the Company's: 1) policies and procedures for making, with corporate funds or assets, contributions and expenditures (direct or indirect) to – (a) participate or intervene in any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for public office, or (b) influence the general public, or any segment thereof, with respect to an election or referendum; 2) monetary and non-monetary contributions and expenditures (direct and indirect) used in the manner described in section (1) above.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: As long-term shareholders of the Company, the Proponent supports transparency and accountability in corporate spending on political activities. These include any activities considered intervention in any political campaign under the Internal Revenue Code, such as, direct and indirect contributions to political candidates, parties, or organisations; independent expenditures, or electioneering communications on behalf of federal, state or local candidates. Relying on publicly available data does not provide a complete picture of the Company's political spending. For example, the Company's payments to trade associations used for political activities are undisclosed and unknown. In some cases, even management does not know how trade associations use their Company's money politically. The proposal asks the Company to disclose all of its political spending, including payments to trade associations and other tax exempt organizations used for political purposes. Last year, 41.5% of voting shareholders supported this resolution.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board of Directors does not believe that the reporting of the Company's political contributions is an appropriate use of its resources and recommends that shareholders should vote against this proposal. The Board argues that, the Company's political contributions are not financially material to the Company. In 2017, 2016, and 2015, these contributions totaled approximately $2,500, $2,500, and $10,000, respectively. In 2017, the Company's total expenses relating to political contributions were de minimis when compared to the Company's total operating costs of approximately $5.1 billion. Finally, the Company complies with all public disclosure laws at the federal, state and local levels.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent is seeking additional disclosure, which is considered acceptable. Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is in the best interests of shareholders. The Board has not demonstrated that the existing disclosure adequately addresses the Proponent's concerns. Therefore, a vote for the resolution is recommended.

PADDY POWER BETFAIR PLC AGM - 18-05-2018

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of each director's cash remuneration and pension contribution are disclosed as are the Performance conditions and targets for the LTIP and Annual bonus. Also, dividend accrual is separately categorised which is welcome. However, there are concern that the Company has not disclosed what constitutes a "good leaver" which is inappropriate particularly due to the departure of CEO Breon Corcoran.

Balance: The CEO's salary is considered in the median of a peer comparator group. Also, the balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over the last five years is aligned to the change in TSR over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has decreased by 9.87% whereas, on average, TSR has increased by 17.36%. However, Total realised awards made under incentive schemes during the year under review are considered excessive at 332% (Annual Bonus:108.2% and LTIP: 223.87%). Furthermore, The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and found to be inappropriate at 39:1.

Loss of office payments made to Breon Corcoran are not considered appropriate. Breon Corcoran will be paid his salary, benefits and cash in lieu of pension for the period from 8 January to 10 August 2018, on a monthly basis. No payment in lieu of notice will be paid after he ceases employment with the Group. Breon Corcoran will receive an annual bonus of 108% of salary in relation to 2017, based on performance against the relevant targets for 2017 but will not receive a bonus for 2018. One-third of this annual bonus will be deferred as shares. All of these conditions, under "good leaver" status, are considered acceptable. However, there are concerns as to whether Breon Corcoran qualifies as a such. The Company discloses a table detailing the treatment of awards in specific circumstances, however, the usefulness of this table is very limited considering that the committee hold absolute discretion over loss of office payments. It does not appear that Breon Corcoran stepping down was by mutual consent rather Mr Corcoran deciding to leave of his own accord. It therefore seems inappropriate that the remuneration committee is allowing awards made under the DSIP and LTIP to become exercisable, particularly considering the effect the announcement of Breon Corcoran's departure had on the share price of the Company which decreased by as much as 8 percent as a result. Such practice is not considered appropriate or in shareholders' interests, a key purpose of long-term incentive pay is to deter executives from leaving and to rewarded continued loyalty and contribution to long-term performance.

The recruitment awards made to Peter Jackson are also considered inappropriate. Mr Jackson was granted a restricted share award in the Company's shares equivalent to 100% of his salary as to replace an award he forfeited upon leaving his previous role. This grant was not subject to any performance conditions.

OMNICOM GROUP INC AGM - 22-05-2018*4. *Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Shareowners ask the Board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the Bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting (or the closest percentage to 10% according to state law). This proposal does not impact the Board's current power to call a special meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. This proposal topic won more than 70%-support at Edwards Lifesciences and SunEdison in 2013. Omnicom shareholders currently do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under New York law. A shareholder ability to call a special meeting would put shareholders in a better position to ask for improvement in our board of directors after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes in affording shareholders other opportunities to engage with management and the Board, both in and outside of the annual meeting process. The Board adds that a 25% ownership threshold provides a procedural safeguard against abuse, corporate waste or disruption associated with a lower threshold. For Omnicom, a 25% threshold strikes the appropriate balance between ensuring that shareholders have the ability to call a special meeting to act on extraordinary and urgent matters, while at the same time protecting against a misuse of this right by a small number of shareholders whose interests may not be aligned with the majority of shareholders. The current threshold also prevents the unnecessary waste of corporate resources, as convening a special meeting imposes significant administrative and operational costs.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders; which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

19. Shareholder Resolution: Publish targets that are aligned with the goal of the Paris Climate Agreement

Proposed by: Follow this. The Proponent requests Shell to set and publish targets that are aligned with the goal of the Paris Climate Agreement to limit global warming to well-below 2C. These targets should cover the greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions of Shell's operations and the use of its energy products, they need to include long-term (2050) and intermediate objectives, to be quantitative and to be reviewed regularly. The Proponents request that the Company base these targets on tangible metrics such as GHG intensity metrics (GHG emissions per unit of energy produced) or to use other metrics that the company finds suitable to align its targets with a well-below 2c pathway.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent states it supports Shell to take leadership by being one of the first majors to commit to the Paris Climate Agreement by setting clear targets. These inspirational targets will stimulate imagination beyond oil and gas, lend credence to investments in the exploration of new business models, increase brand value, justify extending the licence to operate, and signal a sense of urgency. The Proponent argues that institutional investors need transparency about long term targets in order to mitigate climate-related risk to comply with their fiduciary duty. Shell setting a clear target regarding its role in energy transition will provide this transparency and reduce the risk of stranded assets. The Proponent further discloses how this year's resolution differs from last year's (see 'supporting information' below). These changes were made in order to overcome the Company's objections and after input from institutional investors.

Board's Opposing Argument: Shell recommends that shareholders oppose and states that they already have an approach that is wider-ranging and more progressive than that proposed by Follow This. Shell states that it is an industry leader in this area as demonstrated through its support for the recommendations of the Task force on climate-related Financial disclosures, work with the task force to develop more specific guidance and best practices on related disclosures, inclusion of the Company's emissions management performance in the Executive Scorecard and recent announcements on net carbon footprints. The Company gives reasons for its recommended opposition as follows:

(i) The Company in November 2017 announced a net carbon ambition covering not just emissions from its own operations but also those produced by customers when using Shell's products. Under this ambition, the Company aims to cut the net carbon footprint of its energy products – expressed in grams of CO<sub>2</sub> per megajoule consumed by around half by 2050. As an interim step, by 2035, the aim is to reduce the net carbon footprint by around 20%. In addition, Shell has identified a suite of potential business activities to help meet it, such as growing the New energies business.

(ii) Shell is committed to transparency and is reporting based on TCFD recommendations in 2018. The Company will also report on its net carbon footprint annually, provide updates on the progress of developing the business activities to meet its ambition, and reassess its ambition every five years in alignment with the Paris Agreement Nationally Determined Contributions (NDC) process.

(iii) Shell's net carbon footprint ambition goes well beyond the scope 1, 2 and 3 emissions of energy products required in the proposal by Follow This. The Company's approach covers emissions directly from Shell operations, those caused by third parties who supply energy for production and customers' emissions from consumption of these products. It includes the extraction, transportation and processing of raw materials, transport of products, and customers' emissions through using products sold by Shell. Also included are emissions from elements of this life cycle not owned by Shell, such as oil and gas processed by Shell but not produced by Shell, or from oil products and electricity marketed by Shell that have not been processed or generated at a Shell facility.

(iv) Shell's net carbon footprint ambition gives the Company the flexibility to continue to thrive in whatever world society moves towards. The resolution could, if supported, tie the hands of existing and future Shell management to measures which could force the Company to move too quickly – or too slowly – through the energy transition which is not in the best interests of Shell or its shareholders and could put Shell on a potentially less competitive pathway.

PIRC Analysis: It is noted that the Proponents have made improvements to their proposal, over and beyond what was requested last year. It is also noted that there is flexibility for Shell regarding choice of metrics to base targets on and the timing. However, Shell's recent efforts regarding this issue are laudable, given the published November 2017 ambition. Shell would be the first major to publish such an ambition. That being said, Shell has not set itself a binding target. It is believed that a clear target will provide more assurance.

AMGEN INC. AGM - 22-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Integrating Risks Related to Drug Pricing into Senior Executive Compensation

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponents requests that the company urge the Compensation Committee to report annually to shareholders on the extent to which risks related to public concern over drug pricing strategies are integrated into Amgen's incentive compensation policies, plans and programs (together, arrangements) for senior executives. The report should include, but need not be limited to, discussion of whether incentive compensation arrangements reward, or not penalize, senior executives for adopting pricing strategies, or making and honoring commitments about pricing, that incorporate public concern regarding the level or rate of increase in prescription drug prices, and considering risks related to drug pricing when allocating capital.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that linking drug pricing to executive compensation could reduce risks related to drug pricing and contribute to long-term value creation. A recent report by Credit Suisse analyst identified Amgen as a company where net price increases accounted for at least 100% of net income growth in 2016. Public outrage over drug prices and their impact on patient access may force price rollbacks and harm corporate reputation. The proponent believes that excessive dependence on drug price increase is a risky strategy, especially when price hikes contribute to a large compensation payouts.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders to oppose and argues that it would be burdensome on the Company to generate a separate annual report that attempted to assess "the extent to which risks related to public concern over drug pricing strategies" are integrated into our compensation policies. The Board believes that there is already sufficient disclosure regarding the factors that are integrated into incentive compensation policies and the risks related to compensation. Within the 2017 Proxy Statement the recoupment provisions expressly allow the Compensation Committee to consider employee misconduct that caused serious financial or reputational damage to the Company. Also the annual report on Form 10-K explains that the Company's competitive position may be impacted by price and reimbursement, and identifies the risks that the Company could face as a result of intense public scrutiny of the price of drugs.

PIRC Analysis: The incorporation of a drug pricing into the Senior Executive Compensation is considered a market best practice, and is in the best interest of all shareholders given the current public focus over drug prices. However, the resolution is prescriptive, and would not allow the Board discretion in interpreting its scope and application. Shareholders are advised to abstain the proposal.

4. Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to undertake necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes; which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently, shareholders of 10% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold, particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result; up to 49% of the Company's shareholders could be prevented from voting; or even receiving accurate and complete information; on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy for the Vice Chairman and CEO. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. ## PG&E CORPORATION AGM - 22-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Cease Charitable Contributions

Proposed by: Thomas Strobhar.

The Proponent requests that the Board discontinue the charitable giving programme unless a majority of the Company's customers positively affirm it through a public vote.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that charitable contributions are made possible largely by the utility bills PG&E customers pay to keep their homes and businesses safe and comfortable. PG&E distributes over twenty million dollars a year to a long list of charities, most of which would not be recognisable to many of the Company's customers. In the past, the Company has given funds to LGBT groups to fund film festivals some might characterise as gay porn. PG&E have also contributed tens of thousands of dollars to the Center for American Progress. According to SourceWatch, the Center, "is a liberal think tank created and led by John Podesta, the head of Barack Obama's Presidential Transition Team and a former Chief of Staff for President Bill Clinton. Other controversial charities the Company might give to include Planned Parenthood, which does over 300,000 abortions a year, or the Human Rights Campaign, which often characterises people who oppose same-sex marriage as haters and bigots. This might include millions of the Company's customers.

Board's Opposing Argument: PG&E Corporation's charitable giving program supports PG&E's overall vision and values by making contributions and taking actions that address the needs of the communities served by PG&E Corporation and the Utility, building community and civic partnerships, enhancing employee engagement, and furthering local involvement in the communities served by the Company. Furthermore, PG&E is proud of the breadth of its programme and the impact it has on communities. PG&E provides grants that support 501(c)(3) non-profit organisations, schools, and local governments across Northern and Central California every year. PG&E's charitable giving programmes specifically focus on the following four areas that are key to vigorous community health: education and workplace development, economic and community vitality, the environment, and emergency preparedness. In 2016, PG&E provided more than 1,600 grants totalling $28 million in these areas, with a special focus on supporting underserved communities. Suspending the charitable giving program, even temporarily, would deprive PG&E and its shareholders of the many benefits provided by this program, could cause PG&E to violate any promises and signed contractual obligations to make future contributions, and would suspend needed support to the communities that PG&E serves. Further, giving customers approval rights over PG&E Corporation's charitable giving programme is not consistent with how the charitable giving programme is funded. Shareholder dollars are used to fund the charitable giving programme; the rates paid by customers cannot be used for charitable giving.

PIRC Analysis: The resolution is deemed to be too prescriptive and instead of focusing on investigating the possible implications of charitable donations to the overall profitability of the Company, and the cost implication to customers, focuses on Mr. Strobhar's moral views of the organisations that PG&E may donate money to. It is considered that companies should have a sense of responsibility towards the communities in which its customers and employees operate. Many institutional investors now favour companies with good CSR principles. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose the proposal.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5. Shareholder Resolution: Proxy Access

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Stockholders ask the Board of Directors to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions and any associated documents, to include the following changes for the purpose of decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for three years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group and to increase the possible number of proxy access director candidates: (i) No limitation shall be placed on the number of stockholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under the Company's proxy access provisions; (ii) the number of shareholder-nominated candidates eligible to appear in proxy materials will be 25% of Directors (rounded down) but not less than two.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the current 3% criteria for a continuous three years at most companies according to the Council of Institutional Investors. This proposal addresses the contradiction that the Company now has with proxy access for only the largest shareholders who are probably the least likely shareholders to use it. The Proponent adds that Proxy access needs to be enhanced because the PG&E Board seems to lack leadership in catastrophic risk management. California fire officials and utility regulators are still investigating the cause of the Northern California wildfires in October 2017. These fires killed more than 40 people. Several lawsuits were promptly filed against PG&E in connection with the October fires.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board advises shareholders to vote against this proposal, as PG&E Corporation's current proxy access bylaw provisions strike an appropriate balance between the benefits and risks of proxy access, and are consistent with current proxy access market standards. The proposal seeks the adoption of provisions that would unnecessarily disrupt that balance and are inconsistent with current market practice. Further, given the composition of PG&E Corporation's shareholder base, the proposed changes would not significantly increase the ability for shareholders to take advantage of proxy access, and therefore are unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: The move that would strengthen shareholder democracy is supported and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board. Furthermore, the requested threshold for holding requirement for nominators is considered sufficient. The nomination of new Board members would facilitate greater independence in the oversight of the Company. Support is therefore recommended.

BOVIS HOMES GROUP PLC AGM - 23-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable at 28:1. However, the changes in the CEO total pay under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Total variable pay for the year under review is acceptable at 182.2% of salary for the CEO. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary rose by 2.5% while the salaries of employees as a whole increased by 9.05%. The CEO's salary is in the lower quartile of the Company's comparator group. However, the recruitment award granted to the newly appointed CEO, GP Fitzgerald, raises some concerns. Such recruitment awards are considered inappropriate and appear to be a golden hello, rather than fulfilling the purpose of variable pay, which is to incentivise, reward and retain.

4. Advisory Vote on Executive Compensation

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The voting outcome for this resolution reflects the balance of opinion on the adequacy of disclosure, the balance of performance and reward and the terms of executive employment. Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 78.8, Abstain: 0.5, Oppose/Withhold: 20.6,

5a. Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: AFL-CIO Reserve Fund.

The Proponent requests that the Board prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; payments by CenturyLink used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; CenturyLink's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation; and description of management's and the Board's decision making process and oversight for making payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that as a shareholder it encourages transparency and accountability in CenturyLink's use of corporate funds to influence legislation and regulation. Transparent reporting of all lobbying activity will reveal whether company assets are being used for objectives contrary to CenturyLink's long-term interests. CenturyLink spent over USD 20 million from 2010 - 2016 on federal lobbying. These figures do not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states where CenturyLink operates and disclosure requirements are uneven or absent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that its continued success and long-term profitability are substantially dependent upon the Company's ability to actively engage in political, legislative and regulatory processes to advocate in favour of laws and policies that are in the best interests of the company, shareholders and customers. Information regarding its participation in the political process is set forth in its semi-annual Political Contributions Report, which are available on the Company's website. In addition to furnishing its Semi-Annual Reports, the Company also files substantial amounts of information about its lobbying activity under federal, state and local laws. The Company's policies and procedures governing lobbying and political activities are subject to rigorous internal controls designed to ensure, among other things, that the Company's applicable disclosures are full and complete.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended.

THE TRAVELERS COMPANIES INC. AGM - 23-05-2018

3. Advisory Vote on Executive Compensation

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The voting outcome for this resolution reflects the balance of opinion on the adequacy of disclosure, the balance of performance and reward and the terms of executive employment. The compensation rating is: BEC. Based on this rating, it is recommended to oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

4. Shareholder Resolution: Employment Issues

Proposed by: Trillium Asset Management, LLC

The Proponent requests that Travelers Companies prepare a diversity report, at a reasonable cost and omitting confidential information, available to investors including: 1) A chart identifying employees according to gender and race in major EEOC-defined job categories, listing numbers or percentages in each category; 2) A description of policies/programs focused on increasing gender and racial diversity in the workplace.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that diversity matters. Numerous studies suggest that companies with comprehensive diversity policies and programs, and strong leadership commitment to implement and fully integrate diversity into their culture and practices, enhance long-term shareholder value. A McKinsey & Company report found that companies in the top quartile for gender or racial ethnicity are more likely to financially outperform national industry medians. For every 10 percent increase in racial and ethnic diversity on the senior-executive team, earnings before interest and taxes (EBIT) rise 0.8 percent. The proponent believes that without detailed workforce diversity information, investors cannot accurately evaluate the company's commitment to diversity and progress over time.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board has considered this proposal and does not believe that preparing an additional report describing these policies or identifying employees according to standardized EEOC-defined job categories would enhance the Company's efforts to encourage diversity and create a diverse workforce. The Board of Directors oversees the Company's diversity efforts and monitors the Company's progress. The Company highlights its workplace diversity policies and efforts on its website.

PIRC Analysis: The report will provide shareholders with additional information on the Company's effort in relation to diversity. Since the Company states it already produces a lot of the information on its website, and the EEOC is required by law, disclosing this information should not be too arduous for the Company to complete. On this basis, shareholders are advised to vote in favour. This same resolution received a 41.88% vote in support at the 2017 AGM.

Vote Cast: For

Results: For: 34.5, Abstain: 5.2, Oppose/Withhold: 60.3,

SOUTHERN COMPANY AGM - 23-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent asks the Board to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions and any associated documents, to include the following changes for the purpose of decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for 3-years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group and to increase the possible number of proxy access director candidates: No limitation shall be placed on the number of shareholders that can aggregate their shares to achieve the 3% of common stock required to nominate directors under the Company's proxy access provisions; The number of shareholder-nominated candidates eligible to appear in proxy materials will be 25% of Directors.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the current 3% criteria for a continuous 3-years at most companies according to the Council of Institutional Investors. For 20 shareholders to make use of the current proxy access, the average holding for such a group of 20 Southern Company shareholders would be $75 million each. Plus it might take an average current holding of $150 million each when any stock held for less than 3 continuous years is subtracted.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as they believe that that the current proxy access that was approved in 2016, is aligned with current best practices and is in the best interest of shareholders, and that implementation of the changes requested by the proposal would disrupt the balance achieved in the current By-Law and take the Company out of step with the public Companies that have adopted proxy access. The By-laws currently provide that any shareholder or group of up to 20 shareholders that has maintained continuous qualifying ownership of at least 3% of the outstanding shares for at least three years can nominate and include in the proxy materials Director nominees constituting the greater of two nominees or 20% (rounded down) of the number of Directors in the proxy materials for the next annual meeting.

PIRC Analysis: A vote for the resolution is recommended. Although the recently implemented proxy access bylaw is a positive development, the terms of the proxy access proposal are more favourable to shareholders. The existing limit on the number of shareholders that may aggregate their shares to meet the 3% threshold is not considered best practice. In addition, the one quarter limit on shareholder-nominated directors is in line with best practice in this regard.

THE MERCANTILE INVESTMENT TRUST PLC AGM - 23-05-2018*9. Re-appoint the Auditors, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 5.56% of audit fees during the year under review and 5.56% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The date of appointment of the current audit firm is undisclosed, meaning the length of tenure is not known. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Vote Cast: Abstain

Results: For: 87.9, Abstain: 1.9, Oppose/Withhold: 10.2,

ILLUMINA INC AGM - 23-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Declassify the Board

Proposed by: James McRitchie

Shareholders ask that the Board take the steps necessary to reorganise the Board of Directors into one class with each director subject to election each year. This will not affect the unexpired terms of directors elected prior to the Proposal's implementation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that According to Equilar, "A classified board creates concern among shareholders because poorly performing directors may benefit from an electoral reprieve. Moreover, a fraternal atmosphere may form from a staggered board that favors the interests of management above those of shareholders. Since directors in a declassified board are elected and evaluated each year, declassification promotes responsiveness to shareholder demands and pressures directors to perform to retain their seat. Notably, proxy advisory firms ISS and Glass Lewis both support declassified structures." The Proponent adds that this proposal should also be evaluated in the context of the Company's overall corporate governance: Shareholders cannot take action by written consent and cannot call special meetings. The combined effect is to reduce board accountability to shareholders.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that it greatly benefits from its classified board, which encourages directors to focus on the long-term best interest of Illumina and its stockholders by strengthening their independence against the often short-term focus of certain investors and special interests. The Board also believes that a classified board reduces vulnerability to hostile and potentially abusive takeover tactics by encouraging persons seeking control of Illumina to negotiate with the Board and thereby better positions the Board to negotiate effectively on behalf of all stockholders. These benefits are particularly important for stockholders as Illumina operates in a highly competitive and extremely dynamic marketplace.

PIRC Analysis: The use of a classified board is not supported as it can be used as an anti-takeover device and could serve to entrench underperforming management. Shareholder concerns in relation to specific issues can more appropriately be raised in the context of individual directors' responsibilities if all directors face election each year. It is considered that declassification of the Board will move the Company towards best practice and a vote for the proposal is recommended.

BLACKROCK INC AGM - 23-05-2018

2. Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The voting outcome for this resolution reflects the balance of opinion on the adequacy of disclosure, the balance of performance and reward and the terms of executive employment. Results: For: 89.2, Abstain: 0.3, Oppose/Withhold: 10.6,

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: The Unitarian Universalist Association.

The Proponent requests the Company to prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: 1. Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications. 2. Payments by BlackRock used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient. 3. BlackRock's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation. 4. Description of management's and the Board's decision making process and oversight for making payments described in sections 2 and 3 above. For purposes of this proposal, a "grassroots lobbying communication" is a communication directed to the general public that (a) refers to specific legislation or regulation, (b) reflects a view on the legislation or regulation and (c) encourages the recipient of the communication to take action with respect to the legislation or regulation. "Indirect lobbying" is lobbying engaged in by a trade association or other organization of which BlackRock is a member. Both "direct and indirect lobbying" and "grassroots lobbying communications" include efforts at the local, state and federal levels. The report shall be presented to the Audit Committee or other relevant oversight committees and posted on BlackRock's website.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponents believe in full disclosure of the Company's direct and indirect lobbying activities and expenditures to assess whether the Company's lobbying is consistent with BlackRock's expressed goals and in the best interests of shareholders. Since 2010, BlackRock has spent $18 million on federal lobbying. These figures do not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where BlackRock also lobbies but disclosure is uneven or absent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose the resolution and argues that failure to engage in critical public policy developments, including communications with elected officials, would represent a far greater risk to shareholders' interests. The Board argues that the Company complies fully with all state and federal requirements concerning lobbying activity and related disclosures and the Company publicly reports on a quarterly basis to Congress its lobbying expenses, including the portion of trade association dues used for lobbying purposes, and the specific issues lobbied.

PIRC Analysis: Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is in the best interests of shareholders. The amounts of shareholder funds described are considered to be material and greater transparency in this area is welcomed. The report is a reasonable request for disclosure, and a vote for the resolution is recommended.

ANTOFAGASTA PLC AGM - 23-05-2018

11. Re-elect Andrónico Luksic

Non-Executive Director. Not independent as he is the half-brother of Jean-Paul Luksic. In addition he is the Chairman of Quiñenco and holds other directorships at companies in the Quiñenco group, a group controlled by the Luksic family. Although there is sufficient independent representation on the Board there are concerns that this director missed three of eight Board meetings during the year. It is noted that this director missed two Board meetings in 2016. This level of attendance is not considered to be acceptable. Therefore, an oppose vote is recommended.

SOCIETE GENERALE SA AGM - 23-05-2018

E.25. Authorize up to 1.4 Percent of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans Reserved for Regulated Persons

It is proposed to approve a stock option plan for employees and corporate officers for up to 1.4 % of the share capital in aggregate. The Board would receive the authority to set beneficiaries and other conditions. There seem to be no performance criteria besides employment and tenure.

Plans to increase employee shareholding are considered to be a positive governance practice, as they can contribute to alignment between employees and shareholders. On the other hand, executives are also among the beneficiaries: it is considered that support should not be given to stock or share option plans that do not lay out clearly performance criteria and conditions. On balance, opposition is recommended.

E.21. Authorise Board to Increase Capital in the Event of Additional Demand Related to Delegation Submitted to Shareholder Vote Above

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Patrice Caine, Chairman and CEO. The payout is in line with best practice, being under 200% of the fixed salary. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended. However, as abstention is not a valid voting option for this meeting, opposition is advised.

O.17. Approve Deferred Remuneration Agreement with Patrice Caine

Proposal to approve the deferred incremental and conditional compensation to Patrice Caine. The amount of this compensation is calculated based on the point allocation method identical to that used for employees entitled to the additional group retirement scheme applicable within Thales group. This deferred compensation is only deemed to have been acquired on condition that the Company representative has carried out a full term in office. Entitlement is subject to the same performance condition as for the termination. The payment will be made if the average rate of achievement of the annual operational profitability objectives is equal to or higher than 80% over the past three years. Conditions are not considered sufficiently challenging, in particular the entry gate at 80% of the target. It is considered that CEOs should not receive such top-hat compensations. Therefore, oppose is recommended.

O.18. Approve Unemployment Private Insurance Agreement with Patrice Caine

Proposal to approve Unemployment Private Insurance Agreement signed for benefit of Patrice Caine, Chairman and CEO. It is set at 12 months of his reference salary (fixed and variable compensation paid over the last 12 months of activity, excluding long-term incentive plan). ## FISERV INC. AGM - 23-05-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Executive Pay Confidential Voting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests for the Board of Directors to take the steps necessary to adopt a bylaw that prior to the Annual Meeting, the preliminary outcome of votes cast by proxy on certain executive pay matters, including a running tally of votes for and against, shall not be available to management or the Board and shall not be used to solicit votes. Certain matters include the topics of say on executive pay and management-sponsored or board-sponsored resolutions seeking approval of executive pay plans. This proposal would not prohibit management access to shareholder comments submitted along with shareholder meeting ballots. This proposal is limited to executive pay items. Shareholders could still waive the confidentiality of their ballots on executive pay items – for instance by checking a box on the ballot.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that management can now monitor incoming votes and then use shareholder money to blast shareholders with costly solicitations on matters where they have a direct self-interest such as the ratification of lucrative stock options and to obtain artificially high votes for their lucrative executive pay. The Proponent argues that management can now do an end run on the effectiveness of say on pay votes. Instead of improving executive pay practices in response to disapproving shareholder votes, management can efficiently manipulate the say on pay vote to a higher percentage. Without confidential voting management can simply blast shareholders by using multiple professional proxy solicitor firms at shareholder expense (no disclosure of the cost) with one-way communication by mail and electronic mail (right up to the deadline) to artificially boost the vote for their self-interest executive pay ballot items.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes in open, transparent and informed dialogue with shareholders, including in the area of executive pay, is beneficial and a crucial component of the Company's continuing growth and success. The shareholder proposal would cut off a beneficial component of this transparency and would constitute a step backwards in communications and shareholder engagement. The Board and management believes that openness, not the selective secrecy espoused by the proposal, enables Fiserv to better understand its shareholders and their concerns and priorities and for shareholders to better understand Fiserv and its concerns and priorities. The board also believes that the proposal is unnecessary as a significant majority of shareholders already vote confidentially or have the means to do so. The significant majority of shares are held in street name through a broker, bank or other nominee and, as such, these shareholders already have the means to vote confidentially.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent raises a fair point about the use of shareholder funds being used to lobby votes and it may be in the best interest of shareholders to prohibit management from using shareholder funds to solicit additional proxies. However prohibiting management from viewing proxy results is not deemed to be in the best interest of shareholders, as the Company is more likely to conduct engagement and seek the view of shareholders on matters which receive a poor vote in favour. In certain circumstances (and favoured by companies) a shareholder's concern can be rectified by the Board before the annual meeting. The proposed resolution could result in greater shareholder dissent (in terms of votes), with little change in company engagement and outcome. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose.

ZALANDO SE AGM - 23-05-2018

6. Approve Remuneration System for Management Board Members

It is proposed to approve the New remuneration policy of the Company for 2018. The fixed salary will decline from EUR 200,000 to EUR 65,000. The members of the Management Board will continue to be entitled to customary fringe benefits. Variable remuneration is based on the share based program and no Annual Bonus is awarded. The LTI's appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. The performance criteria are the average annual growth of the Company for a period of four years and the increase of the value of the shares. Both Criteria are quantified according to best practice. The vesting period is on five years and there are claw backs clauses in place of the long-term incentive remuneration, which is welcomed. Support is recommended.

POLYPIPE GROUP PLC AGM - 23-05-2018

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

Disclosure: The Company provides a good disclosure.

Balance: The Company uses more than one performance condition for the annual bonus. 25% of the annual bonus is subject to share deferral, which will vest after three years, which is considered inadequate as best practice requires that 50% of the bonus should be deferred. The Company's long-term incentive scheme is not linked to non-financial KPIs, which is not considered appropriate. However, there are more than one performance conditions used for the PSP. The performance period is three years, which is not considered sufficiently long-term. The Committee has flexibility at its discretion to add an additional holding period after a performance period before awards vest. This is not considered sufficient as a holding period of at least two years should apply. Total potential variable pay is considered excessive at 325% of salary.

Contracts: On termination, the Committee may determine that the Executive Director is eligible to receive a bonus in respect of the financial year in which they cease employment. This bonus would usually be prorated and may be settled wholly in cash. In determining the level of bonus to be paid, the Committee may, at its discretion, take into account performance up to the date of cessation or over the financial year as a whole based on appropriate performance measures as determined by the Committee. This is considered inappropriate as it could be performance not obtained by the Executive.

UNITED CONTINENTAL HOLDINGS INC AGM - 23-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: John Chevedden. The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to take the steps necessary to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of the Company's outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The proponent believes that a more functional shareholder ability to call a special meeting, would put shareholders in a better position to ask for improvement to the board of directors after the 2018 annual meeting.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's bylaws already provide shareholders with the right to call a special meeting (shareholders holding in the aggregate 25% or more of the Company's outstanding stock can call a special meeting). The Board argues that the Company's existing special meeting rights reflect market standards and are complemented by the Company's other robust governance practices that empower shareholders. Also, the Board argues that adoption of the proposal would allow a relatively small group of shareholders to call a meeting on a matter that could be of interest only to that smaller group of investors and of limited or no concern to the large majority of shareholders.

Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 10% threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

MORGAN STANLEY AGM - 24-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Prohibit Accelerated Vesting of Awards to Pursue Government Service

Proposed by: The Reserve Fund of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations

The Proponent requests that the Board of Directors adopt a policy prohibiting the vesting of equity-based awards for senior executives due to a voluntary resignation to enter government service (a "Government Service Golden Parachute").

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Company provides its senior executives with vesting of equity-based awards after their voluntary resignation of employment from the Company to pursue a career in government service and that compensation plans should not provide windfalls to executives that are unrelated to their performance.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's deferred compensation programs, include provisions that provide for vesting in a range of circumstances such as the alternative career provision which is necessary to remain competitive for talent in the financial services industry, as it is an element of the Company's peers' programs. The Board argues that the provision does not result in a 'windfall' to employees as they have earned the awards for services already performed.

PIRC Analysis: The acceleration of unvested stock where there is no reference to performance is not supported. A vote for is recommended.

This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. Jean-Baptiste Deschryver proposed as alternate auditor. The tenure of the auditor is six years, and re-election will further extend the auditors term to 12 years. Also, there are concerns over the level of variable pay of the CEO which represents 293% of the annual salary excluding the Fixed Share Allowance of £90,000, the use of which is not supported. Overall disclosure is adequate. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the change in the salaries of the Company's UK employees, as the CEO's salary rose by 2%, while average pay of the Company's UK employees increased by 5%. However, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group. Changes in CEO pay in the last five years are not considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. The CEO received 679% of salary in variable pay under the AIP and LTIP, which is considered highly excessive. Furthermore, the CEO received payment under the vesting of recruitment awards, which amounted to a further 440% of salary, leading to a total of 1119% of salary in variable pay. #### 4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Annual Disclosure of EEO-1 Data

Proposed by: Scott M. Stringer.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt and enforce a policy requiring Juniper Networks, Inc. to disclose annually its EEO-1 data - a comprehensive breakdown of its workforce by race and gender according to ten employment categories - on its website or in its corporate responsibility report, beginning in 2018.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that diversity matters. Numerous studies suggest that companies with comprehensive diversity policies and programmes, and strong leadership commitment to implement and fully integrate diversity into their culture and practices, enhance long-term shareholder value. Workplace diversity provides competitive advantage by generating diverse, valuable perspectives, creativity, innovation and adaptation, increased productivity and morale, while eliminating the limitations of "group-think." It also reduces potential legal and reputational risks associated with workplace discrimination and builds corporate reputations as fair employers. Based on 2014 EEO-1 filings, the EEOC Commission estimates that the high tech industry is over 64% male and over 68% white. Blacks, Hispanics and women are under-represented in high tech compared to all private industries. Blacks and Hispanics representation at the executive, managerial and professional levels is between one and five percent, and women representation at these levels is between 20% and 30%. All three groups' representation in high tech is lower than for all private industries. Over two-thirds of S&P 100 companies now disclose EEO-1 data, including companies in the technology industry, such as Apple, Alphabet, Salesforce and Ingram Micro. The proposal does not limit the company from providing more detailed quantitative and qualitative disclosures where appropriate.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board has considered this proposal and concluded that its adoption is unnecessary in light of Juniper Networks' existing and active commitment to diversity. In addition, the Board has determined that disclosure of the EEO-1 data would neither provide an appropriate platform to have a discussion about diversity nor would it enhance the Company's commitment to diversity. Form EEO-1 requires the Company to categorise its workforce by gender and race according to certain Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or EEOC, mandated job categories that do not account for any company or industry-specific factors. The job categories included in the EEOC form are generic and the Board believes they do not fully capture the structure of a technology company. In certain circumstances, this has forced the Board to classify employees into job categories that may not completely reflect their actual job description or position. For this reason, the EEO-1 data may be misleading. Further, EEO-1 data is not a reliable measure of Juniper Networks' commitment to equal opportunity employment and to cultivating an inclusive and diverse workplace. The Board does not believe that disclosing this data will enhance in any meaningful manner the Company's commitment to an inclusive culture or its goal of workplace diversity. To the contrary, this information, which may be incomplete and susceptible to misinterpretation, could hinder future recruitment efforts if it is misconstrued, including by candidates the Company is trying to recruit.

PIRC Analysis: This request for additional disclosure is deemed acceptable, and should not put any additional burden on the Company. Companies are required to file this data with the government annually, and so the only additional process involved is to upload the data to the Company website or place it into the Corporate Responsibility Report. On this basis, support is recommended.

FLOWSERVE CORPORATION AGM - 24-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Adopt GHG Emissions Reduction Goals

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request Flowserve Corporation adopt time-bound, quantitative, company-wide, science-based targets for reducing greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, consistent with the goals of the Paris Climate Agreement, and report annually, at reasonable cost and omitting proprietary information, on its plans and progress towards achieving these targets.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Paris Climate Agreement of 2015, agreed to by 195 countries, established a target to limit global temperature increases to 2-degrees Celsius above preindustrial levels. To meet the 2-degree goal and mitigate the worst effects of climate change, climate scientists estimate it is necessary to reduce global emissions 55% by 2050 (relative to 2010 levels), entailing a US reduction target of 80%. For the US to meet this, or any other reduction goal, businesses must play a part. Flowserve discloses its emission, steps it is taking to reduce emissions, but does not disclose goals. With the US administration weakening its commitment to the Paris Agreement, investors expect companies to play a bigger role in meeting the US commitments. The Proponents encourage Flowserve to work with the Science-Based Targets Initiative, which provides third-party verification, to set science-based goals.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that the adoption of the Proponent's proposal is unnecessary and not in the best interests of shareholders because the Company already produces and makes public an annual sustainability report and additional disclosure of strict GHG emissions goals would not provide significant incremental benefits to the Company, its shareholders, or the environment. The Company's goal with respect to GHG emissions is to minimise emissions at each of its locations while striving to continually reduce overall emissions from its worldwide operations taken as a whole. In order to determine performance against this goal, Flowserve does track GHG emissions from its manufacturing locations worldwide. More generally, the Company annually assesses environmental compliance at each facility, measuring its performance against Flowserve standards, which in all cases meet or exceed applicable law. Tracking GHG reduction progress and addressing the concerns on a disaggregated and individualised basis has allowed the Company to reduce its emissions by over 15% for the five-year period ending December 31, 2016.

PIRC Analysis: The Company acknowledges its need to manage and reduce its GHG emissions and the importance of this to the Company's business. The resolution is not unduly prescriptive and would allow the Board discretion in interpreting its scope and application. By adopting transparent targets, the Board will assist shareholders in managing their own portfolio risks arising from GHG emissions by investee companies. Support for the resolution is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Increasing the rights of shareholders through written consent is all the more important since our stock fell from USD 50 to USD 42 in one year during a rising market.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that this proposal is unnecessary in light of the shareholders' ability to call special meetings. The Board believes that this proposal would unfairly enable shareholders to circumvent the protections, procedural safeguards and advantages provided to all shareholders through our existing shareholder meeting process in a way that may be detrimental to our shareholders. The Board also believes that the written consent procedure is more appropriate for a closely-held corporation with a small number of shareholders, and not for a widely-held public company such as Flowserve.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. An oppose vote is recommended.

NEXTERA ENERGY INC AGM - 24-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden and Myra K. Young.

The Proponent requests that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting.

Boards Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes, which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently, shareholders of 20% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold, particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Finally, the Board argues that its active engagement with shareholders and strong corporate governance practices make the proposal unnecessary.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Comptroller of the State of New York, Thomas P. DiNapoli

The Proponent asks for the preparation of a report, updated semi-annually, that discloses the Company's 1) policies and procedures for making contributions to (or to oppose) political campaigns or to influence the public with respect to an election, and 2) specific monetary and non-monetary contributions as described above, including the amounts paid and recipients. The Proponent asks that the report be presented to the Board and posted on the Company's website within twelve months of the annual meeting.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent states that transparency and accountability on political activities is in the best interests of shareholders. The Proponent states the Supreme Court has recognised the importance of political spending disclosure for shareholders, with gaps in transparency exposing the Company to reputational and business risks. The Proponent points to public information that state NextEra contributed over USD 12.5 million in corporate funds since the 2010 election cycle.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The same proposal was presented on behalf of the Fund at the Company's 2015, 2016 and 2017 annual meetings of shareholders and the Company's shareholders rejected this proposal with 60.4%, 57.3% and 58.8%, respectively, of votes cast voting against the proposal. The Board states that it already has a Political Contributions Policy in place and that it complies with existing legal disclosure requirements, therefore, the proposal would constitute an unproductive use of resources. Finally, the Board states that additional disclosure requirements could prevent the Company from competitively pursuing its strategic objectives.

PIRC Analysis: Full transparency with respect to a Company's politically-motivated expenditures is in the best interests of shareholders. The Board has not demonstrated that the existing disclosure adequately addresses the Proponent's concerns. Further, when looking at the Company's existing disclosure in comparison to the S&P500, the Company is below average. Therefore, a vote for the resolution is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Charitable Contributions

Proposed by: Mr. John Harrington.

The Proponent requests that the Company provide an annual report, omitting proprietary information and at reasonable cost, disclosing: the Company's standards for choosing recipients of company assets in the form of charitable contributions; the business rationale and purpose for each of the charitable contributions, if any; personnel participating in the decision to contribute; the benefits to society at-large produced by company contributions; and a follow-up report confirming the contribution was used for the purpose stated. The report should be published on the Company's website.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that without a system of accountability and transparency, some donated assets may be misused and potentially harm the Company's reputation and shareholder value. Current disclosure is insufficient to allow the Company's Board and shareholders to evaluate the use of corporate assets by outside organisations. For example, the Company donations towards the McTeacher's Nights program has been met with criticism by teachers' unions, claiming that the McTeacher's Nights program exploits the trust families place in schools to promote junk food to children, undermining teachers' efforts to teach students healthy habits. Other school programs have faced similar criticisms. Fuller disclosure would provide enhanced feedback opportunities from which our company could make more fruitful decisions. Corporate philanthropy should be transparent to better serve the interests of the shareholders.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Company already provides detailed information about its core values and its most significant charitable contributions on the Company's website. While charitable initiatives vary country to country, the Company is globally aligned around two main giving priorities: improving the lives of children and their families primarily through support of Ronald McDonald House Charities and strengthening communities by addressing local needs. The Company has global compliance guidelines for approval of charitable contributions, which are designed to ensure that corporate funds are allocated appropriately, and that contributions are aligned with the Company's giving priorities, core values and Brand image. Furthermore, the Board's Sustainability & Corporate Responsibility Committee regularly reviews reports on the Company's charitable contributions and philanthropy initiatives. The requested report would do nothing to advance these philanthropic activities, and would provide immaterial incremental additional information. Finally, the report would have limited value to shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that transparency and reporting is in shareholders' interests. However it is not clear how the requested information would provide significant additional information to shareholders. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose the resolution.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as shareholders holding 25% of the outstanding shares of the Company's stock for at least one year may request a special meeting. The Board has demonstrated its commitment to active shareholder engagement and responsiveness to shareholder feedback. The Company maintains a comprehensive engagement programme and reaches out to a wide variety of shareholders to learn their views. The Board adds that the transparency and fairness of the annual or special meeting process supports all shareholders' interests and offers important protections and advantages that are absent from the written consent process.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Plastic Straws

Proposed by: Mr. Keith Schnip

Shareholders request that McDonald's Corporation ("McDonald's") issue a report to shareholders, to be prepared at reasonable cost and omitting confidential and proprietary information, regarding the business risks associated with its continued use of plastic straws, and the Company's efforts to develop and implement substitutes for plastic straws in its restaurants.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that a growing global consumer movement opposes the use of plastic straws because of their contribution to waste and deleterious impacts on marine life. McDonald's provides single-use plastic straws in its 36,000 restaurants in over 100 countries. The sustainability report of McDonald's says, "Our customers have told us that one of the most important environmental issues in our restaurants is waste and recycling. We agree that we must join together with our customers and crew to tackle this issue. . ." The Proponent adds that according to the Plastic Pollution Coalition, approximately 1,800 restaurants and institutions have eliminated plastic straws. Two cities in California have banned plastic straws. A ban on plastic straws will go into effect in Seattle, Washington in July 2018.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it is committed to policies and programmes that minimise the environmental impact of McDonald's restaurants. The Company continues to work with suppliers and packaging specialists on packaging innovations (including straws) in order to reduce McDonald's sourcing footprint, reduce material volume where possible, design packaging to recapture the value of materials through recycling and reduce the costs and environmental impacts associated with its disposal. In furtherance of its recently announced packaging and recycling goals, the Company has formed a fast-action working group to explore ways to address the issue holistically and identify, research and pilot potential plastic straw substitutes. The working group includes employees from a number of global departments along with external packaging experts and suppliers. The Company has engaged in meaningful dialogue on this topic with the Proponent's representative and has provided access to McDonald's subject matter experts to address questions and concerns. It has been transparent about its progress and the challenges associated with addressing this important issue.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the Company, but also as a means of ensuring that the management and Board of a company give due consideration to these issues. However, in light of current and on-going efforts by the Company on the issue, a vote to oppose is recommended.

THE INTERPUBLIC GROUP OF COMPANIES INC. AGM - 24-05-2018*14. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The proponent request that the Board of Directors to adopt as policy, and amend our governing documents as necessary, to require henceforth that the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. The Board would have the discretion to phase in this policy for the next CEO transition, implemented so it does not violate any existing agreement.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that the over-extension of duties weakens leadership and argues that many successful corporations and financial holding companies have independent board chairmen. Furthermore, when the CEO is the board chairman, this arrangement can hinder the board's ability to monitor the CEO's performance. It was reported that 53% of the Standard & Poor's 1,500 firms separate these 2 positions (2015 report): Chairman and CEO.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's shareholders are best served by its current leadership structure. In particular, the Board believes that combining the positions of Chairman and CEO most effectively utilizes the current CEO's extensive experience and knowledge regarding the Company. Also, the Board believes that combining the CEO and Chairman positions helps the Board respond quickly and effectively to the many business, market and regulatory challenges, serves as a highly effective bridge between the Board and management, and provides the leadership to execute business strategy and create shareholder value. The Board argues that its corporate governance practices and Board composition provide for strong independent leadership and effective independent oversight of the company. This proposal has previously been voted on by stockholders, at the 2006, 2007 and 2016 annual meetings and only received the support of 12%, 15% and 19% of stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

Balance: The highest paid director's salary is considered as being in the lower quartile of a peer comparator group which is welcome. In addition the LTIP award that was based on performance over the three years to 31 December 2017 will lapse in full as threshold performance was not achieved. Due to no bonus being paid the total realised pay is not considered excessive, the use of downward discretion by the Nomination Committee so as not to reward under-performance is welcome. ## ENEL SPA AGM - 24-05-2018

O.6. Approve Remuneration Policy

The 2018 remuneration policy takes into consideration the new legal and economic treatment granted to the Chairman and the Chief Executive Officer/General Manager. It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In fact, although the increase of the maximum award level to 280% of the base award is consistent with the analysis of the European Peer Group referenced as benchmark in the Remuneration Policy, where the maximum award level stands at 250% at median and at 338% at the third quartile, it is still considered to be excessive. The CEO is entitled to severance indemnities equal to 2 years fixed compensation, in lieu of notice. Although it is still above what it is considered to be best practice, it is the average level in this market. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed.

Despite potential excessiveness concerns, keeping variable remuneration under 200% of the salary was considered a decisive argument, when support was recommended, for ENEL's remuneration policy in the past. Accordingly, abstention is recommended at this meeting.

VERISIGN INC AGM - 24-05-2018*4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholder meeting. The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareholders to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. Shareowner input on the timing of shareowner meetings is especially important when events unfold quickly and issues may become moot by the next annual meeting. This is important because there could be 15 months or more between annual meetings.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently, shareholders of 25% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold, particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders.

INFORMA PLC AGM - 25-05-2018*3. Approve Remuneration Policy

The shareholding guidelines will be altered so that Executives will be required to build a shareholding equal to the level of their largest outstanding LTIP award on a 1 for 1 basis. A two-year post-vesting holding period will apply to LTIP awards. Malus and clawback provisions. There will be an additional malus and clawback event referring to mathematical errors in calculating the incentive outcomes. The new policy provides further clarity on termination and change of control provisions and the specifying the terms for good leavers. Under the new policy, the Remuneration Committee has the power to exercise discretion to dis-apply time pro-rating on STIP and LTIP awards.

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. Pension contributions and entitlements are disclosed, although they are considered excessive. For the STIP, up to 100% of salary is paid in cash and 50% of salary deferred into equity in the Deferred Share Bonus Plan. This is not considered adequate, as it is recommended that at least half of the annual bonus is deferred into shares. At three years the performance period of the LTIP is not considered sufficiently long term. However, under the new policy a two year post-vesting holding period will be introduced, which is welcomed. The Company uses more than one performance condition, although they are both financial based and payout can be achieved if only one of the performance conditions is met. It is recommended that at least one non-financial KPI is used, and that performance conditions operate interdependently. Total potential variable pay is excessive at 350% of salary. The new shareholding guidelines are not welcomed. A clear guideline presented as a percentage of salary set against a time-frame is preferable. On termination the Committee may dis-apply time pro-rating on STIP and LTIP awards. Such use of upside discretion is considered inappropriate. Under the new policy there will be specified provisions for incentive awards in the event of a change of control. The new provisions allow the Committee to exercise upside discretion to dis-apply time pro-rating, which is contrary to best practice.

There are concerns over the director's potential aggregate time commitments as he chairs the board of Mitie Group plc and Huntsworth plc in addition to his chairmanship at Informa plc. #### 18. Amend the Informa 2014 Long-Term Incentive Plan

Authority is sought to make the following amendments to the Company's long-term incentive plan: the introduction of a power to decide whether to time pro-rate awards on a change of control or when a participant leaves employment with the Informa group as a good leaver due to death, injury, ill-health, disability, redundancy, retirement, the employing company no longer being part of the Informa group or another reason permitted by the Informa board; and an increase in the aggregate maximum value of awards that may be granted to an executive Director in any financial year from 200% to 325% of base salary.

The proposed changes are contrary to best practice. The use of upside discretion to dis-apply time pro-rating is considered inappropriate. In addition, the increase in the maximum opportunity is considered excessive, as total variable pay under the policy already exceeds the recommended limit of 200% of salary. In light of the concerns raised, an oppose vote is recommended.

LINCOLN NATIONAL CORPORATION AGM - 25-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareowners ask our board to take the steps necessary (unilaterally if possible) to amend the Bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting (or the closest percentage to 10% according to state law).

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters, such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. A shareholder right to call a special meeting and to act by written consent and are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle such as the election of directors. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as shareholders already have a meaningful right to call a special meeting that is well within the mainstream for peer companies. In addition, the Board believes that a special meeting should only be called if required by law, or if a reasonably large representation of the Company's shares support holding a special meeting. A special meeting should be held only for extraordinary company business, such as when fiduciary or strategic considerations require that the matter be addressed on an expeditious basis and cannot wait until the next annual meeting. The Board does not believe that 10% is the appropriate threshold for calling special meetings, and substantially under-represents shareholder interests. As a result, the proposal could subject the Company to regular disruptions by special-interest shareholder groups with agendas that are not in the best interests of the Company or the other shareholders. In addition to the Company's 25% ownership threshold for special meetings to be called by the Company's shareholders, special meetings of shareholders may be called by the Board or the Chairman, each of whom has a fiduciary duty under the law to act in the best interests of the Company and its shareholders as a whole when determining whether a matter is so pressing that it must be addressed at a special meeting.

HOCHSCHILD MINING PLC AGM - 25-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed as is the performance criteria and specific targets attached to the LTIP awards. However, dividend accruals are not separately categorised.

Balance: Total variable pay for the year under review was highly excessive, amounting to 525% of salary (Annual Bonus:125% of Salary & LTIP: 400% of salary). Furthermore, the balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is not considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over the last five years is not aligned to the change in TSR over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has been approximately 54.31% whereas, on average, TSR has increased by 43.93%. The CEO's salary is in the median range of the Company's comparator group. However, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is 56:1, which is unacceptable.

Rating:BD

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that Central oppose.

OLD MUTUAL PLC EGM - 25-05-2018

1. Approve the Managed Separation, including the Quilter Demerger and Nedbank Unbundling

The Board is seeking approval concerning eight actions relating to the Managed Separation: (i) to finalise the Managed Separation, including the Quilter Demerger and, in due course, the Nedbank Unbundling, and that the directors of the Company be authorised to take all such action as they may consider necessary or appropriate for carrying the Proposals to finalise the Managed Separation into effect; (ii) with effect from the First Scheme effective time the cancellation of the share premium account and reduction of share capital; (iii) amendment of articles; (iv) the transfer by the Company of 86.6% of the total issued share capital of Quilter plc to the shareholders of the Company, to effect the Quilter Demerger; (v) Approve the First and Second Schemes of Arrangement; (vi) Amend the articles to provide for schemes of arrangement; (vii) amend the articles to include the rights attaching to a Deferred Share of 10 pence and (viii) Conditional upon the Second Scheme becoming effective, the Ordinary Shares of 0.1 pence each in the capital of the Company be delisted from the premium listing segment of the UK Official List, the main board of the Johannesburg Stock Exchange and the lists of the Namibian Stock Exchange, the Zimbabwe Stock Exchange and the Malawi Stock Exchange.

Background & Reasons The Company has provided four reasons as to why the current structure is restrictive: (i) it prevents the Old Mutual plc Shareholders from directly accessing and being aligned to the underlying businesses, thus contributing towards a conglomerate discount; (ii) It inhibits the efficient funding of future growth plans for the individual businesses, restricting them from realising their full potential; (iii) It imposes additional complexity and constraints on the business; (iv) It adds incremental cost. As a result, the Board believes the long-term interests of Old Mutual plc Shareholders would be best served by separating the four businesses from each other. The four businesses being; Old Mutual Wealth (now renamed Quilter); OMEM, the sub-Saharan African financial services business; Nedbank, the fourth largest bank in South Africa; and OMAM, the multi-boutique asset management business focused on the institutional market in the United States. In order to manage the separation the Board intends to deliver two separate entities, listed on both the London Stock Exchange and the Johannesburg Stock Exchange, into the hands of Old Mutual plc Shareholders. One entity would consist principally of Old Mutual plc's United Kingdom wealth management operations. The other entity would consist principally of the Group's emerging markets operations through the creation of a new South African holding company, Old Mutual Limited.

Finalisation of the Managed Separation It is proposed that the Managed Separation be finalised in three principal steps: (i) listing of Quilter and the distribution of 86.6% of the total issued share capital of Quilter to Old Mutual plc Shareholders, followed by the Quilter Share Sale, being the expected divestment of up to 9.6% of the total issued share capital of Quilter by way of a cash placing of Quilter Shares to institutional investors; (ii) the listing of Old Mutual Limited in order to establish the domicile and primary listing venue of the Old Mutual Limited Group in South Africa. Immediately prior to its listing, Old Mutual Limited, which is a South African domiciled and regulated entity, will become the holding company of the Group. Old Mutual plc will become a subsidiary of Old Mutual Limited, alongside the operating businesses; (iii) six months after the implementation of the first two steps, whereby the Old Mutual Limited Group intends, subject to certain conditions, to distribute 32% of the total issued share capital of Nedbank to the Old Mutual Limited Shareholders on the Old Mutual Limited share register at that time, whilst retaining a minority stake of 19.9% of the total issued share capital of Nedbank.

Recommendation: The Proposed transaction has been adequately described and justified by the Board which is welcomed. No significant governance concerns have been identified. There is sufficient balance of independent representation on the Board which provides assurance that the proposed transaction is undertaken with appropriate independent judgement and oversight. A vote in favour is recommended.

2. Approve the Quilter plc Performance Share Plan

Shareholders are being asked to approve the rules of the Quilter plc Performance Share Plan (the "Quilter PSP"). Sufficient disclosure surrounding the nature of the plan has not been provided. The Company states that the awards granted to executive directors will be subject to the limits set out in the Quilter Directors' Remuneration Policy prevailing at the time of grant and so the maximum opportunity of the award has not been disclosed. Details of the specific performance conditions that will be attached to the plan have also not been disclosed. The Company has provided evidence that a post-vesting holding period of two years will be attached to awards made under the scheme which is in line with best-practice. Overall, LTIP schemes are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance and are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company. They are acting as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. #### O.4. Approve Equity-Based Incentive Plan Addressed to the Material Risk Takers of BancoPosta's Ring-Fenced Capital

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. The Plan includes the following incentive schemes: 1) the Short-Term Incentive "MBO" scheme 2018; 2) the three-year Deliver Long Term Incentive scheme. The Plan includes incentive mechanisms for the Material Risk Takers of BancoPosta's Ring-Fenced Capital, with the award of 50% of such incentive in the form of phantom stocks (i.e., units tied to the value of Poste Italiane S.p.A. shares). Performance targets have not been fully quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

ROYAL BANK OF SCOTLAND GROUP AGM - 30-05-2018

27. Shareholder Resolution: the Directors establish a Shareholder Committee

Proposed by: The UK Individual Shareholders Society (ShareSoc) and the UK Shareholders' Association (UKSA). The proponents request that the Company put forward a resolution to establish a Shareholder Committee.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponents state the informal nature of current shareholder engagement does not work well for the broad shareholder base. It is not clear whether investors are each being told the same story, how information is being spun, or whether complete or only partial information is being given out. Investors will ask different questions during engagement meetings and so may develop different interpretations of what the company is trying to achieve. Ad hoc engagements tend to only occur when a problem arises. The Proponents state that the functions of the Shareholder Committee are likely to be advisory in nature including: (i) providing feedback to the Board on candidates being considered for appointments by the Company, and recommending alternative candidates for Board appointments; (ii) providing feedback to the Board on remuneration proposals, and reporting on specific pay proposals (including the remuneration policy) before they are put to a binding vote of all Shareholders at the AGM; (iii) commenting on strategy from a shareholder perspective; (iv) reviewing and commenting to the Board on the appointment of external auditors and the activities of the external and internal auditors; (v) reporting to shareholders on its activities via the annual report and (vi) providing voting recommendations to shareholders at the AGM. The Proponents state that the Company may deem it appropriate for the Shareholder Committee to also consider the views of other stakeholders, for example offering feedback on the social and environmental risks and opportunities associated with the Company's business activities. Other points stated by the Proponents include: (i) systematic briefings between the Company and knowledgeable Shareholder Committee Members; (ii) Shareholder Committee Members will be presented with consistent information and explanations, and members will have a forum for the exchange of questions and views; (iii) increased transparency; (iv) A Shareholder Committee will focus on governance and strategy issues, and will not interfere with the day-to-day management of the company; (v) A Shareholder Committee can be established on a purely advisory basis and does not require any specific powers; (viii). A Shareholder Committee might also include workers, customer representatives and other key stakeholders if desired and (ix) They state that it is unlikely that the cases of BP, BHS and Sports Direct would have occurred if such a committee had existed at those companies. And the problems would surely have been resolved quicker if each had had a Shareholder Committee.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board notes the fact that the concept of a shareholder committee which was included in the Government's Green Paper on Corporate Governance Reforms has not been taken forward by either the Government or the FRC, indicates a lack of support for this during the consultation. Reasons for opposition include the difficulty of finding a group of investors that could represent the views of the many investors holding shares in large quoted companies. Concerns also exist that such committees could entrench large investors, making it harder for smaller investors to have a say. Finally, shareholder committees with strategic oversight and advance say on draft pay and nomination proposals would blur the lines between stewardship and executive decision-making, and undermine the unitary board model. The Board does not consider that the creation of a shareholder committee would be in the best interests of the Company as it is the role of the Board, directly elected by shareholders, to promote the success of the Company for the benefit of its members as a whole. The Board's commitment to building long-term sustainable value is underpinned by understanding the issues that are important to its shareholders and wider stakeholders. This is a vital aspect of the Board's work and is a particular focus of the work of the Sustainable Banking Committee, which operates an active programme of external stakeholder engagement sessions, inviting key thought leaders to join the Committee in an open and challenging dialogue. In relation to shareholders, the Company states that there is a well established engagement programme for both retail and institutional shareholders. The Board also receives regular market feedback from our shareholders and from institutions who do not hold its stock.

Recommendation: Whilst the problems of engagement with shareholders that the proponents evidence are noted, the creation of a shareholder committee cannot hope to represent the complete views of all shareholders. We would also note that best practice would be for this eventual committee to include a broader base than asset managers. However the proposal exhibits a very innovative solution to stakeholder involvement in the culture and governance of RBS. In the context of historic governance failure at RBS, and notwithstanding the need for greater refinement of the initiative, a vote in favour of the resolution is recommended.

AMAZON.COM INC. AGM - 30-05-2018

5. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders of Amazon.com Inc. ask the Board of Directors to adopt a policy, and amend the Bylaws as necessary, to require the Chair of the Board to be an independent director. The policy should provide that (i) if the Board determines that a Chair who was independent when selected is no longer independent, the Board shall select a new Chair who satisfies the policy within 60 days of that determination; and (ii) compliance with this policy is waived if no independent director is available and willing to serve as Chair.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the combination of these two roles in a single person weakens a corporation's governance, which can harm shareholder value. As Intel's former Chair Andrew Grove stated, "The separation of the two jobs goes to the heart of the conception of a corporation. Is a company a sandbox for the CEO, or is the CEO an employee? If he's an employee, he needs a boss, and that boss is the board. The chairman runs the board. How can the CEO be his own boss?". In the Proponent's view, shareholder value is enhanced by an independent Board Chair who can provide a balance of power between the CEO and the Board and support strong Board oversight.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that Mr. Bezos' role in founding Amazon and his significant ownership stake in the Company positions him well to work with the Board on the key policy and operational issues that will help the Company operate in the long-term interests of shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: The separation of roles by adopting a policy to have an independent Chairman is viewed as being corporate governance best practice. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director; and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Therefore, a vote 'FOR' the proposal is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Vote Counting to Exclude Abstentions

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders ask the Board of Amazon.com, Inc. to take or initiate steps to amend Company governing documents to provide that all non-binding matters presented by shareholders shall be decided by a simple majority of the votes cast FOR and AGAINST an item.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that a 'simple majority' formula includes votes cast FOR and AGAINST but not abstentions. It provides the most democratic, clear, and accurate picture of the intent of shareowners who are both informed and decided, while not including in the formula the votes of abstaining voters who have declined to express an opinion. The Proponent adds that it is unreasonable for Amazon to assert it knows the will of undecided voters (and to artificially construe abstentions in favour of management).

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it regularly reviews the Company's corporate governance practices, including the methodologies for how votes are cast. The Board has undertaken several steps to improve the Company's governance practices, including adopting proxy access and majority voting for directors. The Board does not, however, believe that the actions requested by the proposal represent a necessary change to the Company's governance practices.

PIRC Analysis: A vote for the resolution is recommended. Shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. The exclusion of abstentions from vote calculations would result in a clear, consistent and accurate picture of shareholders' intentions with respect to Board and shareholder-sponsored proposals.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: The Kestrel Foundation

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors of ExxonMobil adopt as policy, and amend the bylaws as necessary, to require the Chair of the Board of Directors, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board. This policy would be phased in for the next CEO transition.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that the role of the CEO and management is to run the Company, the role of the Board of Directors is to provide independent oversight of management and the CEO, there is a potential conflict of interest for a CEO to be her/his own overseer while managing the business. ExxonMobil's CEO serves both as CEO and Chair of the Company's Board of Directors. The Proponent states that the combination of these two roles in a single person weakens a corporation's governance structure, which can potentially harm shareholder value. Chairing and overseeing the Board is a time intensive responsibility, and a separate Chair leaves the CEO free to manage the Company and build effective business strategies.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that the decision as to who should serve as Chairman and/or CEO is the proper responsibility of the Board. Directors possess considerable experience and understand the unique challenges and opportunities the Company faces, and are in the best position to evaluate the needs of the Company and how best to organise the capabilities of the directors and senior managers to meet those needs. The Board carefully considers the pros and cons of separating or combining the Chairman and CEO positions and whether the Chairmanship should be held by an independent director, whenever the circumstances require. The Board must retain the flexibility to determine the particular governance structure the Board believes will best serve the long-term interests of shareholders at the time and should not be compelled to take a particular position that may be contrary to its best judgement.

PIRC Analysis: The separation of roles by adopting a policy to have an independent Chairman is viewed as being corporate governance best practice. It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Therefore, a vote 'FOR' the proposal is recommended. A similar proposal at the 2017 meeting gained a 39% vote in support from shareholders.

Results: For: 38.3, Abstain: 1.0, Oppose/Withhold: 60.7,

5. Shareholder Resolution: Right to Call Special Meetings

Proposed by: Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests that the Board amend the Company's bylaws and each appropriate governing document to give holders in the aggregate of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareowner meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that special meetings allow shareowners to vote on important matters; such as electing new directors that can arise between annual meetings. The proponent believes a shareholder ability to call a special meeting would put shareholders in a better position to ask for improvement in the board after the 2018 annual meeting. This proposal topic won 40%-support at the 2017 Exxon annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the proposal is in direct conflict with the Company's Proposal 4 to allow certain stockholders the right to request the calling of special meetings. The Board believes that the requested 10% ownership level is unduly low and could result in shareholders who have not garnered significant support from other shareholders disrupting the Company by calling special meetings to consider proposals that may not be supported by other shareholders and that are not viewed by the Board as being in the best interest of all shareholders.

PIRC Analysis: The 10% threshold recommended by the Proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended.

Vote Cast: For

6. Shareholder Resolution: Disclose a Board of Directors' Qualification Matrix

Proposed by: City of New York Retirement Systems.

The Proponents request that the Board of Directors disclose to shareholders each director's/nominee's gender and race/ethnicity, as well as skills, experience, and attributes that are most relevant in light of Exxon's overall business, long-term strategy and risks, presented in a matrix form. The requested matrix shall not include any attributes the Board identifies as minimum qualifications for all Board candidates in compliance with SEC Regulation S-K. The requested matrix shall be presented to shareholders in Exxon's annual proxy statement and on its website within six months of the date of the annual meeting, and updated annually.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The proponent believes that a diverse board, in terms of relevant skills and experience and gender and race/ethnicity, is a good indicator of a well-functioning board. In its 2017 proxy statement, Exxon provides no overview of how its directors' different qualifications fit together to effectively fulfill their oversight responsibilities, nor did it explicitly disclose their gender and race. Providing a Board matrix will give Exxon shareholders a 'big-picture' view of Exxon directors' attributes and how they fit together, thereby enabling shareholders to make better informed proxy voting decisions.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board agrees that diversity, including gender and ethnicity, is a key attribute of the composition and competency of a board, and believes that this is relevant information for shareholders. The annual proxy statement also: a) provides the description of the qualifications that the Board seeks in its directors; b) emphasizes the importance of diversity in the candidate search process; and c) provides a summary of the Board's collective competencies and diversity. ExxonMobil's argues that the current selection process is successful in identifying and attracting a diverse slate of experienced and qualified individuals. Female members comprise 27 percent of the current Board, above the S&P average of 22 percent.

PIRC Analysis: The disclosure of the director's gender and race/ethnicity as well as personal attributes is a sign of good governance. It will enable shareholders to assess how well-suited individual director nominees are for the company. As this proposal is not too prescriptive, a vote in favour is recommended.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: United Steel Workers.

The Proponents request the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing: 1. Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications. 2. Payments by Exxon Mobil used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient. 3. Exxon Mobil's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation. 4. Description of management's and the Board's decision making process and oversight for making payments described in sections 2 and 3 above. For purposes of this proposal, a "grassroots lobbying communication" is a communication directed to the general public that (a) refers to specific legislation or regulation, (b) reflects a view on the legislation or regulation and (c) encourages the recipient of the communication to take action with respect to the legislation or regulation. "Indirect lobbying" is lobbying engaged in by a trade association or other organisation of which Exxon Mobil is a member. Both "direct and indirect lobbying" and "grassroots lobbying communications" include efforts at the local, state and federal levels. The report shall be presented to the Audit Committee or other relevant oversight committees and posted on Exxon Mobil's website.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponents believe in full disclosure of the Company's direct and indirect lobbying activities and expenditures to assess whether the Company's lobbying is consistent with Exxon Mobil's expressed goals and in the best interests of shareholders. Since 2010, Exxon Mobil has spent over USD 94 million on federal lobbying (opensecrets.org). These figures do not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where Exxon Mobil also lobbies but disclosure is uneven or absent. Exxon Mobil is a member of the American Petroleum Institute, Business Roundtable and National Association of Manufacturers, which together spent over USD 74 million on lobbying for 2015 and 2016. Exxon Mobil does not disclose its memberships in, or payments to, trade associations, or the portions of such amounts used for lobbying. Transparent reporting would reveal whether company assets are being used for objectives contrary to Exxon Mobil's long-term interests.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose the resolution and argues that failure to engage in critical public policy developments, including communications with elected officials, would represent a far greater risk to shareholders' interests. The Board argues that the Company complies fully with all state and federal requirements concerning lobbying activity and related disclosures and the Company publicly reports on a quarterly basis to Congress its lobbying expenses, including the portion of trade association dues used for lobbying purposes, and the specific issues lobbied.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and a vote 'FOR' is recommended. At the 2017 meeting a similar proposal received a 28.52% vote in favour.

CHEVRON CORPORATION AGM - 30-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Lobbying Payments and Policy

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Company prepare a report, updated annually, disclosing: i.) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; ii.) payments by the Company used for direct or indirect lobbying or grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; iii.) the Company's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organisation that writes and endorses model legislation; and iv.) description of management's and the Board's decision making process and oversight for making the above payments.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Chevron is a member of the American Petroleum Institute (API), Business Roundtable and National Association of Manufacturers, which together spent over $64 million lobbying in 2015 and 2016, and belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, which has spent over $1.3 billion on lobbying since 1998. The Proponent states that the Company does not disclose its memberships in, or payments to, trade associations, or the amounts used for lobbying and does not disclose membership in or contributions to tax-exempt organisations that write and endorse model legislation, such as being a member of the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC).

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company already discloses to the public extensive information about its political contributions and lobbying activities and in many cases, this disclosure goes beyond what is required by law. The Board argues that on its website, shareholders and the public can find: information about the Company's political contributions, lobbying philosophy and oversight mechanisms, the Company's most recent annual Corporate Political Contributions report and the Chevron Employee Political Action Committee (CEPAC) Contributions report and the Company's prior-year federal quarterly lobbying reports and a link to the federal lobbying disclosure website, which contains current and previous years' reports.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on lobbying could be improved. The amount of shareholder funds involved appears to be sufficiently significant to warrant greater disclosure to shareholders. Moreover, it is to the benefit of the Company and its shareholders to be open about lobbying activities and so avoid any suspicion (and the damage that may cause to the Company's reputation) that the Company may be using shareholders' funds in an inappropriate way to gain undue influence. The request for a report is considered reasonable and support is recommended. At the 2017 meeting, 28.61% of shareholders supported a similar proposal.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Risks of Doing Business in Conflict-Affected Areas

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board publish a report six months following the 2018 annual general meeting evaluating the feasibility of adopting a policy of not doing business with governments that are complicit in genocide and/or crimes against humanity.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that human rights organisations documented egregious human rights abuses by Burmese troops employed to secure the Yadana pipeline area, including forcible relocation of villagers and use of forced labor. Also, the Proponent argues that the International Coalition for the Responsibility to Protect (ICRtoP) monitors countries worldwide for instances of serious crimes under international law and in this regard, ICRtoP lists several countries, cited by the United Nations and civil society organisations, in which the Company is currently producing oil and gas: Burma (Myanmar), Democratic Republic of Congo, and Nigeria.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's Human Rights Policy clarifies and reinforces the Company's responsibility to respect human rights, focusing on areas most salient to the Company's business: employees, security, community engagement, and suppliers. The Board argues that the Company's Corporate Policy on Security of Personnel and Assets (SP&A) supplements and reinforces its Human Rights Policy. Also, the Board argues that for more than 20 years, the Company, through its subsidiary Unocal Myanmar Offshore Co, Ltd. (UMOL), has worked with its joint venture partners in Myanmar to promote economic growth and development and that the Company is committed to operating responsibly in Myanmar, in accordance with The Chevron Way values, which apply everywhere the Company operates.

PIRC Analysis: Reporting on human rights issues allows shareholders to make an informed judgement on social and ethical risks related to their investment. The Company would not dispute this and have developed policies and a reporting structure on human rights and security. However, the Proponent has not, on balance, demonstrated how the proposed report would improve on the Company's existing policy, practices and reporting. There are some concerns over the Company's existing policies. For example, the Company conducts assessments prior to commencing major new projects or entering into sensitive operating environments, but fails to address whether it conducts reviews on whether to cease operations once a project has begun owing to human rights violations. As resolutions can only be evaluated against the argument brought forward in this proposal, a vote to oppose is recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Transition to a Low Carbon Business Model

Proposed by: As You Sow

The Proponent requests that the Company issue a report assessing how it can respond to climate change and the resultant transition to a low carbon economy by evaluating the feasibility of altering the Company's energy mix by separating or selling off its highest carbon-risk assets, divisions, and subsidiaries, and/or buying or merging with companies with outstanding assets or technologies in low carbon or renewable energy.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the transition toward a low carbon economy is occurring and trends to reduce global demand for carbon-based energy are accelerating. A failure to plan for this transition may place investor capital at substantial risk. The International Energy Agency states, "No more than one-third of proven reserves of fossil fuels can be consumed prior to 2050 if the world is to achieve the 2 degree Celsius goal. Under this scenario, nearly $44.8 billion of Chevron's planned capex through 2025 is at risk of stranding. The Proponent states that: Chevron's capital expenditures grew nearly 240 percent from 2005 to 2015; Chevron's operating profitability has fallen 107 percent over the last decade, and Chevron's 2016 ROE and ROIC are at historic lows. The Proponent states that shareholders require a plan for how Chevron will transition to a low carbon economy. Chevron's peers Total and Statoil have already begun investing in clean energy projects including wind and solar. Other strategies may include profitably shrinking the company's carbon-based asset base.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that the Company's processes for overseeing and managing the risk of stranded assets under possible future climate change regulation are described in "Managing Climate Change Risks: A Perspective for Investors". The Board disagrees with the premise of the proposal that future diversification of energy sources requires all energy producers to curtail production of fossil fuel resources and/or to diversify their portfolios proportionately. The Board believes that the Company is a capable and efficient energy producer, well positioned to participate in meeting future energy demand regardless of other energy sources that may become competitive.

PIRC Analysis: : The Board has substantially addressed the issues brought forward by the Proponent in its March 2017 statement "Managing Climate Change Risks: A Perspective for Investors". This is a significant and more sophisticated statement than from other US oil majors. However, much of the data it uses reflects the prevailing knowledge and understanding of the time. We recognise that the Company and the shareholder proponents are in a constantly changing paradigm of climate change research and adaptation. As a result whilst we recognise asset allocation decisions are for the Board's responsibility, the significance of the issues means that shareholder argument and challenge provide a valuable element in the new 'engagement landscape' on climate risk, We believe that the Company must continuously demonstrate it has reviewed all available knowledge in the field in order to reassure shareholders that it is on top of the risks involved. As a result we find the Proponent's intervention helpful in that process of challenge, while the Company proved to be able to produce a sophisticated statement. All in all, there appears to be fertile ground for cooperation between the Company and active shareholders, where the result may be greater than the sum of the two efforts. It is recommended to support this resolution.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Methane Emissions

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that Chevron provide a report (at reasonable cost, omitting proprietary information) using quantitative indicators, on the Company's actions beyond regulatory requirements to minimise methane emissions, particularly leakage, from the Company's hydraulic fracturing operations.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that Methane emissions contribute significantly to climate change, with an impact of roughly 86 times that of carbon dioxide over a 20 year period. The 2017 International Energy Agency's World Energy Outlook finds that methane emissions from the oil and gas value chain are among the cheapest to abate of all anthropogenic emissions. The Proponent adds that as an indication of the importance of methane emissions, peers including Exxon, Shell, and BP recently committed to a set of guiding principles to reduce methane emissions and improve transparency.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that it is unnecessary in light of Chevron's demonstrated efforts and progress in managing methane emissions and its independent motivation to do so. Over the past several years, Chevron has worked internally and with industry partners to reduce methane emissions, including through the application of technologies and deployment of best practices. In addition, the Company continues to work collectively with its peers to further develop an understanding of the entire natural gas lifecycle with a focus on methane emissions. Finally, over the past several years, Chevron has enhanced its reporting of methane emissions reduction activities, including highlighting some of these activities in its 2016 Corporate Responsibility Report.

PIRC Analysis: The Proponent is seeking additional disclosure; which is considered acceptable. It is considered that reporting on sustainability issues is in shareholders' interests both as a means of informing shareholders of potential risks and opportunities faced by the Company, but also as a means of ensuring that the management and the Board give due consideration to these issues. It is believed that additional disclosure would be of benefit to shareholders who could make a more informed judgement on potential risks and ethical aspects related to their investment.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Require Independent Board Chairman

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board adopt as policy to require the Chair of the Board, whenever possible, to be an independent member of the Board.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that inadequate board oversight has led management to mishandle a number of issues and the most pressing of these issues is the ongoing legal effort by communities in Ecuador to enforce a $9.5 billion judgment against the Company for oil pollution. The Proponent states that instead of negotiating an expedient, fair, and comprehensive settlement with the affected communities in Ecuador, management has pursued a costly legal strategy that has led to significant missteps, including moving the case from New York to Ecuador.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that that shareholder interests are best served when Directors have the flexibility to determine the best person to serve as Chairman and implementing this proposal would deprive the Board of its ability to organise its functions in a manner that is most effective and in the best interests of shareholders at any given time. Also, the Board argues that although the proposal purports to relate to the Board's leadership structure, the supporting statement makes clear that the proposal is fundamentally a vehicle to discuss the Ecuador litigation and related actions against Chevron. The Board believes that the Ecuador judgment is illegitimate and the product of fraud.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is also considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, and judge that in practice this means that there should be an independent Chairman. Support is therefore recommended.

Results: For: 23.8, Abstain: 0.7, Oppose/Withhold: 75.5,

9. Shareholder Resolution: Require Director Nominee with Environmental Experience

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that as elected board directors' terms of office expire, at least one candidate is recommended who: has a high level of expertise and experience in environmental matters relevant to hydrocarbon exploration and production and is widely recognised in the business and environmental communities as an authority in such field, as reasonably determined by the company's board, and will qualify, subject to exceptions in extraordinary circumstances explicitly specified by the board, as an independent director.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that the Company would benefit by addressing the environmental impact of its business at the most strategic level by appointing an environmental specialist to the Board. Also, the Proponent argues that a Company's inability to demonstrate that policies and practices are in line with internationally accepted environmental standards can lead to difficulties in raising new capital and obtaining the necessary licenses from regulators.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and believes that its current membership possesses significant environmental experience and that as a matter of good governance, the elected members of the Board Nominating and Governance Committee should not be arbitrarily constrained in their assessment of which skills and experience best serve the present and expected future needs of the Board. The Board argues that it currently includes a number of independent Directors with significant environmental and operational experience relevant to Chevron's business. Also, the Board believes that the proposal is unnecessary and would narrow the pool of eligible Directors for consideration.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the Board might benefit from a director with relevant experience in climate and carbon risk, which is an increasingly significant strategic and financial issue for Chevron and shareholders. The issue of climate risk is of high priority to a significant number of shareholders and the Board could benefit from the election of a director to strengthen the capability of the Board to determine the company's strategic direction and response to the issue of climate risk. However, it is incumbent upon the Board to ensure that it collectively possesses the capability, supplemented by external advice as necessary, to manage the business of the Company. In this context past experience has shown that the Board has been excessively reluctant to accept shareholder advice on a number of crucial issues to do with the company business model. As a result there is considerable risk that the Board will not manage the existential threat of the carbon crisis to the company business model now and in the future appropriately. On this crucial aspect of its business model a suitably qualified, and generally regarded, climate risk expert on the Board would be a significant mitigating factor in the Board's approach to managing its climate risks and therefore will give added confidence to shareholders. A vote for is recommended. It is noted that at the 2017 meeting, 19.12% of shareholders supported the proposal.

10. Shareholder Resolution: Reduce Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meeting

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board take the steps necessary to amend Company bylaws and appropriate governing documents to give holders of 10% of outstanding common stock the power to call a special shareholders meeting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent believes that management has mishandled a variety of issues in ways that significantly increase both risk and costs to shareholders and the most pressing of these issues is the ongoing legal effort by communities in Ecuador to enforce a $9.5 billion judgment against the Company for oil pollution. The Proponent states that instead of negotiating a fair settlement with the affected communities in Ecuador, the Company pursued a costly legal strategy that resulted in significant missteps – including moving the case from New York to Ecuador.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that in 2010, shareholders representing approximately 80% of the Company's common stock outstanding approved an amendment to Chevron's By-Laws that permits stockholders owning 15% of the Company's outstanding common stock to call for special meetings. The Board believes that the 15% threshold to call for a special meeting provides shareholders with assurance that a reasonable number of shareholders consider a matter important enough to merit a special meeting and the 15% threshold helps avoid waste of Company and shareholder resources on addressing narrow or special interests. Also, the Board argues that although the proposal purports to relate to special meetings, the supporting statement suggests that the proposal is nothing more than a vehicle to discuss the Ecuador litigation and related actions against Chevron. The Board believes that the Ecuador litigation is illegitimate and the product of fraud.

PIRC Analysis: The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The requested threshold recommended by the proponent is considered acceptable. Support is recommended. At the 2017 meeting, 31.45% of shareholders voted in favour of a similar proposal.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to David Meek, CEO with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. ### eBAY INC. AGM - 30-05-2018

4. Amend Articles: Ratify Existing Ownership Threshold for Shareholders to Call Special Meetings

The Board is seeking stockholder ratification of certain provisions of the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation (the "Charter") and Bylaws that grant stockholders who own at least 25% of the Company's outstanding shares of capital stock and satisfy other requirements the ability to direct the Company to call a special meeting of stockholders. The Company received a stockholder proposal in accordance with Rule 14a-8 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, asking the Board to take the necessary steps to amend its governing documents to give holders of 10% of the Company's outstanding shares of common stock the right to call a special meeting. The Company omitted the Stockholder Proposal from the Proxy Statement based on the Company's plans to submit this management proposal seeking ratification of the Company's current Special Meeting Threshold and Special Meeting Provisions.

The right to call a special shareholder meeting provides shareholders with a way of communicating with the Board and debating and voting on issues with the rest of shareholders, which in itself enhances shareholders' rights. The 25% threshold employed by the Board is considerably higher than the 10% suggested by the shareholder proposal. An oppose vote is recommended on the basis that this proposal essentially ignores the shareholder proposal brought forward but not presented at the general meeting.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Introduce an Independent Chairman Rule

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders are asking the Board to adopt a policy that, whenever possible, the Board chairman should be a director who has not previously served as an executive officer of the Company and who is "independent" of management.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that the Board of Directors, led by its chairman, is responsible for protecting shareholders' long-term interests by providing independent oversight of management, including the Chief Executive Officer, in directing the corporation's affairs. This oversight can be diminished when the chairman is not independent. An independent chairman who sets agendas, priorities, and procedures for the board can enhance its oversight and accountability of management and ensure the objective functioning of an effective board. The Proponent views the alternative of a lead outside director, even one with a robust set of duties, as adequate only in exceptional circumstances fully disclosed by the board.

Board's Opposing Argument: The retail industry is undergoing a period of disruptive transformation and, in order to meet the demands of its customers, the Board has embarked upon a long-term strategy to deliver a seamless customer experience in its stores and through e-commerce. This kind of transformation must be implemented carefully. The Board believes it has embraced the need for independence by establishing a Board leadership structure that balances the need for independent and effective leadership and oversight of risk while also maintaining a strong alignment with Walmart's strategic business objectives. Unlike many other companies in the Fortune 100, Walmart has separated the roles of Chairman and CEO since 1988. This separation of roles allows the Chairman to focus on oversight and governance matters and allows the CEO to focus on managing the Company's complex daily operations and implementing the directives of the Board. Furthermore, since 2004, the Board has appointed an Independent Director to serve in the role of Lead Independent Director, who is expected to cultivate and express an independent perspective to the CEO, the Chairman, and the remaining members of the Board.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that an independent Chairman can provide independent oversight of management and facilitates clearer lines of accountability with respect to corporate decisions. It is considered that all board meetings (not just those of independent directors) should be led by an independent director, which means that there should be an independent Chairman. A support vote is therefore recommended. At the 2016 meeting, 14.81% of shareholders vote in favour of a similar proposal calling for an independent Chairman.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Report on racial or ethnic pay gaps

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request Walmart prepare a report, omitting proprietary information and prepared at reasonable cost demonstrating the Company does not have any racial or ethnic pay gaps.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that progress on meeting Walmart's Diversity Goals Programme to create "accelerated opportunity to our women and people of color" is aided by the disclosure of statistics. However, Walmart also does not report on race or ethnicity pay gaps. And, while Walmart's hourly workforce is about 50% part-time, the Company does not report on the whether people of colour are concentrated in these typically lower-compensated positions. The Proponent adds that with Walmart's commitment to having a "workplace that is inclusive of all people" and "us[ing] data to measure progress," not reporting racial and ethnic pay gaps or the composition of the part-time workforce is a glaring omission. A diverse workforce increases access to talent, innovation and growth and safeguards company reputation.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as since fiscal 2005, NEOs and many other management associates have had performance objectives under the Company's culture, diversity and inclusion programme. The Board's Compensation and Management Development Committee established these objectives because it believes that diversity and inclusion contribute to an engaged and effective workforce. The Board adds that it constantly strives to create a work environment where the diverse backgrounds and experiences of associates are not only respected but also valued and embraced. Its compensation plans and programmes are designed to encourage high performance and fairly reward associates regardless of their race, ethnicity, gender, or other personal demographic.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the report requested by the Proponent is reasonable and would underpin the Company's efforts in fostering diversity and thereby enhancing its reputation. Accordingly, support for the proposal is recommended.

SIRIUS MINERALS PLC AGM - 31-05-20182. Approve Remuneration Policy*

Disclosure: Disclosure is not in line with best practice.

Balance: Total potential rewards for the CEO under all incentive schemes are considered excessive at 700% of salary in exceptional circumstances and 375% of salary normally. For Executive Directors, it is expected that annual bonus above 100% will be deferred into shares for two years. There is no formal performance period for the LTIP. It is stated that performance conditions may be achieved, so that awards vest, before the third anniversary of the date of grant. However, vested shares will ordinarily, only be released to the Executive Directors so that they can dispose of them (other than sales to cover tax liabilities arising in relation to the award) before the fifth anniversary of the date of grant of the award if the Executive Director satisfies the shareholding guideline. LTIP's may be based on financial and strategic measures. However performance conditions are not stated. Two or more performance criteria operating interdependently are considered best practice. Malus and clawback provisions operate on the annual bonus and LTIP.

Contract: Maximum notice period cannot exceed one year in any circumstance. There is no evidence to suggest there are exceptional limits for recruitment included in the policy. However it is noted that the Remuneration Committee has discretion to include other elements of pay for new Executive recruits. In addition, the Remuneration Committee has significant discretion to alter terms of the bonus or LTIP upon recruitment. There is no evidence that upside discretion may not be exercised by the Committee for 'good leavers' and on a change of control. It is noted that the CEO's notice increases to 12 months on a change of control.

Balance: The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is acceptable at 6:1. The CEO salary is considered to be in the median of PIRC's comparator group. The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are in line with the changes in Company's TSR performance over the same period. The CEO's total variable pay for the year under review amounts to 70% of salary (Annual bonus: 70% and no LTIP) which is appropriate.

RAYTHEON COMPANY AGM - 31-05-2018

4. Shareholder Resolution: Amend Proxy Access Right

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponents request the Board to amend its proxy access bylaw provisions and any associated documents, to include the following changes for the purpose of decreasing the average amount of Company common stock the average member of a nominating group would be required to hold for 3-years to satisfy the aggregate ownership requirements to form a nominating group and to increase the possible number of proxy access director candidates:

Proponents Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that under current provisions, even if the 20 largest public pension funds were able to aggregate their shares, they would not meet the 3% criteria for continuous 3-years at most companies examined by the Council of Institutional Investors. Additionally many of the largest investors of major companies are routinely passive investors who would be unlikely to be part of the proxy access shareholder aggregation process. For 20 shareholders to make use of the current proxy access -the average holding for such a group of 20 Raytheon shareholders would be USD 81 million each. Yet it might take an average current holding of USD 162 million or USD 243 million each when any stock held for less than 3 continuous years is subtracted.

Boards Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it does not believe that the adoption of the proxy access bylaw set forth in the stockholder proposal is in the best interests of stockholders. The current 20-shareholder limit in the Proxy Access By-Law ensures that the proxy access mechanism is not driven by a large number of shareholders, no one of which has a meaningful economic stake in Raytheon. The board believes that raising the potential level of Board representation to 25% of the Board would have unintended effects that would be harmful to shareholder value.

PIRC Analysis: The amendment sought by the Proponent is considered acceptable, it is unclear why the Board believes the move would be disruptive. On this basis, shareholders are advised to support the proposal as the move could strengthen shareholder democracy, and it is considered that the proposal would help to increase independent representation on the Board.

3. Shareholder Resolution: Approve Recapitalization Plan for all Stock to Have One-vote per Share

Proposed by: Not disclosed.

The Proponent asks for the Board to take all practicable steps to adopt a recapitalisation plan for all outstanding shares to have one vote per share, which would include negotiations with Class B shareholders to request that they relinquish, for the common good of all shareholders, any pre-existing disproportionate rights.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent takes issue with the Company's current dual class voting structure, under which Mr. Zuckerberg personally controls the firm with over 52% of the vote, though he owns only 14.36% of the economic value of the firm. The Proponent states that the Company takes public shareholder money, but does not permit shareholders to have an equal voice in the Company's management. This is most apparent in last year's vote to approve a third, non-voting, share of stock which has been described as a move that specifically sought to ensure that Mr. Zuckerberg retain control of our Company despite his plan to transfer the majority of his Facebook stock over time to the "Chan Zuckerberg Initiative LLC, an actual corporation under his control that can even turn a profit. Despite that almost 1.5 billion shares of stock voted AGAINST the creation of the non-voting class, Mr. Zuckerberg's voting power alone was able to vote in the creation of the class. And despite the high percentage of insider votes, the 2016 version of this shareholder proposal at the Company won almost 1 billion "FOR" votes, illustrating investor support of this proposal.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board states that the Company has long had a dual class structure, and believes that it, and the continued leadership of Mr. Zuckerberg is in the best interests of the Company, and shareholders. The Board also states that investors were aware of the share structure when purchasing shares of the Company.

Conclusion: A vote for the resolution is recommended. The Company's current share structure allows for a small group of shareholders - and chiefly Mr. Zuckerberg, who is also Chairman and Chief Executive Officer - to have a disproportionate influence over the Company's affairs. A share structure of one vote per share is considered best practice. At the 2017 meeting 20.13% of shareholders voted in favour of this resolution.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Establish Board Committee on Risk Management

Proposed by: Trillium Asset Management

The Proponent requests Facebook's Board issue a report discussing the merits of establishing a Risk Oversight Board Committee (at reasonable cost, within a reasonable time, and omit confidential and proprietary information).

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that according to an article published by The Conference Board in the Harvard Law School Forum on Corporate Governance and Financial Regulation: A risk committee fosters an integrated, enterprise-wide approach to identifying and managing risk and provides an impetus toward improving the quality of risk reporting and monitoring, both for management and the board. This approach can assist the board in focusing on the "big picture." A risk committee can also provide greater support for company executives who are given broad risk management responsibilities, resulting in a stronger focus at the board level on the adequacy of resources allocated to risk management. Finally, it allows the audit committee and other board committees to focus on their respective core responsibilities. The Proponent adds that Facebook's technological advances and scale appear to be significantly challenging the ability to understand its impact on society and may be creating numerous financial risks which could present material challenges to the Company and its shareholders.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that a thorough and strategic approach to risk oversight is critical to the Company and that its current approach to risk oversight ensures that it identifies, evaluates, and addresses its unique risks while providing a "big picture" perspective through regular engagement with key members of management and appropriate delegation to its current board committees. The audit committee has the responsibility for overseeing the Company's major financial, legal, and regulatory risk exposures, which span a variety of areas including litigation, regulatory compliance, reputational and policy matters, platform integrity efforts, financial reporting, cybersecurity, and international operations. The audit committee also oversees the steps management has taken to monitor and control these exposures, including policies and procedures for assessing and managing risk and related compliance efforts. Finally, the audit committee oversees the internal audit function. The compensation & governance committee evaluates risks arising from the Company's corporate governance and compensation policies and practices.

PIRC Analysis: A Risk Oversight Committee is habitually established to assist the Board of Directors in their responsibility for management and oversight of matters relating to financial and other risk exposure faced by the Company and the assessment, monitoring and control of such risks. While the Board has shown that its existing policies and practices with regards to risk management partially address the concerns identified by the Proponent, the establishment of a committee would ensure a concentration of efforts in managing company risks and is considered to be a positive move. We note that Facebook was at the center of an alleged scandal in regards to personal data breaches in connection with data firm Cambridge Analytica. Support is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Adopt Simple Majority Vote

Proposed by: Not Disclosed

The Proponent requests that the Board take each step necessary so that each voting requirement in the Charter and Bylaws that calls for a greater than simple majority vote be eliminated, and replaced by a requirement for a majority of the votes cast for and against applicable proposals, or a simple majority in compliance with applicable laws.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that shareowners are willing to pay a premium for shares of companies that have excellent corporate governance. Supermajority voting requirements have been found to be one of six entrenching mechanisms that are negatively related to company performance according to "What Matters in Corporate Governance" by Lucien Bebchuk, Alma Cohen and Allen Ferrell of the Harvard Law School. This proposal topic won from 74% to 99% support at Weyerhaeuser, Alcoa, Waste Management, Goldman Sachs, FirstEnergy, McGraw-Hill, Macy's, Ferro Arconic, and Cognizant Technology Solutions.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that supermajority voting requirements relating to a few fundamental elements of our corporate governance are triggered only if and when the number of outstanding shares of Class B common stock represent less than a majority of the total voting power. In that limited circumstance, the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the voting power is required for stockholders to amend or repeal the amended and restated bylaws or certain provisions of the restated certificate of incorporation. Under the Company's restated certificate of incorporation, approval of most matters submitted to a vote of stockholders requires the vote of a majority of the voting power of the shares of the capital stock present at the meeting and entitled to vote

PIRC Analysis: It is considered to be best practice that shareholders should have the right to approve most matters submitted for their consideration by a simple majority of the shares voted. There are concerns that the supermajority provisions which relate to the Company's corporate governance documents could frustrate attempts by the majority of shareholders to make the Company more accountable or strengthen the independence of the Board. Support is therefore recommended.

6. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Major Global Content Management Controversies (Fake News)

Proposed by: Arjuna Capital

The Proponent requests Facebook issue a report to shareholders, at reasonable cost, omitting proprietary or legally privileged information, reviewing the efficacy of its enforcement of its terms of service related to content policies and assessing the risks posed by content management controversies (including election interference, fake news, hate speech, sexual harassment, and violence) to the company's finances, operations and reputation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that shareholders are concerned that Facebook's failure to have proactively addressed these issues poses significant regulatory, legal, and reputational risks to shareholder value. Disclosures have been inadequate. Content policies appear reactive, not proactive. As such, Facebook is embroiled in a string of controversies that have demonstrated the broad potential for misuse of its platform to spread lies, propaganda, and hate. The Proponent adds that In May 2017, Elle outlined how the company's online platform perpetuates sexual harassment in an article entitled, "Why Facebook's Harassment Policies Fail to Protect Women." In September 2017, it was reported that Facebook enabled advertisers to seek out self-described anti-Semites. Within days, Facebook worked to block such targeted advertising. But only when confronted with a Congressional investigation did Facebook agree to address vulnerabilities that can be exploited for election interference and to make political ads more transparent.

Board's Opposing Argument: Given the Company's existing terms of service, community standards, and other policies that govern the types of content that may be shared or prohibited, the Board believes that preparation of the report contemplated by this proposal is unnecessary and not beneficial to stockholders. Therefore, the Board recommends that stockholders vote against this proposal.

PIRC Analysis: The topic of 'fake news' appears to be a key concern for many investors, and in particular Facebook, which has been in the media for allegedly being used to spread such information. The production of this one-off report, would help to inform investors on the Company's policies surrounding the issue, and allow Facebook to provide a more comprehensive narrative on how it is tackling the spread of 'fake news'. On this basis, shareholders are advised to vote in favour of the proposal.

7. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Gender Pay Gap

Proposed by: Not disclosed.

The Proponent asks for the Board to prepare a report, omitting proprietary information and at reasonable cost, on the Company's policies and goals to reduce the gender pay gap. The report should include the percentage pay gap between male and female employees across race and ethnicity, including base, bonus and equity compensation, policies to address that gap, methodology used, and quantitative reduction targets.

Supporting Argument: The Proponent cites a number of statistics regarding the gender pay gap in the US generally and within the technology workforce more specifically. The Proponent also cites statistics that indicate gender diversity leads to better corporate financial performance. At Facebook, approximately 33 percent of the Company's employees are women, and women account for only 27 percent of the firm's leadership. S&P 500 peers companies including Intel, Apple, Expedia, Adobe, Amazon, Microsoft, and eBay have publicly reported and committed to gender pay equity.

Opposing Argument: The Board recommends a vote against the proposal. The Board states that the Company already publishes an annual report on its global workforce gender diversity and U.S. ethnic diversity, and that it has taken steps to increasingly diversify the workforce with respect to women and minorities, including partnerships with other technology companies. The Board also states that it has previously completed and shared a statistical analysis and conclusion that women and men performing similar work earn the same compensation at the Company.

Conclusion: A vote against the resolution is recommended. The Board has demonstrated that the existing disclosure regarding pay parity at the Company and its ongoing efforts in this regard adequately address the concerns identified by the Proponent.

8. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Responsible Tax Principles

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

The Proponent requests that the Board of Directors respond to rising public pressure to limit offshore tax avoidance strategies by adopting and disclosing to shareholders a set of principles to guide Facebook's tax practices. For purposes of this Proposal, "offshore tax avoidance strategies" are transactions or arrangements that exploit differential tax treatment of financial instruments, asset transfers or entities by taxing jurisdictions to reduce a company's effective tax rate.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that corporations have paid a dwindling share of U.S. federal taxes over the last 65 years, from 32% in 1952 to only 10.6% in 2015. The Stop Tax Haven Abuse Act, introduced in the House in 2017, would eliminate certain strategies and impose additional reporting requirements. Members of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development and the G20 nations have agreed on a comprehensive package of measures to combat multinational tax avoidance. The Proponent adds that tax avoidance by corporations significantly affects public finances, which in turn can jeopardise key government services. Public opinion on offshore tax avoidance is decidedly negative. A June 2017 Hart poll found that "end[ing] tax breaks for corporations that stash their profits offshore" was the most important of 16 tax reform goals.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that as a company operating in more than 30 countries globally, they are subject to various differing tax regimes at the local, state, and national levels. The Company is already taking proactive steps to change its tax policies to increase transparency. In December 2017, the Board announced that it plans to move to a local selling model in all countries where they have an office to support sales to local advertisers. The Company is making this proactive global change to provide more transparency to governments and policymakers around the world who have called for greater visibility over the revenue associated with locally supported sales in their countries. Because the Company continuously assesses its tax policies and practices in light of the changing regulatory landscape and developments in its business, and provides disclosure concerning its tax policies and risks, it believes that this proposal is not necessary and would not be beneficial to stockholders.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that transparent and responsible tax strategies should constitute a benchmark for corporation's diligence in promoting good corporate governance principles. The report would allow the Company to formulate its own principles, is not considered to be too directive and would be a risk mitigating strategy in itself. Support is recommended.

CARD FACTORY PLC AGM - 31-05-2018*10. Approve Remuneration Policy

Policy Changes On the whole, the proposed policy changes are welcome. The LTIP award is being replaced with a Restricted Shares. The introduction of this scheme will lower the overall quantum of the variable award opportunity which is welcome and, although no formal performance conditions are attached to the award, the Committee states it will consider financial and non-financial KPIs of the business as well as delivery against strategic priorities. The maximum pension opportunity is now 5% of salary which is not considered to be overly excessive. Furthermore, the policy will change so as to include more than one performance condition for the Annual bonus which is welcome. Also, the level of shareholding required to be built and maintained has increased from 200% and 150% of salary to 250% and 200% of salary for the Chief Executive and Chief Financial Officer, respectively which, although no time-limit has been applied to the requirement, further aligns directors objectives with those of the shareholder. Although the proposed changes are welcome, there remain some important concerns surrounding the new policy.

Balance: Total potential awards under all incentive schemes amount to 212.5% which slightly exceeds PIRC's best practice guideline of 200%. Also, there is no deferral period in place for the Annual Bonus, If participants have not met the minimum shareholding requirement, one third of the bonus (after payment of tax) must be used to acquire shares in the Company which must be held for three years, this approach is not in line with best practice as we would prefer to see at least 50% of the annual bonus deferred. Furthermore, the performance metrics are not operating interdependently, such that vesting under the incentive plan is only possible where all threshold targets are met.

Disclosure: Overall, disclosure is considered adequate.

Contracts: In the event of termination of employment, vesting of outstanding awards may be accelerated, fully. Also, the Committee has discretion to dis-apply the performance conditions and time pro-rata for time in service which is not considered appropriate.

STMICROELECTRONICS NV AGM - 31-05-2018*6. Approve Restricted Stock Grants to President and CEO

It is proposed to approve the grant to Mr. Jean-Marc Chery of up to a maximum number of 100,000 common shares, in the form of Unvested Stock Awards. The stock awards (if any) will vest 32% one year, a further 32% two years and the remaining 36% three years, respectively after the date of the grant as defined by the plan, provided that Mr. Chery is still an employee at such time. Performance criteria are not quantified, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

The Board is seeking approval of an amendment to the Certificate of Incorporation to add a new Article Eleventh designating the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware as the sole and exclusive forum for specified legal actions unless otherwise consented to by the Company.

It is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the location for legal actions, and that shareholders should have as wide a range of options for bringing grievances against the Company where appropriate. Also, it is considered that designating the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware as the exclusive forum for the adjudication of certain legal actions involving the Company would constitute a weakening of shareholder rights. An oppose vote is recommended.

GVC HOLDINGS PLC AGM - 06-06-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. However, the future performance conditions for both the annual bonus and LTIP awards are not disclosed as the Committee are waiting until after the planned acquisition of Ladbrokes Coral. Furthermore, It is noted that over 43% of shareholders opposed the Remuneration Report at the last AGM and the Company have not disclosed any formal steps that are being taken to address these concerns.

Balance: The legacy LTIP awards granted to certain Directors of the Company during the year raise significant concerns. These are considered excessive as the CEO was awarded options with a face value of £44,912,173 while the chairman received a £22,479,079 award. These awards will vest gradually over a 30 month vesting period, based on company's relative TSR performance. The vesting is only based on achieving a TSR performance above median of the comparator group, which is not considered challenging. Furthermore, the Company state that to the extent that the TSR condition is not met at that time, it shall be tested in the next quarter and at the end of the 30-month vesting period which infers that the Company are affording directors who are in receipt of the legacy awards multiple opportunities at achieving the determined conditions. There are concerns that the annual bonus targets may not be sufficiently challenging given the maximum possible bonus was paid. This is of particular concern considering that the bonus for the CEO vested in full for the year under review, however, the policy enabling this award was brought into practice on 14 December 2017 meaning that the award was granted based on performance prior to the policy's existence. It is further noted that the policy vote providing the mandate to make the award received significant shareholder dissent (27.5%). Moreover, it is considered inappropriate that the remuneration committee would allow the annual bonus to be subject to only one financial performance condition (EBITDA) and vest in full considering the excessiveness of the legacy awards which were also subject to financial metrics. In order to mitigate against rewarding directors for the same performance, best practice would have seen the committee use its discretion to amend the performance conditions to reflect a variety of non-financial metrics. Also, the ratio between CEO pay and average employee pay is inappropriate at 83:1. Rating: DE

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. However, the remuneration report received significant shareholder opposition at last year's AGM (20.79%). The Committee has included a statement which highlights the reasons for the significant level of shareholder opposition, and has highlighted shareholder engagement in the past which references the reason for the significant level of opposition.

The CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary did not change while the change in employees' salaries was an increase of 1.8%. The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. EPSP awards granted during the year under review are highly excessive at 601% of salary for the CEO. Total variable pay for the year under review is highly excessive, amounting to 1060% of salary for the CEO; this considerably exceeds the recommended limit of 200% of salary. There was no pay-out under the STIP due to performance targets not being achieved. A significant portion of the CEO's variable pay for the year under review was paid in the form of dividend equivalents, which is contrary to best practice. Dividend equivalents amounted to £2,170,000 for the CEO - 188.9% of his salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable at 81:1. There is no mention of any termination payments that are planned or have been made to the recently departed CEO. However, upon engaging with the Company, it was revealed that Martin Sorrell will be treated as having retired on leaving the Company under the share scheme rules. Consequently, his outstanding share awards will be pro-rated for time in line with the plan rules and will vest over the next five years, to the extent performance targets are achieved. No discretion was exercised. He did not receive any compensation for loss of office and he will not be entitled to any future payments in lieu of notice following his retirement.

4. Re-elect Roberto Quarta

Chairman. Independent upon appointment. Upon the departure of Sir Martin Sorrell, Roberto Quarta assumed the position of Executive Chairman on an interim basis. The appointment of a chairman in an executive capacity is considered to be an obstacle to independence. The Chairman should meet the definition of independence upon appointment in order to effectively fulfill his role. Given the role of the chair and non-executives in holding the executive management accountable, the Board Chairman should be a separate role to that of an Executive Director, who has operational responsibilities. Nevertheless, there is evidence of de facto division of responsibilities at the head of the Company, as the Company, upon engagement, made clear that Mr Quarta does not have the responsibilities of the Chief Executive, and that the running of the Company is undertaken by the joint Chief Operating Officers. Furthermore, the Company also states that the Board is conducting an internal and external review process on an expedited basis to confirm the appointment of the new CEO, at which point Mr Quarta will return to be the Non-Executive Chairman. Mr Quarta is Chairman of Smith & Nephew plc, a FTSE 100 company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention onto the only one FTSE 350 Company. PIRC issue: Furthermore, there are concerns over the Company's succession planning, as is exemplified by the lack of planning in the aftermath of the CEO's departure. As Chair of the Nomination and Governance Committee, concerns are raised over Mr Quarta's oversight of succession planning in the Company.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus are disclosed as are the expected values for all share incentives for each director. It is noted that the Company received significant opposition at the last AGM to its remuneration report (45.57%). Whilst the Company has acknowledged shareholder concern over the level of stretch regarding the LTIP award, little has been attempted to address this dissent. The issue from PIRC's perspective is that the free cash flow figure used as the performance condition for the PSP is "adjusted". We consider that adjustments to cash flow for remuneration purposes are inappropriate. In this case, the company defines adjusted free cash flow as cash generated from operations, plus property disposal proceeds (excluding sale and leaseback) but less capital expenditure. This is not considered appropriate as defining cash flow in such narrow terms results in the basis of the PSP award failing to take into account free cashflow as a whole. This approach leaves the award vulnerable to artificial manipulation as a means to increase the overall quantum of director compensation.

Balance: The CEO's total realised variable pay is considered excessive at 555.4% of salary (Annual Bonus: 197.4% of salary, LTIP: 358% of salary). Also, the LTIP grant for the year is considered excessive at 300% of salary. Furthermore, the ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 160:1. The CEO's salary is considered as being in the median range of a peer comparator group. The changes in CEO total pay are not considered in line with Company financial performance over the same period. Over the five year period average annual increase in CEO pay has been approximately 58.3% whereas, on average, TSR has increased by 3.71%

JD SPORTS FASHION PLC AGM - 28-06-2018*2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is not acceptable. There is limited information provided regarding LTIP awards to be granted in the future. More noteworthy, however, is that the remuneration report received significant shareholder opposition (22.22%) at last year's AGM. There is no evidence that the Company engaged with shareholders in relation to the significant opposition, nor is there any evidence that concerns behind the opposition have been addressed.

The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. Total variable pay is 200% of salary which is just on the limit of acceptable pay. However, this is due to the fact that only the annual bonus was rewarded. Any LTIP vesting would take the variable pay above the limit of 200% of salary, showing the level of annual bonus rewards. Given this level, there are concerns over how challenging the performance targets used are. The change in the Executive Chairman's salary is not in line with the rest of the Company, as the Executive Chairman's salary rose by 10.5% while the salary change for the average UK head office employee was an increase of only 4.4%. Such a difference in the salary changes between the two groups is considered inappropriate. The Executive Chairman's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group. The ratio of the Executive Chairman's pay compared to average employee salary is unacceptable at 111:1, although it is noted that the Company is in the retail sector. Rating: CD.

4. Re-elect Peter Cowgill

Executive Chairman. 12 months rolling contract. There is no evidence of de facto division of responsibilities as there is no separate Chief Executive. The Chairman should meet the definition of independence upon appointment in order to effectively fulfill his roles. Given his role, in holding the executive management accountable, the Board Chairman should be a separate role to that of an Executive Director, who has operational responsibilities. In the absence of de facto division of responsibilities, an oppose vote is recommended. Furthermore, he is Chairman of the Nomination Committee and no target has been set to increase the level of female representation on the Board, which is currently insufficient at 16.7%.

The Company has received an overall 'E' rating.

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Remuneration Table are adequately categorised and disclosed. The increase in CEO salary and pay is in line with the rest of the workforce and performance conditions and targets for both the annual bonus and LTIPs are disclosed.

Balance:

Changes in CEO pay over the last five years is considered in line with Company's financial performance over the same period. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay is at an acceptable level of 14:1. However, the CEO's total realised rewards for the year under review is considered excessive with the LTIP alone accounting for 338.2 % of the base salary. As part of his recruitment package, Soumen Das was awarded 300 per cent of salary in respect of the 2017 LTIP which is considered inappropriate.

PIRC issue: As Chairman of the Nomination Committee Mr Corbett is responsible for ensuring that the board has adequate gender representation. The board is PwC proposed. The auditor has been place for two years. Non-audit fees represented 60.49% of audit fees during the year under review and 32.59% on a three-year aggregate basis.

PIRC issue: Although this level of non-audit fees would normally raise concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor the Company has detailed the nature of non-audit fees which relate to a rights issue.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

22. Approve New SEGRO plc 2018 Long Term Incentive Plan.

Disclosure is adequate. The LTIP awards are only assessed based on financial measures: TSR and TPR, with no linkage made to non-financial KPIs. Total potential awards are excessive as the scheme has a maximum opportunity of £1.845 million or 300% of salary (in exceptional circumstances) which is highly excessive. The performance period is measured over a three-year period which is not considered sufficiently long-term. Malus and clawback provisions have been preserved. Award holders may receive a payment in cash or shares equal in value to any dividends that would have been paid. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not. Furthermore LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is a risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company. They can act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company under-performance and long term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. An oppose vote is recommended.

5.2.3. Elect Remuneration Committee Member: Jacques de Vaucleroy

This director is considered to be independent. Support would be normally recommended. ### 1.1. Approve Remuneration Report (Non-Binding)

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, opposition is recommended based on potential excessive remuneration.

Vote Cast: Oppose

3. Approve Variable Short-Term Remuneration of Executive Committee

It is proposed to approve the retrospective short-term variable remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to allocate to members of the Executive Committee a bonus of CHF 12,999,781 for 2017 (CHF 18,263,261 were paid for 2016), that is approximately 100% of the salary and allowances, which is broadly in line with best practice. The Company submitted two separate proposals for Executives fixed and variable remuneration, which is welcomed. The proposed amount covers both cash bonus and deferred bonus. The Ordinance Against Excessive Payments provides that if compensation is not approved, it may not be paid. The Company has disclosed achievements and financial indicators. However, quantified performance criteria, pre-determined quantified targets and how they work interdependently to the composition of the bonus remain undisclosed. On this basis, it is impossible to verify whether the bonus overpays against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

Vote Cast: Abstain

Results: For: 88.6, Abstain: 0.7, Oppose/Withhold: 10.7,

5.4. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 1.31% of audit fees during the year under review and 2.78% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

6.2. Approve Maximum Amount of Fixed Compensation and Variable Long-term Compensation

It is proposed to approve the prospective remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee for the FY 2018 at CHF 34 million (CHF 34 million was proposed last year). This proposal includes fixed and long-term variable remuneration components.

The Company has submitted its compensation structure to an advisory vote, which is recommended by the local Corporate Governance Code. There are concerns over the remuneration structure at the Company: such as potential excessiveness and overpayment for long-term variable component. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

8. Appoint the Auditors

Moore Stephens LLP proposed. Non-audit fees represented 6.25% of audit fees during the year under review and 6.16% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The date of appointment of the current audit firm is undisclosed, meaning the length of tenure is not known. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

11. Approve Related Party Transaction

Approval is sought for the Interested Person Transaction (IPT Mandate) to facilitate transactions in the normal course of business among the Company, its subsidiaries or affiliate companies, directors, chief executive officer(s), controlling shareholders of the Company and their respective associates and relatives.

Whilst it is stated that procedures are in place to ensure the transactions are conducted at arm's length basis, such general authorities are not supported, as they do not allow thorough assessment of proposals from shareholders. Specific details relating to specific transactions should be provided to shareholders. Also, there is insufficient independence on the Board to provide objective oversight of the proposal. Opposition is therefore recommended.

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with a binding vote. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. Nevertheless, opposition is recommended based on potential excessive variable remuneration.

3. Approve Stock Option Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, participants will be allotted stock options, each of which will give right to one share. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure. LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

UNIPOL SAI ASSICURAZIONI S.P.A. AGM - 23-04-2018

O.1. Approve Financial Statements and Allocation of Income

Non-financial information has not been disclosed. The EU Non-Financial Reporting Directive stipulates that member states are required to disclose a non-financial statement containing relevant information as prescribed in the directive. Although companies are allowed to publish such statement until six months after the end of the financial year, it is considered that it should be disclosed to all shareholders in occasion of the annual general meeting. On this ground, abstention is recommended.

O.3.2. Approve Remuneration of Board of Statutory Auditors

No proposal is available at the present time. As per market practice, the proposed remuneration is likely to be made available only at the meeting. Although this is a common practice for a standard item in this market, support will not be suggested for resolutions concerning remuneration when sufficient information has not been made available for shareholders in sufficient time prior to the meeting, as such practice prevents shareholders from reaching an informed decision. Abstention from voting this resolution is recommended.

O.4. Approve Remuneration Policy

At this time, the remuneration report has not been made available on the Company's website, in either Italian or English language. This is considered to be a serious lack of disclosure, and below market practice.

E.1. Amend Articles: Article 13

It is proposed that slates of candidates should include a minimum of nine candidates. In principle, it is deemed reasonable that all slates should contain sufficient candidates to constitute a functioning board; however, this amendment would exclude many of the lists proposed by institutional investors. Some investors present lists with as little as one candidate, as they may not be interested in active management of the Company rather than active participation on behalf of minorities. Under the proposed conditions, only the majority shareholder will be able to propose such lists of candidates. To request that all proponents must govern the Board is against the spirit of the voto di lista, from which this market has benefited in terms of shareholder activism and as such, opposition is recommended.

There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to over payment against under performance. #### 6. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme/Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan. Under the plan, the CEO and other executives will be awarded rights to receive shares, which will start vesting after three years from the date of award. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries continued employment. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

8. Approve Remuneration Policy for the members of the Management Board.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

OZ MINERALS LIMITED AGM - 24-04-2018

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

In accordance with Section 250R of the Australian Corporations Act, the directors are seeking approval of the remuneration report. The Act does not require directors to act on approval of the resolution and the vote is advisory.

Concerns are raised as CEO variable awards have the potential to be excessive as combined grants under the Short Term Incentive (100% of base salary) and Long Term Incentive (150% of base salary) plans exceed the acceptable limit of 200% of base salary. Features of the Long Term Incentive Plan are not considered adequate as awards are based on performance conditions which do not operate interdependently contrary to best practice. The use of share price as performance indicator is also not supported and it is against practice that all awards under this performance element vest when the threshold target is achieved. An oppose vote is recommended.

4. Approve Equity Grant to Executive Director

The Board is seeking shareholder approval for the purposes of ASX Listing Rule 10.14 for the grant of 130,285 performance shares to Mr Cole, Chief Executive And Managing Director, under the Company's Long-term Incentive Plan. The proposed grant has an approximate value of AUD $800,000 which equates to 150% of his fixed remuneration.

Concerns over the plan are raised as awards under the LTI are based on the achievement of performance conditions which do not run interdependently and which do not include a non-financial element, contrary to best practice. The TSR vesting scales are not considered to be sufficient broad as they do not allow for three deciles between performance levels while 20% of LTI awards vest subject to a share price target. Despite the merit of having a higher share price is obvious to shareholders, its use as an incentivising tool remains questionable as share price movements are dependent on various factors, most of which are outside management's control. It is also against guidelines that all awards under this performance condition vest once the threshold target has been reached, as a vesting scale should ideally be used. At three year, the performance period is considered insufficiently long term and no further retention is used. It is noted a clawback policy exists but it seems this is only applicable to LTI awards.

TELECOM ITALIA SPA AGM - 24-04-2018*1. Shareholder Resolution: Revoke Six Directors from the Current Board of Directors

Submitted by Elliott International LP, Elliott Associates LP, and The Liverpool Limited Partnership.

It is proposed to revoke six directors from the Board (Arnaud Roy de Puyfontaine, Hervé Philippe, Frédéric Crépin, Giuseppe Recchi, Félicité Herzog and Anna Jones). The proponent argues that the main reason is that share price dropped by more than 30% since Vivendi took the coordination of the Company. Although those directors were proposed by Vivendi (and three of those directors being on the management board of Vivendi), it is considered that the proposed partial renewal of the Board would be a less-than-optimal solution, also in principle: the whole board should be held responsible for poor performance, and not only those directors proposed by the majority shareholder. In addition, Vivendi is the only significant shareholder, and it would not be reasonable to expect that it would have no directors connected. The Board at this time shows a combination of experience and independence that could be improved, although the best solution would be a re-election of the whole board. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

2. Elect Six Directors (Bundled)

It is proposed to appoint six Directors in replacement of those directors whose revocation is proposed under the previous resolution (Fulvio Conti, Massimo Ferrari, Paola Giannotti De Ponti, Luigi Gubitosi, Dante Roscini and Rocco Sabelli). Consistently with the previous recommendation, opposition is recommended.

4. Approve Financial Statements and Allocation of Income

At this time, the Company has not published an English language report, which is regrettable as the Company is a large entity as defined by the EU Audit Directive, which has legislative relevance for the European Economic Area (EEA). The Board also proposes a dividend of EUR 0.55 per saving share only, covered by earnings. Although there is no legal obligation in this market, it is considered that larger entities should publish also an English language version of their annual report, for consideration by international investors. On this basis, abstention is recommended.

There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. Severance agreements are excessive, and seem to leave room for discretion by the Board in terms of payout. On aggregate, opposition is recommended.

6. Approve Incentive Plan Reserved to the Chief Executive Officer of TIM SpA

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan, reserved to the CEO. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time. which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure. In addition, the vesting period of two years is considered to be short term.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

7.1. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme/Plan

It is proposed to approve the option plan on shares by which the members of the Executive Management and the personnel may receive in 2018 options relating to existing shares of a sub-subsiary of the Company. These options may be exercised upon the expiration of a period of three years after their granting pursuant to Article 520ter of the Companies Code and if the TSR at this anniversary date reaches at least 5%. This condition will have to be met at each further anniversary date for the exercises of each subsequent year, the TSR relating each time to the period since the grant. Other conditions, such as vesting of three years, remain unchanged. As such, the share plan is still considered to be short-term.

LTIPs are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. Opposition is recommended.

O.11. Amendment of the compensation criteria, in respect of financial year 2017, of the remuneration of Carlos Tavares, CEO

The Board proposes to amend the remuneration policy approved at the previous AGM in order to award an exceptional compensation to Mr Tavares, CEO of the Company. The amendment of the policy would allow the awarding of exceptional compensation in consideration of the development of the Open Vauxhall recovery plan "PACE!" which is in line with the targets set at the time of completion of the acquisition of Opel Vauxhall, and which was prepared within 100 days of the completion of this major transaction. Given that, at the time of the setting by the Supervisory Board of the principles and criteria of the compensation of Executive Directors of the Managing Board applicable for 2017, this exceptional event was unforeseeable, it could not have been included in the components submitted for the approval of the AGM of 10 May 2017. 6. Appoint the Auditors and Allow the Board to Determine their Remuneration

Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 2.36% of audit fees during the year under review and 9.79% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

8. Approve Grant of Options and Awards and Issuance of Shares Under The Venture Corporation Executives' Share Option Schemes and the Venture Corporation Restricted Share Plan

It is proposed to authorise the Board to issue options under the Company's Options scheme and shares under its Restricted Share Plan. The maximum of awards that can be issued under the plan is 10% of the share capital.. The Company does not describe the individual maximum limits and no other performance conditions have been provided. The share option scheme is not capped and there is no quantified criteria disclosed. The total remuneration exceeds recommended limits for the Chief Executive. Upon engagement with the Company, they stated that awards are based on job performance; years of service; potential for future development and contribution to the success and development of the Group. The vesting period has been determined to start from one year which is not considered sufficiently long term. There is no evidence a retention period is used. Similarly, disclosure with regards to the Restricted Share Plan is limited. There is evidence of a clawback policy in place. Provisions in the event of termination of employment are also fully provided. However, based on excessiveness concerns, opposition is thus recommended.

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Jean-Pascal Tricoire. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceeds 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component. Although common practice in this market as this is deemed sensitive information, this may lead to overpayment against underperformance. Furthermore, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim variable remuneration, which has been unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

It is proposed to elect Hans Stråberg as Chairman of the Board. He is not considered independent as he is connected to a significant shareholder in the Company. Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 33.78% of audit fees during the year under review and 25.71% on a three-year aggregate basis. #### 12.A. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration report with an advisory vote.

There is lack of disclosure with respect of targets and measurable criteria for variable remuneration, which prevents shareholders from making an informed assessment. The CEO's total variable remuneration is capped to 70% of his fixed salary and it may be overpaying for underperformance, in absence of quantified targets. Severance payments are capped at 2 years of salary. There are no claw back clauses in place which is against best practice. Variable remuneration is broadly in line with best practice; however based on the absence of claw back and excessive potential severance payments, opposition is recommended.

12.B. Approve Performance Based Stock Option Plan 2018 for Key Employees

The Board is seeking approval for renewal of the Company's performance based personnel option plan for 2018. The level of dilution is considered acceptable as it is less than 1% of total share capital. However qualified targets have not been disclosed.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. Opposition is recommended.

12.C. Approve Performance Based Stock Option Plan 2018 for Key Employees of Subsidiary Epiroc AB

The Board of Epiroc AB asks for the right to decide on the issuing of performance stock options that can give a maximum of 100 key personnel in the Epiroc group the possibility to acquire a maximum of 701,473 series A shares. Under the plan, the CEO and other executives will be awarded options/rights to receive shares, which will start vesting after three years from the date of award. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries continued employment. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Authority to transfer up to a maximum of 2,300,000 Company A shares to related to the personnel option plan to be approved in the 2017 AGM.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. As this proposal regards the financing aspect of the option plan, opposition is recommended.

O.5. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme

It is proposed to amend the Long-Term Incentive Plan. The 2017-2019 Long-Term Incentive Plan for 20 top managerial positions was approved during the last AGM and involves the annual granting of free shares up to a maximum incentive of 210% of fixed remuneration after three years to an extent connected with the results achieved in relation to the following parameters: EBITDA (60%), Net Adjusted Profit (30%), Sustainability (10%). The amendment proposed is to no longer set a limit of a maximum of 20 beneficiaries in order to extend participation in the share plan to other possible beneficiaries among the managers of the Company and its subsidiaries, with no change to the maximum number of the Company's treasury shares arising from the purchases made by the Company already made available to the aforementioned Share Plan.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. Despite positive changes, the overall reward from the LTIP is considered excessive and quantified targets were not disclosed. Opposition recommended.

ILUKA RESOURCES LTD AGM - 24-04-2018

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

In accordance with Section 250R of the Australian Corporations Act, the directors are seeking approval of the remuneration report. The Act does not require directors to act on approval of the resolution and the vote is advisory.

Features of the Long Term Incentive Plan are not considered adequate as awards are based on performance conditions which are not applied interdependently, also no non-financial metric is used. The performance period is not considered sufficiently long term. There is no evidence a clawback policy is in place. Also, the Board has a high level of upside discretion, in the event of termination of employment. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

4. Approve Equity Grant to Executive Director

The Board is seeking shareholder approval for the purposes of ASX Listing Rule 10.14 for the grant of cash (15%), Restricted Shares (52%) and Performance Rights (33%), Tom O'Leary, Chief Executive And Managing Director, under the Company's new Executive Incentive Plan for implementation in 2018. The proposed grant has an approximate value of AUD 1,862,000 which equates to 133% of his fixed remuneration and his maximum opportunity is $2,800,000, being 200% of his fixed remuneration.

Concerns over the plan are raised as awards are based on performance conditions which are not applied interdependently, also no non-financial metric is used. The performance period is not considered sufficiently long term. Moreover, it seems a clawback policy does not exist.

It is proposed to introduce a new long term incentive plan, the 2018 LTIP. The 2018 LTIP replaces the existing 2008 LTIP which expired on 4 March 2018. The awards made to award holders cannot exceed 250% of the award holder's basic salary, which leaves potential for excessive payment for underperformance. There is a three year vesting period which is considered to be insufficient for long term viability. Performance metrics and conditions have been fully quantified, which is very much welcome. There is clawback and malus clauses operate on the entirety of the long term incentive plan. On the basis of concerns over excessiveness and the the vesting period. Opposition is recommended.

6. Approve Remuneration Policy

Disclosure is considered adequate. In relation to balance of payments, potential maximum awards for the annual bonus and LTIP are considered excessive. These equate to 400% of base salary. The Remuneration Committee has discretion to award time based restricted shares to Executives (for retention or recruitment purposes). Such discretion and grants undermine the purpose of the policy and performance based schemes. The adjusted EPS performance condition is used for both the the Annual bonus and LTIP. This is not supported as it can lead to Directors being rewarded twice with regards to awards under the performance criterion. LTIP performance measures are not appropriately linked to non-financial KPIs. They also work independently. It is considered best practice that they work in an interdependent fashion. Performance period is three years, which is not considered sufficiently long term. It is noted an additional holding period applies. A clawback policy has been introduced, which is welcome. However, there is no evidence that schemes are available to enable all employees to benefit from business success without subscription. With regards to contracts, upside discretion may be applied when determining severance pay. Vesting of awards may be accelerated in the event of a takeover. On balance, an oppose vote is recommended.

RANK GROUP PLC EGM - 25-04-2018

1. Amend Existing Long Term Incentive Plan

Shareholders are being asked to approve minor changes to the rules of the Rank Group Plc 2010 Long-Term Incentive Plan (LTIP). The purpose of the proposed amendment is to permit the Remuneration Committee to take into account the personal performance of an award holder when determining whether all or any part of their Award should vest. The principal changes to the LTIP are as follows: the scope to make significant exceptional awards has been removed. Instead, the proposed policy has an overall aggregate limit covering the three-year policy period. The incentive grant will vest in three clear tranches and a holding period has been introduced which prevents the sale of vested shares until the fifth anniversary of grant. A single block award will be made to the current directors under the LTIP in April 2018. If the award is granted, there will be no further grants of long term incentives to those directors in the next three financial years (2018/19, 2019/20 and 2020/21). It is expected that the next long-term incentive grant would then be in 2021/22.

There are some positive aspects to the Company's Long-Term Incentive Plan, namely: the application of recovery and withholding provisions; the inclusion of non-financial KPIs in the performance conditions; a performance period that is longer than the LTIPs of other companies; and the application of a post-vesting holding period, which prevents the sale of vested shares until the fifth anniversary of grant. However, there remain some concerns. The performance period, though being longer than other LTIPs, is still not considered sufficiently long-term. The performance conditions do not operate interdependently. In addition, the single block award that will be granted has a maximum opportunity of 600% of salary, which is considered excessive. Despite no awards being granted in the three subsequent years, the award is still considered excessive. Ultimately, LTIPs are not considered to be an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. In light of the concern regarding excessiveness, an oppose vote is recommended.

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

Shareholders are being asked to approve the newly proposed remuneration policy, which was last approved by shareholders on 22 April 2015 and is due to expire this year. The principal changes to the policy are as follows: - The new policy will provide greater flexibility to offer relocation assistance in the form of an allowance or otherwise to support the movement of executives across the business. At the present time, there is no expectation that this benefit will be used. - Participation in all-employees share schemes, on the same basis as other employees, has also been included. - With regard to the annual bonus, the maximum opportunity has been increased from 100% of salary to 150% for the CEO, and from 80% of salary to 120% for other Executives. The bonus plan has also been simplified through the replacement of the annual bonus pool concept with one based on discrete objectives which determine the bonus to be paid. Recovery and withholding provisions will be introduced from 2017/18. - In relation to the LTIP, the scope to make exceptional awards has been removed. Instead, the proposed policy has an overall aggregate limit covering the three-year policy period. The incentive grant will vest in three clear tranches and a holding period has been introduced which prevents the sale of vested shares until the fifth anniversary of grant.

Overall disclosure is acceptable. Some of the aspects of the newly proposed policy are welcomed, such as the introduction of recovery and withholding provisions, the removal of an exceptional limit for LTIP awards, the introduction of a post-vesting holding period which prevents the sale of vested shares until the fifth anniversary of grant, and simplification of the annual bonus structure through removal of the pool system, return on shareholder funds (ROSF) measure and bonus rate modifier. However, the increase of the maximum opportunity of the annual bonus from 100% of salary to 150% for the CEO, and from 80% of salary to 120% for other Executives is not welcomed. This leads to a potential variable pay of 750% of salary for the CEO (when combined with the single block grant of the LTIP), which is considered excessive, given that the recommended limit for variable pay is 200% of salary. There remain other concerns, such as the share deferral element of the annual bonus. Any bonus earned by the Chief Executive above 100% of base salary and 80% of base salary for other directors will be deferred (normally in shares) for a period of two years. This is not considered adequate, as it is recommended that at least half of the annual bonus is deferred into shares. With respect to shareholding requirements set for Executives, there is no time limit set within which to build the required 200% of salary, which is not in line with best practice. In relation to contracts, the Committee may exercise upside discretion with regard to termination payments to good leavers, as there is no guarantee that the Committee may not dis-apply time pro-rating and performance conditions on incentive awards.

It is proposed to approve the number of 200,000 shares available for the Board of Management. Performance criteria are not quantified, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

3. Approve Cash Awards to Executive Management and Key Management Personnel

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan. Under the plan, the CEO and other executives will be awarded options/rights to receive shares, which will start vesting after three years from the date of award. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries continued employment. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

4. Approve Discharge of Board and Auditors

In this market, board discharge prevents lawsuits or claims for activities carried out during the year relating to facts that have not been disclosed to shareholders. With this resolution, the Board is seeking authority that Members of the Board of Directors and to other Executives of the Bank may participate in the Boards of Directors and/or in the Management of companies of the Bank's Group, having similar purposes to those of the Company. This authority is not sought for defined appointments. As a consequence, if approved, this authority may lead to potential time commitment concerns. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

In addition, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. ## EIFFAGE AGM - 25-04-2018

O.1. Approve Financial Statements

At this time, the Company has not published an English language version of the Reference Document, which is regrettable as the Company is a large entity as defined by the EU Audit Directive, which has legislative relevance for the European Economic Area (EEA). Although there is no legal obligation in this market, it is considered that larger entities should publish also an English language version of their annual report, for consideration by international investors. In addition, the Company has not appointed a Data Protection Officer or discussed the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Under the GDPR, it is mandatory for certain controllers and processors to designate a Data Protection Officer (DPO). It is considered that boards should ensure that risk assessment (including data protection and cyber risk) is complete for the entire organisation, and that appropriate security is provided for each type of data under use. Although applicable only from 25 May 2018, it is considered that the Company should be considered accountable for this lack of discussion and relevant appointment: abstention is recommended as a way to signal concern. However, as abstain is not a valid voting option for this meeting, opposition is recommended.

O.2. Approve Consolidated Financial Statements

At this time, the Company has not published an English language version of the Reference Document, which is regrettable as the Company is a large entity as defined by the EU Audit Directive, which has legislative relevance for the European Economic Area (EEA). Although there is no legal obligation in this market, it is considered that larger entities should publish also an English language version of their annual report, for consideration by international investors. However, as abstain is not a valid voting option for this meeting, opposition is recommended.

O.6. Approve Remuneration Policy for Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy for the Chairman and CEO. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.7. Approve Compensation of Benoit de Ruffray, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Benoit de Ruffray, Chairman and CEO with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.8. Authorise Share Repurchase

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.12. Issue Shares for Cash

Authority to issue shares without pre-emptive rights is proposed for less than 10% of the current share capital. However, the duration of the authority exceeds 12 months. It is considered that shareholders should have the occasion to vote on such resolutions annually.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.13. Approve Issue of Shares for Private Placement

The Board requests authority to approve a global authority for the issue of capital related securities without pre-emptive rights by private placement. The authorisation is valid up to 10% of the issued share capital over a period of 26 months. This authority is not requested in connection with a particular operation and has not been duly justified by the Company. Opposition is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.14. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

E.17. Approve Issue of Shares for Employee Saving Plan

Authority for a capital increase for more than 2% of the share capital (3.83%) for employees participating to saving plans. The maximum discount applied will be 20% on the market share price. It is considered that it is in the best interests of the company and its shareholders to provide employees with an opportunity to benefit from business success and increase their share ownership. However, the amount of the authorisation exceeds guidelines (2%). Opposition is therefore recommended.

E.18. Authorize up to 1.02% of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans

Proposal to authorize for 26 months the Board to allot shares free of charge to employees and executives. Share issued under this authorization will not enjoy pre-emptive rights and will be attributed free of charge to management or employees. The Board would maintain full discretion over the beneficiaries. Although most of the targets are quantified, not all of them are considered appropriate (such as EPS, which can be influenced by the management directly, via share buy-back); in addition, the performance period of three years is considered to be short term. Opposition is recommended.

BEIERSDORF AG AGM - 25-04-2018

5. Appoint the Auditors

There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. A.8.C. Approve Non-Executive Director Stock Option Grants

The Board proposes the approval of Non-Executive Director Stock Option Grants. Under the plan, non-executive directors will be awarded options to receive shares, which will start vesting after five years from the date of award. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries confined service. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability. In addition, granting stock options to non-executive directors may lead to their alignment with short-term results, when the vesting date is near, instead of continuous supervision of management.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. O.22. Approve Compensation of Philippe Audouin, Member of Management Board

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Philippe Audouin, Member of Management Board with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.23. Approve Termination Package of Patrick Sayer

It is proposed to approve the agreement with Patrick Sayer, related to the severance payment. The value of the proposed agreement may exceed one year fixed salary on aggregate, as it incorporates elements of the variable remuneration, opposition is recommended

E.32. Issue Shares for Cash

Authority to issue shares without pre-emptive rights is proposed for less than 10% of the current share capital. However, the duration of the authority exceeds 12 months. It is considered that shareholders should have the occasion to vote on such resolutions annually.

E.33. Approve Issue of Shares for Private Placement

The Board requests authority to approve a global authority for the issue of capital related securities without pre-emptive rights by private placement. The authorisation is valid up to 10% of the issued share capital over a period of 26 months. This authority is not requested in connection with a particular operation and has not been duly justified by the Company. Opposition is therefore recommended.

E.34. Approve Issue of Shares Deviating from Price Fixing Conditions

The Board requests authority to issue capital related securities without adhering to the general pricing conditions. Under this authority, the company would be authorised to issue shares at a discount of 10% up to a total of 10% of the issued share capital over a period of 12 months. Given concerns over the level of discount and the amount of the authority, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.35. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

E.39. Authorize Board to Issue Free Warrants with Preemptive Rights During a Public Tender Offer

Authorise the Board to issue anti-takeover warrants. This authority is considered to be counter to the best interests of shareholders. The poison pill enables management to offer warrants to shareholders during a period of public offer thus implying a threat of dilution to potential acquirers of the company. While this may cause potential acquirers to negotiate with the Board, it may also potentially prevent hostile takeovers and entrench management. Opposition is recommended.

SYNTHOMER PLC AGM - 26-04-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is satisfactory, though targets for the strategic measures of the PSP have not been stated. The CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary remained the same while employee salaries rose by 4.6%. However, changes in the CEO's total remuneration over the past five years are not in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Total variable pay for the year under review was excessive, amounting to 342.3% of salary for the CEO. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 29:1.

12. Advisory Vote on Executive Compensation

Overall, since Delphi Technologies was a subsidiary of Aptiv until the completion of the Spin-Off on December 4, 2017, the compensation and benefit arrangements and benefit programs mirror those of Aptiv.

Disclosure: D- Fees paid to remuneration consultants are not disclosed. Performance targets for annual incentives and performance based share units are not adequately disclosed. The use of non-GAAP metrics is not supported.

Balance: D- The CEO's fiscal 2017 annual incentive payout is not considered excessive at 117% of his salary. Net income is used as a performance metric under both the annual incentive and equity awards. This raises concerns that executives are being rewarded twice for the same performance. The CEO's equity awards are considered excessive at 1190% of his salary. It is noted that a Founders grant worth $5,000,000 was granted to the CEO.

Contract: B- Good reason and cause are defined appropriately. A robust clawback policy is not in place.

Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 0.00% of audit fees during the year under review and 1.51% on a three-year aggregate basis. ## 3. Approve Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the Torchmark Corporation 2018 Incentive Plan. Assuming stockholder approval of the 2018 Plan, 8,984,000 shares (8,800,000 new shares and approximately 184,000 shares which will be made available under the 2018 Plan from the Prior Plan) will be available for future grants. The Company expects this amount to last for approximately four years of awards. The 2018 Plan will be administered by the Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee will have the authority to: designate participants; grant awards; determine the type or types of awards to be granted to each participant and the number, terms and conditions thereof; establish, adopt or revise any rules and regulations as it may deem advisable to administer the 2018 Plan; and establish, make all other decisions and determinations that may be required under the 2018 Plan. The 2018 Plan permits the grant of incentive awards to employees, officers, directors, and consultants of the Company and its affiliates as selected by the Compensation Committee. As of March 2, 2018, the number of eligible participants was approximately 180. The 2018 Plan authorizes the granting of awards in any of the following forms: options to purchase shares of common stock, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, performance awards and other stock- and cash-based awards.

There are concerns with the Plan as it has various elements bundled together and can be used as a vehicle for potentially excessive executive payments. Furthermore, as performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that awards may not be subject to robust enough performance targets and the Committee will have considerable flexibility in the payout of discretionary awards. In addition, maximum award limits are excessive. As a result, shareholders are advised to oppose.

GETINGE AB AGM - 26-04-2018

12. Resolution regarding discharge from liability for the Board of Directors and the CEO

The Company has not appointed a Data Protection Officer or discussed the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Under the GDPR, it is mandatory for certain controllers and processors to designate a Data Protection Officer (DPO). It is considered that boards should ensure that risk assessment (including data protection and cyber risk) is complete for the entire organisation, and that appropriate security is provided for each type of data under use. Although applicable only from 25 May 2018, it is considered that directors should be considered accountable for this lack of discussion and relevant appointment: abstention to their discharge is recommended.

14. Establishment of fees to the Board of Directors (including fees for work in Committees) and the auditor

It is proposed to increase the amount payable to the Board of Directors by more than 10% on annual basis. The increase is considered material and exceeds guidelines, while the Company has not duly justified it. Therefore, opposition is recommended.

15.k. Re-elect Carl Bennet as Chairman of the Board

Chairman of the Board. The Chairman is also the controlling shareholder and is Chairman of the Nomination Committee. In accordance with the local Corporate Governance Code, the Committee is external to the Board and the Chairman of the Board cannot be the Chairman of the Nomination Committee. The Company explains that the Chairman is fit for the position but it has failed to disclose the objective of the Committee. The Nomination Committee should include major and minority shareholders and, by that, seek consensus in the management of the Company. It is considered that such consensus may be hindered by the combination of chairmanship of the Board and the Nomination Committee. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

16. Ratify PricewaterhouseCoopers as Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 90.91% of audit fees during the year under review and 61.64% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

17. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

TINGYI (CAYMAN ISLAND) HLDG EGM - 26-04-2018

1. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme/Plan

It has been proposed to approve the new Share Option Scheme as The 2008 Share Option Scheme expired on 19 March 2018. The purpose of the Share Option Scheme is to enable the Company to grant options to selected Eligible Participants as incentives or rewards for their contribution or potential contribution to the Group. The maximum number of Shares that may be issued upon the exercise of options that may be granted under the Share Option Scheme is 561,663,036 Shares, being 10% of the issued share capital of the Company. This is considered overly dilutive and given that shares are awarded with no performance conditions disclosed and that there is little disclosure over the features of the plan. Furthermore, Long Term Incentive Plans are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. Opposition is recommended.

BANQUE CANTONALE VAUDOISE AGM - 26-04-2018

5.3. Approve Variable Remuneration of Executive Committee in the Amount of CHF 3.7 Million

It is proposed to approve the maximum amount of short-term remuneration for executives (CHF 3,7 million) with a binding vote. This appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to over payment against under performance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

5.4. Approve Long-Term Variable Remuneration of Executive Committee in Form of 1,504 Shares

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, the CEO and other executives will be allotted up to 1,504 performance shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company under performance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. Opposition is recommended.

9. Appoint the Auditors

KPMG proposed. Non-audit fees represented 10.06% of audit fees during the year under review and 26.53% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises some concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. Abstention is recommended.

The Company has fully disclosed achievements for the annual bonus, for both qualitative and quantitative parts. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total variable remuneration paid or due to the Chairman and CEO exceeded 200% of the salary. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. #### 3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is satisfactory, though past targets for the annual bonus are not disclosed in full. The increase in the CEO's salary is just in line with the rest of the Company, as the Company reports that the CEO's salary rose by 3% while average employee costs rose by 1%. The balance of CEO realized pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. However, PSP awards granted during the year were excessive, amounting to 365% of salary, and total variable pay for the year under review was excessive, amounting to approximately 451% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable, standing at 103:1. The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

RIT CAPITAL PARTNERS PLC AGM - 26-04-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

The Company's Corporate Objective and Investment Policy does not incorporate specific ESG requirements or restrictions and therefore ESG issues are not taken into account when making investment decisions. There was no dividend or dividend policy put to vote although the company paid interim dividends during the year, which is considered inappropriate. The legal definition for investment companies permits payments of dividend regardless of capital reserves. It is therefore considered that shareholder consent to dividend is a necessary safeguard and should be sought accordingly. Further, secretarial and management duties are undertaken by the same entity. For these reasons, an oppose vote is recommended.

The aggregate limit set in relation to non-executive Directors' remuneration is £400,000 of which £362,262 was utilised in the year under review. The Executive Chairman's salary for 2017 is £250,000, however his total remuneration amounts to 446% of his salary which is considered excessive. Performance is also not evaluated against targets for the Annual Bonus and the LTIP, which makes it impossible to assess whether the targets are challenging. An oppose vote is recommended.

O.17. Approve Remuneration Policy of Executive Officers

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. The Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

O.18. Approve the Remuneration of Laurent Burelle, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to the Chairman and CEO. There are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceeded 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed fully the pre-determined targets or quantified performance criteria underlying the variable remuneration component. Although common practice in this market as this is deemed sensitive information, this may lead to overpayment against underperformance. However, the Company has not disclosed fully quantified underlying targets for its variable remuneration component. ## THE WEIR GROUP PLC AGM - 26-04-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation.

West Midlands is recommended to oppose the report and accounts for the following reason: No trade union negotiating framework, works councils or similar strategic level procedures for information and consultation.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 99.0, Abstain: 0.9, Oppose/Withhold: 0.1,

4. Approve Remuneration Policy

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. With respect to the principal policy changes, the LTIP will be replaced by the SRP, with a reduction in the maximum opportunity. Under the new plan, annual restricted share awards will be limited to 125% of salary for the CEO and 100% for the CFO, instead of the previous maximum opportunity for LTIP awards (CEO: 250% of salary; CFO: 200% of salary). The annual bonus has been amended, with Group PBTA having a weighting of 50% of awards, increased from 40%. The other performance conditions have been replaced by working capital, with a weighting of 20%, and strategic measures, with a weighting of 30%. The shareholding guidelines for Executive Directors have been doubled. The guidelines are now: 400% of salary for the CEO; 300% of salary for the CFO. In addition, shareholding guidelines will be extended to a post employment period.

There are some concerns regarding the policy. The amount deferred under the annual bonus is not considered adequate. In addition, performance conditions for the annual bonus do not operate interdependently. With respect to the newly introduced SRP, it is unclear how performance will be judged and measured as there are no performance measures attached. Despite the reduction in the maximum opportunity of the SRP from the LTIP, total potential variable pay is still considered excessive, as awards of up to 275% of salary can be made to the CEO. With respect to contracts, the Remuneration Committee may exercise its discretion to apply a different pro-rata methodology or to dis-apply time pro-rating completely for outstanding share awards on termination. Such termination provisions can therefore be subject to upside discretion, which can lead to excessive payments. On a change of control, the Committee can decide to dis-apply performance conditions and time pro-rating, which is inappropriate.

Rating: BDC.

Based on this rating it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 92.3, Abstain: 0.0, Oppose/Withhold: 7.6,

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. Awards granted in the year under review are considered excessive as the LTIP awards granted amounted to 250% of the CEO's salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 35:1. However, the change in the CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary fell by 10.3% while the salary change for UK employees was an 8.7% increase. Total variable pay was not excessive, amounting to 105.5% of salary for the CEO. Loss of office payments made to Keith Cochrane were fully explained and not excessive.

Rating: AB.

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5. Approve the Weir Group Share Reward Plan (SRP)

Shareholders are being asked to approve the new Share Reward Plan. The SRP will replace the Company's current LTIP. The Company believes that this plan is better aligned with the long-term interests of the business, and that performance would be better rewarded in the cyclical and volatile nature of the markets.

Awards under the SRP may be granted as Restricted Share Awards and, to facilitate the deferral of annual bonus awards into ordinary shares in the Company (Shares), Deferred Bonus Awards. Vesting of awards will be phased in four equal tranches over a five-year period. This will normally be split into four equal tranches of 25% (of the total award) which vest after two, three, four and five years following grant. Following vesting, an additional two-year holding period will also apply to each tranche, such that 50% of vested shares in an award are released five years from grant, 25% are released after six years and the final 25% is released after seven years. No performance measures are associated with the awards. The underpin will consist of a 'basket' of pre-determined key metrics. If any of the following thresholds have not been met, it would trigger the Committee to consider whether a discretionary adjustment was required: (i) maintain average absolute dividend per share over the vesting period at least in line with the 2017 declared dividend per share; (ii) no breach of debt covenant or renegotiation of covenant terms outside of a normal refinancing cycle; (iii) maintain average ROCE over the vesting period above the average Weighted Average Cost of Capital for that period; (iv) no material failure in governance or an illegal act resulting in significant reputational damage and/or material financial loss to the Group.

There are some improvements in this plan over the previous LTIP, namely: the reduction in the maximum opportunity; the increase in time horizon; the longer vesting period; the underpin, which is based on a variety of metrics that are not solely financial based. However, it is not clear how overall performance is judged and rewarded according to the plan, as the Company have mentioned the underpin but it is stated that there are no performance measures. In addition, dividend equivalents are used. Such rewards mis-align shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not. In addition, the underpin may be subject to a discretionary downward adjustment in the event that any of the thresholds are not met. The language here does not seem certain. It is also of concern that there has been no vesting under the LTIP in the last few years. This could be a replacement for that plan which may have been stricter. Ultimately, these plans are not considered to be an effective means of incentivising performance and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. Furthermore, maximum limits under all variable incentive plans is still considered excessive at 275% of salary. An oppose vote is recommended.

10. Re-elect Charles Berry

Chairman. Considered independent upon appointment. He is also Chairman of Senior plc, a FTSE 250 company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention on to only one FTSE 350 Company.

PIRC issue: However, upon engagement with the Company, it was made clear that Mr Berry will retire from the Board of Senior plc at the Group's next AGM in April 2018. On that basis Mr Berry's re-election is considered acceptable.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such a proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

ASSA ABLOY AB AGM - 26-04-2018

9.A. Approve Financial Statements

Non-financial information has not been disclosed. The EU Non-Financial Reporting Directive stipulates that member states are required to disclose a non-financial statement containing relevant information as prescribed in the directive. Although companies are allowed to publish such statement until six months after the end of the financial year, it is considered that it should be disclosed to all shareholders in occasion of the annual general meeting. On this ground, abstention is recommended.

9.C. Discharge the Board

Standard resolution. Under the new Whistleblowing Act in Sweden, companies are to adopt internal whistleblowing procedures. No sanctions are provided for companies found in non-compliance, yet employees may be allowed to sue companies for damage, in case of retaliation. As the Company does not discuss the new Whistleblowing Act and does not seem to have implemented a whistleblowing hotline, it is considered that the Company may be exposed to serious legal risks and discharge should not be supported.

12.B. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 80.77% of audit fees during the year under review and 69.01% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Vote Cast: Oppose

14. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

15. Authorize Class B Share Repurchase Program and Reissuance of Repurchased Shares

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital. As the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

16. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

SOUTHERN COPPER CORPORATION AGM - 26-04-2018

2. Approve the Extension of the Directors' Stock Award Plan

The Company has put forward a resolution requesting shareholders to approve the Directors' Stock Award Plan (Plan), which provides that directors who are not compensated as employees of the Company will be automatically awarded 1,200 shares of common stock upon election and 1,200 additional shares following each annual meeting of stockholders thereafter. The stockholders are requested to approve, an extension of the Plan until January 28, 2023 and increase in the award amount from 1,200 to 1,600. At December 31, 2017, 346,800 shares had been awarded under the Plan, leaving 253,200 shares available for use after that date. The Plan is administered by the Board which is authorised to interpret the Plan and to establish and amend rules; however, the Board does not have discretion with respect to the selection of directors to receive awards of shares or the number of shares to be awarded.

However, the Board still maintains discretion to establish and amend rules. We consider that key terms for the operation of share schemes for non-executive directors should be pre-determined by rule and should not be subject to discretionary over-ride. An oppose vote is recommended.

3. Appoint the Auditors

There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

RWE AG AGM - 26-04-2018

6. Appoint the Auditors to review the First Half of 2017 and of the Quarterly Reports for 2017

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 15.38% of audit fees during the year under review and 17.47% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

Disclosure: The Company provides a good disclosure. Pay policy aims are fully explained in terms of the Company's objectives. Maximum potential awards (as a percentage to base salary) are stated for annual bonuses and long-term incentive awards.

Balance: The Company introduced a bonus deferral for any outcomes above 75% of base salary. Deferral is made into an award of deferred shares vesting over three years, with one-third of the deferred shares vesting each year. However, best practice recommends for at least 50% of the bonus to be deferred over at least two years. The Long-term incentive scheme's performance measures are not appropriately linked to non-financial KPIs. LTIP performance period is three years which is not considered sufficiently long term however a two year holding period is in operation. A malus and clawback policy operate on both Annual Bonus and LTIP. Total potential awards are considered excessive at 350% of salary.

Contracts: Upside discretion may be exercised on termination as the Committee retains discretion to determine the annual bonus and for LTIPs to either vary time pro-rating or to accelerate vesting. A mitigation statement is not made.

Rating: ADC

Based on this rating it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

The CEO total pay for the Year Under Review is considered acceptable at less than 200% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered appropriate at 10:1.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. ### UCB SA/NV AGM - 26-04-2018

O.5. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

O10.1. Approve Restricted Stock Plan Re: Issuance of 1,098,000 Restricted Shares

It is proposed to allocate approximately 1 million of free shares, of which a part should go to upper management under the Performance Share Plan. These free shares will be delivered after a three year vesting period and the number of shares actually allocated will vary from 0% to 150% of the number of shares initially granted depending on the level of achievement of the performance conditions set by the Board of UCB SA/NV at the moment of grant. Performance criteria are not quantified, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

O11.1. Approve Change-of-Control Clause Re: Renewal of EMTN Program

Authority is sought to approve the change-of-control clause for the Euro Medium Term Note (EMTN) Program dated 6 March 2013, with last update of the base prospectus per 10 March 2015, for an amount of up to EUR 3 billion (the "EMTN Program").

It will contain a change of control clause whereby the amount, together with accrued interest and all other amounts accrued and outstanding thereunder, could become immediately due and payable following a change of control of the Company. The authority would be valid for a period of three years and pre-emptive rights would be restricted for 10% of the share capital, in line with art. 607 of the Belgium Companies Code. This is an anti-take over device which could serve to entrench under performing management. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O11.2. Approve Change-of-Control Clause Re: Revolving Facility Agreement

Proposal to approve the change of control clause to the revolving facility agreement in the amount of EUR 1 billion between UCB SA/NV and a number of banks. It

It is proposed to approve the 2018 Director Compensation Plan. The 2009 Plan expires in April 2019. As of December 31, 2017, there were approximately 1.0 million shares of common stock available for grant under the 2009 Plan. The 2018 Director Plan provides for the grant of the same types of awards as the 2009 Plan: (1) stock options, (2) restricted stock and restricted stock units, and (3) other awards (including stock appreciation rights) valued based on common stock of the company. The 2018 Director Plan will be administered by the board or a committee of directors appointed by the board. The Administrator will have the power to, among other things, interpret and administer the plan. Decisions of the Administrator are final and binding on all parties.

The 2018 Director Plan provides that each non-employee director will receive an annual grant of options to purchase shares of TI common stock with a grant date value of $100,000, and an annual grant of restricted stock units with a grant date value of $100,000. The Board is seeking approval of the French Sub-Plan, under the 2014 stock plan, which is intended to realize potential tax benefits to employers and employees in France by permitting the grant of French-Qualified RSUs that qualify for more favorable tax treatment. Upon approval, stock awards that are granted to French-resident employees and that qualify as French-Qualified RSUs under French law will not be subject to tax until shares acquired under the Plan are sold, at which time the taxable amount is divided into the gain at vesting and any additional gain at sale. The dollar value of equity awards that may be granted to any one non-employee

Proposed by: Mr. John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that important matters requiring a shareholder vote should be the subject of shareholder meetings, which provide the opportunity for discussion and interaction among the Company's shareholders. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal would deprive many shareholders of the opportunity to assess, discuss, deliberate and vote on pending shareholder actions. In addition, that it may prevent shareholders from receiving accurate information on important pending actions, deny the Board the opportunity to consider the merits of the proposed action and to suggest alternatives for shareholder evaluation.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result, many shareholders could be prevented from voting, or even receiving accurate and complete information, on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders, regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

SCOR SE AGM - 26-04-2018

O.1. Approve Financial Statements

Non-financial information has not been disclosed. The EU Non-Financial Reporting Directive stipulates that member states are required to disclose a non-financial statement containing relevant information as prescribed in the directive. Although companies are allowed to publish such statement until six months after the end of the financial year, it is considered that it should be disclosed to all shareholders in occasion of the annual general meeting. As abstention is not a valid voting option, opposition is recommended.

O.3. Approve Consolidated Financial Statements

Non-financial information has not been disclosed. The EU Non-Financial Reporting Directive stipulates that member states are required to disclose a non-financial statement containing relevant information as prescribed in the directive. Although companies are allowed to publish such statement until six months after the end of the financial year, it is considered that it should be disclosed to all shareholders in occasion of the annual general meeting. As abstention is not a valid voting option, opposition is recommended.

O.4. Approve Amendment to the Regulated Commitment in respect of the Defined Benefit Supplementary Pension Scheme of Denis Kessler, Chairman and CEO

The Board is proposing the an amendment to the regulated commitment governed by the provisions of Article L. 225-42-1 of the French Commercial Code, made by the Company to the benefit of Mr. Denis Kessler, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, in respect of defined benefit supplementary pension schemes. The pension commitment is aligned with the law No. 2015-990 of 06th August 2015, by introducing (i) an annual limitation of 3% of the reference income for the increase of the future conditional rights of the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer and (ii) performance conditions for the acquisition of the future rights by the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. Although it is welcomed that shareholder approval will be required for all new retirement agreements, it is believed that top hat retirement compensation are not an appropriate way of compensating executives, as they remunerate beyond the executive's term and are mostly unrelated to the impact on company value that the executive may have enhanced.

O.5. Approve Severance Agreement with Denis Kessler, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the agreement with Denis Kessler, related to the severance payment. The value of the proposed agreement may exceed one year fixed salary on aggregate, as it incorporates elements of the variable remuneration, opposition is recommended

O.6. Advisory review of the compensation owed or paid to Mr Denis Kessler

It is proposed to approve the compensation owed or paid to Mr Denis Kessler with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On balance, abstention would be recommended. As abstention is not a valid voting option, opposition is recommended.

O.7. Approve Remuneration Policy of Denis Kessler, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy of Denis Kessler. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. As abstention is not a valid voting option, opposition is recommended.

O.10. Amendment of the maximum amount allocated to attendance fees for the ongoing fiscal year and the subsequent fiscal years

It is proposed to increase the amount payable to the Board of Directors by more than 10% on annual basis. The increase is considered material and exceeds guidelines, while the Company has not duly justified it. Therefore, opposition is recommended.

O.11. Appointment of Mr. Olivier Drion as alternate Statutory Auditor

The Board requests authority to elect a substitute external auditor. Mr. Olivier Drion belongs to the EY network. Given the relationship between the proposed substitute and the elected statutory auditor (EY), the selection is not considered suitable to meet the intended purpose, which is to fulfill any vacancy which may arise if the statutory auditor is unable to complete the audit.

O.12. Authorise Share Repurchase

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

E.15. Issue Shares for Cash

It is proposed to authorize the Board to issue shares without pre-emptive rights for a term of 26 months. The proposed amount of shares issued is less than 10% of the current share capital and the maximum authorized discount is 10% of the share price. It is considered that shareholders should have the occasion to vote on such resolutions annually.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.16. Issue Shares for Cash within the Context of an Offer Pursuant to Section II of Article L.411-2 of the French Monetary and Financial Code

Proposed authority to issue up to 10% of the share capital to be used in exchanges in times of public offer initiated by the Company. At this time, the Company has not disclosed specific plans to future exchange offers. As the proposed authority exceeds guidelines, and in absence of specific reasons, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.17. Delegation of authority granted to the Board of Directors for the purpose of deciding the issuance, in consideration for securities contributed to the Company in the framework of any exchange tender offer initiated by the Company

Authorise the Board to issue anti-takeover warrants up to EUR 152,419,658, corresponding to 10% of the issued share capital over a period of 26 months. This authority is considered to be counter to the best interests of shareholders. The poison pill enables management to offer warrants to shareholders during a period of public offer thus implying a threat of dilution to potential acquirers of the company. While this may cause potential acquirers to negotiate with the Board, it may also potentially prevent hostile takeovers and entrench management. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.19. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.23. Approve Issue of Grant Subscription Options or Share Purchase Options in favour of salaried employees and Executive Corporate Officers

The Board requests authority to issue capital related securities without adhering to the general pricing conditions. Article R225-119 of the French commercial code prohibits the issuance of shares at a discount greater than 5% of the average stock price under three days. Under this authority, the company would be authorised to issues shares at a discount of 5% up to a total of 10% of the issued share capital over a period of 24 months. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.24. Authorize the Board to to allocate free existing ordinary shares of the company to salaried employees and Executive Corporate Officers

The company requests general approval to issue up to 3,000,000 shares for free allocation, corresponding to 1.6% of the issued share capital, to employees and management over a period of 24 months. As there is no information to whom these free shares will be given and as they may lead to payments unrelated to performance, opposition is recommended.

E.27. Amend Article 10 of Bylaws Re: Board Appointments

The Board proposes to amend Article 10 so that according to this amendment, when the shares held by a Company's staff represent more than 3% of the issued share capital, the Company is exempted from electing one or more directors from among the employee shareholders if its Board of Directors includes one or more directors appointed to represent the employees from among the members of the Supervisory Board of the Company mutual funds. There are concerns as this could limit the amount of directors representing employees to the few with significant holdings. It is believed that the presence of employees on the Board provides a positive influence in areas of decision making normally reserved for the board and senior management. Opposition is recommended.

BOUYGUES SA AGM - 26-04-2018

O.4. Approve Auditors' Special Report on Related-Party Transactions

It is proposed to approve shared service agreements between the Company and its subsidiaries, one service agreement between the Company and the family holding of the Bouygues family, SCDM. While shared service agreements are standard in groups of companies (Agreement A), under the service agreement with SCDM (Agreement B) the Company would pay Martin Bouygues and Olivier Bouygues via SCDM up to additional EUR 7 million for management, human resources, information technology, legal and financial services. The directors subject to this agreement are executive directors: it is considered that should not receive additional fees for services that should be able to render to the Company in their capacity of executives. In addition, as the related parties also represent the major shareholder, there is a potential scenario for conflict of interests. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.5. Approve Additional Pension Scheme Agreement with Martin Bouygues, Chairman and CEO

Proposed retirement arrangement for Martin Bouygues, in compliance with the Macron Law: Members of the Group Management Committee, which includes the Executive Officers and salaried directors of Bouygues, are entitled to a supplementary pension of 0.92% of the reference salary per year in the scheme, in case the variable remuneration were 100% of the target. Entitlement is acquired only after ten years' service with the Group. The annual supplementary pension is capped at eight times the annual ceiling under the social security regime.

Although it is welcomed that shareholder approval will be required for all new retirement agreements, it is believed that top hat retirement compensation is not an appropriate way of compensating executives, as they remunerate beyond the executive's term and are mostly unrelated to the impact on company value that the executive may have enhanced.

O.7. Approve Compensation of Martin Bouygues, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Martin Bouygues, Chairman and CEO, with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

O.12. Approve Compensation of Emmanuel Faber, CEO until Nov. 30, 2017 and Chairman and CEO since Dec. 1, 2017

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Mr Faber with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.13. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

E.15. Authorize Up to 0.2% of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans

The Board disclosed quantified target for the incentive plan, which is above the market practices. No claw back clauses seems to be in place. Abstention would be normally recommended. However, as it is not a valid option in this market, opposition is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden.

The Proponent requests that the Board undertake the necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. Also our company requires 20% of shareholders to aggregate their shares to call a special meeting, a much higher hill to climb than the 10% of shareholders permitted by Delaware law. This proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. This included 67%-support at both Allstate and Sprint.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board believes that stockholder action by written consent is not necessary in light of stockholders' existing ability to call a special meeting. The Board believes that a special meeting is a more appropriate method than action by written consent for stockholders to take action between regular annual meetings; as a special meeting ensures that all stockholders receive notice; adequate time to review proposals and a forum for expressing their views. By contrast; stockholder action by written consent may not result in all stockholders receiving notice of a proposed action and does not permit a variety of views on a proposal to be exchanged. Action by written consent can also create confusion and disruption; as stockholder groups may solicit multiple written consents simultaneously; some of which may be duplicative or contradictory. The Board believes that matters of sufficient importance to warrant action between annual stockholder meetings should not be decided without notification to all stockholders and an opportunity for all stockholders to be heard and to vote at a meeting.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. As a result; up to 49% of the Company's shareholders could be prevented from voting; or even receiving accurate and complete information; on important pending actions. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders; regardless of the method of communication chosen; there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis a vote in opposition is recommended.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation.

West Midlands is recommended to oppose the report and accounts for the following reason: No trade union negotiating framework, works councils or similar strategic level procedures for information and consultation.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 99.9, Abstain: 0.1, Oppose/Withhold: 0.0,

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. The balance of CEO realized pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. The CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary did not increase while the salaries for UK employees increased by 3%. However, total variable pay is excessive, as annual bonus awards amounted to 1300% of salary. Such a high level of variable pay is inappropriate, especially given that the recommended limit for variable pay is 200% of pay. Concerns are raised over the targets chosen as these seem to reflect responsibilities reasonably expected and factors outside management control. For instance, the CEO's targets include talent retention and succession planning and share price performance, among others.

Rating: AD.

THE ALLIANCE TRUST PLC AGM - 26-04-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

The company indicates that ESG matters are taken into account in investment decisions.

The functions of Investment Manager and Company Secretary are performed by two different companies, which is welcomed.

There was no dividend or dividend policy put to vote although the company paid interim dividends during the year, which is considered inappropriate. The legal definition for investment companies permits payments of dividend regardless of capital reserves. It is therefore considered that shareholder consent to dividend is a necessary safeguard and should be sought accordingly. Based on this concern, a vote oppose is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 99.2, Abstain: 0.3, Oppose/Withhold: 0.6,

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Shareholders are being asked to approve the Company's annual report on remuneration. Disclosure of figures and policy is adequate. A total aggregate fee of £462,000 was paid during the year under review. However, the Remuneration Committee agreed to make a one off payment of £30,000 to Claire Dobie to reflect the time she has spent formulating the Trust's marketing strategy and changes to branding. Such one-off payments are not considered acceptable. Abstention is advised.

9. Re-appoint the Auditors Deloitte LLP

Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 50.82% of audit fees during the year under review and 22.58% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor.

PIRC issue: The current auditor has been in place for more than five years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

WEATHERFORD INTERNATIONAL PLC AGM - 27-04-2018

1G. Elect Director William E. Macaulay

3. Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. The CEO's (Mark A. McCollum) variable remuneration was 14 times his base salary. The Company has disclosed quantified targets and performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which is welcomed, and there are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. Nevertheless, opposition is recommended based on excessive pay-out.

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Next year's fees and salaries for all directors are clearly stated. Performance targets for the annual bonus paid during the year under review are only provided for the financial performance measures. The retrospective targets for business strategy measures under the 2017 annual bonus are not clearly stated. Performance conditions for the PSP and Co-Investment Plans are stated.

Balance: The change in CEO pay under the last five years is considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. The CEO salary is in the upper quartile of a peer comparator group. The CEO's total realised reward under variable incentive schemes for the year under review is considered excessive at approximately 358% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not considered appropriate at 58:1.

Newly-appointed Chairman. Independent on Appointment. He is also the Chairman of Anglo American Plc (a FTSE 350 Company). Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. ### O.1.B. Approve the Dividend

It is proposed to distribute EUR 0.08 per share from earnings and reserves, including share premium. Although legal in this market, it is considered that the share premium account should be moved into distributable reserves through a reduction of capital, and it should not be used as distributable reserve per se. As the Company proposes a direct distribution from the share premium account, opposition is recommended.

O.3.A. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve an incentive plan plan for employees and corporate officers.

Performance criteria and targets are disclosed. CET1 is one of the performance entry conditions: it is considered that employees or executives should not receive award based on the CET1, as this is a legal requirement and one of the basis of the financial strength of financial institutions. It should be the very bottom line of the functioning of banks, and not a motivating factor. The results of the annual CRO Dashboard assessments are taken into consideration for each year of the Plan's performance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

O.3.C. Approve New 2017 Incentive System

The Plan provides for a bonus granted to Top Management and the so-called Risk Takers, with the exception of Top Risk Takers not belonging to the Corporate Control Functions who accrue a bonus in excess of 100% of the fixed remuneration – composed of 50% of cash and 50% of Intesa Sanpaolo ordinary shares. The Top Risk Takers who accrue a bonus in excess of 100% of the fixed remuneration and up to 150% thereof, shall be assigned shares with a total value of 55% of the assigned bonus, while Top Risk Takers who accrue a bonus in excess of 150% and up to 200% of fixed remuneration shall be assigned shares for a total value of 60% of the assigned bonus. The opening of a bonus pool at Group and department level is based on the exceeding of the so-called "access threshold", expressed ex ante as the minimum value of the relative Gross Income. The financial sustainability principle is ensured, in accordance with the requirements of the Regulator, by the following preliminary conditions: Common Equity Tier Ratio (CET1) at least equal to the limit envisaged in the Risk Appetite Framework (RAF); Net Stable Funding Ratio (NSFR) at least equal to the limit envisaged in the RAF; no loss and positive Gross Income, net of any contribution of profits from the buyback of Bank's own liabilities, from the fair value measurement of Bank's liabilities and from income components arising from accounting policies following changes to the internal model on core deposits. There are concerns regarding the presence of CET1 among the performance entry conditions: it is considered that employees or executives should not receive award based on the CET1 as this is a legal requirement and one of the basis of the financial strength of financial institutions. It should be the very bottom line of the functioning of banks, and not a motivating factor. On balance, abstention is recommended.

O.3.D. Authorise Share Repurchase in Service of 2017 Annual Incentive System

O.3.E. Approve POP Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan, partly in cash and partly in deferred shares. Performance targets are fully quantified at this time. However, there are concerns regarding the presence of CET1 among the performance entry conditions: it is considered that employees or executives should not receive award based on the CET1, as this is a legal requirement and one of the basis of the financial strength of financial institutions. It should be the very bottom line of the functioning of banks, and not a motivating factor. In addition, the performance period is considered to be short term (three years).

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.3.F. Approve LECOIP 2.0 Long-Term Incentive Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan, for those beneficiaries who are not covered by the previous plan, partly in cash and partly in deferred shares. Under the plan, participants will be allotted stock options, each of which will give right to one share. Performance targets are quantified at this time. However, there are concerns regarding the presence of CET1 among the performance entry conditions: it is considered that employees or executives should not receive award based on the CET1, as this is a legal requirement and one of the basis of the financial strength of financial institutions. It should be the very bottom line of the functioning of banks, and not a motivating factor. In addition, the performance period is considered to be short term (three years).

The Company therefore negotiated with AEW Ciloger the terms and conditions of new mandates for the management of property assets, with the same scope as previously. These new mandates are for a period of five years, from 1 January 2018 to 31 December 2022. AEW Ciloger is jointly owned by two indirect shareholders of CNP Assurances, La Banque Postale and BPCE, which hold more than 10% of the Company's capital indirectly through Sopassure. Rémy Weber, Philippe Wahl, François Pérol, Jean-Yves Forel and Sopassure were considered related parties in this agreement and did not take part in the vote by the Board of Directors, which is welcomed. However, the Board is not considered to be sufficiently independent to grant the supervision needed for a deal in which is involved a major shareholder. Therefore, opposition is recommended.

O.11. Approve Remuneration Policy of the CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy of the CEO with a binding vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended. As abstain is not a valid option, opposition is recommended.

O.12. Approve Compensation of Frederic Lavenir, CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Frederic Lavenir with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. The Company has fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated, which is above market practice. However, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On balance, abstention is recommended. As abstain is not a valid option, opposition is recommended.

O.20. Authorise Share Repurchase

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.23. Approve Issue of Shares for Employee Saving Plan

Authority for a capital increase for more than 2% of the share capital for employees participating to saving plans. The maximum discount applied will be 30% on the market share price. It is considered that it is in the best interests of the company and its shareholders to provide employees with an opportunity to benefit from business success and increase their share ownership. However, the amount of the authorisation and the discount exceed guidelines. Opposition is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.24. Authorize up to 0.5 % of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans

Proposal to authorize for 26 months the Board to allot shares free of charge to employees and executives. Share issued under this authorization will not enjoy pre-emptive rights and will be attributed free of charge to management or employees. The Board would maintain full discretion over the beneficiaries. Incentives such as this are not related to performance and as such may reward the position of the recipient instead of performance. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.26. Amend Article 17.2 of Bylaws to Comply with Legal Changes Re: Chairman of the Board of Directors

It is proposed to amend the Article 17.2 of the Articles of Association. Under the amendment, the second paragraph of the aforementioned Article will be deleted to align the Articles of Association with the latest law update. The Article concerns the tasks of the Chairman of the Board and the amendment will remove the requirement to inform her/him of agreements concerning day-to-day transactions entered into under arm's length conditions, unless they are not significant. The Chairman, then is required to disclose the list and subject matter of such agreements to Board members and to the Statutory Auditors. The Article is deemed an effective mean to prevent unfair related party transactions and the rationale given by the board is not considered sufficient to approve the deletion of such mean. Opposition is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.27. Amend Article 23 of Bylaws to Comply with Legal Changes Re: Related Party Transactions

It is proposed to amend the Article 23 of the Article of Association. The amendment is connected to the previous resolution. As explained above, the amendment concerning day-to-day transactions entered into under arm's length conditions is not supported. Therefore opposition is recommended.

BALOISE HOLDING AGM - 27-04-2018

4.4. Appoint the Auditors

EY proposed. Non-audit fees represented 9.21% of audit fees during the year under review and 15.75% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

5.2.2. Approve Variable Compensation for Executives

It is proposed to approve the cap of the variable compensation component of executive remuneration (CHF 4.463 million). The actual variable remuneration for 2018 will be defined at the beginning of next year and takes various criteria into account, with the results of the 2018 financial year constituting the primary criterion. The Company has not submitted the remuneration policy to approval, this year. At this time, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

1.1. Elect Director Randall L. Stephenson

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

4. Amend Stock Purchase and Deferral Plan

It is proposed to approve the Stock Purchase and Deferral Plan. The Plan offers mid-level and above management employees the opportunity to defer income through the purchase of deferred shares of AT&T common stock with payroll deductions. The Plan is administered by the Human Resources Committee of the Board of Directors. The Committee has authority to amend the Plan and adopt rules for its operation. The Company has amended the Plan to increase the number of shares of AT&T Stock that may be distributed as a result of deferrals (including employee and matching employer contributions and reinvested dividend equivalents) from 46 million to 76 million shares.

Owing to the wide area of discretion employed by the Administrators of the Plan, an oppose vote is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5. Approve Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the 2018 Incentive Plan for the purpose of replacing the 2016 Incentive Plan. The Incentive Plan, like the prior plan, permits AT&T to compensate eligible managers with equity and cash awards. Management employees of AT&T or its subsidiaries are eligible to be selected to participate in the Incentive Plan. In a calendar year no participant may receive performance shares, restricted stock, restricted stock units, or any combination thereof which would, in the aggregate, have a potential payout equivalent to more than 5% of the shares authorized to be issued under the Incentive Plan.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). An oppose vote is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

9. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: Not Disclosed.

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. Adoption of this proposal can give shareholders greater standing to engage AT&T management in regard to board refreshment after the 2018 annual meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and argues that when a group of stockholders take action by written consent, they may do so in secret and without the opportunity for a meeting that would ensure that all stockholders had access to the same information and the opportunity to debate the proposal. Bylaws already permit a group of stockholders holding 15% of the outstanding shares to call for a special meeting of stockholders. At a special meeting, stockholders have the opportunity to review and debate the merits of the proposals submitted to the meeting. In contrast, a written consent permits stockholders to act in secret. The heightened vote requirement for actions by written consent, in fact, encourages stockholders to act through open meetings, which ensures the opportunity for debate.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

25. *Approve Performance Share Matching Plan LTI 2018

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure. LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

19. *Shareholder Resolution: Change Location of Registered Office to Sandviken

Shareholder Resolution proposed by Mr Mikael Hammarlund. The shareholders propose to relocate the Company's head office from Stockholm to Sandvik. As no supporting data is brought forward and there is no clear added value, from the proposal, it is recommended to oppose.

Disclosure: All elements of each director's cash remuneration and pension contribution are disclosed All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and prices. Information concerning the determination of non-executive directors' fees is disclosed.

Balance: The CEO's salary is considered to be in the median of PIRC's comparator group which is acceptable. Also, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and is found to be acceptable at 10:1 which is welcome. However, the balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is not considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is not commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. Neither the total awards made or the total awards realised during the year are considered excessive. This is due primarily to no current Executive Directors having LTIP awards vesting and under performance resulting in no annual bonus being awarded.

Rakesh Sharma stepped down as a director of the company on 10 November 2017. He will receive his pension at the rate of £200,000 p.a. (36.4% of base salary) which is considered excessive. Mark Anderson stepped down from the board on 1 June 2017 and left the company on 31 October 2017. It is noted that Mr Anderson received the sum of £186,694.43 as payment in lieu of the balance of his contractual notice period. However, he will be treated as a "Good Leaver" under the rules of the LTIP. His existing awards under the LTIP shall vest at the normal time in accordance with the rules of the LTIP, prorated to reflect the proportion of each performance period completed as at 31 October 2017 which is considered acceptable.

19. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with a binding vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

20. Elect the Nomination Committee

Proposal to re-elect Jan Andersson (Chairman), Lars Erik Forsgardh, Ola Peter Gjessing, Anders Oscarsson and Anders Ullberg as Members of Nominating Committee. As the Committee member from the Board is not considered to be independent, the composition of the Committee is not deemed to reflect best practice as per the local corporate governance code.

BANK OF GEORGIA GROUP PLC AGM - 30-04-2018*3. Approve the Bank of Georgia Executive Equity Compensation Plan

On the implementation of the Proposals in full, existing awards in the form of nil cost options over Shares will be converted into awards over Bank of Georgia Group Shares and Georgia Capital Shares, so that for each Share under an existing award Shareholders will have an award over one Bank of Georgia Group Share and one Georgia Capital Share. Awards over shares in the employees' future employing group will continue to vest in line with their original vesting schedule and all other awards will vest immediately. Therefore, for Awardholders who will be employed in the Bank of Georgia Group, awards over Bank of Georgia Group Shares will have the same vesting schedule after the demerger as the current awards of shares but awards over Georgia Capital Shares will vest immediately. Awardholders will only receive immediately vested awards, if they agree that their original awards over Shares will be converted into awards over Bank of Georgia Group Shares and Georgia Capital Shares. If Awardholders do not agree, they will get awards over an adjusted number of Bank of Georgia Group Shares, but such awards will have the same vesting schedule as their existing awards.

There are some concerns regarding this plan. Awardholders will be receiving shares in companies which they will no longer be involved in as a result of the Demerger. Such plans should attract, retain and motivate employees, rather than reward employees who have left. In addition, the awards will vest immediately, which is considered inappropriate. Lastly, this plan is aimed at Executives and not open to all employees on an equal basis. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

8. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. The CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company as the CEO's salary did not change while the average percentage change for the Group's employees was a 41% increase. In addition, the CEO's deferred share salary rose by 5.1% while the average percentage change for the deferred share salaries of the Group's employees was 12%. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. The current CEO's variable pay, when compared with his salary, is considered acceptable as it represents less than 200% of his total salary and stands at 75% of salary. However, there are concerns over the excessiveness of the CEO's remuneration, as total deferred shares (salary and discretionary) are considered very excessive at 990.48% of his cash salary. Furthermore, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is highly excessive at 593:1. However, it is noted that employees are paid in Georgian Lari, which the Company states partially accounts for the high ratio.. Given the excessive salary, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

The Company has failed to disclose quantitative and qualitative information through CDP's climate change questionnaire.

PIRC issue: However, it is noted that he missed one out of ten Board meetings, with no adequate justification provided. In March 2018, the Board approved amendments to the 2010 Stock Incentive Plan (referred to in this proposal description as the "2010 Plan"), subject to the approval of stockholders at the Annual Meeting, to increase the number of shares available for issuance and to increase the limitation on the number of shares that may be issued pursuant to certain sales or awards. The first amendment to the 2010 Plan approved by the Board and submitted for stockholder approval consists of an increase in the number of shares available for issuance thereunder by 6,000,000 shares, from 30,753,475 shares to 36,753,475 shares. The Company states that the proposed increase of 6,000,000 in the number of shares reserved for issuance under the 2010 Plan is needed to allow it to continue to provide effective and appropriate equity incentives to employees and directors. The equity awards have historically consisted of stock options, restricted stock units and performance shares. The second amendment consists of an increase of the limitation on the number of shares that may be issued pursuant to sales or awards other than upon exercise of options from 2,500,000 shares to 3,500,000 shares. The third amendment approved by the Board and submitted for stockholder approval extends the termination date of the 2010 Plan from March 18, 2020 to March 18, 2021.

Next year's fees and salaries are clearly stated. All elements of each Director's cash remuneration are clearly disclosed. It is noted that the role based pay has been consolidated into an overall fixed pay which comprises both the salary and the role based allowance. The variable pay of the CEO for the year under review is considered acceptable at 46% of his fixed pay (annual bonus only). The variable pay for the CFO amounts to 100% of his fixed pay (Annual Bonus: 46%, LTIP: 54%). The use of FIXED Pay is not considered appropriate as it increases indirectly the maximum variable opportunity for the Executives (as variable pay is capped as % of fixed pay). Concerns remain over the CEO's fixed pay, which is deemed to be in the upper quartile of its comparator group. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found inappropriate at 32:1. The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are not considered in line with the changes in TSR performance over the same period.

KPMG proposed. Non-audit fees represented 5.26% of audit fees during the year under review. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. However, the re-appointment of KPMG raises concerns as the Chairman of the Audit committee, Mr Ashley, is a former employee of the firm.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

23. Issue Equity Conversion Notes

Authority is sought to allot shares and grant rights to subscribe for or to convert any security into ordinary shares in the Company up to an aggregate nominal amount of £825,000,000, representing approximately 19.3% of the Company's issued ordinary share capital as at 9 March 2018, such authority to be exercised in connection with the issue of Equity Conversion Notes (ECNs). The authority expires at the next AGM. The Company explains that this resolution is a recurring resolution at its AGM and will be used to comply or maintain compliance with regulatory capital requirements or targets applicable to the Group.

The use of Contingent Convertible Securities or CoCos is not considered appropriate as they put investors at significant risk of dilution in the event that conversion occurs. CoCos are relatively new instruments and there are concerns that CoCos may create a situation which whilst converting some debt to equity actually disincentivises equity investors from putting more new funds in to banks via rights issues, due to the dilutive effect of the conversion taking away much, or some, of the premium that would ordinarily accrue to shareholders. Recent events at Deutsche Bank has led to others voicing their concerns about the destabilising effect of CoCos on both the CoCo price and the share price. Based on these concerns, an oppose vote is recommended.

24. Issue Equity Conversion Notes on a non pre-emptive basis

This authority is supplementary to Resolution 23, giving the company

the additional flexibility to offer ECNs without first offering them to existing shareholders and will expire at next AGM. In line with the voting recommendation in resolution 23, an oppose vote is recommended.

TELENOR ASA AGM - 02-05-2018

7.1. Advisory vote regarding determination of salary and other remuneration to the executive management

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. The Company has disclosed quantified targets for its variable remuneration component, although there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

7.2. Approve Annual Share Incentive Plan

It is proposed to approve the guidelines for share related incentive arrangements. Executives including the CEO receive a grant of shares equivalent to 30% of their annual base salary at the time of granting. All participants are obliged to hold the shares for a period of four years (lock-in period), which is not considered to be sufficiently long term, although above market practice. In sum we would oppose as 1. the lock-in period is not considered sufficiently long term 2. the grant of a sum equivalent to 30% of their salary is not related to performance. They receive an amount of 30% of their salary in shares, for free. 3. the actual amount of variable remuneration, when they sell the shares after 4 years, does not necessarily depend on their performance.

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation. Dividends have been declared for the year under review, however, the Company has not put any to shareholders' vote. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the single figure table are disclosed. Performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus and LTIP are disclosed. Accrued dividends on share incentive awards are separately categorised.

Balance: The CEO's total realised awards under all incentive schemes is considered excessive at 820% of salary which is considered highly excessive. In addition, awards made to the CEO under variable incentive schemes are considered excessive amounting to EUR 6,548, 790. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found excessive at 133:1. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period

Rating: BD.

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 95.2, Abstain: 2.1, Oppose/Withhold: 2.7,

3. Approve Remuneration Policy

Key policy changes: Under the new Reward Framework, the Management Co-Investment Plan (MCIP) becomes the only long-term incentive as the GSIP has been discontinued with the final award in February 2018. Under the MCIP, the CEO and CFO can invest up to 67% of their gross annual bonus into Unilever shares which are matched based on performance over four years, with no match shares at threshold, 1.5X matching shares at Target performance and 3x match at Maximum. The use of matching shares is not considered appropriate.

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is acceptable.

Balance: The maximum variable pay for the CEO is 675% of salary (Annual bonus: 225%, MCIP: 450%) which is excessive. While indeed, the Company has simplified its remuneration structure by removing the Global Share Incentive Plan (GSIP) leaving the Annual Bonus & the MCIP. The use of a share matching plan is not supported. In addition, the same performance metric, underlying sales growth is in place for both the Annual Bonus and the MCIP, raising concerns that executives are being rewarded twice for the same performance. There is no evidence that dividends may not accrue on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not.

Contracts: An inappropriate level of upside discretion can be used by the Committee upon termination as time pro-rata vesting may be disapplied. In addition, there is a level of discretion in determining a 'good leaver'

Rating: BDC.

Based on this rating it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 61.4, Abstain: 4.3, Oppose/Withhold: 34.3,

22. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 97.0, Abstain: 0.1, Oppose/Withhold: 2.9,

GLENCORE PLC AGM - 02-05-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic Report meets guidelines. Adequate environmental and employment policies are in place as well as quantified reporting. The Company has disclosed the proportion of women at Board level and within the whole organisation. However, no data is provided with regard to the number of women in Executive Management positions. Also, the Company recorded nine fatalities in the year under review which is of great concern.

Concerns are also raised as the Company has not published a standalone company balance sheet within its accounts, as required for companies incorporated in the UK and wider EU. The fact that Swiss law may allow this is not a reason for the company not presenting a company only balance sheet. Given that companies pay dividends out of the reserves of the parent company then not presenting an audited balance sheet not only results in a lack of transparency, but a lack of audit assurance too. There are concerns about UK Listed Companies having Swiss or other seats of incorporation where shareholder protections are of a lesser standard to those of the UK. As the Company did not make available its unconsolidated financial statements from the year under review on its website either, an oppose vote is recommended.

2. Approve executive compensation on an advisory basis

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The voting outcome for this resolution reflects the balance of opinion on the adequacy of disclosure, the balance of performance and reward and the terms of executive employment. The compensation rating is: BCC. Based on this rating, it is recommended that shareholders abstain.

Vote Cast: Abstain

Results: For: 98.8, Abstain: 0.4, Oppose/Withhold: 0.9,

4. Ratify the appointment of Deloitte & Touche LLP as Auditors

Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 0.56% of audit fees during the year under review and 0.46% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than five years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Vote Cast: Abstain

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: John R. Chevedden

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. Huntington Ingalls shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under Delaware law.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal and states that the written consent process does not provide protections and advantages and instead undermines the important deliberative process through which the informed views of all stockholders, management and the Board are considered. Stockholder action by written consent would make it possible for the holders of a bare majority of outstanding common stock to take significant corporate action without any prior notice to the company or other stockholders, and without giving all stockholders sufficient opportunity to consider, discuss and vote on stockholder actions that may have important ramifications for the company and its stockholders.

STRYKER CORPORATION AGM - 02-05-2018

1f. Elect Director Kevin A. Lobo

President, Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the three roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 98.2, Abstain: 0.2, Oppose/Withhold: 1.5,

2. Appoint the Auditors

EY proposed. Non-audit fees represented 52.40% of audit fees during the year under review and 54.84% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

SECURITAS AB AGM - 02-05-2018

11. Approve Fees Payable to the Board of Directors and the Auditor

The Board is seeking approval for Board and Committee membership fees for Non-Executive Directors. It is proposed to increase the amount payable to the Board of Directors by more than 10% on annual basis. The increase is considered material and exceeds guidelines, while the Company has not duly justified it. It is regrettable that the Company has bundled the auditors and Directors remuneration in one resolution. The proposed increase of Non-Executives fees is considered excessive. Opposition is recommended.

12. Elect Board of Directors

The Nomination Committee proposes to re-elect the current shareholder-elected Directors on the Board. The Nomination Committee also proposes the re-election of Marie Ehrling as Chairman of the Board. There is sufficient independent representation on the Board.

13. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. At this time the audit fees have not been disclosed. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Oppose is recommend.

14. Elect the Nomination Committee

It is proposed that the Nomination Committee shall consist of the representatives of the major shareholders and the Chairman of the Board. As the Chairman of the proposed Nomination Committee (Carl Douglas) is a Director, the composition of the committee does not meet best practice guidelines. Therefore, opposition is recommended.

15. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

16. Authorize Share Repurchase Program

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital. As the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

17. Approve 2018 Incentive Scheme and Related Hedging Measures

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan. Under the plan, 1/3 of any annual bonus earned under the performance based cash bonus schemes would be converted into a right to receive shares, a portion (or all) of which will vest depending on the achievement of some performance criteria. Performance criteria are not quantified, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Vote Cast: Oppose

PHOENIX GROUP HOLDINGS AGM - 02-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of Executive and Non-Executive Director remuneration are disclosed. Face values of all outstanding share awards are fully disclosed.

Balance: Changes in CEO total pay under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. The CEO's variable pay for the Year Under Review is more than 200% of salary, which is excessive. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is appropriate at 18:1.

Rating: AC

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

4. Re-elect Alastair Barbour

The Company has received an 'E' rating for Audit.

10. Re- elect Henry Staunton

Chairman. Independent upon appointment. He is also Chairman of WH Smith Plc, a FTSE 250 company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention onto the only one FTSE 350 Company.

The Company has failed to disclose quantitative and qualitative information through CDP's climate change questionnaire.

13. Re-appoint the Auditors, Ernst & Young LLP

EY proposed. Non-audit fees represented 88.10% of audit fees during the year under review and 48.11% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor.

PIRC issue: The current auditor has been in place for more than five years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

18. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

3. Amend Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the The Goldman Sachs Amended and Restated Stock Incentive Plan (2018). The 2018 SIP permits grants of Awards to individuals in the following classes of persons: (1) any current or prospective director of Goldman Sachs, (2) any officer or employee of Goldman Sachs, (3) any consultant or other service provider to Goldman Sachs, and (4) any former director, officer or employee of, or consultant or other service provider to, Goldman Sachs with respect to the year of their departure from, or completion of service to, the firm. The 2018 SIP generally will be administered by our Compensation Committee (and those to whom it delegates authority), unless our Board determines otherwise. The Committee is granted broad discretion to make awards under the 2018 SIP and to interpret and implement the 2018 SIP. Our Board, in its sole discretion, also may grant Awards or administer the 2018 SIP.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). An oppose vote is recommended.

3. Approve Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the 2018 Eversource Incentive Plan. The Plan governs both annual cash incentive awards and long-term cash and equity awards. The 2018 Plan is administered by the Compensation Committee, which has the discretionary authority to interpret the 2018 Plan, determine eligibility for and grant awards, determine, modify or waive the terms and conditions of any award, determine the form of settlement of awards, prescribe forms, rules and procedures for awards, and otherwise do all things necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of the 2018 Plan. The Compensation Committee shall select participants from among key employees of the Company and its subsidiaries. Subject to adjustment as described below, the maximum number of our common shares that may be delivered in satisfaction of awards under the 2018 Plan is 3,200,000.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). An Oppose vote is recommended.

The Strategic Review is considered adequate. There are adequate environmental and employment policies in place. Quantified environmental data has been published. It is noted that the Company has not provided shareholders with an opportunity to approve dividends paid during the year. The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. #### 5. Approve Equity Grant to Executive Director (Long Term Incentive)

The Boards is seeking shareholder approval for the purposes of ASX Listing Rule 10.14 for the grant of 420,467 performance shares to Mr Robert Johnston under the Company's Long-term Incentive Plan. The proposed grant has a value of AUD 2,190,000 which equates to approximately 150% of his fixed remuneration.

The performance conditions for this grant are Total Return and Relative Total Shareholder Return. For the 2018 grant, the TR Range is between 8.5% and 10.0%. Vesting will be determined on a sliding scale, with 10% vesting at 8.5% TR and 100% vesting at 10.0% TR. Awards will vest based on performance conditions which are not applied interdependently contrary to best practice. The awards have a three-year performance period, which is not considered sufficiently long term and no further holding period is used. The size of the grant is potentially excessive when combined with the annual short term incentives. Also, LTIP schemes are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance and are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company. They are acting as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

In accordance with Section 250R of the Australian Corporations Act, the directors are seeking approval of the remuneration report. The Act does not require directors to act on approval of the resolution and the vote is advisory.

Concerns are raised as CEO variable awards have the potential to be excessive as combined grants under the Short Term Incentive (125% of base salary) and Long Term Incentive (150% of base salary) plans exceed the acceptable limit of 200% of base salary. During the year under review, total variable remuneration was slightly excessive being approximately 213% of base salary. Features of the Long Term Incentive Plan are not considered adequate as awards are based on performance conditions which are not applied interdependently, also no non-financial metric is used. The three-year performance period is not considered sufficiently long term. There is clawback policy in place. Rules in relation to outstanding awards in the event of termination of employment allow for upside discretion. An oppose vote is recommended.

INMARSAT PLC AGM - 02-05-2018*2. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is noted that at last year's AGM the remuneration report received a considerable number of oppose votes (44.8%). The Company has stated that the Remuneration Committee engaged with shareholders during 2017 to address the high level of opposition. Consequently, the Committee decided to make the following two changes to the BSA: performance against each measure, will now be assessed on an independent basis, and there will no longer be an opportunity to 'offset' any under-performance against one measure with out-performance against the other; secondly, payout for target performance will be reduced from 100% to 80% of maximum, and a stretch target will be introduced, the achievement of which will be required for full payout.

Overall disclosure is adequate. Performance conditions and targets for long term incentives and the annual bonus are disclosed. However, it is considered inappropriate that EBITDA was used as a performance condition to determine awards under all three incentive plans, as this could lead to excessive and unmerited payouts for Executives. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the change in the salaries of other UK employees, as the CEO's salary rose by 3% while for other UK employees the increase was 6.1%. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is acceptable at 17:1. However, changes in the CEO's total remuneration over the past five years are not in line with changes in TSR during the same period, and total variable pay for the year under review is considered excessive at 218.2% of salary.

O.9. Approve Remuneration Policy of the CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy for the CEO. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes is unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. ### 3. Advisory Vote on Executive Compensation

The Company has submitted a proposal for shareholder ratification of its executive compensation policy and practices. The voting outcome for this resolution reflects the balance of opinion on the adequacy of disclosure, the balance of performance and reward and the terms of executive employment. The compensation rating is: DCB. Based on this rating, it is recommended that shareholders oppose.

RIO TINTO GROUP (AUS) AGM - 02-05-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic Report meets guidelines. Adequate environmental policy is in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified environmental reporting is disclosed. The proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation is disclosed. However, it is noted that shareholders were not asked to vote on the dividend paid during the year, contrary to best practice. Therefore an oppose vote is recommended.

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

The Company is removing a performance measure relating to relative EBIT margin improvement as it is described as being 'complex, opaque and impossible to track' during the performance period. Given this admission, it is inconceivable why it was chosen as a metric in the first instance. Vesting for Performance Share Awards (PSA) granted for 2018 will be subject to two equally weighted measures of relative total shareholder return (TSR) against the Euromoney Global Mining Index and the MSCI World Index. Best practice is for at least two different metrics operating interdependently, with the inclusion of a non-financial performance metric. (ii) The Company is also seeking shareholder approval of a new umbrella agreement - the Equity Incentive Plan (EIP) which will govern all future long-term, share-based remuneration, including PSA and the deferred element of the STIP as well as restricted share awards. These changes are not considered sufficient to warrant support for the policy.

Overall policy disclosure is acceptable.

Total maximum potential awards under all incentive schemes are considered excessive at 638% of salary. The LTIP currently in operation is the Performance Share Award (PSA). Awards vest subject to RSR relative to two different indices. This is contrary to best practice as it is considered that awards should be subject to at least two performance metrics, operating interdependently. In addition, they should be linked to non-financial performance conditions. Dividend equivalents are permitted under the plan. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not.

It is noted that in exceptional circumstances, an initial notice period of up to 24 months during the first two years of employment, reducing to up to 12 months thereafter, may be necessary to secure an external appointment. This is not considered appropriate. The Company states that no form of golden hello will be provided upon recruitment.

Vote Cast: Oppose

3. Approve the Remuneration Implementation Report

Overall disclosure is acceptable. However accrued dividends are not separately categorised.

Appropriate discretion was used by the Board during the year, as given that fatalities occurred in 2017, reductions were applied as required by the Policy, with the safety results for the chief executive and the chief financial officer being reduced from 49.5 per cent of maximum to 37 per cent and 42 per cent, respectively. The CEO's realised variable pay is considered slightly excessive at 210% of his salary. The CEO was awarded an LTIP equivalent to 400% of his salary which is considered excessive. However, the balance of CEO realised total pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period.

Vote Cast: Abstain

4. Approve the Remuneration Report

In accordance with Section 250R of the Australian Corporations Act, the directors are seeking approval of the remuneration report. The Act does not require directors to act on approval of the resolution and the vote is advisory.

The maximum potential award under all the incentive schemes is 638% of salary which is highly excessive. As stated in resolution 3, the current variable pay of the CEO is also deemed excessive at more than 200% of salary. There are concerns over features of the Long Term Incentives (LTI) plan: no non-financial performance metrics are used and the performance conditions are not interdependent. The contract policy is also of concern as an initial notice period of 24 months, reducing to 12 months after two years, can be given for recruitment purposes. This can allow for excessive severance payments for Executives appointed under these terms. Upon termination, there are significant concerns with regards to the fact that the outstanding PSP awards, after the first 36 months from the date of grant, will not be pro-rated for period served. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

5.A. Approve New Long Term Incentive Plan

Shareholder approval is being sought for the adoption of a new discretionary employee share plan, the Rio Tinto 2018 Equity Incentive Plan (2018 EIP) for executive directors and employees. However, the committee will decide who will be granted awards and over how many shares.

Plan Summary: Awards under the plan can take the form of (i) Conditional Awards - under which the participant receives shares for free automatically to the extent the award vests (which may be subject to the achievement of performance conditions); (ii) Forfeitable Shares - under which the participant receives free shares on grant, which must be given back to the extent the award lapses; or; (iii) Options - under which the participant can acquire shares, to the extent their award has vested, either at no cost or at a price set when the option is granted. The current intention is that awards will be made in the form of Conditional Awards to replicate awards currently made under the PSP, MSP and BDP and in line with the Group's Remuneration Policy. The inclusion of other award types is to provide for sufficient flexibility in the future should the Group's remuneration approach change during the life of the Plan. Awards may also be granted as cash awards. It is disclosed that the vesting of awards granted to executive directors (other than deferred bonus awards) will always be subject to a performance condition, except as otherwise permitted by the Group's Remuneration Policy. Dividend equivalents are permitted under the plan. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not.

There are certain concerns over the plan. These include: the flexibility to award different types of awards under one plan, the lack of disclosure of performance conditions and award limits and the discretion to disapply time pro-rata vesting for 'good leavers'. More importantly, LTIPs are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature.

5.B. Approve potential termination benefits paid under the Rio Tinto 2018 Equity Incentive Plan

It is proposed to approve for the purposes of sections 200B and 200E of the Australian Corporations Act 2001 the termination benefits given under the 2018 EIP that may be provided to individuals (Relevant Executives) who hold, or held in the last three years prior to cessation of employment a managerial or executive office, as defined in the Act, in Rio Tinto Limited or a related body corporate, including key management personnel (KMP) (which includes all Rio Tinto directors) and directors of subsidiary companies of Rio Tinto Limited.

The terms include discretion not to apply time pro-rating for awards subject to a performance conditions where the executive leaves on or after the third anniversary of grant which is not considered appropriate. Also it is noted that the Committee has discretion to vary the vesting date and/or the number of awards that vest. As such, an oppose vote is recommended.

14. Re-elect Simon Thompson

Chairman with effect from the 2018 AGM. Considered independent on appointment. He is also Chairman of 3i Group Plc, a FTSE 100 company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention onto the only one FTSE 350 Company.

15. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 22.38% of audit fees during the year under review and 16.11% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

18. Authorise Share Repurchase

The authority is limited to 10% of the Company's issued share capital and will expire at the next AGM. This resolution will not be supported unless the Board has set forth a clear, cogent and compelling case demonstrating how the authority would benefit long-term shareholders. As no clear justification was provided by the Board, an oppose vote is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Performance conditions and targets are adequately disclosed. Face values of all outstanding share awards are fully disclosed.

Balance: Changes in CEO under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. The CEO's salary is just around the median of the comparator group. The CEO's variable pay for the Year Under Review is 52% of salary, which is not considered excessive as there was no LTIP paid to the CEO in the year under review. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not appropriate at 31:1. The buy-out awards for Andrew Livingston are considered inappropriate.

UNILEVER NV AGM - 03-05-2018

3. Discharge the Executive Directors

The Company has not appointed a Data Protection Officer or discussed the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Under the GDPR, it is mandatory for certain controllers and processors to designate a Data Protection Officer (DPO). It is considered that boards should ensure that risk assessment (including data protection and cyber risk) is complete for the entire organisation, and that appropriate security is provided for each type of data under use. Although applicable only from 25 May 2018, it is considered that directors should be considered accountable for this lack of discussion and relevant appointment: abstention to their discharge is recommended.

Vote Cast: Abstain

2. Approve Financial Statements and Allocation of Income

The Board seeks shareholders' approval for the consolidated and individual financial statements for the year under review. Disclosure is adequate. The financial statements have been audited and the auditors have not qualified their opinion. The reports have been made available to shareholders sufficiently prior to the date of the general meeting. The Board also proposes to retain profits for the year. Dividends have been declared for the year under review, however, the Company has not put any to shareholders' vote. Distribution policy is considered to be fundamental both to the income requirements of investors and to a company's investment and financial planning. Opposition is recommended.

5. Approve Remuneration Policy

Under the new Reward Framework, the Management Co-Investment Plan (MCIP) becomes the only long-term incentive as the GSIP has been discontinued with the final award in February 2018. Under the MCIP, the CEO and CFO can invest up to 67% of their gross annual bonus into Unilever shares which are matched based on performance over four years, with no match shares at threshold, 1.5X matching shares at Target performance and 3x match at Maximum. The use of matching shares is not considered appropriate. Overall disclosure is acceptable. The maximum variable pay for the CEO is 675% of salary (Annual bonus: 225%, MCIP: 450%) which is excessive. While indeed, the Company has simplified its remuneration structure by removing the Global Share Incentive Plan (GSIP) leaving the Annual Bonus & the MCIP. The use of a share matching plan is not supported. In addition, the same performance metric, underlying sales growth is in place for both the Annual Bonus and the MCIP, raising concerns that executives are being rewarded twice for the same performance. There is no evidence that dividends may not accrue on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards misalign shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not. An inappropriate level of upside discretion can be used by the Committee upon termination as time pro-rata vesting may be disapplied. In addition, there is a level of discretion in determining a 'good leaver'

KAZ MINERALS PLC AGM - 03-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Next year's fees and salaries are clearly stated. Performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus and LTIP are disclosed. Accrued dividends on vested share incentives are not separately disclosed.

Balance: The CEO's realised variable pay for the year under review is considered excessive at 525.5% of salary (Annual Bonus: 115.5% LTIP: 410%). The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of PIRC's comparator group. There has been an appropriate use of the Committee's discretion as due to the increase in the number of fatalities during the year, bonus pay outs were scaled back. The CEO's pay in the last five years is in line with the Company's financial performance over the same period. In addition the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is unacceptable standing at 216:1.

15. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

EDENRED SA AGM - 03-05-2018

0.6. Reelect Bertrand Dumazy as Director

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

O.10. Approve Remuneration Policy for Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with a binding vote. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.11. Approve Compensation of Bertrand Dumazy, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due Bertrand Dumazy as Chairman and CEO with an advisory vote. There are excessiveness concerns as the total variable remuneration awarded exceeded 200% of salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed the pre-determined targets or quantified performance criteria underlying the variable remuneration component. Although common practice in this market as this is deemed sensitive information, this may lead to overpayment against underperformance.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.12. Approve Severance Payment Agreement with Bertrand Dumazy

It is proposed to approve the agreement with Bertrand Dumazy, related to the severance payment. The value of the proposed agreement may exceed one year fixed salary on aggregate, as it incorporates elements of the variable remuneration, opposition is recommended

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.13. Approve Unemployment Insurance Agreement with Bertrand Dumazy

It is proposed to approve the Unemployment Insurance Agreement with Bertrand Dumazy. Mr Dumazy is covered under an insured plan set up with Association GSC, entitling him to unemployment benefits equal to 70% of his contractual income, capped at EUR 16,090 per month, for a period of up to 24 months. The total annual cost of this plan for Edenred, including premiums and related payroll taxes, is EUR 31,245. It is considered that the Company should not provide unemployment agreements for executives, as said executives are to be held responsible for such contingencies. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.15. Approve Additional Pension Scheme Agreement with Bertrand Dumazy

It is proposed to approve the General Supplementary Pension Plan Agreement with Bertrand Dumazy. A supplementary pension plan has been set up for Group senior executives above certain grades whose compensation meets certain criteria. This plan is comprised of a defined contribution plan ("Article 83") and a defined benefit plan ("Article 39"): under the Article 83 defined contribution plan, the Company pays an annual contribution representing up to 5% of five times the annual ceiling for calculating Social Security contributions; under the Article 39 defined benefit plan (17 persons in 2015), the Company is committed to paying an annuity to plan participants when they retire, based on principles that comply with the recommendations contained in the AFEP-MEDEF Corporate Governance Code dated November 2015.

Top hat pension plans are contrary to best practice and as such, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.16. Approve Auditors' Special Report on Related-Party Transactions

It is proposed to approve the auditors' Special Report on Related-Party Transactions. The agreements and commitments authorized during the year are related to allocation of compensation for termination of duties to Mr. Bertrand Dumazy, Subscription of private unemployment insurance for Mr. Bertrand Dumazy, Extension to the Chairman and CEO of the health insurance plan applicable to employees of the Company, and participation of the Chairman and CEO in the new supplementary pension plans in force in the Company.

In light of the concerns noted within a number of the agreements, opposition is recommended.

O.17. Renew Appointment of Deloitte and Associates as Auditor

Deloitte proposed. No non-audit fees were paid to the auditors in the past three years. This approach is commended. However, the current auditor has been in place for more than five years. Vote Cast: Oppose

O.19. Authorize Repurchase of Up to 10 Percent of Issued Share Capital

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.23. Approve Issuance of Equity or Equity-Linked Securities for Private Placements, up to Aggregate Nominal Amount of EUR 23,540,324

The Board requests authority to approve a global authority for the issue of capital related securities without pre-emptive rights by private placement. The authorisation is valid up to 5% of the issued share capital over a period of 26 months. This authority is not requested in connection with a particular operation and has not been duly justified by the Company. Opposition is therefore recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.24. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. Given the potential for inequitable treatment of shareholders, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.28. Approve New Executive Share Option Plan

The board requests general approval to issue performance shares, corresponding to 1.5% of the issued share capital, to employees and management over a period of 26 months.

Performance conditions to be applied to those shares awarded to the CEO and employees are disclosed and quantified, however the performance period of three years is not considered to be sufficiently long term.

LTIPs are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. Opposition is recommended.

2. Ratify Ernst & Young LLP as Auditors

EY proposed. Non-audit fees represented 17.35% of audit fees during the year under review and 11.48% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

VOLKSWAGEN AG AGM - 03-05-2018

3.1. Approve Discharge of Management Board Member M. Mueller for Fiscal 2017

The Management Committee declared Mr. Porsche's chairmanship of the Audit Committee as not in conformity with the German Corporate Governance Code, although as a "precautionary measure". There are concerns over a Management Board who cannot identify whether there is a conflict of interest in case a family member of the major shareholder sit as Chairman of the Audit Committee. In addition, at this time it is still unclear the level of responsibility of the Management Board and the Supervisory Board on the Diesel Emissions issue. The Company has reported to have investigated the diesel emissions scandal, however despite the CEO having resigned after the scandal burst in 2015, the Company has not changed what are considered to be some of the key issues within its governance structure: among others, the overlap of major shareholders and controlling functions and a remuneration structure excessively depending on sales. QBE INSURANCE GROUP LTD AGM - 03-05-2018*2. Approve the Remuneration Report

In accordance with Section 250R of the Australian Corporations Act, the directors are seeking approval of the remuneration report. The Act does not require directors to act on approval of the resolution and the vote is advisory.

LTI awards were made during the FY2017, however, going forward, the Remuneration Committee has decided to set up the QBE Executive Incentive Plan (EIP) which combines STI and LTI into a single, incentive plan. It is noted that no awards vested under the LTI since its inception in 2010 as performance targets were not met. The EIP represents an STI Plan, where awards are subject to a one year performance period and a deferral period which starts from 1 year and extends over 4 years. Maximum awards under the plan represent 350% of the Total Fixed Remuneration for the CEO, as such they are considered excessive (above the threshold limit of 200% of base salary). It is noted that this limit is lower for 2017 awards at 350% of Total Fixed Remuneration. The potential EIP award for Mr Regan for 2017 was AUD 3,360,000 (being 210% of his fixed remuneration of AUD 1,600,000) subject to the achievement of performance measures approved by the Board. His achievement was at 175.5% of his fixed remuneration, (AUD 2,807,448). Termination benefits for the former CEO were approximately 300% of salary. Malus provisions are in place, however there is no evidence of a clawback policy. In the event of termination of employment the Remuneration Committee has an appropriate level of discretion on how outstanding awards vest. Based on the excessiveness of the EIP and termination benefits, An oppose vote is recommended.

3. Approve Grant of Conditional Rights to Patrick Regan

The Board is seeking shareholder approval for the grant of performance shares to the CEO, Patrick Regan, under the Company's Long-term Incentive Plan. The proposed grant has combined value of AUD 2,807,448, which equates to 175% of his current base salary.

Subject to shareholder approval, 163,382 Conditional Rights will be granted to Mr Regan with effect from the Grant Date. If shareholder approval is obtained, it is intended that Conditional Rights will be granted shortly after the AGM, but in any event, within 12 months of the date of the meeting. The LTI plan has two performance metrics: Group COR and the Group Cash ROE. For full vesting occurs for Group ROE of 11.5% or more. The awards have a three-year performance period, which is not considered sufficiently long term. Performance conditions work independently of each other. A. During the vesting period, notional dividends will accrue. 25% of the EIP Conditional Rights will vest 1 year after the Grant Date, and then 25% until for each year until 4 years after grant date. Further, LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the inherent risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They are inherently acting as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. Opposition is therefore recommended.

4. Amend Existing Long Term Incentive Plan

It is proposed to approve an Amendment and Restatement of the DTE Energy Company Long-Term Incentive Plan. The amendment included in the LTIP restatement will increase the aggregate number of shares of common stock that may be issued or acquired and delivered under the LTIP pursuant to the exercise of options, the grant of stock awards and the settlement of performance shares and performance units by 2,000,000 to 16,500,000. Any employee of DTE Energy or an entity in which DTE Energy has a direct or indirect ownership or other equity interest and any member of the Board, whether or not employed by DTE Energy or a Subsidiary, is eligible to participate if the plan administrator determines that the employee or director has contributed significantly, or may be expected to contribute significantly, to the profits or growth of DTE Energy or a Subsidiary.

The Board administers the LTIP with respect to awards made to members of the Board who are not employees of DTE Energy or a Subsidiary. The Organization and Compensation Committee administers the LTIP with respect to awards made to employees of DTE Energy or a Subsidiary. The Committee may delegate to the CEO, and in certain instances, to the President, all or part of its authority and duties as to awards made to individuals not subject to Section 16 of the Exchange Act. The plan administrator has the authority to determine the persons to whom awards will be made; to select the type, size and timing of each award; to set the terms and provisions of each award, consistent with the provisions of the LTIP; and to establish rules and policies for the plan.

It is considered that, as performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that awards under the Plan will not necessarily be subject to sufficiently robust performance targets (if any). As a result, shareholders cannot assess whether the Plan will operate to align participants' incentives with shareholders' interests. In addition, maximum award limits are considered excessive. Accordingly, shareholders are recommend to oppose the resolution.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

The change in the CEO's salary is not in line with the rest of the Company, as the CEO's salary increased by 14.8% while employees' salaries rose by 3.2%. Such a significant difference between the increase in the CEO's salary compared to the increase in employees' salaries is not in line with best practice. Variable pay for the year under review consisted only of the annual bonus, which amounted to 40.2% of salary, which is acceptable. PSP awards granted during the year under review were also not excessive, amounting to 91.3% of salary. Total potential variable pay under the policy is 300% of salary, though the Committee has decided that the current award levels for the annual bonus and PSP should both be limited to 100% of salary, thereby making potential variable pay 200% of salary, which is welcomed. The CEO's salary is in the lower quartile of the Company's comparator group.

There are issues with disclosure, as the Company has not disclosed the figures for the average number of employees or employee costs such as wages and salaries, share based payments, pension and social security costs. As a result, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay could not be calculated. Such lack of disclosure raises concerns and is contrary to best practice.

14. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such a proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. ### LINDT & SPRUNGLI AG AGM - 03-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice although cap is excessive. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes is unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

5.1. Re-elect Ernst Tanner

Executive Chairman. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. Combining the two functions in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

5.2. Re-elect Mr Antonio Bulgheroni

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 14.29% of audit fees during the year under review and 9.43% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

9.2. Approve Remuneration of Management

It is proposed to approve the prospective remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee until next AGM at CHF 18 million (10 million last year). This proposal includes fixed and variable remuneration components.

The Company has submitted its compensation structure to an advisory vote, which is recommended by the local Corporate Governance Code. There are concerns over the remuneration structure at the Company, which may lead to excessive payments, and the composition of the remuneration committee, upon which sit a director connected with the controlling shareholder and a former CEO. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

SAIPEM SPA AGM - 03-05-2018*5. *Elect Board Chair

Francesco Caio proposed as Chairman of the Board after the meeting. Not considered to be independent as he is SVP for ENI, there is insufficient independent representation on the Board. In terms of best practice, it is considered that the Chairman should be independent, or there should be sufficient independent representation on the Board. As neither of these conditions apply, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

7. *Integrate Remuneration of External Auditors

It is proposed to integrate the remuneration of the external auditor through the end of its mandate i.e. next financial year. The auditor explains in detail the reasons for increased fees and the proposal has received the positive advice of the Board of Statutory Auditors.

However, non-audit fees represented 28.52% of audit fees during the year under review and 38.09% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises some concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. In addition, the external audit firm asked for an integration of the fees for the second consecutive year, which raises concerns as of whether the auditor can effectively predict the amount of audit and non-audit fees (although shareholders are not asked to approve these latter ones). On balance, and although companies have legal duties to pay the auditors for their work, it is recommended to abstain, as a way to signal concerns over the management of the external auditors at the Company.

8. Approve Remuneration Policy

13. Granting of authorization to the Board to administrate some of the protection inherent in Article 7 of the Articles of Association

It is proposed to delegate to the Board until the next AGM authorities that, as per the Articles, should be approved by shareholders with qualified majority, including: decisions to sell shares or operations, including private placements, mergers or demergers, in subsidiaries when the net payment (sales amount, merger or demerger payment, etc.) does not exceed NOK 4 billion after financial adjustments. This authority is not requested in connection with a particular operation and has not been duly justified by the Company. Opposition is therefore recommended.

9.B. Approve Remuneration Policy

Schibsted operates two share-based long-term incentive programs for executives since 2015: the Key Contributor Plan (KCP) and the Senior Executive Plan (SEP) both settled in Schibsted shares. The SEP is a five-year program applicable for the Group CEO and Schibsted Executive Team, while KCP is a three-year program applicable for selected key executives, managers in key subsidiaries, high potentials and key contributors across the Group. At the start of each Plan, each participant is granted a number of shares based on a certain percentage of their fixed salary and the share price at the start of the program. Group CEO can be granted maximum 100% of fixed salary under the SEP. The number of shares calculated at the start of the program vest in three equal tranches over a five-year period (for the SEP) and three years (for the KCP), subject to the participant's continuous employment in Schibsted.

Executives reportedly need to show strong performance (not better defined) to stay eligible for the long-term incentive programs, but these plans seem to be informed uniquely by tenure and not performance. As such, and as shares are seemingly granted free of charge, executives may be rewarded solely based on tenure and not on actual performance. Despite the vesting period being considered sufficiently long term, opposition is recommended.

6. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the annual report on remuneration of Executive and Non-Executive Directors with an advisory vote. The Company discloses all elements of remuneration for Executives and Non-Executives. The payout is in line with best practice, being under 200% of the fixed salary. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to over payment against under performance. #### 15. Approve Janus Henderson Group plc Deferred Equity Plan

The Henderson Group plc Deferred Equity Plan (DEP) was last approved by shareholders on 1 May 2014. The DEP is the Company's deferral mechanism by which it seeks to comply with the Financial Conduct Authority's Remuneration Code. The DEP enables selected employees of the Group who receive a bonus under any annual bonus scheme operated within the Group to receive part of their bonus in the form of Shares or interests in an investment fund as well as additional matching Shares or interests in an investment fund. Participants are entitled to receive their matching Shares or interests in an investment fund at the end of a specified restricted period subject to remaining in employment during that time.

While the deferral into shares is considered appropriate, particularly when subject to the FCA's remuneration code, the matching shares is at the company's discretion and only adds to the already excessive bonus arrangements. As such support cannot be recommended.

16. Approve the Janus Henderson Group plc Restricted Share Plan

The Henderson Group plc Restricted Share Plan (RSP) was last approved by shareholders on 1 May 2014. Under the RSP employees selected by the Remuneration Committee may be granted awards over Shares that are released after a certain 'restricted period'. Individual limits are 150% of salary. Under the plan, the Committee can decide to release all or part of a restricted share award.

Performance conditions may not be set for all or part of the award, which is inappropriate. In addition, the maximum opportunity is considered excessive if such awards are to be granted to Executive Directors, as total potential variable pay for the position of CEO is ten times base salary, which is considered excessive. Based on the concerns highlighted, an oppose vote is recommended.

20. Approve the Janus Henderson Group plc 2010 Long Term Incentive Stock Plan

The Janus Henderson Group plc Second Amended and Restated 2010 Long Term Incentive Stock Plan (the 2010 LTIP) is intended to allow employees, directors and consultants of the Company and its subsidiaries to acquire or increase equity ownership in the Company. The awards can be granted in the form of restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance share units, stock options and stock appreciation rights. Awards are subject to a minimum vesting period of 12 months. The awards, together with any directors awards, are subject to a 5% cap.

The approval of this plan is considered unnecessary, given the number of incentive plans already existing for the Company. Furthermore, this plan appears to be aimed primarily at Executives and could facilitate inappropriately excessive variable pay. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

21. Approve the Janus Henderson Group plc 2012 Employment Inducement Award Plan

The Janus Henderson Group plc Second Amended and Restated 2012 Employment Inducement Award Plan (the 2012 EIA) is intended to assist the Company and its subsidiaries in attracting new employees, and to allow new employees of the Company and its subsidiaries to acquire equity ownership in the Company. The 2012 EIA only permits awards to newly hired employees of the Company or its subsidiaries to induce them to become employed by a Janus Henderson entity. Under the 2012 EIA, the Company may award Restricted Stock, Restricted Stock Units, Performance Share Units, Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights on substantially the same terms as the 2010 LTIP, except there is no minimum vesting period applicable to the 2012 EIA.

The 2012 EIA is aimed at new recruits. The main purpose of the plan is therefore to provide recruitment awards to employees, which is considered inappropriate and gratuitous. Furthermore, such a plan is not open to all employees on an equal basis. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation. However, it is noted that no dividend has been put to the vote for shareholder approval although interim and special dividends were declared during the year under review. The annual vote by shareholders on the payment of a dividend (or dividend policy) on unqualified accounts, discharges the duties of the directors in tandem with the legal responsibilities of the auditors, and reaffirms the necessity of reliably audited accounts for financial governance to function properly. An oppose vote is therefore recommended.

Overall disclosure is satisfactory, though not all targets for the PSP have been disclosed. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the Company, as the salary increase for both the CEO and the wider workforce was 2.5%. The changes in the CEO pay over the last five years are in line with the Company's TSR performance over the same period. However, PSP awards granted to the new CEO, Emma Walmsley, are considered highly excessive, amounting to 548% of salary. In addition, total variable pay for the new CEO was also excessive at 345% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 61:1. Lastly, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 101.48% of audit fees during the year under review and 86.15% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that this proposal topic won majority shareholder support at 13 major companies in a single year. Taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. Eastman Chemical shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under Delaware law. According to the lame Eastman Chemical special meeting provision it would take 25% of shares (instead of 10% per Delaware law) to call a special meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it believes that permitting stockholder action by written consent would circumvent the proper and usual process of allowing deliberation at a meeting of stockholders, would be contrary to principles of openness and good governance, and has the potential to inappropriately disenfranchise stockholders. The practices of other large companies reflect that opinion; currently, less than one-third of Fortune 500 companies permit shareholders to act by written consent. Allowing stockholder action by written consent would result in a small group of self-interested stockholders, who together would hold a threshold amount of shares, and who do not owe any fiduciary responsibilities to other stockholders, to take important actions without the involvement of, and with little or no advance notice to, the Company or other stockholders, including actions that may constitute self-interested transactions or that otherwise may not be in the long-term best interests of the Company and its stockholders.

JAMES FISHER AND SONS PLC AGM - 03-05-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation. West Midlands is recommended to oppose the report and accounts for the following reason: No trade union negotiating framework, works councils or similar strategic level procedures for information and consultation.

Vote Cast: Oppose

2. Approve Remuneration Policy

Disclosure: Disclosure is considered sufficient. Pay policy aims are fully explained in terms of the Company's objectives.

Balance: Deferral period for the annual bonus is not considered sufficient as only 30% of the award is deferred. PIRC would prefer to see 50% deferral over at least two years. The LTIP is based on the achievement of EPS and relative TSR targets. The absence of non-financial parameters to assess Executives' long-term performance is considered contrary to best practice as such factors are generally beyond an individual director's control. Non-financial parameters allow the remuneration policy to focus on the operational performance of the business as a whole and the individual roles of each of the senior executives in achieving that performance. The performance measures are applied independently and can vest regardless of the performance in respect to other elements which is considered to be inappropriate. Also, the CEO's total potential awards under all incentive schemes represent 300% of his salary which is considered excessive.

Contracts: The Policy tolerates recruitment payments which compensate external recruits for forfeit awards in circumstances where the performance period or holding period or the performance conditions for such awards haven't been fulfilled. The buying out of awards undermines any retentive effect such awards might have and distorts the market for executive talent. The Committee can also recruit Executives on an initial notice period of more than one year, reducing automatically to one year after a certain period of time, which is not considered best practice. For a 'good leaver', deferred bonus awards and LTIP awards will normally vest in full at the normal vesting date subject to performance against the performance targets. However, it would appear that the Company is able to use its discretion in order to vest the awards made under the variable incentive schemes early, which is inappropriate.

Rating: BDC

Based on this rating it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 97.8, Abstain: 0.1, Oppose/Withhold: 2.1,

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of each director's cash remuneration and pension contribution are disclosed as are performance conditions and targets for the annual bonus and the LTIP. All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and price. However, dividend accrual is not separately categorised which is considered inappropriate. Also, it does not appear that the Company has disclosed any information regarding the appointment of Fergus Graham to the Board. Despite his appointment being an internal promotion, PIRC would still expect to see disclosure surrounding the compensation package he was offered.

Balance: Although the increase in CEO salary is considered in line with the rest of the Company for 2017, it is noted that his salary for 2018 has been increased by 10% which is considered excessive. The CEO's salary is in the median of its comparator group which is acceptable. However, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and found to be slightly excessive at 21:1. The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Also, the CEO's variable pay for the Year Under Review is 112.05% of salary, which not considered excessive.

Rating: CB

7. Re-elect Mr M S Paul

Chairman with effect from the 2018 AGM. Independent upon appointment.

The Company has failed to disclose quantitative and qualitative information through CDP's climate change questionnaire.

PIRC issue: It is noted that there is currently insufficient female representation on the board and a target of at least two female Board Directors by 31 December 2018 is not considered sufficient. As Chairman of the Nomination Committee, PIRC would expect to see a target to improve female representation that is in line with the recommendations of Lord Davies (female representation on the Board of at least 25%).

17. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

UBS GROUP AG AGM - 03-05-2018

1.2. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its long term variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, opposition is recommended based on potential excessive remuneration.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 88.1, Abstain: 5.9, Oppose/Withhold: 5.9,

3. Discharge the Board and Senior Management

4. Approve variable compensation for the members of the Executive Board

It is proposed to approve the cap of the variable compensation component of executive remuneration. This appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to over payment against under performance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

5. Approve Maximum Fixed Remuneration of Executive Committee

It is proposed to approve the prospective remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee until next AGM at CHF 31.5 million (last year: CHF 31.5 million). This proposal includes fixed and variable remuneration components. Although there are no clear guidelines with this respect, it would be preferred that the Company submitted two separate resolutions for executive's fixed and variable remuneration components (which is the model that most companies adopted in this market). Nevertheless, the Company has submitted its compensation structure to an advisory vote, which is recommended by the local Corporate Governance Code.

Although variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration cap is higher than 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its long term variable remuneration component, which may lead to over payment against under performance. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, opposition is recommended based on potential excessive remuneration.

13. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. However, past annual bonus targets in particular cash targets are not fully disclosed. Strategic measures, which will be used to determine SEP awards along with EPS, are not fully disclosed. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the rest of the company, as the CEO's salary rose by 2.4%, while the average increase for employees globally was 3.3%. The balance of CEO realised pay with financial performance is considered acceptable as the change in CEO total pay over five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. However, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 22:1. In addition, potential awards are excessive, as the value of SEP awards granted during the year under review amounted to approximately 198% of salary; taking into consideration potential annual bonus awards this is considered excessive.

rating: BC.

Based on this rating it is recommended that West Midlands abstain.

17. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such a proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

RECKITT BENCKISER GROUP PLC AGM - 03-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered acceptable.

Balance: Due to actual results being below the stretching performance targets set, no bonus will be paid to the Executive Directors for 2017. The Committee considered it appropriate to exercise its discretion to reduce the vesting outcome for the 2015 LTIP by 50% for the CEO and CFO to align pay outcomes with the 'shareholder experience'. The impact of this is to reduce the 2017 single figure for the CEO from £23.7m to £12.5m and to reduce that for the CFO from £5.2m to £3m. This compares to 2016 single figures of £15.3m and £6.8m, respectively. However the realised amount is considered excessive at £11,220,400 or 1187% of the CEO's salary. In addition, the CEO's LTIP award is considered excessive at £6,486,000 (£19,456,000 if the options are included). This gains further importance in light of the fact that the target range used: 6% to 10% EPS CAGR growth is not considered sufficiently stretching. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 32:1. The changes in CEO total pay over the last five years are not commensurate with the changes in Company's TSR performance over the same period.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered acceptable.

Balance: The CEO's LTIP award for the year under review is considered excessive at 250% of his salary (£9,312,502). The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found inappropriate at 35:1 (the Company has disclosed a ratio of 41:1). The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are considered commensurate with Company's TSR performance. The realised variable pay of the CEO during the year was 122% of his salary which is acceptable, being the annual bonus only. Termination arrangements for former executives, Colin Smith and David Smith are acceptable. ## CADENCE DESIGN SYSTEMS INC AGM - 03-05-2018

2. Amend Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan

The Board is seeking shareholder approval to increase the number of shares reserved for issuance under the Plan by 2m shares and to extend the expiration date of the Omnibus Plan to 4 May 2027. The proposed increase in the number of shares authorised for issuance under the Omnibus Plan represents approximately 0.71% of Cadence's outstanding common stock, and the equity overhang was approximately 6.75%. The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). There are concerns with the Plan as the it has various elements bundled together, and although parts of it can benefit the majority of employees, it can still be used as a vehicle for potentially excessive executive payments. As performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion, there are concerns that the Committee will have considerable flexibility in the payout of discretionary awards and as a result awards may not be subject to robust enough performance targets, and be insufficiently challenging. As a result, it is advised to oppose.

LAGARDERE SCA AGM - 03-05-2018

O.4. Approve Compensation of Arnaud Lagardere, Managing Partner

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Arnaud Lagardere, Managing Partner, with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

O.5. Approve Compensation of Pierre Leroy and Thierry Funck-Brentano, Vice-CEOs of Arjil

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Pierre Leroy and Thierry Funck-Brentano, Vice-CEOs of Arjil, with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

O.7. Reelect Xavier de Sarrau as Supervisory Board Member

Non-Executive Chair and Chair of the Audit Committee. Not considered independent as he maintains business links with the Company. In March 2009, Sarrau Thomas Couderc was an advisor of Lagardère when the Company purchased the controlling interest of the capital stock of Electron Libre Productions. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board. In addition, it is considered that audit committees should comprise exclusively independent members or, at least, two-thirds of independent members, including the chair. On this ground, opposition is recommended.

O.8. Reelect Yves Guillemot as Supervisory Board Member

Independent Non-Executive Director. There are concerns over the director's potential aggregate time commitments. Therefore, an abstain vote is recommended. However, as abstention is not a valid voting option in this market, opposition is recommended.

O.9. Reelect Patrick Valroff as Supervisory Board Member

Non-Executive Director. Not considered independent as Crédit Agricole Chevreux is one of the providers of Lagardère and Calyon is a subsidiary of Crédit Agricole. In 2009 Lagardère issued a loan subscribed by BNP and Calyon. From May 2008 to December 2010, Patrick Valroff was Chief Executive Officer of Crédit Agricole

Corporate and Investment Bank. In this market, it is recommended by the local corporate governance code (15.1) recommends that 66% of the Audit Committee should be independent. As there is insufficient independent representation on the Audit Committee, and there is no separate election for this director as member of the Audit Committee, opposition is recommended to the election as director.

O.10. Authorise Share Repurchase

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

O.A. Elect Helen Lee Bouygues as Supervisory Board Member

Proposed by Amber Capital and other shareholders, who jointly hold 3.99% of the voting capital. Independent Non-Executive Director candidate. Ms. Bouygues is a strategy consultant, specialized in asset portfolio analysis and operational turnaround of international groups. Specifically, she is intended to enable the Supervisory Board to oversee the repositioning of the Lagardère Publishing and Lagardère Travel Retail divisions, and to undertake a rigorous analysis of strategic international acquisitions. Despite considering her as an added value to the Board, there are concerns over her potential aggregate time commitments, as she is already on four boards, in addition to her being Partner of McKinsey & Company RTS France. Abstention would be recommended. However, as abstention is not a valid voting option for this item, opposition is recommended.

PARGESA HOLDING SA AGM - 03-05-2018

1. Approve Financial Statements

Non-financial information has not been disclosed. It is considered that companies should publish non-financial statements and this should be disclosed to all shareholders in occasion of the annual general meeting. On this ground, abstention is recommended.

3. Discharge the Board

The Company has not appointed a Data Protection Officer or discussed the impact of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) on the Company's business. Although the GDPR does not apply immediately to the Company, it is considered that boards should ensure that risk assessment (including data protection and cyber risk) is complete for the entire organisation, and that appropriate security is provided for each type of data under use. It is also considered that directors should be considered accountable for this lack of discussion and relevant appointment: abstention to their discharge is recommended.

4.1.2. Reelect Victor Delloye as Director

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as he is General Secretary of Frère-Bourgeois SA, the co-controlling shareholder through Parjointco. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board.

4.1.4. Reelect Paul Desmarais Jr as Director

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

Vote Cast: Oppose

4.1.5. Reelect Paul Desmarais III as Director

Vote Cast: Oppose

4.1.7. Reelect Gerald Frere as Director

Executive Director. This director is connected with the controlling shareholder, Parjointco NV. The level of independence on the Board is not considered to be sufficient to offset the power of an Executive director who also has connections on the Board. Where there is a controlling shareholder, it would be best practice to have an independent Board and independent Lead Director to offset the power of the controlling shareholder. As the Company does not abide by this practice, opposition is recommended.

4.1.8. Reelect Segolene Gallienne as Director

4.1.14. Reelect Amaury de Seze as Director

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as he is the Vice-Chairman of Corporation Financière Power, the co-controlling shareholder through Parjointco. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board.

4.2. Reelect Paul Desmarais Jr as Board Chairman

There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the Board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. #### 4.5. Appoint the Auditors

Deloitte proposed. Non-audit fees represented 1.81% of audit fees during the year under review and 7.57% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5.1. Approve Remuneration of Directors in the Amount of CHF 8.3 Million

It is proposed to approve the amount of the fixed and variable compensation payable to the Board of Directors for the next business year, unchanged since 2016. As the Board includes executive directors, the proposal includes both variable and fixed remuneration, which is against best practice for this market and against the spirit of the Ordinance Against Excessive Compensation. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

5.2. Approve Remuneration of Executive Committee in the Amount of CHF 1.2 Million

14.J. *Re-elect Ian Lundin as Board Chairman

It is proposed to re-elect Ian H. Lundin as Chairman of the Board. In terms of good governance, it is considered that the Chairman should be considered to be independent. In addition, the Chairman has also previously held the role of CEO. It is considered that current or past executive responsibilities are detrimental to the implementation of the supervisory functions required by the Chairmanship. Opposition is recommended.

16. Appoint the Auditors

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 8.18% of audit fees during the year under review and 7.21% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees does not raise serious concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

18. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

19. Approve New Long Term Incentive Plan

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan. Under the plan, the CEO and other executives will be awarded rights to shares, which will start vesting after three years from the date of award. The Company does not disclose clear performance criteria but only a list of indicators, which makes it impossible to assess clearly the link between pay and performance and is deemed a serious frustration of shareholder accountability.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

21. Authorise Share Repurchase

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital. As the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

SANTOS LTD AGM - 03-05-2018*2.B. Elect Eugene Shi as Director

Independent Non-Executive Director. Not considered to be independent as he is the nominee of a substantial shareholder. There is sufficient independent representation on the Board. Vote Cast: Abstain

2.D. Elect Keith William Spence as Director

Non-Executive Chairman. Not considered to be independent as he is the Chairman of Santos Finance Ltd which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Santos Limited. There is sufficient independent representation on the Board. However, there are concerns over the director's aggregate time commitments.

Vote Cast: Abstain

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Concerns are raised as the CEO variable awards have the potential to be excessive as combined grants under the Short Term Incentive (100% of base salary) and Long Term Incentive (150% of base salary) plans exceed the acceptable limit of 200% of base salary. The long term/option incentive awards do not satisfy PIRC Guidelines as the performance targets are not deemed sufficiently challenging and reward levels are considered potentially excessive. An oppose vote is thus recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

4. Approve Equity Grant to Executive Director

The Board is seeking shareholder approval for the grant of performance shares to Mr Kevin Gallagher under the Company's Long-term Incentive Plan. The proposed grant has combined value of AUD 1,890,000, which equates to 150% of his base salary.

Awards will vest based on performance conditions which are applied interdependently contrary to best practice. The awards have a four-year performance period, which is not considered sufficiently long term. At less than three defiles between the lower and upper performance levels, the RTSR vesting scales are not considered sufficiently broad. Also, it is not considered adequate that 50% of awards vest for threshold targets.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is considered adequate. The change in the CEO's salary is in line with the change in the salaries of the chosen group of employees, as the CEO's salary rose by 2% while salaries for UK head office employees rose by 4%. Changes in the CEO's total remuneration over the past five years are considered to be in line with changes in TSR during the same period. However, IIP awards granted during the year amounted to 250% of salary, which is considered excessive. Total variable pay for the year under review was also excessive, amounting to 207.6% of salary. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable at 52:1. Lastly, the CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group.

Rating: AC.

3. Approve Remuneration Policy

Under the newly proposed policy, the main material changes are as follows: pension allowances for new hires will be reduced from 30% to 25% of salary for a Chief Executive and from 25% of salary to 20% for any other executive director; a two year post-vesting holding period will be introduced to the Company's LTIP, the IMI Incentive Plan (IIP).

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. Although pension entitlements have been reduced for new hires, the current pension arrangements for Executive Directors are considered excessive. Under the annual bonus, the amount deferred, as well as the deferral period, are considered adequate, though this only applies if the Executives have not fulfilled their shareholding requirements. Share deferral should apply in any case. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they do not operate interdependently. With respect to the Company's LTIP, the performance period at three years is not considered to be sufficiently long term. However, the introduction of a two year post-vesting holding period is welcomed. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they are all financial based and do not operate interdependently. Total potential variable pay is excessive at 450% of salary, and can be increased to 600% of salary in exceptional circumstances. There is no time-limit set for Executives' shareholding requirements, which is not in line with best practice. In relation to contracts, Directors may be entitled to excessive variable awards up to 600% of base salary, on recruitment. In the event of termination of employment, the policy on awards for good leavers is that they vest on normal vesting date or at cessation, subject to satisfaction of the associated performance conditions. Time-apportionment for the period worked is at the discretion of the Committee, which is not supported. Material exception to contract policy exists, as Mr Roy Twite would be entitled to termination payments in excess of 12 months, in the event of a takeover., which is considered inappropriate.

Disclosure:All elements of the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed. Next year's fees and salaries for all directors are clearly stated. All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and prices.

Balance: The changes in CEO pay over the last five years are considered in line with the Company's TSR performance over the same period. The ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered appropriate at 11:1. Appropriate payments were made regarding the appointment of Keith as Chief Executive. However, the variable pay of the CEO for the year under review represents more than 200% of salary which is considered excessive. It is therefore noted that the CEO comparison is based on Keith Barr's part year 2017 remuneration. The 149% of salary vesting for LTIP is obtained by dividing the full 15/17 LTIP cycle award by a part-year salary. Instead the annual salary (£775,000) should be used, resulting in 75% of salary. However, the 71% of salary APP award, was for a part year and the full year equivalent would have been 139%.

0.22. Authorise the Board to Increase the Number of Shares Issued in case of Exceptional Demand

In addition to the share issuance authorities sought above, the Board requests shareholder authority for a capital increase of additional 15%, in case of exceptional demand.

A green shoe authorisation enables an authorization of additional shares in the event of exceptional public demand. In this case, the authorization would increase allow the placement of up to 15% additional new shares within a thirty day period at a price equal to that of the initial offer. There are concerns with such authorities as they may potentially represent a discount superior to the discount to which the initial authorisation is limited due to a potential rise in share price in the period between original issuance and secondary issuance. ### 13. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is considered acceptable.

Balance: The changes in CEO total pay over the last five years are not commensurate with the changes in Company's TSR performance over the same period. The Company has stated that the CEO's total remuneration for 2017 is higher than that of 2016 by 16% due to the annual bonus for the year being higher than that of 2016. The Remuneration Committee has reduced the 2017 grant of long-term incentives to the Executive Directors in the year by approximately 30%. However the level of LTIP awards is considered excessive at 275% of salary. Regarding the annual bonus, the Remuneration Committee exercised its discretion and reduced these outcomes by 5% to account for the exceptional change in the tax rate during the year so that the Executive Directors did not benefit from this. Further bonus reductions were carried out in the context of the 'shareholder experience' in the year. Therefore, the CEO's realised variable pay is not considered excessive at 80% of salary as his sole reward was the reduced annual bonus at 80% of his salary and no LTIP vested.

18. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

2a. Elect Tung Chee Chen

Executive Chairman. It is a generally accepted norm of good practice that the Chairman of the Board should act with a proper degree of independence from the Company's management team when exercising his or her oversight of the functioning of the Board. Holding an executive position is incompatible with this and a vote to oppose is recommended.

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 106.13% of audit fees during the year under review and 55.68% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises major concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The date of appointment of the current audit firm is undisclosed, meaning the length of tenure is not known. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

The Directors seek authority to re-issue, under the authority granted in Resolution 5.a, those shares repurchased under the authority granted by Resolution 5.b. IMERYS AGM - 04-05-2018

O.5. Approve Remuneration Policy of Executive Corporate Officers

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.6. Approve Compensation of Gilles Michel, CEO and Chair until May 2018

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Gilles Michel with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.7. Reelect Gilles Michel as Director

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as has been Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Imerys until the 2018 AGM. Gilles Michel joined Imerys in September 2010 and was appointed Director and Deputy Chief Executive Officer in November 2010. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.8. Reelect Ulysses Kyriacopoulos as Director

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as the Kyriacopoulos family holds a significant stake in Imerys through Blue Crest Holding S.A. and following the acquisition of the S&B group by the Company. As of the end of February 2018, he has entered into a shareholders' agreement with the GBL group and the Company. There is insufficient independent representation on the Board.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.12. Approve Fees Payable to the Board of Directors

It is proposed to increase the amount payable to the Board of Directors by more than 10% on annual basis, per director. Fees increase last time in 2014 (EUR 1 million) and it is proposed now to increase them up to EUR 1.2 million. However, as the number of directors decreased, the total increase on annual average, per director, is calculated at 15%. The increase is considered material and exceeds guidelines, while the Company has not duly justified it. Therefore, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.14. Authorize up to 3 Percent of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time, which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.15. Amend Article 12 and 14 of Bylaws Re: Age Limit of Director and Appointment of Censor

It is proposed to increase the maximum age limit from 70 to 80 years, and to add censors (non-voting directors) to the Board. It is considered that age, in lack of other factors, can act as a criterion to increase rotation, and as such, it is considered that 80 years of age is an excessive limit. In addition, the Company did not clarify the rationale and the added value behind the election of censors, behind the retention of a director. On aggregate, opposition is recommended.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration is capped at 200% of base salary. However, there are excessiveness concerns as the actual total potential variable remuneration exceeds 200% of base salary, during the year under review. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. However, there are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. On balance, abstention is recommended.

3. Discharge the Board

The Company has not appointed a Data Protection Officer or discussed the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Under the GDPR, it is mandatory for certain controllers and processors to designate a Data Protection Officer (DPO). It is considered that boards should ensure that risk assessment (including data protection and cyber risk) is complete for the entire organisation, and that appropriate security is provided for each type of data under use. Although, Switzerland is not in the European Union, the Company has business operations within the European Union. The regulation is applicable from 25 May 2018, it is considered that directors should be considered accountable for this lack of discussion and relevant appointment: abstention to their discharge is recommended.

On balance, abstention is recommended.

9.2. Approve Aggregate amount of Variable Short-Term Compensation

It is proposed to approve the retrospective short-term variable remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to approve the short-term variable remuneration of members of the Executive Committee for 2018 at CHF CHF 6,109,900, which is approximately the 110% of the salary for the Executive Committee. With this separation, if shareholders rejected the variable compensation, the Company may nevertheless pay fixed salaries. The Ordinance Against Excessive Payments provides that if compensation is not approved, it may not be paid. Targets and achievements have been disclosed. However, the pre-determined targets for the short term compensation were not quantified so it is impossible to verify whether this amount overpays against underperformance. In addition there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

9.3. Approve Aggregate amount of Variable Long-Term Compensation

It is proposed to approve the prospective long-term variable remuneration for members of the Executive Committee of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the cap for the variable remuneration component. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee for the 2018 financial year at CHF 10,302,300 (within 200% of base salaries). The Company submitted two separate proposals for Executives fixed and variable remuneration, which is welcomed. With this separation, if shareholders rejected the variable compensation at a future potential retrospective proposal, the Company may nevertheless pay fixed salaries. The Ordinance Against Excessive Payments provides that if compensation is not approved, it may not be paid. There are concerns the equity-based variable remuneration component: quantified targets were not made available prior to the meeting. In addition, the total variable remuneration may lead to excessive payments.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure. ### 4. Approve Fees Payable to the Board of Directors

No proposal is available at the present time. As per market practice, the proposed remuneration is likely to be made available only at the meeting.

Although this is a practice for a standard item in Italy, support will not be suggested for resolutions concerning remuneration when sufficient information has not been made available for shareholders in sufficient time prior to the meeting, as such practice prevents shareholders from reaching an informed decision. It is thus advised to abstain from voting this resolution.

The board is seeking shareholder approval to amend its 2011 Long-Term Incentive Plan in order to increase the number of shares authorized for issuance by 1,850,000 shares, to a total of 5,314,094 shares. The increase represents approximately 1.2% of the Company's outstanding common stock at the record date. This is not considered dilutive. Although we are satisfied that the Plan is open to all eligible employees, we have a number of concerns. There is no limit on awards made to individuals. Performance conditions may be attached to awards at the Compensation Committee's discretion and there is an excessive number of performance measures they are able to choose from to make awards.

PIRC does not consider that LTIPs are an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. Due to the concerns outlined, we recommend a vote to oppose the resolution.

SMURFIT KAPPA GROUP PLC AGM - 04-05-2018*3. Approve Remuneration Policy

The remuneration policy is being put forward for shareholder approval at this year's AGM despite having undergone a vote in the previous year. This is because the Company's remuneration practices were reviewed and it was concluded that it was appropriate to replace the current deferred annual bonus matching awards with a new performance share plan (PSP).

Overall disclosure is satisfactory. Pension contributions and entitlements are disclosed, but are considered excessive for the current Executives. Half of the annual bonus is deferred into company shares for three years, which is considered adequate. The Company uses more than one performance condition, though they do not operate interdependently. At three years the performance period of the PSP is not considered sufficiently long-term. However, a post-vesting holding period applies, which is welcomed. The Company uses more than one performance condition to determine PSP awards, though they are all financial based and do not operate interdependently. Total potential variable pay is excessive at 375% of salary. The increase in the shareholding requirements is welcomed, though there is no mention of a time-frame within which to meet the shareholding requirements. In relation to contracts, the policy on termination is not considered appropriate, as the CEO is entitled, as part of his payments in lieu of notice, to his highest bonus over the last three years, which is unacceptable. In addition, the level of discretion given to the Committee with regard to the vesting of outstanding share schemes is not disclosed.

14. Approve the Smurfit Kappa Group 2018 Performance Share Plan (PSP)

Authority sought to approve the new Smurfit Kappa Group plc 2018 Performance Share Plan. Awards are subject to a performance period of three years minimum. Awards will then normally be subject to a holding period such that they are released in three equal tranches following the third, fourth and fifth anniversaries of the grant date. Performance conditions may be financial, non-financial, share-price based, strategic, or on any other basis that the Committee considers appropriate. The maximum opportunity is 225% of salary.

There are some welcomed aspects of the plan, such as the use of a two year post-vesting holding period, and the application of malus and clawback provisions. However, there remain some concerns. The maximum opportunity is considered excessive, as it is recommended that total variable pay is limited to 200% of salary. In addition, the performance conditions do not operate interdependently. Dividend equivalents may be accrued on vesting awards from the date of grant. Such rewards are not supported as they mis-align shareholders and executive interests as shareholders must subscribe for shares in order to receive dividends whereas participants in the scheme do not.

Ultimately, such long-term incentive plans are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature. An oppose vote is recommended.

3. Amend Omnibus Stock Plan

Authority is sought to approve the Second Amendment to the Occidental Petroleum Corporation 2015 Long-Term Incentive Plan. The purpose of the Second Amendment is to increase the number of shares of Occidental's common stock that may be issued under the 2015 LTIP by 45,000,000 additional shares. Occidental believes approval of the Second Amendment will give it flexibility to make stock-based grants and other awards permitted under the 2015 LTIP over the next several years in amounts determined appropriate by the Compensation Committee, which administers the 2015 LTIP.

The 2015 LTIP is administered by the Compensation Committee of the Board, except with respect to grants to non-employee directors that are under the purview of the Board, with respect to both the amount and terms of any grant, and to the extent the Board elects to administer the 2015 LTIP. Subject to the terms of the 2015 LTIP and applicable law, the Compensation Committee has the authority to interpret and construe all provisions of the 2015 LTIP and Awards issued thereunder and to make all decisions and determinations relating to the operation of the 2015 LTIP. All officers and employees of Occidental and its subsidiaries and other persons who provide services to Occidental and its subsidiaries, including members of the Board, are eligible to receive Awards under the 2015 LTIP.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan). An oppose vote is recommended.

Balance: The CEO's pay in the last five years is in line with the Company's financial performance over the same period. The CEO's salary is in the upper quartile of the Company's comparator group. The total CEO realised variable pay for the year under review is 93% of salary, which is not considered excessive. The CEO to average employee pay ratio is at an acceptable level of 11:1, an increase from last year's ratio of 9:1, which was still at an acceptable level. The LTIP was granted at 350% of salary which is considered excessive.

EY proposed. Non-audit fees represented 23.64% of audit fees during the year under review and 40.18% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises some concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The current auditor has been in place for more than five years. #### 7. Shareholder Resolution: Political Donations

Proposed by: Zevin Asset Management, on behalf of William Creighton, and co-filers Congregation of Sisters of St. Agnes and Fresh Pond Capital Stockholders of AbbVie request the preparation of a report, updated annually, disclosing: (i) Company policy and procedures governing lobbying, both direct and indirect, and grassroots lobbying communications; (ii) Payments by AbbVie used for (a) direct or indirect lobbying or (b) grassroots lobbying communications, in each case including the amount of the payment and the recipient; and (iii) AbbVie's membership in and payments to any tax-exempt organization that writes and endorses model legislation.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that AbbVie spent $20.57 million from 2013 - 2016 on federal lobbying (opensecrets.org). This figure does not include lobbying expenditures to influence legislation in states, where AbbVie also lobbies but disclosure is uneven or absent. For example, AbbVie spent $1,506,820 on lobbying in California from 2013 - 2016. The Company is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, which has spent over $1.3 billion on lobbying since 1998. The Company also sits on the board of the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA), which spent over $100 million against a California drug pricing initiative ("Big Pharma Fights 'Tooth and Nail' against California Drug Vote," Bloomberg, October 2016). The Company does not disclose the portion of its trade association payments that are used for lobbying.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as through its public policy committee, it exercises oversight of AbbVie's political and lobbying activities, as specifically enumerated in the Committee's charter, and which are further governed by the Committee's approved policy on political contributions. The public policy committee and AbbVie's senior management review these activities and expenditures on a regular basis. The Company's website describes its oversight process and its guiding principles for lobbying and political activities. It pursues activities that shape policies to benefit patients, with a focus on improving patient access to new therapeutic advances.

PIRC Analysis: It is considered that the transparency and completeness of the Company's reporting on political donations is acceptable. The Company appears in the top quartile of the S&P500 in terms of its disclosure surrounding its lobbying disclosure. On this basis, shareholders are advised to oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

ORANGE S.A AGM - 04-05-2018

0.5. Reelect Stephane Richard as Director

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

Vote Cast: Oppose

0.8. Elect Babacar Sarr, with Wahib Kaddou as Substitute, as Representative of Employee Shareholders to the Board

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as representative of employee shareholders. It is considered that the election or re-election of representatives of employee shareholders have potential to create a positive influence in areas of decision making normally reserved for the Board and senior management. However, as it is possible to vote for only one of the three candidates, opposition is recommended for this candidate.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.9. Elect Marie Russo, with Yves Terrail as Substitute, as Representative of Employee Shareholders to the Board

Non-Executive Director, not considered to be independent as representative of employee shareholders. It is considered that the election or re-election of representatives of employee shareholders have potential to create a positive influence in areas of decision making normally reserved for the Board and senior management. However, as it is possible to vote for only one of the three candidates, opposition is recommended for this candidate.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.10. Approve Compensation of Stephane Richard, Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Stephane Richard with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. In addition, the Company has disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated, which is above market practice. However, the use of adjusted EBITDA is not considered appropriate within executive remuneration. The company could borrow substantial sums which would raise its market capitalisation but the cost would be excluded from one of the operational milestones. These adjustments often take account of real costs which are borne by shareholders but which, in the case of executive remuneration, management are not held responsible for. On balance opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.11. Approve Compensation of Ramon Fernandez, Vice-CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Ramon Fernandez with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. O.13. Approve Compensation of Gervais Pellissier, Vice-CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration paid or due to Gervais Pellissier with an advisory vote. The payout is in line with best practice, under 200% of the fixed salary. In addition, the Company has disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated, which is above market practice. However, the use of adjusted EBITDA is not considered appropriate within executive remuneration. Vote Cast: Oppose

O.14. Approve Remuneration Policy of the Chairman and CEO

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy for Mr Stephane Richard with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.15. Approve Remuneration Policy of Vice-CEOs

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy for the VICE-CEOs in an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.16. Authorize Repurchase of Up to 10 Percent of Issued Share Capital

Authority sought to allow the Board to repurchase and use capital stock within legal boundaries. The authority exceeds 5% of the share capital; as the Company has not duly provided an explanation regarding the rationale behind the proposal, opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

E.17. Authorize up to 0.07 Percent of Issued Capital for Use in Restricted Stock Plans Reserved for Employees

The Board proposes the approval of a new executive incentive plan. Under the plan, participants will be allotted shares or rights to shares. Performance targets have not been quantified at this time. which makes an informed assessment impossible and may lead to (partial) payment against (partial) failure.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Vote Cast: Oppose

O.A. Amend Item 3 as Follows: Approve Allocation of Income and Dividends of EUR 0.55 per Share

The proposal of the shareholders is based on the distribution of a final dividend of EUR 0.65 per share. No information was made available in due time. Opposition is recommended.

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: All elements of the the Single Total Remuneration Table are adequately disclosed and explained and next year's salaries and fees for directors have been disclosed. Also, performance conditions and targets have been adequately disclosed for both incentive schemes. However, dividend accrual is not separately categorised.

Balance: The increase in CEO salary is not in line with the rest of the Company, the CEO received and increase of 5% compared to a 2%. However, the CEO's salary is in the lower quartile in PIRC's comparator group which is welcome. The Changes in CEO under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR performance during the same period. Furthermore, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered appropriate at 15:1. The CEO's variable pay for the Year Under Review is 350% of salary, which is excessive.

KPMG proposed. Non-audit fees represented 8.51% of audit fees during the year under review and 9.51% on a three-year aggregate basis. Scott Forbes has served on the Board for over nine years, He is also Chairman of Ascential plc , a FTSE 250 company, and Cars.com Inc, a S&P 400 company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention onto the only one FTSE 350 Company.

The Company does not have a board member or committee with responsibility for sustainability/ESG matters.

16. Issue Shares for Cash for the Purpose of Financing an Acquisition or Other Capital Investment

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

3. Approve the 2018 Cincinnati Financial Corporation Stock Plan

The board of directors are requesting shareholders' approval to adopt the Cincinnati Financial Corporation Non-employee Directors' Stock Plan of 2018 (2018 Plan). The 2018 Plan will replace the Cincinnati Financial Corporation Non-employee Directors' Stock Plan of 2009 (2009 Plan). Directors will receive whole shares of common stock with a fair market value on the date of grant equal to the sum of the annual cash retainer (currently $40,000) earned by the outside director in the preceding year, plus the director fees of the prior calendar year. The total number of shares to be available under the 2018 Plan is 300,000 shares of the company's $2.00 par value common stock. The 2009 Plan, which has 108,668 shares remaining, will terminate upon shareholder approval of the 2018 Plan. The Plan is not open to all employees and gives undue powers to the Compensation Committee. A vote in opposition of the resolution is recommended.

8. *Issue Convertible Bonds Securities

The Board requests shareholder authorization to issue debt up to a maximum amount of EUR 1 billion over a period of five years. In general, support is not recommended for authorities to issue convertible debt without pre-emptive subscription rights when there are concerns over the potential dilutive effect following the conversion. No details on the convertible debt have been disclosed, making it impossible to accurately evaluate dilution. However, the amount of the authority exceeds the amount of current share capital, and therefore the authority clearly exceeds guidelines. Opposition is recommended.

Vote Cast: Oppose

12. *Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the annual report on remuneration of Executive and Non-Executive Directors with an advisory vote. The Company discloses all elements of remuneration for Executives and Non-Executives. The payout is in line with best practice, being under 200% of the fixed salary. There are claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration, which is welcomed. However, the Company has not fully disclosed quantified targets against which the achievements and the corresponding variable remuneration has been calculated. Although a common practice in this market as this is deemed to be sensitive information, it prevents an accurate assessment and may lead to overpayment against underperformance. On balance, abstention is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: William Steiner

Shareholders request that the board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. American Express shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under state law. According to the lame AXP special meeting provision it would take 25% of shares (instead of 10% per state law) to call a special meeting.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as permitting action at a meeting (whether the annual meeting or a special meeting) is a more equitable process for shareholders than the written consent process as it provides all shareholders the opportunity to participate, deliberate and vote. The Board believes that implementation of this proposal is unnecessary given the ability of shareholders to call special meetings which allow for shareholder action between annual meetings in an orderly and equitable manner.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the Board of directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent. L3 shareholders also do not have the full right to call a special meeting that is available under Delaware law. At L3 Technologies it would take 20% of shares (instead of the 10% called for in Delaware law) and then all shares held for less than one continuous year would be disqualified. Thus to obtain the 20% requirement it could take the holders of 51% of L3 shares to go through the tedious process to call a special meeting and obtain the 20% of shares that represented one-year of continuous holdings. In other words it could take 51% of shares to go through the tedious process to initiate a meeting in which the same 51% of shares would be needed to take action.

Board's Supporting Argument: The Board supports the shareholder written consent proposal, as it is strongly committed to sound governance practices and is actively interested in the views and concerns of its shareholders. In furtherance of that commitment, the Board agrees with the Shareholder Written Consent Proposal that holders of a majority of the Company's Common Stock should be provided the right to act by written consent as a supplemental means of acting between annual meetings, in addition to their current ability to call a special meeting. The Board however notes that the Company already maintains open lines of communication with large and small shareholders, financial analysts and shareholder advisory services regarding important issues relating to the Company's business and governance. In response to the assertion in the Shareholder Written Consent Proposal that certain of its non-employee directors own no shares of Common Stock, the Board notes that it has maintained rigorous stock ownership guidelines for non-employee directors since 2006.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the Company. It is considered any matters to be decided by shareholders should take place in the context of a shareholder meeting where all shareholders have adequate notice and the right to participate. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

6. Amend Omnibus Stock Plan

It is proposed to approve the Amended and Restated 2002 Lilly Stock Plan, as it nears its April 20, 2020 expiration date. The Amended 2002 Plan provides for a decrease in the number of shares of common stock available for issuance. Employees and directors of the Company and its affiliates generally are eligible to receive non-qualified stock options, restricted stock, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock units and other share-based awards under the Amended 2002 Plan. 53,000,000 shares would be available for future awards granted on or following the effective date of the Amended 2002 Plan. The Amended 2002 Plan provides for a decrease in the number of shares of common stock reserved for issuance under the plan (including previously granted awards) to 75,657,296 shares plus shares available for issuance under prior plans immediately prior to the effective date of the 2002 Plan.

The Amended 2002 Plan provides that it will be administered by our Board of Directors, unless the Board of Directors elects to delegate administration responsibilities to a committee. The Committee has the sole authority to grant awards, and sole and exclusive discretion to interpret and administer the Amended 2002 Plan. The Committee determines the eligible individuals who will receive grants and the precise terms of the grants (including accelerations or waivers of any restrictions, and the conditions under which such accelerated vesting or waivers occur, such as in connection with a participant's death). The Committee has the authority to amend or modify the terms of an outstanding award, except that an amendment that materially and adversely impacts the rights under an outstanding award will require prior written consent from the participant, unless the amendment is necessary or desirable to facilitate compliance with applicable law or to avoid adverse tax consequences under Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan).

9. Shareholder Resolution: Report on Policies and Practices Regarding Contract Animal Laboratories

Proposed by: People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA)

The Proponents request that the Board strengthen its Company's policy and practices regarding contract animal laboratories and issue a report to shareholders.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that In spite of its "commitment to the ethical treatment of animals," which extends to external laboratories, the Company has repeatedly conducted business with contract laboratories where substandard animal care practices have been documented by government agencies. The Company's animal care policy states that "animals used in research shall be treated humanely, with pain or distress eliminated or minimized." Additionally, the Company requires all contract research organizations "to adhere to [its animal welfare] policies and principles." Yet the Company has paid for services conducted at and purchased animals from at least three contract laboratories-Liberty Research, Inc. (Liberty), Professional Laboratory and Research Services (PLRS), and Covance-with serious violations of federal animal welfare laws. Apparent carelessness in choosing outside laboratories is a long-standing issue for the Company. A 2010 PETA video exposé of PLRS documented repeated violations of federal laws.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as it is committed to the appropriate treatment of animals in research. Of the violations cited by PETA in their proposal, Lilly has terminated relationships with one of the three laboratories. For the second laboratory, work has been curtailed and confined to a single site with additional oversight and remediation. The third laboratory self-reported the incidents and took immediate action to address the cited issues. The Company does not condone, in any form, the mistreatment of research animals, and recognises its fundamental ethical and scientific obligation to ensure the appropriate treatment of animals used in research. The Company has processes and procedures in place to ensure humane treatment of animals, including programmes for oversight by an internal corporate Animal Welfare Board, Institutional Animal Care and Use Committees, or an equivalent ethical review board, as well as veterinary oversight at every site-both ours and contract laboratories. The Board is committed to quality research-animal care and use, the responsible use of animals in medical research, and the use of alternative methods whenever possible and appropriate. The Company has been accredited by the Association for Assessment and Accreditation of Laboratory Animal Care (AAALAC). AAALAC accreditation rules and standards can be found on the AAALAC website (www.aaalac.org). This accreditation is a voluntary process that includes a detailed, comprehensive review of our research-animal programme including animal care and use policies and procedures, animal environment, housing and management, veterinary medical care, and physical plant operations.

PIRC Analysis: The Board has demonstrated how the Company has already sought to address the Proponent's concerns with appropriate and feasible commitments and policies. An oppose vote is recommended.

4. Shareholder Resolution: Provide Right to Act by Written Consent

Proposed by: John Chevedden

Shareholders request that the Board of Directors undertake such steps as may be necessary to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorise the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. More than 100 Fortune 500 companies provide for shareholders to call special meetings and to act by written consent.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board is against this proposal as the Company's Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that stockholder action must be effected at a duly called annual or special meeting and may not be effected by written consent. The communications and processes associated with a stockholder meeting protect the interests of all stockholders by providing every stockholder with an opportunity to discuss concerns with other stockholders and with the Board of Directors and management and allowing all stockholders to vote on any proposals. This proposal, however, would enable a group of stockholders controlling a majority of the vote to take action - even significant action, such as electing new directors or agreeing to sell the Company - without any input or vote from the other stockholders. Permitting stockholder action by written consent could also create substantial confusion and disruption at a widely held public company like NiSource. Multiple groups of stockholders would be able to solicit written consents at any time and as frequently as they choose on a range of issues, some of which may be duplicative or conflicting. In contrast, the orderly stockholder meeting process allows for actions to be clearly articulated to the Board and stockholders and avoids duplicative and conflicting proposals.

PIRC Analysis: Action by written consent would circumvent the important deliberative process of a shareholder meeting. While it is considered that the Board should remain accountable to its shareholders regardless of the method of communication chosen, there are concerns that using written consent could lead to minority shareholders losing the ability to have their say on matters affecting the company. On this basis shareholders are advised to oppose.

13. Approve Remuneration Policy And Other Terms of Employment For Executive Management

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets for the performance criteria of its variable remuneration component, which as a consequence may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component which makes it unlikely that shareholders will be able to reclaim any variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

Standard resolution. Under the new Whistleblowing Act in Sweden, companies are to adopt internal whistleblowing procedures. No sanctions are provided for companies found in non-compliance, yet employees may be allowed to sue companies for damage, in case of retaliation. ## WILLIAM HILL PLC AGM - 08-05-2018

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Performance conditions and targets are disclosed for the annual bonus which is welcome. All share incentive awards are fully disclosed with award dates and prices and next year's fees and salaries are clearly stated. However, the Company states that the grant of awards under the PSP will be deferred until after the AGM in May which is considered inappropriate.

Balance: The CEO's salary is considered to be in the median range of a peer comparator group. However, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay has been estimated and is found unacceptable at 60:1. The changes in CEO total pay under the last five years are considered in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Potential awards that can be granted to the CEO are considered excessive as it may reach 375% of base salary. However, the total realised remuneration for the CEO during the year under review is 97.2% of salary which is not considered excessive. There are concerns surrounding the "Replacement Award" made to Ruth Prior which does not have any associated performance conditions or post-vesting holding requirements. An award of this nature is considered highly inappropriate.

17.B. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme/Plan

The Board proposes the approval of an LTIP, which substantially is the same as the program from 2017. The Stock Matching Plan entails that employees who choose to participate in the program by an own investment in Investor shares or by using shares already held in Investor for each share that qualifies for participation in the Stock Market Plan ("Participation Share") will receive two options ("Matching Options") and a right to purchase one Investor share ("Matching Share"). Under the Stock Matching Plan, the President is entitled to participate with Participation Shares corresponding to a Participation Value of up to 31% of the fixed cash salary before taxes in Investor shares. If the President participates fully in the Stock Matching Plan, the possibility to receive a Matching Share and two Matching Options per Participation Share under the Stock Matching Plan corresponds to a theoretical value of approximately 27% of the fixed cash salary before taxes. At this time, it seems that this plan will not be based on any performance criteria but only on the beneficiaries continued employment. As a result, they may receive bonuses unrelated to their performance or even the performance of the Company as a whole, which is considered a serious frustration of shareholder accountability.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

17.C. Approve New Executive Share Option Scheme for Employees of Patricia Industries

The Board proposes the approval of a new incentive plan reserved for employees of Patricia Industries. Similar to the proposed long-term variable remuneration program 2017 for employees within Investor under item 17B, the program entails that all employees within PI who participate in the program must make a personal investment in Investor shares (such shares, the "Participation Shares"). A maximum of 25 employees within PI are offered to participate in the program with Participation Shares corresponding to a "Participation Value" determined in line with the principles set out in the complete proposal regarding item 17B. Two categories of employees will be offered to participate in the program: (i) PI Senior Management and (ii) Other PI Employees. Instruments granted to PI Senior Management under the two Plans will consist both of instruments replicating the Stock Matching Plan and Performance-Based Share Program.

Participants employed within the PI Nordic organization will only be offered to participate in the PI-BS Plan whereas participants employed within the PI North America organization will be offered to participate with 60% of their grant value in the PI-BS Plan and 40% of their grant value in the PI-NA Plan.

Each participant will be allocated a so called "Grant Value" depending on the participant's position within PI and regional differences as to remuneration. The Grant Value per participant is set at a maximum of each participant's annual fixed cash salary before taxes ranging between 15% and approximately 160% of the annual fixed cash salary before taxes. The maximum Participation Value for each of the participants will depend on the participant's place of work and performance and will amount to a maximum of approximately between 17% and 58% of the participant's annual fixed cash salary before taxes.

Targets have been disclosed and quantified, which is above market practice. However, there are potential excessiveness concerns regarding the Grant Value, which together with the potential bonus may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the vesting period of three years is not considered sufficiently long term.

LTIP based schemes are inherently flawed. There is the risk that they are rewarding volatility rather than the performance of the Company (creating capital and - lawful - dividends). They act as a complex and opaque hedge against absolute Company underperformance and long-term share price falls. They are also a significant factor in reward for failure.

Election of the Chairman & CEO should the separation not occur. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

RANDGOLD RESOURCES LIMITED AGM - 08-05-2018

3. Approve the Remuneration Report

Disclosure: Overall disclosure is acceptable.

Balance: Past targets for the annual incentive are provided. The strategic objectives raise concerns as these include duties reasonably within the purview of the Executive and which do not require incentivisation such as: arrange and chair quarterly face to face meetings with executive committee; holding press days, presenting company strategy to the board and obtaining sign-off and so on. The CEO's total realised reward for the year under review is considered excessive at 453% of salary (Annual Bonus: 181%, Share awards vesting: 272%). Equity awards are considered excessive at 450% of salary. The ratio of CEO to average employee pay has been estimated and is found inappropriate at 143:1. The CEO's salary is considered as being in the upper quartile of a peer comparator group.

Rating: AD.

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 92.3, Abstain: 0.0, Oppose/Withhold: 7.7,

4. Approve Remuneration Policy

Policy changes: Key changes include: (i) Simplification of long term incentive arrangements by removing the co-investment plan (CIP) and reducing the total incentive plan quantum (by 100% of salary for CEO and 50% for the CFO); this has led from a previous overall maximum under all plans of 750% of salary to 650% of salary which is not sufficient; (ii) increase in shareholding guidelines from 4x to 6x salary for the CEO and 2x to 3x salary for the CFO which is welcomed; (iii) extension in the overall LTI time horizon, which would entail a three year performance period with a two year holding period which is becoming market practice; (iv) increase in the proportion of remuneration delivered in shares and (v) simplification of LTIP measures. Overall, the key issue is the quantum available under variable incentive plans.

Disclosure: Overall policy disclosure is acceptable.

Balance: The removal of the Co-Investment plan is welcomed as it is not considered necessary and adds unnecessary complexity to the remuneration structure. Maximum potential awards to the CEO under all incentive schemes are considered excessive as they can amount up to 500% of salary in normal circumstances and 650% of salary for out-performance. The shareholding requirement of 600% of base salary for the CEO is considered appropriate. However, it would be more appreciated if an appropriate time scale is provided to achieve the guideline.

Contracts: There are no significant concerns over the termination policy. It appears that severance payments under the different incentive plans will be, in the best case, pro-rated and based on relevant performance conditions which is welcomed.

Rating: ADB.

13. Re-appoint the Auditors, BDO LLP

BDO proposed. No non-audit fees were paid to the auditors in the past three years. This approach is commended. However, the current auditor has been in place for more than ten years. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.

Vote Cast: Oppose

Results: For: 98.0, Abstain: 0.0, Oppose/Withhold: 2.0,

19. Approve the Randgold Resources Limited Long Term Incentive Plan

Shareholder approval is sought for the Randgold Resources Limited Long Term Incentive Plan. Performance period for LTIP plan is three years with a two year holding period beyond vesting which is considered acceptable. It is also welcomed that no dividend equivalents are being paid in respect of share awards, which is welcomed. However, performance conditions of all share incentive schemes are working independently, such that vesting would be possible under a specific plan only if all only one threshold targets are met. The absence of non-financial parameters to assess Executives' long-term performance is considered contrary to best practice as such factors allow the remuneration policy to focus on the operational performance of the business as a whole and the individual roles of each of the senior executives in achieving that performance. It is noted that the LTIP may be awarded at 400% of salary in exceptional circumstances. This is considered inappropriate and in addition what could constitute exceptional circumstances is not defined.

Overall, LTIPs are not considered an effective means of incentivising performance. These schemes are not considered to be properly long term and are subject to manipulation due to their discretionary nature.

6.1. Approve the Remuneration Report

It is proposed to approve the remuneration report with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration does not seem to be consistently capped and as such there are excessiveness concerns as the total potential variable remuneration may exceed 200% of the salary. In addition, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these grounds, opposition is recommended.

6.3. Approve Remuneration of Executive Committee

It is proposed to approve the prospective remuneration for members of the Executive Management of the Company, which means that the proposed amount will not be the actual amount to be paid, but only the total remuneration cap. The voting outcome of this resolution will be binding for the Company.

It is proposed to fix the remuneration of members of the Executive Committee until next AGM at CHF 20.0 million (previous year: CHF 22,400,000). This proposal includes fixed and variable remuneration components.

The Company has submitted its compensation structure to an advisory vote, which is recommended by the local Corporate Governance Code. There are concerns over the remuneration structure at the Company, namely little disclosure compared to market standards, the composition of the remuneration committee, the lack of disclosure of performance targets and the uncapped structure of the executive remuneration. On this basis, opposition is recommended.

5. Shareholder Resolution: Written Consent

Proposed by: Mr. Kenneth Steiner.

The Proponent requests the Board of Directors to undertake necessary steps to permit written consent by shareholders entitled to cast the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize the action at a meeting at which all shareholders entitled to vote thereon were present and voting. This written consent is to be consistent with applicable law and consistent with giving shareholders the fullest power to act by written consent consistent with applicable law. This includes shareholder ability to initiate any topic for written consent consistent with applicable law.

Proponent's Supporting Argument: The Proponent argues that taking action by written consent in lieu of a meeting is a means shareholders can use to raise important matters outside the normal annual meeting cycle. A shareholder right to act by written consent and to call a special meeting are two complimentary ways to bring an important matter to the attention of both management and shareholders outside the annual meeting cycle. Taking action by written consent saves the expense of holding a special shareholder meeting. The proponent states that written consent is needed in lieu of a lack of independence on the board. The lead Director, Thomas Stallkamp, has a tenure of 17-years. Long-tenure can detract from the independence of a director no matter how well qualified.

Board's Opposing Argument: The Board argues that the proposal is contrary to the best interests of shareholders. The Board states that its current practices are designed to ensure that notice and the ability to be heard occur prior to shareholder votes; which enables a meaningful discourse before key decisions are made. The Board recommends shareholders oppose and argues that currently; shareholders of 25% of common stock have the right to call a special meeting which is an appropriate threshold; particularly when viewed together with the Company's robust corporate governance practices. The Board argues that adoption of the proposal could allow a relatively small minority of shareholders with narrow interests to call an unlimited number of special meetings to consider matters that may not be in the best interests of all of shareholders. Finally; the Board argues that its active engagement with shareholders and strong corporate governance practices make the proposal unnecessary.

1f. Elect Director Thomas J. Manning

Chairman and CEO. Combined roles at the head of the Company. There should be a clear division of responsibilities at the head of the Company between the running of the board and the executive responsibility for the running of the Company's business. No one individual should have unfettered powers of decision. Combining the two roles in one person represents a concentration of power that is potentially detrimental to board balance, effective debate, and board appraisal.

3. Approval of The Dun & Bradstreet Corporation 2018 Non-Employee Directors Equity Incentive Plan.

The Board is seeking shareholder approval for The Dun & Bradstreet Corporation 2018 Non-Employee Directors Equity Incentive Plan (Plan). The purpose of the Plan is to aid the Company in attracting, retaining and compensating non-employee directors and to enable them to increase their ownership of shares. The Plan will be limited to a total of 150,000 shares of common stock, plus the number of shares of common stock that were not issued under the Prior Plan (40,269). Shares will be awarded in the form of Non-qualified stock options, Stock appreciation rights (SARs), Restricted stock, Restricted stock units, Dividend equivalents, and Other share-based awards. It is noted that the awards under the Plan may only be granted to non-employee directors. Shareholders cannot tell from the plan what performance targets (if any) would be applied to the metrics selected by the Committee. Given that, there is no meaningful way that shareholders can approve or re-approve performance 'goals' of which they have scant prior knowledge. Accordingly, a vote to oppose is recommended.

SAVILLS PLC AGM - 08-05-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate employment and environmental policies are in place and relevant, up-to-date, quantified, environmental reporting is disclosed. The Company also disclosed the proportion of women on the Board, in Executive Management positions and within the whole organisation.

West Midlands is recommended to oppose the report and accounts for the following reason: No trade union negotiating framework, works councils or similar strategic level procedures for information and consultation.

Vote Cast: Oppose

2. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. The increase in CEO salary is in line with the rest of the Company. The CEO's salary increased by 2.5% while that of all UK employees decreased by 0.3%. The CEO's salary is in the lower quartile of the Company's comparator group. The change in CEO total pay over the last five years is commensurate with the change in TSR over the same period. However, the CEO's total variable pay for the year under review was excessive at approximately 794% of salary. (Annual Bonus: 599% : LTIP: 195%). In addition, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is considered unacceptable at 45:1.

Rating: AD.

As the CEO's bonus exceeded his salary, it is recommended that West Midlands oppose.

The Board is seeking approval to issue up to an additional 5% of the Company's issued share capital for cash for use only in connection with an acquisition or a specified capital investment. Such proposal is not supported as it is considered that the 5% limit sought under the general authority above is sufficient. Best practice would be to seek a specific authority from shareholders in relation to a specific transactions if such situation arises. As this is not the case, an oppose vote is therefore recommended.

4. Approve Remuneration Policy

It is proposed to approve the remuneration policy with an advisory vote. Variable remuneration appears to be consistently capped, and the payout is in line with best practice. However, the Company has not disclosed quantified targets or performance criteria for its variable remuneration component, which may lead to overpayment against underperformance. In addition, there are no claw back clauses in place over the entirety of the variable remuneration component, which makes it unlikely for shareholders to reclaim that variable remuneration unfairly paid out. On these bases, opposition is recommended.

GRAFTON GROUP PLC AGM - 09-05-2018

1. Receive the Annual Report

Strategic report meets guidelines. Adequate environmental and employment policies in place and some quantified reporting provided. However, the report has not made any reference to human rights and the number of women on the Board, in senior management and across the organisation has not been disclosed. In addition, the dividend has not been put to the vote. A vote on the dividend or dividend policy is considered fundamental to shareholder rights. However, Grafton has a stapled or twin share stock. The dividend is declared by Grafton Group (UK) plc as dividends are paid out of UK reserves which is the geography that accounts for most of Group profit. It is therefore not legally possible to put the payment of dividends to a shareholder vote. Upon previous engagement with the Company, it has been stated that the Group engages with shareholders on an ongoing basis concerning dividend policy. However, due to the lack of human rights and gender diversity reporting, it is recommended to oppose.

West Midlands is recommended to oppose the report and accounts for the following reason: No trade union negotiating framework, works councils or similar strategic level procedures for information and consultation.

2(a). Re-elect Michael Roney

Incumbent Chairman. Independent upon appointment. He is the Chairman of Next Plc, a FTSE 100 Company. It is considered that a chair cannot effectively represent two corporate cultures. The possibility of having to commit additional time to the role in times of crisis is ever present. Given this, a Chairman should focus his attention onto the only one FTSE 350 Company.

The Company has failed to disclose quantitative and qualitative information through CDP's climate change questionnaire.

PIRC issue: However, the Board lacks sufficient female representation and no statement has been made in the report regarding the Company's plans to address this imbalance nor has a clear target been set. As he is the Chairman of the Nomination Committee, he has the responsibility to address such an issue.

2(b). Re-elect Frank van Zanten

Furthermore, he missed one out of nine Board meetings, two out of four Audit Committee meetings, and two out of five Remuneration Committee meetings, with no adequate justification provided. An oppose vote is recommended.

5. Approve the Remuneration Report

Overall disclosure is adequate. Changes in the CEO's total remuneration over the past five years are considered to be in line with changes in TSR during the same period. Total variable pay for the year under review was acceptable, amounting to 156.7% of salary for the CEO. However, the Company has not disclosed separately the change in the average employee salary, benefits and bonus, and have instead combined all three elements of employee pay. The average employee salary, benefits and bonus rose by 4.7%. When compared to the 37.7% rise in the CEO's benefits, and the 69.3% increase in his bonus, the CEO's salary is not in line with the rest of the Company. In addition, the ratio of CEO pay compared to average employee pay is not acceptable, standing at 48:1.

3. *Adoption of IDEXX Laboratories, Inc. 2018 Stock Incentive Plan

The board are requesting shareholders approval to adopt the 2018 Plan. If approved, the 2018 Plan will enable the Company to grant future equity-based awards to employees and Directors and will replace the 2009 Plan. As of March 16, 2018, 11,040,062 shares remain available for grant under the 2009 Plan. A total of 7,500,000 shares of common stock will be available for issuance under the 2018 Plan, this would result in a fully-diluted overhang of 6.74%. The Plan is presented as an omnibus plan, which means that bundled within the same official plan there are various incentive plan elements aimed at rewarding different groups of employees, officers and executives. These plans permit the granting of options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance grants and dividend equivalents. However, it is noted that the Compensation Committee retains the power to select employees to receive awards and determine the terms and conditions of awards (and also note that 'management employees' appear most likely to be the principal beneficiaries of the Plan).

PwC proposed. Non-audit fees represented 31.25% of audit fees during the year under review and 28.89% on a three-year aggregate basis. This level of non-audit fees raises some concerns about the independence of the statutory auditor. The date of appointment of the current audit firm is undisclosed, meaning the length of tenure is not known. There are concerns that failure to regularly rotate the audit firm can compromise the independence of the auditor.
